"Such cooperation ensures that Arab nations continue to address regional and international developments diligently, while fulfilling the aspirations of their peoples for greater progress and prosperity," HRH Prince Salman said. The remarks came as His Royal Highness Prince Turki bin Faisal bin Abdulaziz Al Saud, Chairman of the King Faisal Center for Research and Islamic Studies, along with senior delegates from the Gulf Cooperation

HH Shaikh Nasser urges global partners; opens IISS Manama Dialogue 2025

● HH Shaikh Nasser called on all regional and international partners "to reaffirm their shared commitment to dialogue over division, and cooperation over confrontation"

● Cautioned against destabilising actions that seek to undermine stability and prosperity

TDT | Manama

Bringing Bahrain once again to the centre of global attention, the 21st edition of the IISS Manama Dialogue 2025 opened yesterday, drawing together ministers, policymakers, and strategic thinkers from around the world to tackle the Middle East's most urgent foreign policy, defence, and security challenges.

In his opening address, His Highness Lieutenant General Shaikh Nasser bin Hamad Al

Khalifa, the National Security Adviser and Royal Guard Commander, called on all regional and international partners "to reaffirm their shared commitment to dialogue over division, and cooperation over confrontation."

His Highness highlighted that the recent positive developments, particularly the Gaza peace plan — achieved through the efforts of the US administration and supported by constructive mediation — have opened a new window of opportunity for regional stability and joint cooperation.

While welcoming these encouraging signs, His Highness cautioned against destabilising actions that seek to undermine stability and prosperity, noting that such behaviour hinders reconstruction and reconciliation at a time when unity and collaboration are most essential.

The Middle East, Shaikh Nasser stressed, stands at a defining moment shaped by both new opportunities and persistent challenges. "Wise leadership, mutual respect, and a shared vision for stability are the pillars that can guide the region confidently toward a future of peace, opportunity, and lasting prosperity for all," HH said.

His Highness emphasised that under the wise leadership and far-sighted vision of His Majesty King Hamad bin Isa Al Khalifa, Bahrain continues to uphold the principles of co-existence and dialogue as the foundation of effective diplomacy and constructive regional engagement.

"This steadfast commitment is the key to overcoming the region's complexities and contributing meaningfully to collective progress," Shaikh Nasser added.

HH Shaikh Nasser also underlined Bahrain's appreciation for the participation of countries and organisations from around the world, noting that their presence reflects the deep-rooted spirit of cooperation that defines their shared relations.

His Highness expressed gratitude to Dr Bastian Giegerich, the Director-General and Chief Executive of The International Institute for Strategic Studies (IISS), and Mr Sammy Sampson, Executive Director of IISS-Middle East, for their dedicated efforts in preparing and organising the dialogue.

HH Shaikh Nasser attends 10th anniversary celebration of The King's Trust International

His Highness Shaikh Nasser bin Hamad Al Khalifa, Representative of His Majesty the King for Humanitarian Work and Youth Affairs and member of The King's Trust International, attended the 10th anniversary celebration of the Trust, held in the presence of His Majesty King Charles III of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, founder of the organisation.

During the celebration, His Highness met with His Majesty King Charles III and discussed the active role of young people in shaping the future, the importance of supporting and empowering them, and the need to create environments that foster their creativity and leadership.

His Highness said The King's Trust International is a leading platform for empowering young people through effective programmes and partnerships that help them develop their skills and turn them into tangible achievements.

HH Shaikh Nasser, US Intelligence Chief Discuss Gulf Security Framework

● Investments in energy, cybersecurity, and space pave way for growth

● Dialogue highlights multilateral defense, investment, and innovation deals

His Highness Lieutenant General Shaikh Nasser bin Hamad Al Khalifa, National Security Adviser and Royal Guard Commander, underscored Bahrain’s commitment to regional security, stability, and prosperity during the opening session of the 21st IISS Manama Dialogue. The session featured a high-profile side-line panel discussion with US National Intelligence Director Tulsi Gabbard, focusing on the Comprehensive Security Integration and Prosperity Agreement (C-SIPA) and its broader implications.

HH Shaikh Nasser emphasized that C-SIPA, signed following Bahrain’s participation in the Abraham Accord, represents a comprehensive framework extending beyond defense cooperation to science, technology, and economic investment. “C-SIPA is not just a defense agreement; it is a multilateral platform that addresses regional conflicts while fostering a global framework for cooperation,” he said.

Key Security Enhancements

Bahrain has strengthened its military capabilities with the integration of F-16 Block 70 fighter jets and upgraded Patriot air defense systems, delivered ahead of schedule. These measures enhance Bahrain’s air power and preparedness amid rising regional tensions, particularly recent incidents involving Iran and Qatar. HH Shaikh Nasser noted that collaboration with the United States through Operation Posterity Guardian demonstrates a shared commitment to stability in a turbulent Middle East.

Economic and Technological Gains

Beyond defense, C-SIPA is driving investment deals and innovation. Bahrain has signed multi-million-dollar agreements in energy, cybersecurity, and space sectors, including small modular nuclear reactors and satellite technology projects. HH Shaikh Nasser highlighted the trilateral cooperation with the United States and the United Kingdom, signaling a move toward a broader multilateral approach to regional security and economic prosperity.

Regional Challenges

Both HH Shaikh Nasser and Tulsi Gabbard reflected on the complexities of engaging with Iran, noting that diplomacy and intelligence collaboration are essential in navigating threats and fostering long-term peace. “True security and prosperity cannot be forged in isolation but through collective efforts among peacemakers,” said Gabbard, stressing the importance of pragmatic, deal-driven foreign policy in preventing conflicts and stabilizing the region.

US-Bahrain Cooperation

The dialogue highlighted the United States’ role as a committed partner, facilitating both defense and economic collaboration across the Gulf. Gabbard praised Bahrain’s leadership in leveraging strategic partnerships to advance regional stability, noting that initiatives like C-SIPA link military preparedness with economic and technological development, creating a holistic approach to security.

HH Shaikh Nasser concluded his remarks by reaffirming Bahrain’s commitment to dialogue, collaboration, and multilateral cooperation as the foundation for regional peace and prosperity, reinforcing the Kingdom’s vision of stability amid a challenging geopolitical landscape.

