SMC enhances healthcare services for senior citizens

TDT | Manama

The Government hospitals have introduced a new "Fast Track Service for Senior Citizens," designed to enhance healthcare access and improve the experience for elderly patients.

This initiative, led by Dr Mariam Al Jalahma, CEO of Government Hospitals, coincides with the International Day of Older Persons and prioritises individuals aged 65 and above.

Currently implemented at Salmaniya Medical Complex, the service streamlines access to essential departments, significantly reducing wait times.

The initiative also focuses on pharmacy services.

Diwali celebration

On behalf of His Royal Highness Prince Salman bin Hamad Al Khalifa, the Crown Prince and Prime Minister, His Highness Shaikh Mohammed bin Salman bin Hamad Al Khalifa visited a number of families in the Kingdom of Bahrain to mark Diwali, also known as the "Festival of Lights". HH Shaikh Mohammed bin Salman met with the families of Mr. Manoj Bhatia, Mr. Yogesh Batia, Mr. Kavalani, Mr. Bob Thaker, Mr. Kewalram, and Mr. Asarpota. This year's festivities were attended by a diverse group of individuals, highlighting the spirit of coexistence and openness that defines the Kingdom. Participants from various sectors and resident communities came together, opening their homes to welcome guests and share in the celebrations. Notably, many Bahraini citizens joined the festivities, extending congratulations to their friends and loved ones. This gathering underscored the values of appreciation and mutual respect that are fundamental to the fabric of society.

'Good progress' made on Lebanon truce deal: Blinken

AFP | Washington

US Secretary of State Antony Blinken said yesterday that negotiators have made "good progress" toward a deal that would bring a ceasefire in Israel's offensive in Lebanon.

"Based on my recent trip to the region, and the work that's ongoing right now, we have made good progress on those understandings," Blinken told reporters.

Spain flood toll climbs to 158

AFP | Valencia, Spain

Spain mourned at least 158 deaths yesterday and authorities told people in flood-stricken regions to stay at home as rescuers raced to find survivors in the rare disaster.

An exceptionally powerful Mediterranean storm from Tuesday unleashed heavy rains and torrents of mud-filled water that swept away people and wrecked homes, with the eastern Valencia region hit hardest.

The body coordinating rescue work in the Valencia region announced that 155 bodies had been recovered there by yesterday afternoon.

MPs to debate 70% quota for Bahraini teachers in government universities

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

A proposed 70 per cent quota for Bahraini citizens in government universities' teaching roles is up for debate in the Council of Representatives, as legislators push to expand "Bahrainisation" and anchor local talent in academia.

If passed, the change would give Bahrainis a stronger voice in shaping future thinkers.

In a conversation with The Daily Tribune, MP Dr Muneer Seroor, who is leading the push, said, "Today, Bahrainis are excelling in various fields, including niche areas like hydrogeology, so we must give them the chance to train the next generation of academics."

He added, "Experience in many academic fields is shaped through teaching jobs."

Seroor noted that he receives many job applications in education at his office, and stressed that providing these chances builds self-assurance among national experts.

He remarked, "This proposal is not new; I submitted it to Parliament at the beginning of my term, and I was surprised that it has finally been brought up for discussion."

Image used for illustrative purposes only

Speaker Ahmed Al Musallam referred the proposal to the Legislative and Legal Affairs Committee in June, with MP Seroor leading the initiative.

Seroor's proposal aims to ensure that Bahraini graduates occupy leading roles in academia, input from legal adviser Dr Mu-hannad Al Tarawneh and the Civil Service Bureau.

The bureau clarified that its hiring rules apply only to government-supported roles, with private university staff outside its jurisdiction.

It also highlighted its approach to fair and open hiring practices within government roles, ensuring jobs are filled based on actual need.

Equal opportunity

The bureau operates an internal announcement system allowing current civil servants to apply for higher positions, promoting equal opportunity and helping retain national talent.

Additionally, the bureau prioritises internal candidates before publicly advertising vacancies, ensuring efficient use of available resources.

With full support from the committee, the proposal is expected to increase Bahraini representation in academia, strengthen Bahrain's education sector, and advance the Kingdom's vision of local employment.

Diwali delight

His Highness Shaikh Mohammed bin Salman bin Hamad Al Khalifa highlighted the Kingdom of Bahrain's values of unity, pluralism, and co-existence, in line with the far-reaching visions of His Majesty King Hamad bin Isa Al Khalifa and supported by HRH Prince Salman. HH Shaikh Mohammed bin Salman was speaking as he visited yesterday several families to mark the festival of Diwali. Several senior officials were also in attendance. He emphasised that His Royal Highness's support in fostering these noble values positions Bahrain as a model of cultural diversity, religious pluralism, and mutual respect, which are cornerstones of its rich heritage and history.

Boosting Bahrainisation

Proposed fee hike for expatriate work permits aims to strengthen local workforce amid growing concerns

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

A proposed increase in Bahrain's work permit fees aims to strengthen Bahrainisation by raising the cost of hiring expatriate workers and funding training for local citizens.

The plan would introduce a tiered fee system based on salary levels, with permits for jobs paying over BD1,200 rising from a flat BD500 to BD2,500 — a five-fold jump.

While supporters believe this will boost employment for Bahrainis, the Bahrain Chamber of Commerce and Industry warns it could burden small and medium-sized businesses as Parliament prepares for a key debate on the matter.

Currently, all work permits in Bahrain are subject to a uniform fee of BD500.

Existing fee

Under the new proposal, jobs with salaries up to BD200 would continue to pay the existing fee, meaning they would not incur any increase.

