TDT | Manama

The Ministry of Interior announced that the smart camera system operated by the General Directorate of Traffic has officially commenced operations.

It has documented various traffic violations.

Details

The General Directorate of Traffic noted that, in order to ensure the timely delivery of traffic notifications, including those related to vehicle registration dates, driving licence renewals, as well as recorded violations, all motorists are required to regularly update their personal details via the "MyGov" application, to avoid the accumulation of violations without their knowledge.

The General Directorate of Traffic also stressed the importance of adhering to traffic laws and regulations, avoiding incorrect driving behaviours, and exercising responsibility and traffic awareness.

Witness footage captures suspect hiding heroin and methamphetamine beneath stone

Rehab Mohammad
TDT | Manama

The High Criminal Court has scheduled March 17 to deliver its verdict in a case involving a man in his twenties accused of trafficking heroin and a psychotropic substance, after a witness managed to film him placing narcotic materials beneath a stone. The Public Prosecution charged the defendant with possessing, storing, and selling heroin and the psychotropic substance methamphetamine with intent to traffic, in violation of the law. He was also charged with possessing methamphetamine for personal use outside legally permitted circumstances.

Evidence

During the hearing, defense lawyer Zahra Ali submitted a pleading requesting her client's acquittal, arguing that the arrest and search were invalid due to the absence of sufficient evidence linking the defendant to the alleged crimes. She stated that the legality of arrest and search—whether the suspect is present or not—requires the existence of adequate indications of criminal conduct, whether a misdemeanor or felony. In the absence of such indications, arrest and search procedures are unlawful.

Report

Ali also challenged the validity of the preliminary investigation report for failing to appoint a translator, denied the trafficking charge while acknowledging drug use, and emphasized that the defendant is presumed innocent and maintains his denial. According to testimony by an undersecretary at the Ministry of Interior, at approximately 9:30 a.m. he received a phone call from a confidential and reliable source reporting that an Asian individual had placed an item beneath a group of stones in a passageway, suspected to be part of a drug handover using the “dead drop” system. The source also provided a video recording of the individual. After reviewing the footage, the official coordinated with the relevant authority and proceeded to the location with a police patrol.

Narcotics

Upon arrival at the site, officers found a small transparent bag containing a white powder suspected to be narcotics. The crime scene team was then summoned to carry out the necessary forensic procedures. During this time, the individual shown in the video was spotted near the location and attempted to flee. He was chased and apprehended by the police patrol and identified as the same person appearing in the footage.

The Muharraq Municipal Council approved the passage of a comprehensive package of coastal development proposals during its session, underscoring a unified institutional stance on reshaping the future use of the governorate's shoreline.

The proposals, submitted by members of the Muharraq Municipal Council, cover several prominent coastal locations, including Al Sayah, Bu Maher, Dair, Samaheej, and the Riya waterfront.

Their approval reflects a clear policy direction aimed at safeguarding the public character of the coastline while enabling structured and regulated development.

during the session that coastal areas represent a strategic public asset that must be managed with long term social and environmental considerations in mind.

The approved proposals seek to address longstanding community expectations by advancing development frameworks that prioritise accessibility, service provision, and organised use of the shoreline.

The discussions highlighted the need to move beyond fragmented or temporary solutions, calling instead for coordinated planning that ensures coastal sites are developed in a manner consistent with urban planning standards and public interest.

Deliberations

Throughout the session, the council reaffirmed that the passage of the proposals does not constitute final execution, but rather authorises the relevant executive bodies to proceed with the necessary technical, administrative, and regulatory procedures.

Members emphasised that oversight will remain in place at every stage to preserve the intended objectives of the proposals.

Park investment file stalls amid Council, Municipality dispute

Khalid Al Qallaf
Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

Plans to develop Hatim Al Tai Park went before Muharraq Municipal Council yesterday, with deputy chairman Saleh Bu Hazzaa and Muharraq Municipality director general engineer Khalid Al Qallaf giving different accounts of why the project file has stalled.

Bu Hazzaa told councillors that an earlier meeting, held on the instruction of Minister of Municipalities Affairs and Agriculture Wael Al Mubarak and attended by ministry undersecretary Shaikh Mohammed bin Ahmed Al Khalifa, the municipality's director general and the investor, had ended with a clear direction to complete the procedures and allocate the investment.

He said the meeting took place around three to four months ago.

After some time had passed, Bu Hazzaa said he contacted

Saleh Buhazzaa
Al Qallaf to ask about the municipality's reply to the undersecretary's correspondence.

According to Bu Hazzaa, the response did not match what Shaikh Mohammed bin Ahmed Al Khalifa later reaffirmed, which led him to question how the process was moving.

He added that the investor had met most of the required steps for the project, but that one precautionary measure had resulted in the transaction being stopped in the electronic system.

Bu Hazzaa said the council is keen to preserve investors' rights and to encourage them to work with the municipality.

He called on the Minister of Municipalities Affairs and Agriculture to form an independent legal committee to review the Hatim Al Tai Park investment file, so that the procedures are clear, fair and protective of the investor's position.

Muharraq Council seeks new access roads for Block 262

Facing traffic problem and public safety worries

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

Muharraq Municipal Council has asked for extra access points to Block 262 in Diyar Al Muharraq, saying the area cannot keep running on a single entrance and exit without traffic trouble and public safety worries.

The call was raised at the council's regular Monday meeting, where members said one way in and out leaves the block exposed when a crash, breakdown or emergency blocks the road.

Fadhil Al Oud, the representative for the Sixth Constituency, said the situation was unsettling for residents.

“People are worried, especially if there is a crash or an emergency.”

“People are worried, especially if there is a crash or an emergency,” he told the meeting. “One incident can throw the whole block into confusion.”

He said it made no sense for a full residential block to depend on one access point.

“It is not reasonable for an entire neighbourhood to rely on a single entrance,” he said, warning that queues build up and that ambulances and Civil Defence teams could be held back.

Afooni said the main entrances and exits fall under the Ministry of Works and need defined engineering designs.

