

THESE CELEBS ARE DOING IT 'FINE'

Several famous actors, musicians, athletes, and politicians have had tax liens placed against them or been charged with tax evasion. Some of these celebrities paid a fine as soon as they learned of the charges, while others served time in prison.

Lindsay Lohan

Back in 2012, the IRS seized all of Lindsay Lohan's bank accounts in order to repay $233,904 in unpaid federal taxes that she owed to the government. The US actress, whose career has included critical and popular success in her youth, followed by a period of substance abuse and legal troubles.

Sophia Loren

In 1982, Sophia Loren served 18 days in jail for tax evasion.

Pamela Anderson

Pamela Anderson has a history of tax trouble. In 2009, a lien was filed against her for $1.7 million. In 2012, the IRS (Internal Revenue Service—the US government agency responsible for tax collection and tax law enforcement) filed a lien claiming that she owed $259,395.75 for unpaid taxes, and the state of California said she owed $112,118.90.

Kelly Osbourne

In 2011, it was reported that Kelly Osbourne owed more than $30,000 in back taxes to the state of California.

Judy Garland

Judy Garland owed hundreds of thousands of dollars in back taxes.

Richard Hatch

In 2005, "Survivor" winner Richard Hatch found himself in a sea of tax troubles after he failed to declare his winnings to the IRS.

Nicolas Cage

In 2009, the IRS claimed that Nicolas Cage failed to pay over $6.2 million in federal income tax for the year 2007. The IRS also filed a lien against Cage for more than $350,000 in unpaid taxes dating from 2002 to 2004.

Al Sharpton

In 1989, Al Sharpton was charged and later acquitted of tax evasion. In 2009, the IRS filed a lien against Sharpton of over $538,000 in back taxes.