Positions earning between BD201 and BD500 would see

H.E. Jameel Humaidan

their fees double to BD1,000.

Jobs paying between BD501 and BD800 would incur a fee of BD1,500, while roles with salaries from BD801 to BD1,200 would face a fee of BD2,000. The highest earners, those making over BD1,200, would attract the maximum fee of BD2,500.

This proposal, backed by MPs including Hanan Fardan, Dr Hisham Al Ashiri, Mohammed Al Ahmed, Jaleela Alawi, and Maryam Al Saigh, has been sent to the Services Committee, led at the time by MP Mamdouh Al Saleh.

Average wage

According to the proposers, the public interest considerations justifying this proposal

H.E. Ghanim Al Buainain

The proposal also aims to contribute to an increase in the number of Bahraini positions and adherence to mandated Bahrainisation rates.

include achieving the intended goal of an optional additional fee structure for issuing or renewing work permits outside the mandated Bahrainisation rates, which will be based on an average wage of BD500 for the positions in question.

MP Hanan Fardan

Additionally, the proposal aims to contribute to an increase in the number of Bahraini positions and adherence to mandated Bahrainisation rates.

It also seeks to mitigate the adverse effects of the parallel system, which permits establishments that do not comply with required Bahrainisation rates to recruit additional expat workers for an extra fee of BD500.

The Labour Market Regulatory Authority (LMRA) has shown support for Parliament's efforts, stating in a letter from its chairman, His Excellency Jameel Humaidan, to the Minister of

MP Maryam Al Saigh

Parliamentary Affairs, His Excellency Ghanim Al Buainain, that it “commends Parliament for seeking its perspective.”

Concerns

However, it has raised concerns about relying on average wages as a measure for the new fee structure, noting that this approach is “subject to potential manipulation” by employers.

The LMRA cautions that “the declared wage may not reflect the actual salary,” raising doubts about the accuracy of the proposed fees.

Additionally, the LMRA points to the success of the current optional additional fee system, in place since 2019, which has shown a steady decline in businesses not complying with Bahrainisation targets.

They assert that this fee has “improved the competitiveness of Bahraini workers compared to foreign workers” and increased compliance with Bahrainisation rules, stressing the need to consider these results before making any changes.

Worries

The BCCI has echoed these worries, warning that the proposed rises could push up costs for many, especially small and medium-sized businesses.

They caution that such expenses might ultimately fall on consumers, threatening Bahrain's appeal as a business destination.

For example, increased costs could lead businesses to raise prices for goods and services, directly impacting consumers.

Careful approach

In conclusion, while the LMRA is open to engaging with the Services Committee to “provide further clarifications on this matter,” it insists on a careful approach to ensure any changes effectively support the proposal’s aims without creating gaps.

Government presents two budget options to parliament to address soaring public debt

● Expenditures to focus on infrastructure

H Naser
TDT | Manama

A government-parliamentary meeting was held yesterday to discuss the public financial strategy for the coming years, along with the current state of public debt and financial balance.

This was confirmed by MP Ahmed Al Saloum, Head of the Financial and Economic Affairs Committee in the Council of Representatives.

During the meeting, the government outlined its financial balance programmes aimed at mitigating increases in public debt and reducing accumulated deficits.

Public debt

Al Saloum noted that the coverage ratio of public debt interest reached 21% of total revenues in 2023 and is projected to rise to 35% if the current budget remains unchanged.

This increase could significantly impact government projects, services, and various other budgetary items.

cantly impact government projects, services, and various other budgetary items.

“The government presented two options to the Council of Representatives. The first option involves maintaining the existing budget, which would result in a deficit of BD6 billion, encompassing expenses and public debt interest. In this scenario, public debt could rise to BD24 billion,” he said.

Second option

“The second option focuses on formulating ministry budgets based on needs and efficiency, utilising a new “zero-based” budget that reflects these requirements and aims for a lower deficit in public debt management expenses of BD2 billion. This option does not foresee any financial surplus but seeks to improve debt management efficiency through bond issuance,” he added.

Al Saloum added that the government aims to reduce the ratio of public debt to GDP to 60%.

Achieving this target, according to government projections, would secure Bahrain’s financial standing and lead to a desired reclassification of the Kingdom in the medium term through gradual plans.

Currently, the public debt to GDP ratio is approximately 103% and is expected to reach 110% by year-end.

He clarified that the MPs did not attend this preliminary meeting to present demands or discuss detailed figures.

Instead, their purpose was to review achievements over the past six years and to align on the new budget items, which they hope will be flexible and free from excessive commitments, while aiming for primary surpluses at the start of budget implementation.

Modifications

Al Saloum also indicated that the government plans to present modifications to several laws to the representatives in the coming two weeks.

These amendments aim to expand the framework of financial efficiency and reduce expenditures by focusing on infrastructure and regulating spending, ultimately contributing to improved overall economic performance.

Muharraq Grand Park to open with BD0.3 entry fee

H Naser
TDT | Manama

The Muharraq Municipality’s executive branch announced it will open bidding for the investment and operation of the Muharraq Grand Park.

The move aims to enhance public facilities and provide superior recreational services to citizens.

The primary objectives of the tender include establishing a modern recreational park, fostering public-private partnerships to generate innovative ideas, and delivering high-quality recreational services to increase the area’s value.

Successful bidders will be responsible for park maintenance, 24-hour security, cleaning services, and utility costs (electricity and water).

Crucially, the winning investor must maintain the mosque’s location, ensuring free parking for worshippers.