“The main entrances and exits are the responsibility of the Ministry of Works,” she said, adding that coordination would take place to agree how the block's access should be handled.

The council agreed to write to the Urban Planning and Development Authority to confirm that main access points fall under the Ministry of Works, before sending a further letter to the ministry with the authority's reply attached, as it presses for steps to fix the problem.

Founded in 1992 in Dubai, UAE, Byrne has evolved into a major regional operator offering a comprehensive "one-stop-shop" rental model with a fleet of approximately 16,000 units. The company operates through 14 offices and a network of depots across the UAE, Saudi Arabia, Oman and Bahrain, spanning more than 153,000 sqm.

Mr. Hammad Younas, the Group Chief Investment Officer at GFH

This includes its flagship Jubail depot, one of the largest logistics and operations hubs of its kind in Saudi Arabia. The company has consistently delivered steady growth in profitability, having achieved approximately 20% growth last year and is strongly positioned to continue this growth trajectory.

Byrne serves a diversified client base of more than 1,100 blue-chip customers across the GCC, delivering sector-agnostic equipment and integrated services that support key industries including oil and gas, construction, utilities, and events. Its core capabilities cover temporary power, modular buildings, compressors, material handling equipment, mobile lighting solutions, and other mission-critical assets required for large-scale operations.

The GCC equipment rental market continues expanding at double digit growth rates, driven by the oil & gas sector, national development programs, industrial growth, and major events, particularly in Saudi Arabia. Byrne is well positioned to capitalize on this momentum, backed by a long-standing management team with deep industry expertise and a proven operational track record.

With GFH's support, Byrne will focus on entering new verticals, enhancing its product range, and deepening its presence in priority markets. The partnership will also leverage the technical strength of Byrne's operating partners to further reinforce the company's competitive advantage.

Commenting on the acquisition, Mr. Hammad Younas, the Group Chief Investment Officer at GFH, said: "Byrne is a resilient, market-leading platform operating at the center of the region's most dynamic sectors. Its operational scale, strong customer relationships, and technical abilities make it exceptionally well placed to benefit from the substantial pipeline of regional megaprojects. Through this acquisition of a 60% stake, we aim to accelerate Byrne's growth trajectory and expand its

Mr. Patrick Fallon, the Deputy CEO of Byrne Equipment Rental, said: "Partnering with GFH opens significant new opportunities for Byrne. Their regional scale, investment experience, and long-term commitment will enable us to strengthen our service offerings, deploy more advanced solutions, and continue delivering the reliability and operational excellence our clients expect. This next phase of growth allows us to support national development programs across the GCC even more effectively, including major projects underway in the UAE and Saudi Arabia."

The acquisition aligns with GFH's strategy of investing in mission-critical businesses that contribute to regional economies and support the ambitions of programs such as Saudi Arabia's Vision 2030 and the UAE's "We the UAE 2031" Vision. This transaction further underscores the Group's commitment to building strong, sector-leading platforms across high-growth markets.

US to launch $12-bn critical minerals stockpile to ease China reliance

AFP | Washington, United States

The United States is expected to launch a critical minerals stockpile with $12 billion in initial funding, a White House official confirmed Monday, as Washington seeks to lower reliance on China for rare earths and other resources.

The project, which was first reported on by Bloomberg, is anticipated to bring together some $1.7 billion in private capital and a $10 billion loan from the Export-Import Bank of the United States (EXIM).

This would go towards securing and storing the key minerals for businesses like automakers and tech companies -- forming a stockpile for the US private sector -- the White House official confirmed on condition of anonymity.

Rare-earth metals, which are crucial in the production of everything from smartphones to fighter jets and electric cars, have become a strategic bargaining chip since major producer China introduced restrictions on exports last year.

China's dominance in the rare earths industry, from natural reserves and mining through processing and innovation, is the result of a decades-long drive.

This has now provided Beijing with important leverage in trade talks with President Donald Trump's administration.

The stockpile that Trump is set to announce is aimed at blunting this effect over time.

It is expected to cover both rare earths and critical minerals, alongside other important elements that might see price volatility, Bloomberg reported.

The report added that more than a dozen companies including automakers General Motors and Stellantis, aviation behemoth Boeing and tech giant Alphabet's Google, are taking part in the initiative dubbed "Project Vault."

China's export restrictions have raised alarm bells in the United States as the world's two biggest economies again crossed swords with escalating tariffs after Trump returned to the presidency last year.

Washington and its allies are now racing to develop alternative mining and processing supply chains.

But experts warn that this process will likely take years to complete.

The EXIM Bank is expected to vote Monday to authorize the 15-year loan, Bloomberg reported, noting that this would be a record-setting deal.

Japan says rare earth found in sediment retrieved on deep-sea mission

Tokyo, Japan

Sediment containing rare earths was retrieved from ocean depths of 6,000 metres (about 20,000 feet) on a Japanese test mission, the government said Monday, as it seeks to curb dependence on China for the valuable minerals.

Japan says the mission was the world's first bid to tap deep sea rare earths at such a depth.

"Details will be analysed, including exactly how much rare earth is contained" in the sample, government spokesman Kei Sato said, calling it "a meaningful achievement both in terms of economic security and comprehensive maritime development".

The sample was collected by a deep-sea scientific drilling boat called the Chikyu that set sail last month for the remote earths -- ramps up pressure on its neighbour after Prime Minister Sanae Takaichi suggested in November that Tokyo may react militarily to an attack on Taiwan, which Beijing has vowed to seize control of by force if necessary.

Beijing has blocked exports to Japan of "dual-use" items with potential military uses, fuelling worries in Japan that it could choke supplies of rare earths, some of which are included in China's list of such goods.

Rare earths -- 17 metals difficult to extract from the Earth's crust -- are used in everything from electric vehicles to hard drives, wind turbines and missiles. The area around Minami Torishima, which is in Japan's economic waters, is estimated to contain more than 16 million tons of rare earths, which the Nikkei business daily says is the third-largest reserve globally.