HRH Prince Salman hails US role in regional stability, reaffirms support for Palestinian state

TDT | Manama

His Royal Highness Prince Salman bin Hamad Al Khalifa, the Crown Prince, Deputy Supreme Commander of the Armed Forces, and Prime Minister, yesterday praised the United States and its allies for their pivotal role in maintaining regional and global security, stability, and development, while reaffirming Bahrain's steadfast support for the legitimate rights of the Palestinian people.

The remarks came during HRH Prince Salman's meeting with Thomas J. Barrack, US Ambassador to Türkiye and Special Envoy for Syria, held on the sidelines of the 21st IISS Manama Dialogue 2025.

Reaffirming Bahrain's commitment to the establishment of an independent Palestinian state, HRH said such a step is vital for lasting peace and would benefit both the Palestinian people and the wider region.

Speaking on Bahrain-US relations, HRH Prince Salman noted that bilateral ties continue to expand across multiple sectors, driven by shared goals and mutual interests. HRH underscored the importance of further strengthening cooperation within the framework of the Comprehensive Security Integration and Prosperity Agreement (C-SIPA), describing it as a cornerstone for deeper strategic partnership. The meeting also reviewed regional and international developments and matters of common interest.

Present were His Highness Lieutenant-General Shaikh Nasser bin Hamad Al Khalifa, National Security Advisor and Commander of the Royal Guard; His Highness Shaikh Mohammed bin Salman bin Hamad Al Khalifa; Dr Abdulla-tif bin Rashid Al Zayani, Minister of Foreign Affairs; and Shaikh Salman bin Khalifa Al Khalifa, Minister of Finance and National Economy.

A sweet date!

Kingdom may host world dates observatory

- Government-backed bill now before Parliament
- To monitor and analyse global date production and trade

● Oversight by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

Bahrain could soon become the world's window into the global dates market, with lawmakers set to vote on a government-backed bill proposing the Kingdom as the permanent home of the International Dates Observatory.

Picture for representation only

If approved, the law would formalise an agreement signed in Manama on 22 September 2025, officially designating Bahrain as the permanent seat of the Observatory. The pact grants the institution leg a l status, the right to contract and own property, and access to the facilities required for its operations.

The draft law, issued under Decree No. 64 of 2025, has been referred to Parliament's Public Utilities and Environment Committee for review, with the Legislative and Legal Affairs Committee asked to provide its remarks.

Once established, the International Dates Observatory will collect, analyse, and publish data on global date production and trade — giving member states reliable market insights and evidence-based indicators to shape their decisions. It will be empowered to hold multi-currency accounts and transfer funds in accordance with Bahraini law, while working in coordination with the government.

Under the terms of the agreement, the Director of the International Dates Council must keep Bahrain's Ministry of Foreign Affairs informed about the Observatory's leadership and staff changes. All official correspondence with Bahraini authorities will pass through the ministry.

The agreement also includes a safeguard clause affirming Bahrain's right to act in the interest of national security, safety, and public order during emergencies. Disputes will be resolved amicably through diplomatic channels, and any amendments must be made in writing and ratified through the same procedures.

The Legislation and Legal

Opinion Commission has confirmed that the proposal aligns with Bahrain's Constitution and qualifies for approval under Article 37(2). Parliament will now study the file and the recommendations of the two committees before a final decision is made.

If ratified, Bahrain would solidify its role as a central hub for global agricultural intelligence — this time, with a sweet focus on one of the Arab world's oldest and most prized fruits.

The global dates market is valued at over USD 15 billion and is projected to grow steadily as demand rises for natural sweeteners and healthy snacks — with Middle Eastern countries accounting for more than 75% of global production.

MPs propose allowance for multiple sclerosis patients

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

Multiple sclerosis (MS), a chronic neurological disorder that affects the central nervous system, could soon be recognised as a qualifying disability for monthly allowances under a proposal submitted by five MPs.

If approved, individuals living with MS would be entitled to financial support from the Ministry of Social Development.

The condition, which can cause movement, sensory and visual impairments, often disrupts daily life and may force patients to withdraw from work, studies, or social activities.

According to the parliamentary memorandum, people with MS are not currently listed among the disability categories eligible for regular financial aid. "Many therefore face high treatment costs without steady financial or social backing," the document states.

The lawmakers argue that including MS within the supported categories aligns with Bahrain's Law on the Care, Rehabilitation and Employment of Persons with Disabilities, as well as the Kingdom's international obligations.

They note that MS patients often require expensive medication and ongoing medical care, including physiotherapy, MRI scans, periodic injections, and specialist consultations — expenses that can be overwhelming, especially for those unable to remain employed due to the illness.

The memorandum also cites international practice, where MS is recognised as a disability eligible for assistance, and points out that Bahrain's legal framework permits the inclusion of chronic conditions that cause long-term incapacity.

The proposal was submitted by MPs Jaleela Alawi, Dr Mahdi Al Shuwai-kh, Dr Hisham Al Ashiri, Mahmood Fardan, and Mohsen Al Asboul.

Tougher jail terms, fines proposed for fatal and negligent injury cases

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

Hefty penalties and longer jail terms could soon be introduced for those found guilty in cases of fatal or negligent injury, under a new bill up for a vote in Parliament this Tuesday.

The proposed amendments set out prison terms of up to 10 years and fines reaching BD10,000 in the most serious cases, aligning penalties with those already applied under traffic laws.

For fatal incidents, courts could impose prison terms ranging from two to five years, with fines between BD2,000 and BD6,000. Where multiple deaths occur, the range would rise to two to seven years and BD3,000 to BD10,000 in fines.

Under the draft, harsher sentences would apply when aggravating factors are present — such as driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs, running a red light, breaching basic duties at work, or failing to assist a victim despite being able to help.

For fatal incidents, courts could impose prison terms ranging from two to five years, with fines between BD2,000 and BD6,000. Where multiple deaths occur, the range would rise to two to seven years and BD3,000 to BD10,000 in fines. In cases involving both multiple deaths and an aggravating factor, sentences could extend from 3 to 10 years.

For negligent injury, the basic penalty would be up to one year in jail or a BD200 fine. If the injury causes a permanent disability or involves an aggravating factor, penalties would rise to one to five years in jail and BD1,000 to BD5,000 in fines. Multiple injuries would carry two to five years' imprisonment and BD2,000 to BD8,000 fines, increasing to two to seven years where aggravating factors apply.