A symbolic entry fee of 300 fils (BD0.3) will be charged for access to the public areas of the park, in addition to any specific festival fees.

The municipality will allow the investor to utilise advertising spaces, event areas, and 20% of the parking spaces for various activities, subject to municipal approval.

The municipality emphasised its commitment to enhancing public spaces and providing improved recreational opportunities for the community.

Filipino charity bowling successful

TDT | Manama

Capital Bahrain Noble Eagles and Las Damas de Rizal (CBNE-LDDR) emerged champions in the annual charity bowling event, the 3rd Pinay Pink Bowling for a Cause, at the Funland Center.

The event, organised by the Pinay Ikaw Na (PIN) for the third consecutive year, was held to support Filipinos battling cancer.

Atarah 2 grabbed the first runner-up, while the Bahrain Noble Eagles Club secured the second runner spot.

Arvin Caya from the Philippine Nurses Association of Bahrain Warriors and Erika Serba from Filipino American Association of Bahrain (Fil Am Bahrain) were celebrated as the High Game Male and Female winners, respectively.

For High Series, men category, Francis Medios won.

CEO of Mumtalakat joins Tree-Planting

Supports Bahrain's National Tree Week Initiative

In line with His Majesty King Hamad bin Isa Al Khalifa's National Action Plan to achieve carbon neutrality and the recent launch by His Royal Highness Prince Salman bin Hamad Al Khalifa, the Crown Prince and Prime Minister, of the National Tree Week initiative, Shaikh Abdullah bin Khalifa Al Khalifa, CEO of Mumtalakat, participated in a tree-planting ceremony at the company's headquarters. The National Tree Week initiative supports the Kingdom's afforestation plan, which aims to double the number of trees to 3.6 million by 2035, contributing to Bahrain's commitments under the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC).

Mideast conflicts to leave 'lasting scars': IMF

AFP | Dubai, United Arab Emirates

Gaza, Lebanon and Sudan will take decades to recover from the conflicts raging on their soil, the International Monetary Fund said on Thursday after downgrading the region's growth forecast. Israel's military actions against Hamas in the Gaza Strip

Workers remove the rubble from the site of an Israeli airstrike the previous day that targeted the eastern Lebanese village of Bednayel in the Bekaa valley and Hezbollah in Lebanon, and Sudan's civil war would have enduring impacts, the IMF said. "The damage caused by these conflicts will leave lasting scars at their epicentres for decades," the global lender said in a statement. The IMF has lowered its predicted growth for the Middle East and North Africa to 2.1 percent for 2024, a drop of 0.6 percent due to the wars and lower oil production. Depending on the conflicts, growth should rise to 4.0 percent next year, according to the IMF's Regional Economic Outlook which was compiled in September. "This year has been challenging with conflicts causing devastating human suffering and lasting economic damage," Jihad Azour, the IMF's Middle East and Central Asia Department director, told reporters in Dubai. "The recent escalation in Lebanon has greatly increased the uncertainty in the whole MENA region." IMF forecasts for Lebanon, where conflict with Israel has sharply escalated this month, have been suspended. But "conservative" estimates show a 9.0-10 percent contraction this year, Azour said. "The impact (on Lebanon) will be severe and it will depend how long this conflict will last," said the former Lebanese finance minister. Saudi-led oil cuts through the OPEC+ cartel, aimed at propping up prices, "are contributing to sluggish near-term growth in many economies", the IMF said. For the region's oil exporters, "medium-term growth is projected to moderate, as economic diversification reforms will take time to yield results", it added. Downside risks continue to dominate, the lender said, including fluctuating commodity prices, conflicts and climate shocks.

Tamkeen supports more than 70 Bahrainis at Awal Dairy Company

TDT | Manama

The Labour Fund "Tamkeen" announced its support for more than 70 Bahraini employees at Awal Dairy Company as part of the "Wage Increment" programme, which aims to support the career development of Bahraini professionals in the private sector. Tamkeen's support aligns with its 2024 strategic priorities, under three pillars: increasing economic participation through employment opportunities for new market entrants, expanding career development opportunities available to the Bahraini workforce, and further developing the private sector by supporting enterprises to drive impact and sustainable development in the economy. Mr. Khalid Al-Bayat, Chief Growth Officer at the Labour Fund "Tamkeen" commented: "We have witnessed the factory's growth through utilizing our various support programmes. Last year, the factory availed various enterprise support programmes to develop operational processes and expand productivity, which lead this year to career development prospects for Bahraini employees at the company through the "Wage Increment" program." He added, "This support enriches the growing industrial sector, which contributed 14.4% to national GDP in the second quarter of this year." In addition, Mr. Khalid Youssef Abdulrahman, Vice Chairman of Awal Dairy, praised Tamkeen's support, stating: "Tamkeen's support has enriched the growth and development of Awal Dairy Company. We expanded our operations in previous years using the enterprise support programs, which have enabled career development opportunities for local talent this year. We are proud to achieve a Bahrainization rate of 55% in the factory, and we look forward to creating more job opportunities for national talent in the upcoming period." Established in 1963, Awal Dairy specializes in the production and distribution of dairy products as well as natural juices and ice cream, with brands including "Noor," "Awal," and "Fabion."