These rich deposits contain an estimated 730 years' worth of dysprosium, used in high-strength magnets in phones and electric cars, and 780 years' worth of yttrium, used in lasers, the Nikkei said.

China accounts for almost two-thirds of rare earth mining production and 92 percent of global refined output, according to the International Energy Agency.

◆ The UK has revoked a Russian diplomat's accreditation in a tit-for-tat move after Moscow expelled a British envoy last month, the foreign ministry in London said yesterday. "We condemn in the strongest possible terms Russia's unprovoked and unjustified decision to expel a British diplomat last month and its baseless accusations against our staff," a spokesperson said. A senior official "made it clear" to the Russian ambassador, who was summoned by the ministry, that the UK "will not stand" for the intimidation of British embassy staff. "It is deeply disappointing that Russia continually seeks to disrupt the work of the UK's diplomatic missions and deter our support for Ukraine," the spokesperson added. "Any further action taken by Russia will be considered an escalation and responded to accordingly."

Airline sector falling behind on clean fuel switch: IATA

AFP | Singapore, Singapore

The airline industry's green transition is stalling as high costs and limited output choke the rollout of cleaner jet fuel, the head of the industry's trade association said on Monday.

A Republic of Singapore Air Force F-16C fighter jet and AH-64D Apache attack helicopter participate during a media preview aerial display

"Unfortunately, we're not making sufficient progress on sustainable aviation fuel," International Air Transport Association (IATA) director-general Willie Walsh told the Changi Aviation Summit in Singapore.

Sustainable aviation fuel (SAF) is billed as a key tool to curb carbon emissions from planes, and took centre stage at the conference ahead of the Singapore Airshow.

"SAF output reached 1.9 million tonnes in 2025, representing just 0.6 percent of total jet fuel consumption, and this is a downward revision from our earlier estimates," Walsh said.

Mandatory rules requiring airlines to include a certain percentage of SAF in their fuel mix "have pushed prices higher" and "discouraged voluntary demand," he added.

European Union rules, for example, require carriers to include two percent of SAF in their fuel mix starting this year, rising to six percent in 2030 and 20 percent in 2035, before soaring to 70 percent from 2050.

Walsh said that SAF prices exceeded fossil-based jet fuel

"by a factor of more than two, while the evidence shows that in markets with mandates, that factor can increase to four times".

To bolster take-up, Singapore's civil aviation authority signed an agreement on Monday with nine companies for a "voluntary trial" to buy SAF through a central procurement firm set up by the regulator.

The trial, which includes Google, state investment firm Temasek and Singapore Airlines, will support Singapore's aim to increasingly favour green jet fuel.

From October 1, Singapore will require all flights departing from the city-state to use one percent of the more expensive SAF in their fuel mix, and will collect a levy to finance that, likely raising ticket prices.

Singapore said it will increase the ratio of SAF in the blend to three to five percent by 2030 in line with targets set by the International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO).

Rafah crossing makes limited reopening after two-year war

Border crossing with Egypt is Gaza's only gateway to the outside world

◆ Israeli forces seized control of the crossing in May 2024

◆ 150 Palestinians were allowed into Egypt on Monday

◆ Another 50 Palestinians would be allowed to enter Gaza

AFP | Rafah, Palestinian Territories

Gaza's Rafah border crossing has reopened to Palestinians, an Israeli security official said, with 150 people due to leave the territory yesterday and 50 allowed to enter, according to Egyptian authorities.

The resumption of operations comes after Gaza's civil defence reported dozens killed in a wave of Israeli strikes over the weekend, in what the military said was retaliation for Palestinian fighters exiting a tunnel in Rafah city.

The border crossing with Egypt is Gaza's only gateway to the outside world that does not lead to Israel and is a key access point for both people and goods.

Mahmud, a 38-year-old leukaemia patient from Gaza City, told AFP he felt lucky to be able to travel to Egypt for treatment, after receiving approval from Israel to go with his sister.

"In Gaza, (there is) no treatment and no life... of course, I am lucky, but I am still sad because my father and mother are still in Gaza," he said.

Ali Shaath, the head of a Palestinian technocratic committee established to oversee the day-to-day governance of Gaza, said Monday that Rafah's reopening offered a "window of hope" for people in the territory.

Israeli forces seized control of the crossing in May 2024 during the war with Hamas, and it has remained largely closed since.

A partial resumption of operations began on Sunday in a tightly restricted pilot phase that did not involve travel of people, following months of appeals from aid groups.

"The Rafah crossing has now opened to the movement of residents, for both entry and exit," the Israeli official said.

Three Egyptian border officials told AFP that 150 Palestinians would be allowed into Egypt on Monday, composed of 50 patients each accompanied by two companions.

Another 50 Palestinians would be allowed to enter Gaza, the officials said.

Khaled Mogawer, governor of North Sinai -- which includes the Egyptian side of Rafah -- said on Egyptian state-linked AlQahera News that 50 Palestinian patients and 84 companions were expected to enter Egypt on Monday.

Israeli state broadcaster Kan reported that the crossing would be open for about six hours daily, while AlQahera News said the Egyptian side would remain open "round the clock".

'I will hug my mother'

Abdul Rahim Mohamed, 30, said he was eagerly awaiting the return to Gaza of his mother who had left for cancer treatment in Egypt in March 2024.

"Two days ago, she was informed she could return to Gaza and told me on the phone, 'Come and wait for me at the crossing,'" he told AFP.

"I am very happy today... I will hug my mother," he added.

Rafah lies in an area held by Israeli forces following their withdrawal behind a so-called "Yellow Line" under the terms of a US-brokered ceasefire in effect since October 10.

Israeli troops still control more than half of Gaza, while the rest remains under Hamas authority.

The EU's top diplomat Kaja Kallas said the opening of the crossing "marks a concrete and positive step in the peace plan" for the territory, where humanitarian conditions remain dire after two years of war.

Despite the ceasefire, violence continued over the weekend. Gaza's civil defence agency, which operates as a rescue force under Hamas authority, said Israeli bombings killed 32 people including children on Saturday.