The Interior Ministry told MPs that some fatal accidents without aggravating elements currently result only in a fine or short jail term, while cases involving drink, drugs or reckless driving already attract tougher, mandatory penalties. The proposed change seeks to close the gap between the Penal Code and traffic laws, ensuring similar offences are treated with equal severity.

The Supreme Judicial Council said it is not authorised to comment on such legislative proposals.

Parliament's Committee on Foreign Affairs, Defence and National Security has recommended approving the bill, noting unanimous support among members present.

Jobless fund not meant for pension hikes, says government

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

The government has urged Parliament to withdraw a bill that diverts unemployment insurance surpluses to fund annual pension increases, warning the move lacks actuarial backing and strays from the scheme's purpose.

The draft amends Article 8 of the 2006 Unemployment Insurance Law to let the fund pay

The unemployment fund, ring-fenced within the Pension and Social Insurance Fund, is financed by a 3% payroll contribution split equally between the government, employers, and workers.

yearly pension rises under any retirement scheme until the civil and military funds return to surplus. The government says this would turn a short-term job safety net into an open-ended pension subsidy.

The unemployment fund, ring-fenced within the Pension and Social Insurance Fund, is financed by a 3% payroll contribution split equally between the government, employers, and workers. Its role, the memo stresses, is to support those who lose jobs involuntarily or seek work for the first time—not to underwrite long-term pension costs.

Citing the absence of actuarial studies, the memo warns the bill could deplete reserves meant for downturns, leading to payment delays or tighter eligibility later. It also notes that military pensioners do not contribute to the unemployment account and should not benefit from its surplus.

The Legislation and Legal Opinion Commission echoes the need for actuarial and technical review before expanding spending beyond unemployment coverage. The government asks MPs to revisit the bill in light of these financial and legal concerns.

GCC plant genetic material rules take root in Parliament

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

Rules to regulate the exchange and ownership of plant genetic materials across the Gulf Cooperation Council (GCC) are moving closer to becoming law, with Bahrain's Parliament now reviewing the draft framework.

The proposal would align Bahrain with a GCC agreement adopted in December 2022 and has been referred to the Public Utilities and Environment Committee for study, with input from the Legislative and Legal Affairs Committee.

Under the draft, licences would be required for any work

involving plant genetic materials or their by-products, while import or export would need prior government approval. Travellers carrying such materials must declare them, present valid documents, and comply with plant quarantine regulations.

A designated government authority would enforce the rules, supported by a national committee on plant genetic resources. Fees for licensing and related services would be set with government approval.

The framework also lays out how benefits from the use of genetic resources and traditional knowledge are to be shared, recognises farmers' rights to participate in decision-making, and covers materials both in the wild and under cultivation.

Individuals would have 30 days to appeal official decisions, with the option to go to court if the appeal is denied or ignored. Violations—such as unlicensed handling or cross-border movement—could bring up to one month in jail or fines up to BD1,000, with courts empowered to seize or destroy materials obtained unlawfully.

MPs to debate yearly pension hikes for retired military staff

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

MPs are set to debate amendments to the 1976 Military Pensions Law that would introduce annual pension increases of 5% for retirees earning BD200–BD500, tapering to 1% for the highest pension bands, while revising contribution rates for members and the state.

The proposed changes, drawn from two revised MP submissions, will be discussed at Parliament's next sitting. Under the draft, member contributions would rise from 6% to 7%, while the state's share would drop slightly from 21% to 20%.

A new article introduces a sliding-scale yearly increase linked to pension levels — starting at 5% for the lowest bands and gradually falling to 1% for pensions above BD4,000. The accompanying memorandum says the plan is designed to support lower-income retirees while maintaining funding balance through the fixed contribution shares.

The Legislative and Legal Affairs Committee has referred the bill to the Financial and Economic Affairs Committee to assess its impact on the state budget, noting that the proposal aligns with the Constitution and existing legal framework.

A lively debate is expected in Parliament, as the measure would affect a large segment of retired military and security personnel.

Prison and deportation for driver in fatal red-light crash

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

An appeals court has upheld a one-year jail sentence and permanent deportation for an Asian motorist who killed a cyclist after running a red light.

Court records show the accident occurred around 12:45 p.m. when the defendant drove through a signal-controlled junction without stopping. The cyclist, crossing on a green pedestrian light, was hit head-on, thrown onto the car's roof, and died at the scene.

The driver admitted being behind the wheel but claimed he braked too late. Based on technical reports and witness accounts, the court found him guilty of causing death by negligence and failing to stop at a red light. The appeals court confirmed both the conviction and sentence.

Parliament to debate national policy for people with autism

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

Parliament will hold a general debate on Tuesday to review Bahrain's policy for people on the autism spectrum, focusing on health, education, and social inclusion.

MP Hassan Ibrahim will open the debate, joined by First Deputy Speaker Abdunabi Salman, Mamdouh Al Saleh, Jameel Mulla, Hamad Al Doy, Dr Mahdi Al Shuwaikh, Jalal Kadhem, Bader Al Tamimi, Dr Ali Al Nuaimi and Jaleela Alawi.

Lawmakers will seek detailed data on the number of people diagnosed - nosed with autism in Bahrain, the Health Ministry's diagnostic process, and the criteria used for confirmation. They will question why autism levels are not shown on the Smart ID card, which currently lists only "severe intellectual disability," and review early screening and treatment coverage in primary care.

Questions to the Social Development Ministry will centre on eligibility for disability allowances, the amounts paid, and the standards used to assess financial and social support. MPs will also examine oversight of rehabilitation centres, plans for new government facilities, and preparations for the upcoming Comprehensive Disability Complex.

In education, MPs will ask how many public schools admit students on the spectrum, the availability of trained teachers, and whether tailored learning plans and inclusion methods are in place. They will also look into joint initiatives between the Education and Health ministries to provide psychological and medical support in schools.

Many well-known figures are believed to have been on the autism spectrum. For example, Albert Einstein and Isaac Newton are often cited by researchers as historical figures who likely showed traits of autism, such as deep focus on their work and difficulty with social interaction.

Among confirmed modern examples, Temple Grandin, a renowned animal behaviour expert and autism advocate, has openly discussed her diagnosis and how it shaped her career.