Huawei says profits fall 13% in first three quarters

AFP | Beijing, China

Chinese technology giant Huawei saw its net profit fall by over 13% in the first three quarters of 2024 year-on-year, a company filing showed Thursday. Huawei has for several years been at the centre of an intense tech rivalry between Beijing and Washington, with US officials warning its equipment could be used to spy on behalf of Chinese authorities -- allegations it denies. Since 2019, US sanctions have cut Huawei off from global supply chains for technology and US-made components, a move that initially hammered its production of smartphones. The company said in an earnings report published by the Shanghai Clearing House on Thursday that its net profit between January and September was 63.1 billion yuan ($8.9 billion). The equivalent figure for the first nine months of last year was 72.9 billion yuan, according to the statement, representing a decline of 13.4%. Huawei did not provide a quarterly breakdown and declined to give further information when contacted by AFP. The company is not publicly listed and therefore is under no obligation to disclose its earnings. Last month, Huawei unveiled the world's first triple-folding phone, with a hefty price tag. The gadget went on sale on September 20 with prices beginning at an eye-watering $2,800 -- over three times more than the new iPhone 16.

Riyadh Air plans wide-body jet order next year: official

Riyadh, Saudi Arabia

Saudi Arabia's new national airline, Riyadh Air, plans next year to order wide-body aircraft capable of seating more than 300 passengers, its chief financial officersaid yesterday. The order would be the third for the airline, which was created last year and plans to operate its first flights in the summer of 2025. "We will do our third RFP for an ultimate ultra wide body, which has in excess of 300 seats as well, but that will be next year," Adam Boukadida said on the sidelines of the Future Investment Initiative investor forum in Riyadh, referring to the request for proposal procurement document. "It could be Boeing, it could be Airbus. At the moment, we're very happy having the relationship with both of these key suppliers."

"We have repeatedly and unequivocally made it clear to Tehran that the execution of a German citizen will have serious consequences," Baerbock said, announcing the closure of the consulates in Frankfurt, Munich and Hamburg in a televised speech. The execution announced on Monday had already provoked tit-for tat diplomatic expulsions, with Chancellor Olaf Scholz calling it a "scandal". "The fact that this assassination took place in the light of the latest developments in the Middle East shows that (Iran's) dictatorial, unjust regime... does not act according to normal diplomatic logic," Baerbock said.

◆ The United States and South Korea held high-level talks Thursday after North Korea test-fired one of its newest and most powerful missiles, demonstrating its threat to the US mainland days ahead of elections. The weapons test was the first since North Korea was accused of sending troops to Russia to support the invasion of Ukraine, triggering alarm and warnings by Washington, Seoul and Europe. North Korea's latest actions were certain to top the agenda as Secretary of State Antony Blinken and Defense Secretary Lloyd Austin opened previously scheduled joint talks with their South Korean counterparts in Washington. South Korea, which previously said that the North was preparing a missile or even nuclear test ahead of US elections on Tuesday, said Pyongyang appeared to have fired a solid-propelled long-range ballistic missile. Indian and Chinese troops gift sweets at contested border

Indian and Chinese army greet each other along the Line of Actual Control (LAC) near Karakoram pass in Ladakh
AFP | New Delhi, India

Indian and Chinese troops exchanged boxes of sweets on Thursday at two points on their contested high-altitude border, a week after the leaders of the Asian rivals held a rare meeting.

Photographs released by the Indian army showed soldiers shaking hands and handing gift-wrapped boxes of sweets in the rugged icy mountains of Ladakh and Arunachal Pradesh, to mark India's Hindu festival of lights, Diwali.

After the 2020 clashes, more than 20 rounds of military talks were held.

Both sides pulled back tens of thousands of troops and agreed not to send patrols into a narrow dividing strip.

But two major points remained with troops and tanks on both sides staring at each other. On October 21, days before Xi and Modi met, a deal was struck to pull back a few hundred soldiers deployed at forward positions, a term dubbed "disengagement", and resume military patrols.

An Indian army official who was not authorised to speak to journalists confirmed that "sweets were exchanged between troops of India and China at several border points on the occasion of Diwali".

Rajnath Singh, India's defence minister, said Thursday that New Delhi's "efforts will be to move the matter beyond disengagement", but added that that "will have to wait a little longer", the Press Trust of India news agency quoted him as saying.

Harris, Trump head west in US election race countdown

AFP | Washington, United States

Kamala Harris and Donald Trump take their knife-edge White House race west on Thursday, seeking the advantage on immigration and aiming to woo crucial Latino voters days ahead of the US election.

Pop icon Jennifer Lopez will bring her star power to the stage for Harris in Las Vegas, as the candidates chase one another through the seven swing states expected to decide the next president.

Trump has scheduled an interview in Arizona with ex-Fox News host Tucker Carlson and a rally in neighboring Nevada.

Both campaigns have been sidetracked in recent days after controversies stemming from a remark by a warm-up speaker at a Trump rally, which initially blew back against Republicans before a damaging gaffe from President Joe Biden.

Harris made political hay from the comedian calling the US territory of Puerto Rico a "floating island of garbage."

Her campaign won the backing of Puerto Rican celebrity Lopez, rapper Bad Bunny and singer Ricky Martin, and released a Spanish-language ad with the voice-over concluding: "On November 5, Trump will find out that one person's trash is another's treasure."

But Harris found herself on the defensive after Biden appeared to call Trump supporters "garbage"

-- prompting the Democratic candidate to state that she disagreed with criticism of people based on who they vote for.

Trump, who himself has branded Harris's allies "garbage" and "scum," was quick to pounce on the misstep with a publicity stunt as he climbed into a garbage truck.

On Wednesday, new remarks by Trump on another hot-button issue, abortion rights, raised eyebrows when he told a rally in Green Bay, Wisconsin: "I want to protect the women of our country... whether the women like it or not."