Israel's military said the strikes were retaliation for an incident on Friday in which eight Palestinian fighters exited a tunnel in Rafah, which it said was a truce violation.

The Rafah crossing had been briefly opened in early 2025 but has been largely shut since it was seized by Israeli forces.

No aid entry

The director of Gaza City's Al-Shifa Hospital, Mohammed Abu Salmiya, said there were 20,000 patients in the territory in urgent need of treatment, including 4,500 children.

AlQahera News, citing Egypt's health ministry, reported that 150 hospitals and 300 ambulances had been prepared to receive Palestinian patients.

It said 12,000 doctors and 30 rapid deployment teams had been allocated to work with those transferred.

COGAT, the Israeli defence ministry body coordinating Palestinian civilian affairs, made no mention of allowing in a long-hoped-for surge of aid for Gaza.

Israel had previously tied Rafah's reopening to the return of the remains of Ran Gvili, the last Israeli hostage held in the territory. His body was recovered and buried last week, prompting Israel to announce the phased reopening.

The Rafah Border Crossing is the only crossing point between the Gaza Strip and Egypt that does not directly involve Israel -- making it Gaza's sole non-Israeli border exit and entry point for people and goods

Trump says US talking deal with 'highest people' in Cuba

AFP | Washington, United States

US President Donald Trump said Sunday that Washington was negotiating with Havana's leadership to strike a deal, days after he threatened Cuba's reeling economy with a virtual oil blockade.

Trump's second administration has ratcheted up pressure on the communist-run island nation since the January 3 US ouster of Venezuelan leader Nicolas Maduro, whose country was a close ally of Havana and a crucial source for oil exports to Cuba.

"Cuba is a failing nation. It has been for a long time, but now it doesn't have Venezuela to prop it up," Trump told reporters at his Mar-a-Lago estate in Florida.

"So we're talking to the people from Cuba, the highest people in Cuba, to see what happens. I think we're going to make a deal with Cuba," he added, giving no indication what such a deal would look like.

Cuba's Ministry of Foreign Affairs did not confirm the US president's remarks in a statement released on its website on Sunday, but took the opportunity to once again reject that the island is a "threat to the security of the United States."

It specifically asserted that Cuba does not "host any foreign military or intelligence bases", but added that it is willing to "maintain a respectful and reciprocal dialogue," with the United States.

Bad Bunny makes Grammys history with Album of the Year win

AFP | Los Angeles, United States

Puerto Rican superstar Bad Bunny made history Sunday at the Grammys, winning Album of the Year for his “Debi Tirar Mas Fotos” -- the first Spanish-language work to take the top honor in music.

Rapper Kendrick Lamar added five more gramophones to his trophy cabinet, including another Record of the Year award, while Billie Eilish and her brother Finneas took the Song of the Year prize.

Britain’s Olivia Dean was named best new artist, on a night that featured electric performances from a constellation of stars including Lady Gaga, who won two prizes including best pop vocal album.

But the night belonged to Bad Bunny, who earned cheers as he delivered a powerful political message, ripping the nationwide immigration raids that have polarized America.

“Before I say thanks to God, I’m gonna say ‘ICE out,’” Bad Bunny said as he accepted the award for best musica urbana album.

“We’re not savages, we’re not animals, we’re not aliens; we are humans and we are Americans,” the 31-year-old said, one week before he takes one of the world’s biggest stages, headlining the Super Bowl halftime show.

Later, when he won the night’s top prize, he appeared overcome with emotion at his seat, before getting up on stage and delivering most of his speech in Spanish, honoring the people of Puerto Rico, a US territory in the Caribbean.

“I want to dedicate this award to all the people that had to leave their homeland, their country, to follow their dreams,” he said in English.

Bad Bunny’s third award of the night was for best global music performance.

Lamar’s five Grammys equaled his haul from last year, when he swept up prizes for “Not Like Us,” his viral diss track targeting rival Drake.

This time, he was honored for a variety of songs, from the Record of the Year-winning melodic “Luther” featuring SZA, which contains a sample

Steven Spielberg earns coveted EGOT status with Grammy win

Los Angeles, United States

Legendary director Steven Spielberg on Sunday completed the grand slam of showbiz awards, earning so-called EGOT status by winning a Grammy in the best music film category for the documentary “Music by John Williams.”

Spielberg, 79, has now won Emmy, Grammy, Oscar and Tony awards throughout his storied career -- a feat only accomplished by 21 other people.

That list reads like a who’s who of showbiz, from composers Richard Rodgers and Alan Menken to actresses Audrey Hepburn and Whoopi Goldberg to singers John Legend and Jennifer Hudson.

“Music by John Williams” celebrates the work of the 93-year-old composer, who collaborated with Spielberg on a host of movies including classics “Jaws” and “Schindler’s List.”

History

Bad Bunny is in the middle of a world tour, just months after a hugely successful residency in San Juan.

His “Un verano sin ti” (2022) was the first Spanish-language album nominated for Album of the Year honors. But he made good on his second attempt with “Debi Tirar Mas Fotos” (“I Should Have Taken More Photos”).

The album is an exploration of what it is to be Puerto Rican in the context of persistent colonialism -- all set to folkloric sounds, infectious salsa and reggaeton rhythms.

Host Trevor Noah repeatedly joked with the Latin megastar, born Benito Antonio Martinez Ocasio, about not performing due to Super Bowl contractual restrictions -- and even sang a few bars in Spanish himself before Bad Bunny indulged with a short verse.

Big performances

K-pop singer Rose and Bruno Mars kicked off the televised gala with a high-octane performance of “APT.”

Lady Gaga offered an energetic version of “Abracadabra” and Justin Bieber stripped to his boxers -- and socks -- for a rendition of “Yukon.”

Pop princess Sabrina Carpenter belted out her hit “Manchild.”

Dalai Lama's 'gratitude' at first Grammy win
New Delhi, India

Buddhist spiritual leader the Dalai Lama said Monday he was grateful for his first Grammy, after bagging the top music industry award for audio book, narration and storytelling.