Deportation cost to stay with employers

Government rejects plan to shift deportation costs to LMRA

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

A proposal to transfer deportation and body-transfer costs for foreign workers from employers to the Labour Market Regulatory Authority (LMRA) has been rejected by the government, which warned it would leave the state footing deportation bills with limited cost recovery.

The amendment to Article 27(c) of Law No. 19 of 2006 sought to make the LMRA responsible for deportation and repatriation expenses. Currently, employers must pay for a worker's return or, in case of death, the cost of preparing and repatriating the body if requested by the family. In emergencies, the Interior Ministry may act at the LMRA's expense, but the Authority can fully recover costs from the last employer — a rule upheld by the Court of Cassation.

Similar laws in Saudi Arabia, the UAE, Oman, and Qatar hold employers responsible for deportation and body-transfer expenses

The government said the proposal would “break the contractual balance,” benefiting employers at public expense and stripping the LMRA of the right to reclaim what it spends. It also noted that the LMRA is a regulatory body, not a funding agency, and that assuming such costs would violate public finance rules. Similar laws in Saudi Arabia, the UAE, Oman, and Qatar hold employers responsible for deportation and body-transfer expenses, the memo added.

Most cases involve deportations rather than deaths, meaning the LMRA would bear heavy costs — including storage, permits, air freight, and consular fees — while recovering little.

The Legislation and Legal Opinion Commission, tasked in April 2025 with drafting the MPs' bill, noted overlap with another proposal amending the same law and recommended merging them to avoid duplication. The government has urged Parliament to reconsider the plan.

Bill seeks Tamkeen funding for Bahraini doctors' overseas board training

Dr Hisham Al Ashiri, MP

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

Tamkeen could soon fund Bahraini doctors pursuing international board certification abroad, under a new bill tabled in Parliament. Lawmakers say the move would ease pressure on limited local training slots, with over 1,000 applicants competing for fewer than 100 seats each year.

An explanatory note says the existing programme, run jointly by the Supreme Council of Health and Tamkeen, cannot meet demand and leaves many doctors unable to advance. It adds that international board qualifications are globally recognised benchmarks offering stronger theoretical and practical training, which would ultimately enhance healthcare standards in Bahrain.

MPs backing the bill — Dr Hisham Al Ashiri, Mahmood Fardan, Mamdouh Al Saleh, Jaleela Al Alawi and Mohsen Al Asboul — say extending support overseas would raise the calibre of Bahrain's medical workforce, ensure fair access to career growth, and serve as a long-term investment in human capital. The current local training partnership would continue alongside the new initiative.

Bahrain continues to stand as a strong and reliable partner of the United States across various sectors including key areas that shape the future of the region, said Charge d'Affaires a.i. at the U.S. Embassy in Manama, Elizabeth A. Litchfield.

In an exclusive interview with The Daily Tribune on the sidelines of the opening ceremony of the IISS Manama Dialogue 2025, Litchfield highlighted the depth of cooperation between Bahrain and the U.S.

“Bahrain is a strong partner in many different fields and that includes the future of the region,” she said. “There are many aspects that President Donald Trump and his administration are pursuing to achieve, and those will be among the topics of our conversations.”

Meanwhile, the IISS Manama Dialogue Middle East and North Africa Young Leaders' Programme is once again bringing together a new generation of visionaries to exchange ideas and craft innovative policy proposals for the region's most pressing challenges.

The initiative provides young delegates with the opportunity to directly engage in policy design and regional strategy discussions, while building cross-border networks for long-term collaboration.

This year's programme welcomes another dynamic cohort of emerging leaders from across the Middle East and North Africa to participate as full delegates at the 21st IISS Manama Dialogue, held today and tomorrow at the Ritz-Carlton, Bahrain.

In addition to attending the main sessions, participants will join exclusive roundtables with senior officials and take part in private visits designed to deepen their understanding of regional dynamics.

By nurturing this community of future policymakers and strategic thinkers, the IISS aims to empower the next generation to shape the course of governance, diplomacy, and economic development across the Middle East and beyond.

IISS Manama Dialogue Middle East and North Africa Young Leaders' Programme

Tamkeen, established in 2006, is a government agency that supports private-sector growth and workforce development by funding training, entrepreneurship, and business expansion — having assisted over 250,000 Bahrainis and enterprises across various programmes.

China sends youngest astronaut, mice to space station

A Long March-2F carrier rocket, carrying the Shenzhou-21 spacecraft and a crew of three astronauts, lifts off from the Jiuquan Satellite Launch Centre

AFP | Beijing

A new crew took off for China’s space station on Friday, including the country’s youngest ever astronaut and four lab mice.

The Long March-2F rocket carrying the Shenzhou-21 mission crew lifted off at 11:44 pm (1544 GMT) from the Jiuquan Satellite Launch Center in northwest China, AFP journalists saw.

The Tiangong space station -- crewed by teams of three astronauts that are exchanged every six months -- is the crown jewel of China’s space programme, into which billions of dollars have been poured in a bid to catch up with the United States and Russia.

China has bold plans to send a crewed mission to the Moon by the end of the decade and eventually to build a base on the lunar surface.

Mission commander and veteran space pilot Zhang Lu is accompanied by 32-year-old flight engineer Wu Fei, China’s youngest astronaut to undertake a space mission, and payload specialist Zhang Hongzhang, 39.

The three astronauts waved goodbye to colleagues and family members at the remote launch base in the Gobi Desert as a band played a patriotic song.

Zhang Lu told reporters on Thursday he was confident his team would “report back to our motherland and its people with complete success”.

Space first-timer Wu told a news conference on Thursday that he felt “incomparably lucky”.

Four mice -- two male and two female -- join them as the subjects of China’s first in-orbit experiments on rodents.

Shenzhou-21 is expected to dock with Tiangong around three-and-a-half hours after takeoff.

Beijing’s space programme is the third to put humans in orbit, after the United States and the former Soviet Union.

King Charles ousts brother

Prince Andrew stripped of his royal titles and evicted from Windsor

- Faces fallout from Epstein-linked scandal
- Palace cites sympathy for abuse survivors
- Public anger mounts across UK

AFP | Washington

King Charles III is stripping his younger brother Andrew of his royal titles and ousting him from his long-term residence on the Windsor estate, the palace said on Thursday, the latest fallout to hit the scandal-plagued royal over the Jeffrey Epstein affair.

“Prince Andrew will now be known as Andrew Mountbatten Windsor,” Buckingham Palace said, adding Charles had begun the formal process to remove all his brother’s titles.