The 78-year-old will also visit

Former US President and Republican presidential candidate Donald Trump dances as he leaves a campaign rally in Rocky Mount, North Carolina

New Mexico on Thursday, and Virginia on Saturday -- surprising calls given that polls suggest the two states will go to Harris.

'Locking arms'

Campaigning out west, the two candidates are hoping to entice Hispanic voters and earn credit on the crucial election issue of migration.

Trump is betting that frustrations over the Biden-Harris administration's immigration policy will swing Arizona, which shares a border with Mexico, back in his favor.

Biden beat Trump in Arizona in 2020, becoming the first Democrat since Bill Clinton in 1996 to win the state's electoral college votes.

Latinos have traditionally voted more in favor of Democrats, but recent polling shows a noticeable trend toward Republicans. The latest New York Times/Siena poll showed Harris with 52 percent of support among Hispanic voters to Trump's 42 percent.

Both candidates will be in North Carolina on the weekend as part of a blitz of battleground states, with Harris also visiting Georgia, Wisconsin, Michigan and Pennsylvania before Election Day.

Speaking in Wisconsin on Wednesday, the vice president pushed a message of unity that followed her "closing argument" speech the night before at a huge rally in the capital Washington.

"Folks are exhausted and want it to stop, the pointing fingers. It is time that we start locking arms together as a people who rise and fall together," she said.

Trump -- who has 34 felony convictions for crimes connected to the 2016 election -- is expected to reject Tuesday's election result if he loses.

The Republican is already seizing on commonplace verification processes by election officials to amplify his claims of widespread "cheating."

In Georgia, where Trump faces charges he sought to interfere in the election, early voting is shattering records, said the state's secretary of state, Brad Raffensperger.

He told CNN all early votes will be counted within an hour of polls closing, with the vast majority of all results from the state's counties reported "before the end of the night" Tuesday.

"When you have an efficient organization with great people up and down the line, counties are doing good work, then those are results you can trust," he said. "And I think trust is the new gold standard."

Saudi FM says could move 'quite quickly' on some deals with US

AFP | Riyadh, Saudi Arabia

Saudi Arabia's foreign minister said yesterday that Riyadh could potentially move "quite quickly" on some bilateral agreements with Washington even if a mega-deal involving recognising Israel remains out of reach.

Since last year Saudi Arabia has been bargaining hard for a defence pact with the United States as well as assistance with a civilian nuclear programme.

As part of that deal the Gulf kingdom, home to the holiest shrines in Islam, would recognise Israel for the first time.

Crown Prince Mohammed bin Salman last month ruled out recognising Israel without the establishment of a Palestinian state. Foreign Minister Prince Faisal bin Farhan reiterated on Thursday that normalisation was "off the table until we have a resolution to Palestinian statehood". But during a session at the Future Investment Initiative forum in Riyadh, he also said deals in other areas could advance soon.

"The bilateral agreements we are working on with the US are actually multiple agreements," Prince Faisal said.

"Some of them we can progress probably quite quickly, and some of them we are working on -- especially those related to trade, AI, et cetera -- which are not tied to any other third parties."

Officials in US President Joe Biden's administration have described the ongoing bilateral talks as building towards the proposed mega-deal, dismissing the possibility of separating the different components.

Prince Faisal seemed to acknowledge on Thursday that the defence-related elements were bound up with normalisation. "Some of the more significant defence cooperation agreements are much more complicated," he said.

"We would certainly welcome an opportunity to finish them before the current administration's term, but that's reliant on other factors outside of our control."

Prince Faisal also said Riyadh had no preference on the winner of next week's presidential election in the US.

"Obviously, we've worked with President (Donald) Trump before, so we know him, and we can find a way to work with him very well," he said.

"But we also know, obviously, the team that is currently working with the Biden administration. Vice President (Kamala) Harris is part of that team, and we've been able to build a very strong working relationship. So we absolutely have no preference."

He added: "They will certainly be different, whether one or the other would be better, this is not up to me to say."

Strikes near Lebanon's Tyre after Israel evacuation call

AFP | Beirut, Lebanon

Strikes rocked a village near the southern Lebanese city of Tyre on Thursday, state media said, after Israel issued an evacuation call for the area.

The strikes on Al-Hawsh coincided with an exodus of civilians from the Rashidieh camp for Palestinian refugees near Tyre which was also covered by the evacuation warning, the official National News Agency said.

The camp, located about five kilometres (three miles) from Tyre, is one of the largest and most overcrowded in Lebanon.

Earlier Thursday, Lebanon's prime minister condemned Israel for issuing evacuation warnings for entire areas and called for diplomatic pressure for a halt to its strikes more than a month into the war.

"The threats issued by the Israeli enemy against Lebanese civilians to evacuate entire cities and leave their areas and homes are an additional war crime added to the series of crimes committed by the enemy," Najib Mikati said in a statement. He said he was "requesting intensified pressure on Israel to stop its aggression".

Israeli military spokesman Avichay Adraee posted the evacuation call for the Rashidieh camp and other nearby villages and towns on X, telling residents to move "north of the Awali river".

Hours later, Adraee also issued an evacuation call for the people of Baalbek and its surroundings, with Lebanese official media later reporting Israeli strikes near the main eastern city.

"Enemy aircraft launched four strikes on the village of Douris and the surroundings of the city of Baalbek," the National News Agency said.