The charismatic 90-year-old, who lives in exile in India, is lauded worldwide for his tireless campaign for greater autonomy for his Tibetan homeland, which Beijing says is an integral part of China.

He was announced as the winner at the Grammys ceremony in Los Angeles for his book “Meditations: The Reflections of His Holiness the Dalai Lama”.

“I receive this recognition with gratitude and humility,” he said on social media.

“I don’t see it as something personal, but as a recognition of our shared universal responsibility.”

Malone fronted an all-star band including guitarist Slash for Black Sabbath’s “War Pigs.”

The majority of the 95 awards were handed out at a pre-gala ceremony before the televised broadcast.

WHO chief says turmoil creates chance for reset

AFP | Geneva, Switzerland

The head of the World Health Organization said Monday that the dramatic cuts of 2025 as the United States headed for the exit created the chance to forge a leaner, re-focused WHO.

Washington, traditionally the UN health agency's biggest donor, has slashed foreign aid spending under President Donald Trump, who on his first day back in office in January 2025 handed the WHO his country's one-year withdrawal notice.

WHO chief Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus told the agency's annual executive board meeting that 2025 was "undeniably one of the most difficult years in our organisation's history", with many donors tightening their belts.

"Significant cuts to our funding left us with no choice but to reduce the size of our workforce," he said.

Last week, he said 1,241 posts had gone, while 1,162 staff had left or would be leaving through retirement, voluntary early retirement or moving elsewhere.

Tedros said the WHO's remodeling was all but finalised.

"We have now largely completed the prioritisation and realignment. We have reached a position of stability and we are moving forward," he insisted.

"Although we have faced a significant crisis in the past year, we have also viewed it as an opportunity. It's an opportunity for a leaner WHO to become more focused on its core mission."

He urged member states to keep gradually increasing their membership fees, to reduce the WHO's reliance on voluntary contributions.

The aim is for membership fees to eventually cover half of the agency's budget, to secure its "long-term stability, sustainability and independence".

"I don't mean independence from member states. Of course, WHO belongs to you and always will," Tedros stressed.

"I mean non-dependence on a handful of donors; I mean non-dependence on inflexible, unpredictable funding; I mean a WHO that's no longer a contractor to the biggest donors.

"I mean an impartial, science-based organisation that's free to say what the evidence says, without fear or favour."

The World Health Organization (WHO) is a specialised agency of the United Nations, founded in 1948, and is responsible for directing and coordinating international public health efforts across 194 member states.

Air India says fuel switch 'defect' grounds Boeing 787 jet

AFP | New Delhi, India

Air India grounded a Boeing 787 aircraft on Monday after a pilot reported a "possible defect" in its fuel control switch, the airline said, a similar issue to that involved in a deadly crash last year.

"We are aware that one of our pilots has reported a possible defect on the fuel control switch of a Boeing 787-8 aircraft," an Air India spokesperson said in a statement.

"We have grounded the aircraft and are involving the OEM (Original Equipment Manufacturer) to examine the pilot's concerns on a priority basis," the spokesperson said.

Air India did not specify where the aircraft was grounded. Some Indian media reports said it had been scheduled to fly from London to the city of Bengaluru in India's south.

A London-bound Boeing 787

An Air India aircraft stands on the tarmac at the Indira Gandhi International Airport in New Delhi

Dreamliner operated by Air India crashed shortly after takeoff from Ahmedabad in June last year, killing all but one of the 242 people on board and 19 on the ground.

A preliminary report by India's Aircraft Accident Investigation Bureau (AAIB) into the Ahmedabad crash did not assign blame.

However, it said fuel supply to the jet's engines was cut off moments before impact, raising questions about possible pilot error.

According to the AAIB, one pilot was heard asking the other why fuel had been cut off, to which the second pilot replied that he had not done so.

Two major Indian commercial pilots' associations, as well as the father of one of the dead pilots, have rejected suggestions that human error caused the crash.

Air India has said it informed the civil aviation regulator, the Directorate General of Civil Aviation, about the reported fuel switch issue.

It also said it had checked fuel control switches across its Boeing 787 fleet after the June crash and found no problems.

Indian authorities have yet to release a final report into the crash.

Iran arrests four foreigners for 'participation in riots': state TV

Tehran, Iran

Iranian authorities have arrested four foreigners of undisclosed nationalities for "participation in riots", state television said Monday.

"These individuals were apprehended during a raid on their hideout" in Tehran province, national television said, without specifying the date of the arrests.

"During a search of one suspect's bag, four homemade stun grenades, used during the riots and unrest in the area, were discovered," it added.

Iranian authorities accuse Israel and the United States of having had a hand in "riots".

NGOs based abroad have accused the security forces of intentionally targeting protesters in a movement that rocked the Islamic republic in January.

On January 24, the official IRNA news agency reported that two foreigners had been arrested in western Iran.

Russian captain found guilty in fatal North Sea crash

Smoke rises from the MV Solong cargo ship in the North Sea, off the coast of Withernsea, east of England, on March 11, 2025, after it collided with the MV Stena Immaculate tanker. Right, Vladimir Motin

AFP | London, United Kingdom

The Russian captain of a cargo ship that hit an anchored oil tanker in the North Sea last year was on Monday found guilty by a UK court of killing a crew member.

After eight hours of deliberation, the jury convicted Vladimir Motin of the manslaughter by gross negligence of Filipino sailor Mark Angelo Pernia.

The seaman, 38, who was married with a young child, was lost at sea following the crash in which Motin's cargo ship, the Solong, collided with the oil-laden Stena Immaculate, triggering a fiery blaze off the eastern UK coast.

Pernia's body has never been recovered.

Motin, from Saint Petersburg, showed no emotion as he was convicted by a jury at London's Old Bailey court. He was remanded in custody and will be sentenced on Thursday.

Speaking after the verdict, investigating officer Craig Nicholson described the crash as a "senseless tragedy".

"It's a miracle that there weren't more fatalities or serious injuries," he said.