Andrew has also been told to move out of his long-time home on Windsor Castle’s sprawling grounds, and he will move “to alternative private accommodation” as soon as possible.

The announcement followed a torrent of outrage at renewed accusations of sexual assault made by one of Jeffrey Epstein’s main accusers against the 65-year-old, who has denied the charges.

“These censures are deemed necessary, notwithstanding the fact that he continues to deny the allegations against him,” the palace said.

“Their Majesties wish to make clear that their thoughts and utmost sympathies have been, and will remain with, the victims and survivors of any and all forms of abuse,” it added.

It comes days after the posthumous publication of Virginia Giuffre’s memoir, in which the victim of US sex offender Epstein reiterated in shocking detail allegations that she was trafficked to have sex with Andrew three times, including twice when she was only 17.

It is understood that Andrew did not object to the king’s decision, and that the UK government has been consulted.

Giuffre took her own life in April, aged 41, while Epstein died by suicide in 2019 in prison awaiting trial on sex-trafficking

Giuffre’s family, which had pushed for Andrew’s title of prince to be removed, hailed the move Thursday, saying in a statement to the BBC that “today, she declares a victory”.

“Today, an ordinary American girl from an ordinary American family brought down a British prince with her truth and extraordinary courage,” they said.

Nearly 50 dead after Hurricane Melissa thrashes Caribbean

AFP | Santiago de Cuba

Hurricane Melissa was “moving quickly away” from Bermuda early yesterday after the death toll rose to nearly 50 people, officials said.

The ferocious storm has devastated Caribbean islands and is expected to become an “extratropical cyclone” later in the day, reaching the northeastern United States and eastern Canada, the National Hurricane Center (NHC) said in its latest advisory.

“After Melissa becomes post-tropical, a brief period of heavy rain and gusty winds is possible over the southern Avalon Peninsula of Newfoundland tonight,” the NHC added.

Flooding was expected to subside in the Bahamas although high water could persist in Cuba, Jamaica, Haiti and neighboring Dominican Republic, the agency said.

The storm, one of the most powerful ever recorded, was made four times more likely because of human-caused climate change, according to a study by Imperial College London.

Melissa smashed into both Jamaica and Cuba with enormous force, and residents were assessing their losses and the long road to recovery.

In Jamaica, “the confirmed death toll from Hurricane Melissa is now at 19,” including nine in Westmoreland and eight in St. Elizabeth, both parishes in the Caribbean island’s hard-hit west, Information Minister Dana Morris Dixon told local news outlets including the Jamaica Gleaner.

Communications and transportation access remains largely down in Jamaica and Cuba, and comprehensive assessment of the damage could take days.

In impoverished Haiti, the country’s civil defense agency said Thursday that the death toll had risen to 30, with 20 people injured and another 20 missing.

It said more than 1,000 homes have been flooded, with some 16,000 people in shelters.

In the east of the communist island of Cuba, battling its worst economic crisis in decades, people struggled through inundated streets lined with flooded and collapsed homes.

The storm smashed windows, downed power cables and mobile communications, and tore off roofs and tree branches.

Melissa “killed us, because it left us destroyed,” Felicia Correa, who lives in the La Trampa community near El Cobre, told AFP.

“We were already going through tremendous hardship. Now, of course, we are much worse off.”

Cuban authorities said about 735,000 people had been evacuated -- mainly in the provinces of Santiago de Cuba, Holguin and Guantanamo.

‘Disaster area’

The United States meanwhile has mobilized disaster assistance response teams and urban search and rescue personnel, and the teams were currently on the ground in the Dominican Republic, Jamaica and the Bahamas, according to a State Department official.

Teams were en route to Haiti too.

Secretary of State Marco Rubio also included ideological foe Havana, saying the United States is “prepared to offer immediate humanitarian aid to the people of Cuba affected by the Hurricane.”

The UK government announced £2.5 million (about $3.3 million) in emergency funding for the region, and also said it was chartering “limited” flights to help British nationals leave.

Americans facing hunger as shutdown enters second month

People attend the People's Pantry Food drive to replenish food banks ahead of SNAP lapse at the USDA Headquarters, in the National Mall, Washington
AFP | Washington

The US government shutdown barreled towards its second month yesterday and the pain is spreading fast -- with federal workers broke, food aid vanishing and millions of Americans caught in the crossfire.

What started on October 1 as a Washington sideshow has morphed into a slow-motion implosion of public services and a growing economic convulsion, with federal offices dark and President Donald Trump's government stuck in neutral.

Republicans warned that millions will begin feeling the full force of the shutdown for the first time this weekend, as unresolved fights over funding for health care and food stamps make them hungrier and poorer.

"Most people haven't noticed up until this week. Thanks to Donald Trump finding a way to pay our troops last month, that pain was delayed," Republican House Whip Tom Emmer told Fox News. "But, starting this week... this is starting to become very real."

At the heart of the fight is money to help Americans cover health insurance under the Affordable Care Act, better known as Obamacare.

Those subsidies -- a lifeline for more than 20 million people -- are set to expire at year's end and, unless Congress acts, premiums will skyrocket by an eye-watering average of 114 percent when the new sign-up period opens Saturday.

But Washington's warring parties are locked in a familiar, bitter loop, as Democrats refuse to reopen the government without a deal to extend the subsidies and Trump's Republicans saying they won't talk until the lights are back on.

As Washington bickers, the shutdown's fallout is rippling through everyday life and starting to pinch where it really hurts -- the dinner table.

The Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), which helps 42 million low-income Americans buy groceries, is set to run out of funds this weekend.

Democrats have been pushing the White House to use $5 billion in emergency cash to cover food stamps but the administration says it cannot legally tap that fund.

Trump's nuclear testing order sparks confusion

President refuses to confirm if new nuclear tests would include live detonations

● Trump reiterates plan for nuclear testing

● Refuses to specify if tests are explosive

● Pentagon defends directive as "responsible"

AFP | Washington

President Donald Trump reiterated Friday that he wants testing of US nuclear weapons but again failed to clarify whether he meant live explosions in a directive that has provoked global tension, as well as some confusion.

Asked whether he meant conducting explosive tests, Trump told reporters on Air Force One, including from AFP: "I am not going to say."