Musk a no-show at $1 mn giveaway US court hearing

AFP | Philadelphia, United States

Billionaire Elon Musk dodged a Philadelphia court hearing yesterday after asking to move a lawsuit seeking to halt his $1 million giveaways to registered voters from state to federal court.

The Tesla and SpaceX CEO had been ordered by a Pennsylvania state judge to attend the hearing, but his lawyers filed a motion late Wednesday arguing that the case involved federal election issues and should be heard instead in a

US District Court.

Philadelphia's chief prosecutor Larry Krasner, a Democrat, sued Musk and his pro-Trump political action committee, America PAC, on Monday, calling the $1 million giveaways to registered voters in election battleground states "an illegal lottery scheme."

The move came just days after the Justice Department warned Musk and America PAC that the sweepstakes may violate federal law, which prohibits paying people to register to vote.

"Elon Musk didn't show," John Summers, who is representing the Philadelphia district attorney's office in the case, told reporters after a brief hearing Thursday morning.

"Elon Musk and his America

PAC filed legal papers to have the case removed from this court to federal court and we will proceed to federal court," Summers said.

"We will address the issues there and seek to have the matter remanded back to the state court," he said. "After all, this is a case that involves state law issues and I'll leave it at that."

According to the America PAC website, 13 people, including four in Pennsylvania, have received the $1 million awards

Musk, 53, who also owns X, formerly Twitter, has thrown his millions, time and considerable influence into backing Republican presidential candidate Donald Trump since endorsing him in July.

Musk, the world's richest man, has reportedly donated $118 million to his political action committee, an organization which collects funds for elections.

He has also appeared on stage with Trump at a campaign rally in Pennsylvania and hosted a series of town halls on his own in the eastern state seen as critical in the November election.

Musk, who previously supported Barack Obama but has become increasingly conservative in recent years, peppers his 202 million followers on X daily with messages championing Trump and denigrating his opponent, Vice President Kamala Harris.

Forgotten Gems of Khaybar

4,000-year-old town discovered hidden in Arabian oasis

AFP | Paris, France

The discovery of a 4,000-year-old fortified town hidden in an oasis in modern-day Saudi Arabia reveals how life at the time was slowly changing from a nomadic to an urban existence, archaeologists said yesterday.

The remains of the town, dubbed al-Natah, were long concealed by the walled oasis of Khaybar, a green and fertile speck surrounded by desert in the northwest of the Arabian Peninsula.

Then an ancient 14.5 kilometre-long wall was discovered at the site, according to research led by French archaeologist Guillaume Charloux published earlier this year.

For a new study published in the journal PLOS One, a French-Saudi team of researchers have provided “proof that these ramparts are organised around a habitat”, Charloux told AFP.

The large town, which was home to up to 500 residents, was built around 2,400 BC during the early Bronze Age. It was abandoned around a thousand years later.

The large town, which was home to up to 500 residents, was built around 2,400 BC during the early Bronze Age, the researchers said.

It was abandoned around a thousand years later. “No one knows why,” Charloux said.

When al-Natah was built, cities were flourishing in the Levant region along the Mediterranean Sea from present-day Syria to Jordan.

Northwest Arabia at the time was thought to have been barren desert, crossed by pastoral nomads and dotted with burial sites.

That was until 15 years ago, when archaeologists discovered ramparts dating back to the Bronze Age in the oasis of Tayma, to Khaybar’s north.

This “first essential discovery” led scientists to look closer at these oases, Charloux said.

‘Slow urbanism’

Black volcanic rocks called basalt concealed the walls of al-Natah so well that it “protected the site from illegal excavations”, Charloux said.

But observing the site from above revealed potential paths and the foundations of houses, suggesting where the archaeologists needed to dig.

They discovered foundations “strong enough to easily support at least one- or two-storey” homes, Charloux said, emphasising that there was much more work to be done to understand the site.

But their preliminary findings paint a picture of a 2.6-hectare town with around 50 houses perched on a hill, equipped with a wall of its own.

Tombs inside a necropolis there contained metal weapons like axes and daggers as well as stones such as agate, indicating a relatively advanced society for so long ago.

The size of the ramparts -- which could reach around five metres (16 feet) high -- suggests that al-Natah was the seat of some kind of powerful local authority.

Pieces of pottery “suggest a relatively egalitarian society”, the study said. They are “very pretty but very simple ceramics”, added Charloux.

The size of the ramparts -- which could reach around five metres (16 feet) high -- suggests that al-Natah was the seat of some kind of powerful local authority.

These discoveries reveal a process of “slow urbanism” during the transition between nomadic and more settled village life, the study said.

For example, fortified oases could have been in contact with each other in an area still largely populated by pastoral nomadic groups. Such exchanges could have even laid the foundations for the “incense route” which saw spices, frankincense and myrrh traded from southern Arabia to the Mediterranean.

Al-Natah was still small compared to cities in Mesopotamia or Egypt during the period.

But in these vast expanses of desert, it appears there was “another path towards urbanisation” than such city-states, one “more modest, much slower, and quite specific to the northwest of Arabia”, Charloux said.

Beyond its recent archaeological discoveries, Khaybar was once a thriving hub on ancient trade routes, connecting Arabia with other civilizations. It was known for its lush date palm groves and agricultural richness in the middle of the desert, a rarity that made it a strategic and coveted location for various cultures and empires over millennia. Its role as a crossroads and sanctuary in the otherwise harsh desert landscape has contributed to its long-lasting cultural and historical importance in the region.

