

Celebrating women's power

Seef Properties Celebrates Female Employees

Manama

Seef Properties, Bahrain's leading real estate development company, recently held an event to mark Bahraini Women's Day, as part of the company's commitment to celebrating this national occasion in appreciation of the pivotal role played by women in the company's journey.

On this occasion, Mr Ahmed Yusuf, Chief Executive Officer of Seef Properties, stated: "Bahraini Women's Day is an important occasion through which we express our pride in the role played by women within the Seef Properties ecosystem. Our female employees have made exceptional contributions that have strengthened the company's position and leadership in the real estate sector. Today, we are proud of exemplary Bahraini women who hold field responsibilities across various work sites and directly oversee implementation operations, reflecting their high competence and ability to manage the precise details of construction work."

For her part, Ms Abeer Al Shaikh, Human Resources and Administration Manager, affirmed that the contributions of women at Seef Properties have formed a fundamental pillar of the company's success over recent years. She said: "Our female employees at Seef Properties have demonstrated a strong and influential presence across various departments, embodying the highest levels of commitment and professionalism. They have contributed effectively to the completion of many projects and developmental initiatives, reflecting the stature of Bahraini women and their pivotal role in supporting the company's progress."

BisB launches 2nd edition of 'On Her Path' Initiative

Manama

Bahrain Islamic Bank (BisB), the leading provider of innovative Islamic financial solutions for simplifying money matters in the Kingdom of Bahrain, and in cooperation with Bahrain Investment Professionals Society (CFA Society Bahrain), has announced the launch of the second edition of its flagship women's mentorship initiative, "On Her Path," in celebration of Bahraini Women's Day 2025, held under the slogan "Bahraini Women: Distinction, Creativity, Innovation."

On this occasion, BisB extended its sincere congratulations to His Majesty King Hamad bin Isa Al Khalifa, King of the Kingdom of Bahrain, and to His Royal Highness Prince Salman bin Hamad Al Khalifa, the Crown Prince and Prime Minister, and to Her Royal Highness Princess Sabeeka bint Ibrahim Al Khalifa, Wife of His Majesty the King and President of the Supreme Council for Women, commending her leadership in empowering Bahraini women and advancing their role across all sectors of national development.

Marking the occasion, Ms. Fatema Al Alawi, Chief Executive Officer of BisB, stated, "Bahraini women have consistently demonstrated their remarkable ability to lead, innovate, and inspire progress across every sector. We are proud to champion their journey through programmes that equip them with the tools they need to realise their potential. Through the second edition of On Her Path, we reinforce our commitment to advancing gender equality and empowering Bahraini talent to shape the future of Islamic banking in the Kingdom."

"On Her Path" reflects BisB's commitment to supporting the professional development of talented women in the Kingdom and aligns with the bank's corporate social responsibility strategy. It demonstrates the bank's dedication to contributing to national development, empowering women in the workforce, and strengthening their role in serving the community. The first edition of "On Her Path" was launched in partnership with CFA Society Bahrain, with 13 female mentors from the bank providing professional guidance to 13 trainees within a dedicated professional development programme.

Bapco Energies reinforces commitment to advancing women in energy sector

Manama

Mark Thomas, Group Chief Executive Officer of Bapco Energies—the integrated company leading the energy transition in the Kingdom of Bahrain—extended his warmest congratulations to His Majesty King Hamad bin Isa Al Khalifa, the King of the Kingdom of Bahrain; His Royal Highness Prince Salman bin Hamad Al Khalifa, the Crown Prince and Prime Minister; and Her Royal Highness Princess Sabeeka bint Ibrahim Al Khalifa, Wife of His Majesty the King and President of the Supreme Council for Women, on the occasion of Bahraini Women's Day.

Mr. Thomas emphasized that Bahraini Women's Day is a national occasion to celebrate the achievements and enduring contributions of Bahraini women across all fields—particularly in the energy industry, where women have held an essential and growing presence since the 1970s. He highlighted the many success stories and exemplary female professionals who continue to shape a culture of excellence, innovation, and creativity across the sector.

He expressed deep appreciation for the leadership of Her Royal Highness Princess Sabeeka bint Ibrahim Al Khalifa and for the Supreme Council for Women's continued efforts to empower women through the National Plan for the Advancement of Bahraini Women 2025–2026. The plan's priorities—family stability, participation in decision-making, economic engagement, and quality of life—align closely with Bapco Energies' values and long-term strategic direction. "At Bapco Energies, supporting women is a central pillar of our organizational priorities," Mr. Thomas stated. "We believe in fostering a stable and supportive work environment that empowers women to balance professional and family responsibilities, while strengthening their presence in leadership roles and on boards."

ly with Bapco Energies' values and long-term strategic direction.

"At Bapco Energies, supporting women is a central pillar of our organizational priorities," Mr. Thomas stated. "We believe in fostering a stable and supportive work environment that empowers women to balance professional and family responsibilities, while strengthening their presence in leadership roles and on boards."

RCSI Medical University of Bahrain Introduces Three New Policies to Empower Female Staff

Manama

The Royal College of Surgeons in Ireland (RCSI) - Medical University of Bahrain marked Bahraini Women's Day by celebrating the achievements of women across the University and reaffirming its commitment to the national plan led by the Supreme Council for Women.

The celebration took place in the presence of Dr Farzana Abdulkareem Al Sayed, Consultant Neurologist, and Dr May Ebrahim Matar, Consultant Musculoskeletal Radiologist, who joined the University staff and leadership on this important occasion. Their participation underscored the shared commitment to empowering Bahraini women whose contributions continue to shape the Kingdom of Bahrain's future across all sectors, including higher education and healthcare.

Professor Sameer Otoom, President of RCSI Medical University of Bahrain, commented:

"Bahraini Women's Day is an occasion of genuine pride for our University and for the Kingdom of Bahrain."

Led by the Equal Opportunities Committee, RCSI Medical University of Bahrain also announced the introduction of three workplace policies designed to enhance wellbeing, equity and support for female colleagues.

Professor Ghufuran Jassim, Head of Department and Associate Professor of Family Medicine added: "Bahraini Women's Day is an important celebration to honour the remarkable women who contribute to the University's mission. The new policies contribute to creating an environment where women feel supported, empowered, and able to thrive at every stage of their personal and professional lives. We are proud to contribute to Bahrain's national vision by adopting progressive practices that champion gender equality, wellbeing, and inclusion."