"You'll find out very soon, but we're going to do some testing, yeah, and other countries do it. If they're going to do it, we're going to do it," he said on his way for a weekend at his golf resort in Florida.

No country other than North Korea has conducted an explosive nuclear weapon test for decades. Russia and China have not carried out such tests since the 1990s and the last US one was in 1992.

The 79-year-old Republican first made his surprise testing announcement by social media post on Thursday, minutes before entering a summit with Chinese leader Xi Jinping in South Korea.

The announcement came in the wake of Russia saying it had tested a nuclear-powered and nuclear-capable torpedo, as well as a new cruise missile.

Iran, which has been in conflict with the United States for years over its controversial nuclear projects, called Trump's directive "regressive and irresponsible."

"A nuclear-armed bully is resuming testing of atomic weapons. The same bully has been demonizing Iran's peaceful nuclear program," Foreign Minister Abbas Araghchi posted on social media.

Japanese atomic bomb survivors group Nihon Hidankyo sent a letter of protest to the US embassy in Japan.

The order "directly contradicts the efforts by nations around the world striving for a peaceful world without nuclear weapons and is utterly unacceptable," the Nobel Peace Prize-winning group said in the letter obtained by AFP.

'Pretty responsible'

Amid expressions of concern abroad and among some in the US Congress, Defense Secretary Pete Hegseth said "resuming testing is a pretty responsible" policy.

Vice President JD Vance said the US nuclear arsenal needed to be tested to ensure it actually "functions properly." He too did not elaborate on what type of tests Trump had ordered.

But China's foreign ministry spokesman Guo Jiakun urged the United States to "earnestly

Japan's atomic bomb survivors group, Nihon Hidankyo, sent a protest letter to the US Embassy, calling Trump's nuclear testing directive "utterly unacceptable" and a betrayal of global peace efforts abide" by a global nuclear testing ban.

United Nations chief Antonio Guterres said through a spokesman that "nuclear testing can never be permitted under any circumstances."

The United States has been a signatory since 1996 to the Comprehensive Nuclear-Test-Ban Treaty, which bans all atomic test explosions, whether for military or civilian purposes.

Russia pushes back

Russia pushed back against any idea that its recent weapon systems tests could justify a return to live test explosions.

The Kremlin questioned whether Trump was well-informed.

The recent weapons drills "cannot in any way be interpreted as a nuclear test," spokesman Dmitry Peskov told journalists.

"We hope that the information was conveyed correctly to President Trump."

Peskov then implied that Russia would conduct its own live detonation tests if Trump did it first.

According to the Stockholm International Peace Research Institute, the Russian stockpile of deployed and stored warheads is 4,309, compared to 3,700 for the United States and 600 for China -- figures that don't take into account hundreds of other warheads scheduled for dismantling.

'Hundreds dead' in Tanzania post-election violence, says opposition

AFP | Nairobi

Around 700 people have been killed in three days of election protests in Tanzania, the main opposition party said yesterday, with protesters still on the streets in the midst of an internet blackout.

President Samia Suluhu Hassan had sought to cement her position and silence critics in her party with an emphatic win in Wednesday's election, in which her main challengers were either jailed or barred from standing.

But the vote descended into chaos as crowds took to the streets of Dar es Salaam and other cities, tearing down her posters and attacking police and polling stations, leading to an internet shutdown and curfew.

With foreign journalists largely banned from covering the election and a communications blackout entering its third day, information from the ground has been scarce.

The main opposition party, Chadema, said clashes continued between protesters and security forces in the commercial hub yesterday.

"As we speak the figure for deaths in Dar (es Salaam) is around 350 and for Mwanza it is 200-plus. Added to figures from other places around the country, the overall figure is around 700," Chadema spokesman John Kitoka said.

American University of Bahrain Concludes the 2025 IEEE International Conference on Emerging Trends in Engineering and Computing

Manama

The American University of Bahrain (AUBH) has successfully concluded the 2025 IEEE International Conference on Emerging Trends in Engineering and Computing (IEEE ETECOM 2025), held in October 2025 consisting of two days - 29th in person and the 30th, in a hybrid format at the university's state-of-the-art campus in Riffa. The event took place in the presence of His Excellency Dr. Mohamed Ebrahim Al-Aseeri, Chief Executive Officer of Bahrain Space Agency.

This prestigious IEEE conference, attended by over 500 participants, both on campus and online, attracted more than 350 paper submissions representing over 40 countries, highlighting its global stature as a premier platform for research and innovation. Each paper was carefully reviewed by an international committee of over 200 experts, and all accepted research papers were submitted for inclusion in IEEE Xplore digital library, indexed by Scopus, and made available to the global research community.

The opening day featured a rich program of keynote presentations and panel discussions. The conference commenced with an address by Prof. Christian Jutten, Emeritus Professor at Université Grenoble Alpes in France, Honorary Member of the Academic Institute of France, IEEE Fellow, and EURASIP Fellow. He delivered a lecture entitled "Source Separation: From Early History to Recent Advances in Biomedical Imaging, Audio Processing, and Wireless Communication." This was followed by a lecture from Dr. Hasan

Kadhem, Associate Professor at the American University of Bahrain, on "Artificial Intelligence and Big Data in Higher Education: Framework and Prototypes for Advancing Decision-Making and Instructional Practice."

The day also included a thought-provoking panel discussion entitled "Shaping the Digital Future: Interdisciplinary Perspectives on Emerging Technologies." This session brought together experts and researchers to explore the challenges and opportunities posed by rapid digital transformations and emerging technologies. The program continued with a lecture delivered by Prof. Walid Saad, Rolls Royce Commonwealth Professor in Digital Twin Technology at Virginia Tech, United States, and IEEE Fellow. His lecture, "Artificial General Intelligence (AGI)-Native Wireless Systems with Common Sense," provided an insightful conclusion to the first day's activities. The day closed with remarks from Dr. Alaaeddine Ramadan, Scientific Committee Chair.

The second day of the conference commenced with a lecture by Dr. Amro Awad, Associate Professor at Oxford University in the United Kingdom and a member of the Oxford Secure Computer Architecture Research Group (OSCAR). His lecture, entitled "High-Performance and Persistent Security Support for Emerging Memory Architectures," was followed by a series of parallel sessions. These sessions provided a platform for researchers from across the globe to present their papers and projects in a wide range of scientific and technological fields.