Man Utd hit five to start life after Ten Hag, Man City out

Manchester, United Kingdom

Ruud van Nistelrooy enjoyed a winning start as interim Manchester United manager by beating Leicester 5-2 to reach the League Cup quarter-finals on Wednesday as Manchester City crashed out 2-1 to Tottenham.

Arsenal and Liverpool were among the other sides to book their place in the last eight, but Chelsea were beaten 2-0 at Newcastle.

A United legend as a player, Van Nistelrooy was thrust into the role of caretaker boss after the Red Devils sacked Erik ten Hag on Monday following a dreadful start to the season.

Sporting Lisbon coach Ruben Amorim is the man the English giants have targeted to take over but are still in negotiations with the Portuguese champions to agree compensation for the 39-year-old.

According to reports in Portugal, Amorim will remain at Sporting for the next three matches before completing his move during the November international break.

Casemiro's stunning effort into the top corner opened the scoring before Alejandro Garnacho swept home Diogo Dalot's cross to please a jubilant Van Nistelrooy on the touchline.

Bilal El Khannouss quickly pulled a goal back for the much-changed Foxes.

Bruno Fernandes' deflected free-kick restored United's two-goal cushion before Casemiro slammed home his third goal in two games.

Conor Coady grabbed another consolation for Leicester but United were not to be denied just a second win in nine games.

Fernandes rounded off the scoring when he pounced on a short back-pass to round Danny Ward and fire home.

United's reward is a trip to Tottenham in the last eight after they eliminated a City side

Manchester United's Uruguayan midfielder #25 Manuel Ugarte (L) vies with Leicester City's French-born Ghanaian striker #18 Jordan Ayew (R) during the English League Cup round of 16 football match between Manchester United and Leicester City at Old Trafford in Manchester, north west England

without Erling Haaland.

Timo Werner slotted home his first goal since March from Dejan Kulusevski's inviting cross to open the scoring.

Pape Sarr's long-range strike doubled Spurs' lead before Matheus Nunes got an injury-hit City back into the tie in first-half stoppage time.

But they could not find an equaliser and Pep Guardiola showed where his priorities lie as Haaland remained on the bench for the full 90 minutes.

Gakpo leads Liverpool

Cody Gakpo was the match-winner for Liverpool in a 3-2 win at Brighton to continue Arne Slot's excellent start to life with the Reds.

Gakpo has not scored in the Premier League or Champions League this season but now has four goals in two League Cup games.

The Dutch international was ruthless with two powerful finishes cutting inside onto his right foot from the left wing.

Luis Diaz was also on target for Liverpool, while Simon Ad-ingra and Tariq Lamptey struck late on for Brighton.

Liverpool are away to Southampton in December's quarter-finals.

Teenager Ethan Nwaneri caught the eye with a sensational strike as Arsenal eased to a 3-0 win at Championship side Preston.

Gabriel Jesus and Kai Havertz got the other goals for the Gunners.

Arsenal host Crystal Palace, who beat Aston Villa 2-1, in the quarters.

Newcastle gained revenge for their Premier League defeat at Chelsea at the weekend to ease the pressure on manager Eddie Howe.

The Saudi-backed Magpies are winless in five in the league, but are desperate to end a 55-year wait to win a major trophy.

Alexander Isak's strike and an Axel Disasi own goal inside three first-half minutes proved decisive at St. James' Park.

Newcastle will fancy their chances of making the last four after being handed a home draw against Brentford.

Bahrain set to shine again with 3x3 Basketball Tour

Fresh off the success of the ISF Gymnasiade, which concluded on Wednesday, Bahrain is wasting no time ramping up for its next major sports spectacle—the Bahrain Global 3x3 Basketball Tour. The highly anticipated tournament returns for a second consecutive year, set to take place today and run until tomorrow. The tournament will take place at the Financial Harbor courts.

This year's tour is expected to elevate Bahrain's growing reputation as a premier sports destination. Following the announcement at a press conference, where figures like His Highness Sheikh Isa bin Ali Al Khalifa and FIBA's Ignacio Soriano spoke to the event's significance, it's clear that the tournament represents more than just a high-stakes basketball showdown. The event will highlight Bahrain's robust infrastructure and seamless event management as the Kingdom positions itself as a regional leader in sports tourism.

The hosting of the 3x3 Tour right after a successful international school event underlines Bahrain's vision of becoming a global hub for athletics. Local athletes will have a rare chance to compete on their home soil against some of the world's best, adding to the excitement and pride among fans. As players and teams prepare for this year's 3x3 spectacle, Bahrain's sports community eagerly anticipates another exciting weekend of world-class basketball.

Mixed Martial Arts Federation committed to global competitions

Mohammed Ali Qambar, a member of the International Mixed Martial Arts Federation (IMMAF) and President of the Bahrain Mixed Martial Arts Federation (BMAAF), emphasized the importance of Bahrain's national team participating in the upcoming global sports event. "The Bahrain Mixed Martial Arts Federation is keen on ensuring the national team's presence in this international gathering. Our team has not missed this championship since its debut in the second edition held in Las Vegas, USA, in 2015," he stated.

Qambar expressed confidence in the team's capabilities, stating that they aim to deliver a performance that reflects Bahrain's esteemed reputation in the global mixed martial arts arena. This commitment to excellence is driven by the support of Bahrain's leadership, particularly the patronage of His Highness Sheikh Khalid bin Hamad Al Khalifa, the First Deputy President of the Supreme Council for Youth and Sports, President of the General Sports Authority, and President of the Bahrain Olympic Committee.

