Royal pride in legislative system

HM King hails legislative and executive cooperation towards more progress and prosperity

● His Majesty receives two chambers' leaders

TDT | Manama

His Majesty King Hamad bin Isa Al Khalifa has expressed pride in the great efforts exerted by the legislative branch to carry out its constitutional duties and support Bahrain's march towards more progress and prosperity.

His Majesty also hailed the Shura and Representatives councils' key role in promoting the democratic concepts emanating from the deep-rooted national culture and values. This came as HM the King received Shura Council Chairman Ali bin Saleh Al Saleh and Council of Representatives Speaker Fawzia bint Abdulla Zainal, along with their deputies, at Al Sakhir Palace yesterday.

HM the King with Al Saleh and Zainal

They submitted to HM the King the two chambers' replies to the keynote royal speech during the opening of the Third Session of the Fifth Legislative Term.

HM King Hamad expressed thanks and appreciation to the councils for their role in defending the interests of the nation and developing the legal and legislative system in a way that meets the citizens' aspirations. He lauded the level of cooperation and coordination between the executive and legislative branches to build on the previous achievements and gains as part of the Kingdom's comprehensive development.

His Majesty hailed the Shura and Representatives councils' key role in promoting the democratic concepts emanating from the deep-rooted national culture and values.