New Horizon School Celebrates United Nations Day Promoting Global Unity and Youth Empowerment

Manama

New Horizon School celebrated United Nations Day with a vibrant multicultural event that highlighted peace, cooperation, and global citizenship. The celebration reflected the school's diverse international community and its dedication to fostering unity in diversity.

The programme began with a special assembly led by students and Social Department under the leadership of Mrs. Gladis Sheejo, focusing on the principles and objectives of the United Nations. A grand flag parade featuring different nationalities followed, symbolizing harmony among cultures. Students presented creative performances aligned with the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), a poignant dance skit touched the very core of our modern struggles—highlighting the urgent issue of mobile phone addiction. Through movement and emotion, it conveyed a powerful message: today's youth are tomorrow's torchbearers of change, capable of transforming challenges into hope and a brighter future for all.

Principal Mrs. Vandana Sateesh emphasized the importance of peace, collaboration, and mindful living in today's interconnected world. She also commended Bahrain's global educational leadership, referring to His Majesty King Hamad bin Isa Al Khalifa's initiative — the UNESCO King Hamad Bin Isa Al Khalifa Prize for the Use of ICT in Education — which celebrates innovative efforts to promote inclusive and equitable learning worldwide.

The event beautifully embodied the United Nations' vision of collective progress, reaffirming New Horizon School's belief in empowering youth to transform global aspirations into meaningful community action.

Hope Shines in Pink at New Horizon School's Awareness Rally

Manama

New Horizon School organized a 'Pink Drive and Awareness Rally' to promote breast cancer awareness and solidarity for the cause in both Zinj and Segaya campuses on October 28th, 2025. The event aimed to instill a sense of empathy and social responsibility among students while spreading the message of hope and support.

The day began with a thought-provoking assembly featuring the importance of the Pink Drive and supporting those affected by breast cancer.

Following the assembly, Principal, Mrs. Vandana Sateesh and Junior Principal, Mrs. Nir-mala Angelose, along with the school PTA members, formally handed over the banner flags to the Head Boy and Head Girl, officially flagging off the rally. The students participated with enthusiasm, carrying banners and slogans to raise awareness about breast cancer and the importance of early detection.

A special highlight of the Pink Drive was the hair donation initiative undertaken by compassionate students who volunteered to donate their hair to support cancer patients undergoing treatment. A striking highlight of the event was when students from Grades 3 and 4 came together to form a human model spelling the word "HOPE," representing courage, unity, and optimism.

The Chairman, Mr. Joy Mathews, appreciates everyone's effort for organizing such a noble initiative. He also commended the active participation of PTA members in encouraging community engagement through the Pink Drive.

The event concluded on a positive note, reinforcing the school's commitment to promoting health awareness, compassion, and collective responsibility among students.

Hazlewood stars as Australia ease past India to win 2nd T20

Josh Hazlewood's 3-13 set up Mitchell Marsh's brisk 46, securing a four-wicket victory

● India bowled out for 125

● Marsh score brisk 46 runs

● Australia leads series 1-0

Mitchell Marsh slammed a brisk 46 after Josh Hazlewood took 3-13 as Australia cruised past India by four wickets to win the second Twenty20 international on Friday.

Sent in at a packed Melbourne Cricket Ground, India slumped to 125 all out off 18.4 overs with an electric spell by Hazlewood doing the early damage.

Only Abhishek Sharma (68) and Harshit Rana (35) made it into double figures.

Marsh led the reply with 46 off 26 deliveries, putting on 51 with Travis Head (28 off 15) for the opening wicket, with the hosts winning with 40 balls remaining.

"It was a good toss to win, bit of moisture and Josh is a great bowler when there's something in it," said skipper Marsh. "We wanted to take a couple of wick-

"I was a bit nervous but got going in the end," he added of his batting. "Head took the pressure off. Should be a good three games to come."

Along with Hazlewood, Xavier Bartlett and Nathan Ellis chipped in with two wickets each.

Canberra was a washout. The third game is in Hobart on Sunday.

"The way he (Hazlewood) bowled in the powerplay, if you're four down in the powerplay it's difficult to recover from that," said India captain Suryakumar Yadav, whose side slumped to 40-4 after the six-over powerplay.

"Abhishek has been doing this for quite some time now," he added of the Indian opener.

"He knows his game and his identity and he is not changing it anymore and hopefully he sticks to it and plays many more knocks like this for us.

"I think we need to do what we did in the first game," Yadav said of the next clash in Hobart. "Bat well when batting first and then come out and defend."

Spurs boosted by Romero return for Chelsea clash

AFP | London

Thomas Frank insists he won't take risks over Cristian Romero's fitness as the Tottenham captain prepares to return against Chelsea on Saturday.

Romero has not featured for Tottenham since the start of October due to an adductor issue, but Frank is set to involve the Argentine for Chelsea's visit to north London.

The centre-back also returned for the corresponding fixture last December, only to suffer another injury and miss three months as a result.

Frank is confident Romero is fully ready to feature, but will take the blame if there is another injury issue for the 27-year-old.

"The positive news is that Romero, Destiny (Udogie) and Wilson (Odobert) are available for selection for Saturday," Frank told reporters on Friday.

"I am very aware of trying to be able to take the best possible decisions. Of course in the end I will get a lot of information from medical staff, performance staff, but in the end it is always on me.

"If a player breaks down, it is on me. It is not on the medical staff, not on the performance staff, always me.

DHL Express signs Bronze sponsorship deal with Asian Youth Games Executive Committee

Manama

The Executive Committee of the Third Asian Youth Games has announced a significant partnership with DHL Express, having signed a bronze sponsorship agreement aimed at bolstering institutional collaborations with the private sector. This partnership will support the prestigious continental sporting event, which is hosted by the Kingdom of Bahrain under the gracious patronage of His Majesty King Hamad bin Isa Al Khalifa.

The signing ceremony featured Mr. Yusuf Duaij, Chairman of the Executive Committee, and Mr. Majed Taha Bahrain Country Manager DHL Express.

Both parties emphasized the importance of this collaboration in supporting the organizing committee's efforts and enhancing institutional presence in major sporting events targeting youth.

Mr. Duaij expressed his appreciation for the initiative, stating, "DHL Express's participation in sponsoring the Games represents a qualitative addition that reflects the confidence of leading institutions in Bahrain's capability to host world-class sporting events. This partnership contributes to enhancing the positive image of the Games and expanding its institutional and media impact."