South Africa sweep Bangladesh series with innings victory

South Africa's players and team officials pose with the series trophy after winning the second and last Test cricket match against Bangladesh at the Zahur Ahmed Chowdhury Stadium in Chittagong runs inside three days and giving the tourists a 2-0 series sweep yesterday.

Bangladesh have never won a Test against South Africa in 16 attempts.

Bangladesh were all out for 143 in Chattogram after being put straight back in to bat by the Proteas, a single session after ending their first innings on 159.

Left-arm spinner Maharaj took 5-59, after fast bowler Kagiso Rabada posted 5-37 from just nine overs in the first innings.

It was South Africa's biggest Test win, surpassing their innings and 254-run victory over Bangladesh at home in 2017.

"Very fortunate that we had some special performances along the way that got us into really strong positions, and we were able to apply pressure through that," stand-in captain Aiden Markram said.

"A proud moment for all of us, absolutely, and one that we'll reflect back on in the years to come as a special team."

After ending the first innings behind by 416 runs, the onus was on home team veterans Najmul Hossain Shanto, Mushfiqur Rahim and Mehidy Hasan Miraz to save face -- but all fell cheaply.

"Our batting has been like this for a long time," skipper Najmul said.

"If the top order doesn't contribute well, this is the kind of result we'll get."

Mushfiqur, who failed to score in the first innings, returned to the pavilion having made two.

He tried to sweep Senuran Muthusamy but missed the ball, which hit his pad at the leg-stump line.

Maharaj claimed Mehidy for six while Muthusamy sent back Najmul, leaving the hosts on a despairing 78-7.

Bangladesh fought on through the last session with Hasan Mahmud the last man left on 38 off 30 balls, including four sixes.

Maharaj sealed the match taking the last wicket of Nahid Rana for a duck. It was his 10th five-wicket haul.

Muthusamy finished the second innings with 4-45.

He struck in his first over of the innings when his tossed-up delivery to Mahmudul Hasan Joy kissed the bat and landed in the palms of Markram at slip.

Maharaj first struck when he sent back Mominul Haque, who scored 82 in the first innings, for a duck.

'Need to improve'

At the start of the day the hosts were reduced to 48-8, conceding four wickets to add 10 runs to their overnight total, before a mini-fightback by Mominul.

Rabada struck twice in one over as Mehidy Hasan Miraz was caught behind and debutant Mahidul Islam Ankon offered no shot to a ball nipping back and was trapped lbw for a duck.

The burst gave Rabada his second five-wicket haul of the series, to go with his 6-46 in the first Test victory in Mirpur.

"Losing in this manner is very disappointing," Najmul said. "It shows that we need to improve in many areas, both on and off the field."

South Africa had three batsmen hit maiden Test centuries in their first-innings 575-6 -- Tony De Zorzi (177), Tristan Stubbs (106) and Wiaan Mulder (105 not out).

The tourists won the first Test by seven wickets.

Real Madrid Liga match against Valencia postponed due to deadly floods

Madrid, Spain

Real Madrid's away Rmatch at Valencia in La Liga this weekend was postponed on Thursday by the Spanish football federation due to floods that have killed more than 95 people.

Villarreal's home match against Rayo Vallecano was also suspended after the devastating flash floods in eastern Spain.

La Liga asked the Spanish football federation (RFEF) to postpone Valencia and Villarreal's matches on Saturday, as well as three second division games involving teams from affected areas.

"It has been agreed to postpone matches that were to be played in professional and non-professional competitions, both in 11-a-side football and in indoor football (in the Valencia region)," the RFEF said in a statement.

The federation had already postponed several midweek Copa del Rey first round matches including Valencia's game against Parla Escuela.

A moment of silence for the flood victims will be held at matches this weekend in Spain, including league leaders Barcelona's Catalan derby against Espanyol on Sunday.

South Africa's Klaasen gets $2.73m in record IPL retention

AFP | Mumbai, India

South Africa's Heinrich Klaasen edged cricket superstar Virat Kohli to become the most expensive player retained in the Indian Premier League yesterday.

Sunrisers Hyderabad re-signed the hard-hitting wicket-keeper-batsman for $2.73 million alongside skipper Australians Pat Cummins and Travis Head.

The 33-year-old Klaasen amassed 479 runs including four half-centuries at a strike rate of over 171 in this year's IPL as Hyderabad ended runners-up.

Klaasen surpassed the previous $2.02 million paid by Royal Challengers Bengaluru to Kohli in 2017.

Kohli kept up his bond with Bengaluru for $2.5 million in the lucrative T20 tournament as the retention deadline ended on Thursday at 5 pm India time (1130 GMT).

Heinrich Klaasen

Top Indian players including Rishabh Pant and KL Rahul have parted ways with their franchises to head into the mega auction, which is expected to be held next month.

Australia's Mitchell Starc holds the record after he led the team in this year's IPL following his return to competitive cricket from a serious car crash in December 2022.

Rahul was not among the list of players retained by Lucknow Super Giants, who kept West Indies' Nicholas Pooran for $2.5 million.

Other top players on the auction table will be England's Jos Buttler, who was not retained by Rajasthan Royals, and South African Faf du Plessis, out of Bengaluru.

Defending champions Kolkata Knight Riders released their skipper Shreyas Iyer but held onto the West Indies duo of Andre Russell and Sunil Narine.

Five-time winners Chennai extended their association with 43-year-old MS Dhoni, who comes in as an uncapped player after he retired from international cricket in 2020.

Five-time champions Mumbai Indians retained their top names including skipper Hardik Pandya, Rohit Sharma, Jasprit Bumrah and Suryakumar Yadav.