Prosecutor Tom Little told the court Pernia's wife -- who was seven months pregnant with their second child at the time of his death -- lived in a remote area of the Philippines.

She would need to make arrangements to travel somewhere with good internet access to watch the sentencing remotely. "This was a tragic, and entirely avoidable death of a member of crew caused by truly, exceptionally bad negligence," said prosecutor Michael Gregory.

Europe must overcome divisions to become 'genuine power': Draghi

AFP | Brussels, Belgium

Europe needs to bridge "old divisions" to become a "genuine power" -- or risk remaining "subordinated" to the United States and China, former European Central Bank chief Mario Draghi warned Monday.

Draghi, who authored a landmark 2024 report on the EU economy, warned that the 27-nation European Union had to get its act together to survive under a "now defunct global order".

"Of all those now caught between the US and China, Europeans alone have the option to become a genuine power themselves," the ex-Italian prime minister said in a speech at a university in Leuven, Belgium.

"So we must decide: do we remain merely a large market, subject to the priorities of others? Or do we take the steps necessary to become one power?" he asked.

Draghi is invited to join an informal gathering of European leaders focusing on strengthening Europe's competitiveness on February 12 in Alden, Belgium.

The meeting is supposed to steer Brussels' reform agenda over the coming months. Part of this will involve implementing more of the hundreds of recommendations from Draghi's 400-page report -- few of which have become reality nearly 18 months on.

Italian economist and former European Central Bank (ECB) president Mario Draghi (L) and European Commission President Ursula von der Leyen (R)

On Monday the 78-year-old Italian, who received an honorary doctorate from the KU Leuven university, did not go into details but pointed the way.

Europe was caught between a tariff-imposing United States that threatened its territorial interests and a China willing to exploit its control of global supply chains for leverage, he said.

"This is a future in which Europe risks becoming subordinated, divided, and deindustrialised -- at once," Draghi cautioned.

"And a Europe that cannot defend its interests will not preserve its values for long," he said, warning US President Donald Trump's administration had made "clear" it sees "European political fragmentation as serving its interests".

To avoid that, he said the EU had to diversify trade relations by concluding deals with like-minded countries and move from a loose confederation to a European federation.

"Where Europe has federated -- on trade, on competition, on the single market, on monetary policy -- we are respected as a power and negotiate as one," he said.

"Where we have not -- on defence, on industrial policy, on foreign affairs -- we are treated as a loose assembly of middle-sized states, to be divided and dealt with accordingly."

Integration could proceed at different speeds, with only some countries initially signing up to some initiatives, but was necessary, he argued.

"We are all in the same position of vulnerability, whether we see it yet or not," Draghi said. "The old divisions that paralysed us have been overtaken by a common threat."

Djokovic hints at retirement as time seeps away on history bid

Alcaraz defeat leaves Djokovic short of record 25th Grand Slam and wrestling with the future

● Farewell tone in post-match speech

● Younger rivals tightening grip

● Retirement talk still resisted

AFP | Melbourne

Novak Djokovic leaves the Australian Open still stuck on 24 Grand Slam titles and with fresh doubts about how many more tries he will have at winning an out-right-record 25th.

The 38-year-old has consistently dismissed talk of retirement and said he is eyeing the defence of his Olympic gold at the Los Angeles Games in 2028.

But after losing to Carlos Alcaraz in four sets in the final on Sunday, the Serb suggested he may not be back in Melbourne.

"God knows what happens tomorrow, let alone in six months or 12 months," he told the crowd at Rod Laver Arena.

"So it has been a great ride. I love you guys."

Djokovic has won a record 10 Australian Opens and until Sunday had never lost a final there.

But for all his success, Djokovic has not always had an easy relationship with the Melbourne fans.

"I want to just say in the end that you guys, particularly the last couple of matches, gave me something that I have never experienced in Australia," he said.

"That much love, support, positivity. I tried to give you back with good tennis over the years."

Serbia's Novak Djokovic speaks next to the Norman Brookes Challenge Cup

It had the ring of a farewell speech and did not appear to have been just an emotional response to defeat.

He said he had prepared two speeches, one for winning and the other for losing.

Faltering record

Djokovic won his 24th Grand Slam title at the US Open in 2023, drawing him level with the Australian Margaret Court at the top of the all-time list.

But age and injuries, plus the emergence of world number one Alcaraz and number two Jannik Sinner, have left him unable to win another.

Before Sunday, his previous Grand Slam final had been in 2024, when he lost the Wimbledon decider, again to Alcaraz.

Last year he reached the semi-finals of all four majors but got no further, with Alcaraz and Sinner sharing the spoils.

He rolled back the years to defeat Sinner -- 14 years his junior -- in a five-set semi-final marathon in Melbourne.

But after Djokovic won the first set, the 22-year-old Alcaraz took a stranglehold on the final to sweep to victory 2-6, 6-2, 6-3,

Underlining where Djokovic is now in the pecking order of men's tennis, he admitted he had not expected to reach another major final.

'I always believe'

If the former world number one was going to win that elusive 25th, he may reflect that he has seen his best remaining chance come and go.

He is the undisputed king of Melbourne Park and Rod Laver Arena is the court where he has had the most success.

The fourth seed enjoyed two big pieces of luck in reaching the semi-finals.

Djokovic enjoyed free passage through the fourth round when Jakub Mensik pulled out with injury.

After the match, Djokovic revealed he had written both a victory and a defeat speech – a rare admission suggesting he knew this might be his final Australian Open appearance

He was then facing defeat at two sets down to Lorenzo Musetti, only for the Italian fifth seed to retire injured.

He rolled back the years to beat Sinner and make the final, but a repeat success so soon after playing five sets was beyond him.

"Overall, for sure it's been a fantastic tournament," he said.

"I knew that I'd probably have to beat two of them (Alcaraz and Sinner) on the way to the title.

"I beat one, which is great, so it's a step more further than I have gone in Grand Slams than last year.

"Very nice, encouraging. But, you know, not enough for me."

So what next for one of the all-time greats?