In response, Mr. Taha remarked, "At DHL Express, we take pride in this partnership, which underscores our commitment to supporting national initiatives with a community impact. Our sponsorship of the Asian Youth Games stems from our belief in the importance of sports in building bridges of communication and empowering future generations to achieve their ambitions."

Arteta concerned for players' welfare in Arsenal fixture pile-up

AFP | London

Mikel Arteta warned that player welfare should be the primary concern for football's rule-makers as Arsenal's fixture pile-up threatens to put his team at risk.

Arteta's side are set to face Crystal Palace in the League Cup quarter-finals on December 16.

But that would mean Palace facing three matches in just five days and the FA Cup holders are hopeful of moving their match at the Emirates Stadium to the following week.

It is understood Arsenal's preferred option is for the last-eight clash to remain on December 16 to avoid exacerbating the hectic Christmas schedule.

Arsenal are currently in a run of seven matches in just 22 days, with the Premier League leaders heading to Burnley on Saturday before returning to Champions League action at Slavia Prague on Tuesday.

"Every decision that we make in terms of a fixture has to be guided on two main things; players' welfare, and then supporters, and that is it, and the rest has to come very, very far away from that. And we should never forget that principle," Arteta told reporters on Friday.

Kingdom Bids Glorious Farewell to Asian Youth Games

Bahrain's record-time hosting hailed a resounding success

Bahrain bid a proud farewell to the 3rd Asian Youth Games last night with a vibrant closing ceremony at Khalifa Sports City, drawing to a close an event that captured the spirit of unity across the continent.

In a celebration marked by emotion, delegations from all 45 Asian nations paraded through the arena, greeted by loud cheers from the stands. The moment reflected both the diversity of Asia and the shared sense of pride in what had been achieved. It was a fitting tribute to Bahrain's remarkable accomplishment in organising the Games in just over eight months, something few believed possible when the Kingdom first took on the challenge.

That achievement took centre stage as His Highness Shaikh Khalid bin Hamad Al Khalifa, Chairman of the General Sports Authority and President of the Bahrain Olympic Committee, ceremoniously handed over the Olympic Council of Asia (OCA) flag to Otabelk Umarov, First Vice President of the National Olympic Committee (NOC) of Uzbekistan. The symbolic exchange officially marked the transfer of hosting rights to Tashkent for the 2029 Asian Youth Games, bringing Bahrain's brief yet brilliant chapter to a close.

OCA First Vice President Timothy Fok praised Bahrain's efforts in glowing terms, describing the Games as "nothing short of miraculous." He commended the Kingdom's ability to stage such a major continental event with grace, efficiency, and heart, highlighting the volunteers and young athletes as the true heartbeat of the Games. His remarks drew warm applause when he thanked His Majesty King Hamad bin Isa Al Khalifa, whose patronage, he said, gave the Games their soul.

Fok's message resonated deeply with the audience, reminding all that the Games were about far more than medals or records. He said the 45 visiting nations would leave Bahrain with memories that would last a lifetime, capturing the idea that this was not only a competition but also a festival of friendship and youth.

That same sentiment carried through in the remarks of Faris Al Kooheji, Secretary-General of the Bahrain Olympic Committee, who reflected on the immense effort behind the scenes. He credited the country's leadership, including His Majesty the King, His Royal Highness Prince Salman bin Hamad Al Khalifa, and His Highness Shaikh Nasser bin Hamad Al Khalifa, for their vision and unwavering support, which transformed an ambitious idea into a national success story.

Al Kooheji spoke about the scale of the operation, noting that nearly every ministry played a role in making the event possible. With no time to build an athletes' village, Bahrain instead transformed Exhibition World Bahrain into a "competition village" that hosted 11 of the 28 sports. More than 4,000 athletes and 13,000 guests participated across the Kingdom, generating over 39,000 hotel nights. It was a logistical feat that, he said, showed the world what Bahrain can achieve when it works as one.

Turning to the athletes, Al Kooheji reflected on the legacy the Games would leave behind. Many of the young competitors, he said, would go on to become Olympians, and when they do, they will remember that it all began in Bahrain. His words drew a standing ovation from the volunteers and organising teams who had worked tirelessly for months to make the event possible.

As the evening drew to a close, the atmosphere inside Khalifa Sports City was one of pride and reflection. Bahrain's eight-month journey, from planning to podiums, had come full circle, leaving behind a legacy of friendship, excellence, and belief in what youth can achieve.

Drama at the Death as Al Najma and Budaiya Win

Al Najma celebrate Aldoseri's late winner against Al Shabab

Hussain Almaskati
TDT | Manama

Week 6 of the Nasser Bin Hamad Premier League delivered drama from start to finish, with Al Najma and Budaiya both leaving their mark on the standings. Al Najma overcame Al Shabab with a late second goal, while Budaiya stunned Al Hidd with a stoppage-time winner.

At Khalifa Sports City, Al Najma were awarded a penalty in the 10th minute after Bruno de Andrade Ritter was brought down by Mujtaba Abdali. Achraf Douiri's spot-kick was saved by Mahmood AlAjmi, but Shamlan's men quickly regained momentum. In the 23rd minute, Mohammed Qayoom capitalised on a defensive error as Chikamuso Okechukwu's header fell to him, rolling the ball into the far corner. The match stayed finely balanced until the 85th minute, when Ali Aldoseri took advantage of another lapse, rounding the keeper to seal a 2-0 win. Al Najma move to 10th with five points, while Al Shabab remain 11th.

Meanwhile, at Shaikh Ali Bin Mohammed Stadium, Budaiya struck early in the 6th minute through Adriano Suarez, finishing a counter-attack after Hidd failed to clear their lines. Hidd responded in the 30th minute as Bekaye Wade converted a curving free-kick from Essa Musa. Budaiya thought they had regained the lead later, but Suarez's goal was ruled out by VAR for handball. The drama then continued into stoppage time (90+9) when Abdulla Al Bahrani bundled in the rebound from a penalty after Hidd's Ahmed Flamerze was penalised. Budaiya move to sixth with eight points, while Hidd sit fourth on seven.

Week 6 concludes tonight with Riffa hosting Al Khaldiya at Khalifa Sports City (7pm). Both teams are on nine points, and a win for Riffa could see them leap to the top of the table.