For whatever time is left, he won't give up on that 25th Grand Slam crown, even if the odds are now stacked against him.

"I always believe I can," Djokovic said about finally eclipsing Court.

"Otherwise, I wouldn't be competing."

Man City won't surrender in title race: Guardiola

● Manchester City draw 2-2 with Tottenham

AFP | London

Pep Guardiola insisted Manchester City will keep fighting for the Premier League title despite blowing a two-goal lead in a damaging 2-2 draw at Tottenham on Sunday.

Guardiola's side raced ahead in north London thanks to first half goals from Rayan Cherki and Antoine Semenyo.

But City collapsed after the interval.

Dominic Solanke bundled home to reduce the deficit kicking the back of City defender Marc Guehi's leg in the act of scoring, but VAR reviewed the incident and the goal was allowed to stand.

City were unable to stem the tide of Tottenham pressure and Solanke produced a sensational scorpion kick equaliser from Conor Gallagher's cross.

Solanke's audacious backflicked goal was a hammer blow to second-placed City, who now trail leaders Arsenal by six points.

Guardiola was left to bemoan

"The game was well played and sometimes for long balls and second balls you miss it.

"We would prefer not to have the transition but an emotional issue for the first goal that the referee conceded to Spurs and after that the momentum is difficult to control."

City have won just once in their last six league games, allowing Arsenal to recover from their own recent stumble.

The Gunners' 4-0 win at Leeds on Saturday suggested they are back on track, but Guardiola is adamant City can still catch Mikel Arteta's men.

"With 14 games to play? As much the chance is there, the hopes will always be there," he said.

"I know that these types of games always in the past you had to capitalise and win but yeah, the difficulties for many things, but players are coming back and I saw incredibly good spirit and many things.

"We had the injuries, one month ago we had a lot with nine or 10 players out but at the same time we are there and all the calendar is what it is."

Injury-hit Tottenham's spirited escape act was a welcome boost for under-fire boss Thomas Frank.

The Dane had faced calls for his sacking in recent weeks, but leading Tottenham into the Champions League last 16 has infused his side with renewed belief.

With 11 players unavailable and Solanke and Archie Gray limping towards the end, Frank hailed the spirit of his depleted group.

"I'm extremely happy that we finally got a point out of a big second half," he said.

"I said it before, this team's ability to respond to setbacks and show resilience. I think we are growing it bit by bit.

"And we are, by the way, building it with, I don't know, players dropping left, right and centre to injury.

"I think that shows everything about the team and what they are building. Very proud of the players."

Muharraq Hammer Isa Town, Riffa Survive Shootout

Round two of the King's Cup round-of-16 served up both dominance and drama yesterday, with the last eight starting to come into view.

At Khalifa Sports City, Muharraq confirmed their status as one of the favourites with a 6-0 demolition over second-division Isa Town. The scoring opened almost immediately, with Bahrain international Abdullah Al Khalasi unleashing a spectacular long-range strike in the fifth minute that left goalkeeper Hasan Taha with no chance.

From there, the "Red Wolves" dominated possession and territory. Abdulwahab Al Malood doubled the lead in the 28th minute after clever wing play from Elliot Simoes, who beat his marker before squaring the ball for an unmarked finish. Just before halftime, Hasan Al Karrani made it 3-0, rising to meet a corner-kick and guiding his header into the far corner, following a near-miss from Mohammed Al Hardan who struck the crossbar.

The scoring continued after the break. A penalty in the 74th minute, awarded when Mohammed Sulaiman brought down Al Khalasi in the box, was calmly converted by Samy Frioui. Substitute Sofufiane Mahrouk then struck twice late on, the first following more clever wing play from Al Khalasi, and the second in the 88th minute when he reacted quickest to a rebound after Simoes' spectacular free-kick rattled the crossbar. Mahrouk's double completed a resounding win for Nandinho's side.

Meanwhile, at Shaikh Ali bin Mohammed Stadium, Riffa were pushed all the way by second-tier Manama in a match that went down to penalties after a 2-2 draw. Riffa took an early lead in the 10th minute as Sayed Mahmood Al Moosawi rose highest to head in Rodrigo Yuri's pinpoint corner. Manama responded in the 29th minute when Nemanja Nikolic latched onto a ball played from deep, chipped the onrushing goalkeeper, and finished into an empty net.

Mohammed Mashaan's side regained the lead five minutes into the second half through substitute Ali Madan, who finished low into the corner after being slipped in by Sayed Hashim Isa. The game swung again in the 68th minute when Manama's goalkeeper Mohammed Hasan was sent off for a foul on Yacouba Diarra. Despite being reduced to ten men, Manama forced extra time deep into stoppage time, when Ali Meftah raced through to slot home after Mohammed Ahmed's long ball caught the Riffa defence out. Riffa almost won it at the death when Madan blazed over from close range, but the forward made amends in the shootout, converting the decisive penalty to seal qualification.

With these results, Muharraq and Riffa join Bahrain Club and Al Shabab in the King's Cup last eight. Two more quarter-finalists will be decided tonight, with holders Al Khaldiya facing Al Hala at Khalifa Sports City and Al Ittifaq taking on Sitra at Shaikh Ali bin Mohammed Stadium, both matches kicking off at 7pm. The final two spots will be settled in tomorrow's fixtures.

Mercedes ready to win F1 world title, says Russell

Russell topping bookmaker title odds

AFP | London

George Russell believes he has been handed a car ready to win the world championship as Mercedes head into a new era for Formula One as the title favourites.

Under the leadership of Toto Wolff, Mercedes won eight consecutive constructors' championships and seven drivers' titles between 2014 and 2021.

Since Russell joined in 2022 they have struggled to keep a pace with Red Bull and McLaren.

However, a major upheaval of the sport's technical rule-book for the new season means a fresh start for all the teams on the grid.

Mercedes caught the eye in last week's first test at Barcelona's Circuit de Catalunya by boasting both impressive speed and reliability, with the bookmakers making Russell favourite for his first world title.

"I feel ready to fight for a world championship, and whether we have that tag as favourites above us or not, it doesn't change my approach one single bit," said the British driver at Mercedes' digital launch yesterday.

"There are a lot of things we need to learn very quickly, but I feel I can take advantage of that and I feel confident in myself and in the team."

Four-time world champion Max Verstappen will lead Red Bull's challenge, aiming to regain the title after losing out to Lando Norris last season.

Russell and Verstappen have clashed on and off the track in recent years and the former is relishing the prospect of a title battle to add to the feud between the pair.

"I would love that. He is very much going to be in the fight this year," added Russell.

"You obviously wish you had a slightly easier time of it, but it should never be easy, and if you are going to win, you want to have fought for it and won it fair and square on track."

Liverpool beat Chelsea to Rennes defender Jacquet - reports

Liverpool have beaten off competition from Chelsea to sign Rennes defender Jeremy Jacquet for a fee of up to £60 million ($82 million), according to British media reports yesterday.

However, the 20-year-old is not set to move to Anfield until the end of the season despite Liverpool's need for defensive reinforcements.

Jacquet had been linked with a transfer to Chelsea earlier this month but was reportedly put off the move by the competition for places at centre-back in the Blues' bloated squad.

Kuwait Club Weather Muharraq Storm

Muharraq nearly stole a road victory last night in the FIBA WASL-Gulf League Qualification to Semi-Finals, mounting a furious late comeback against Kuwait Club before ultimately falling 107-101 at the Shaikh Saad Alabdullah Sport Hall Complex.

Trailing by 17 points early in the fourth quarter, 95-78, Peter Schomers' side staged a stunning 17-0 run to tie the score at 95-all. Kris Clyburn was at the heart of the surge, finishing with 27 points, 11 rebounds, and six assists. He also gave the "Red Wolves" a 99-96 lead with 2:40 remaining following a tough layup inside, putting the visitors on the verge of a road upset.

Michael Warren, one of Muharraq's two new signings brought in to cover for injured Kerwin Roach and Timmy Bond, played a key role in the comeback. He tallied 24 points, four rebounds, and six assists, helping to ignite the late-quarter charge. Nick West added 23 points and 11 rebounds, while Mohammed Ameer contributed 12 points during the furious rally.

Despite their fight, Kuwait Club held their nerve in the closing minutes. Turki Alshemmari scored five straight points late in the fourth quarter, including a crucial corner three-pointer to erase a 98-99 deficit with 1:28 remaining, before converting all his free throws moments later to give the hosts a 103-99 lead. Moh Hasan then struck a decisive three-pointer with 23.7 seconds left to seal the 107-101 win and take a 1-0 lead in the best-of-three series.

Charlie Moore top-scored for Kuwait Club with 24 points, seven rebounds, and ten assists, while Joffrey Lauvergne contributed a double-double of 23 points and 14 rebounds, earning Capelli Sport Player of the Game honors. Hamad Hasan, despite a head injury early in the match, chipped in 18 points, including four three-pointers.

"It shows that we're a good team when we put in the effort and play together," said Muharraq's Clyburn. "We ran, got stops, and competed with a top team. That's a momentum builder going into the next game, knowing that we can compete with this team."

Muharraq will now host Game 2 next Monday, February 9, at the BBA Arena in Bahrain. A win there will force a deciding third game and keep their hopes of a semi-finals return alive.

Hatred of losing drives relentless Alcaraz to tennis history

Spaniard becomes youngest man to complete career Grand Slam at age twenty-two

- Alcaraz beats Djokovic in final
- Surpasses Nadal’s age record
- Credits his “hate of losing” as motivation

AFP | Melbourne

Carlos Alcaraz says that his absolute hatred of losing drives him to keep making landmarks after becoming the youngest man to win all four Grand Slam tournaments. The Spaniard beat Serbian great Novak Djokovic in four sets in Sunday’s Australian Open final, adding his first Melbourne crown to his Wimbledon, US Open and French Open titles. In doing it at the age of 22 he surpassed legendary compatriot Rafael Nadal, who was 24 when he completed a career Grand Slam of all four majors. The now-retired Nadal was at Rod Laver Arena to see the world number one beat Djokovic 2-6, 6-2, 6-3, 7-5, and Alcaraz said his presence helped inspire him to victory. It was Alcaraz’s seventh major title and he will head to the other three Grand Slams in 2026 as the man to beat once more, with world number two Jannik

Sinner his closest rival. “I hate losing, so that’s my motivation,” said Alcaraz, who plans to have a tattoo of a kangaroo to mark his achievement. He declined to say if a rare calendar Grand Slam -- winning all four majors in the same year -- was next on his hit-list. “Well, it’s going to be a big challenge. Those are big words, to be honest. You know, I just want it to be one at a time,” he said.

But Alcaraz does want to win the season-ending ATP Finals, having been defeated by the Italian Sinner last year in the title decider. And a Davis Cup crown with Spain is also on his radar.

” Right now I’m just trying to have time to realise what I’ve been doing. I know I’m making history with some trophies, some tournaments, some achievements that I’ve been getting. For me it’s an honour to put my name in the history books CARLOS ALCARAZ

Alcaraz surprisingly split with coach Juan Carlos Ferrero in December after seven hugely successful years together, with assistant coach Samuel Lopez taking over. He has not divulged the reasons behind the change in any depth, but took satisfaction from triumphing in Melbourne given all the speculation beforehand. “Just happy to prove all the people were wrong,” he said. ‘Honour to make history’ Among Alcaraz’s milestones, his maiden Slam, at the US Open in 2022, made him the youngest champion of a men’s major since Nadal at the 2005 French Open. He was also the youngest man to ascend to the world number one ranking. His Roland Garros corona-

But for now, he just wants to enjoy the moment and take in what he has done over the past fortnight and in his young career so far. “Right now I’m just trying to have time to realise what I’ve been doing,” he said. “I know I’m making history with some trophies, some tournaments, some achievements that I’ve been getting. “For me it’s an honour to put my name in the history books.”
