Constance Wu joins Chris Pratt's Amazon series 'The Terminal List'

ANI | Washington

Hollywood actor Constance Wu will be returning to series television as the female lead opposite Chris Pratt in Amazon's conspiracy-thriller series 'The Terminal List', based on Jack Carr's bestselling novel.

According to Deadline, Pratt will executive produce the series along with Antoine Fuqua, who will direct, along with writer David DiGilio.

'The Terminal List' follows James Reece (Pratt) after his entire platoon of Navy SEALs is ambushed during a high-stakes covert mission. Reece returns home to his family with conflicting memories of the event and questions about his culpability. However, as new evidence comes to light, Reece discovers dark forces working against him, endangering not only his life but the lives of those he loves.

Wu will be portraying the character of Katie Buranek, a risk-seeking war correspondent who uses her byline to speak truth to power. Katie left her desk at a prestigious news outlet to pursue high-impact stories on her own terms. Now at a crossroads in her career, she finds an unlikely ally in rogue Navy SEAL James Reece. She seeks to re-enter the mainstream by bringing the truth about Reece and the conspiracy he is fighting against to light.

Carr will also serve as an executive producer along with Pratt and Jon Schumacher through Indivisible Productions and Fuqua will do it through Fuqua Films (The Equalizer, Training Day). DiGilio will write, show-run, and executive produce.

Michael B. Jordan seeks revenge in Tom Clancy action thriller 'Without Remorse'

● Amazon Prime Video's movie is based on the bestselling book by Clancy

Fox | Los Angeles

Michael B. Jordan is "more dangerous and effective than any man" in the Navy SEALs in the trailer for Amazon Prime Video's "Without Remorse."

The teaser for the Stefano Sollima-directed action thriller, based on Tom Clancy's 1993 novel, sees Jordan as elite Navy SEAL Sr. Chief John Kelly.

When a squad of Russian soldiers kills his family in retaliation for his role in a top-secret operation, Kelly pursues the assassins at all costs. While seeking justice, he uncovers an international conspiracy that threatens to engulf the U.S. and Russia in an all-out war.

"They took everything from me," Jordan's character says in the trailer. "I'm gonna make it right."

Set in Clancy's Jack Ryan universe, "Without Remorse" is the explosive origin story of John Clark. The trailer teases Jodie Turner-Smith as a fellow SEAL and Jamie Bell as a shadowy CIA agent.

The cast also includes Lauren London, Brett Gelman, Jacob Scipio, Jack Kesey, Colman Domingo, Todd Lassance, Cam Gigandet, Luke Mitchell and Guy Pearce.

Written by Taylor Sheridan and Will Staples, "Without Remorse" initially was set to premiere for Paramount on Sept. 18, 2020, and later Oct. 2, 2020. But with the film adaptation over at Amazon, "Without Remorse" will now debut globally April 30 on Prime Video.

Akiva Goldsman, Josh Appelbaum, André Nemec, and Jordan produce the action thriller.

Katherine Heigl will talk to daughters about their biological mothers

Bang Showbiz | Los Angeles

Katherine Heigl is happy to talk to her two daughters about their biological mothers as much as they're "comfortable" with.

The '27 Dresses' star - who adopted Naleigh, 12, and Adalaid, eight, and has son Josh, four, with her husband Josh Kelley - admits her children do have "more questions" about their biological families now they are older.

She shared: "They do have more questions as they get older. We have said to them, this is your story. We don't have any information about your biological fathers, but we do have a bit about your biological mothers.

"If you guys want to talk more about them, you can have as much or as little information as you want. Tell us what you're comfortable with knowing."

And the 42-year-old actress admitted the lockdown owing to the coronavirus pandemic has given her the most "consistent" time spent with her children.

Speaking to the April issue of Parents magazine, she added: "This is the longest period I have consistently spent with my children. At first I loved cooking-inspired meals, but now I'm like, 'Kids, just make yourself a sandwich.'"

Meanwhile, Katherine previously banned screen time in her home after her daughters got "addicted" to gaming through the lockdown.

Eddie Murphy on Hollywood: White men run this business

IANIS | Los Angeles

Hollywood star Eddie Murphy said that there is no diversity in the film industry. The actor said that this disparity is not just race-based but gender based, too.

"It's been this way for years and years, but it's not just African-Americans. It's also about women and other minorities, too. White men run this business. It's always been this way," the actor said in an interview to Radio Times, according to dailymail.

However, he went on to say that he has never been subjected to racism in his career. "In terms of my work and my career, race has never been an issue. I've been making movies for 40 years and never once could I not get a movie made because I was black. I transcended that stuff," he said.

Murphy, 69, shot to superstardom with blockbuster roles in numerous films including 48 Hrs, the Beverly Hills Cop series, Trading Places (1983) and The Nutty Professor.

Iggy Azalea says eating her son's food 'is the best thing about having a kid'

Bang Showbiz | Los Angeles

Iggy Azalea has joked that eating her son's food is the "best thing about having a kid".

The 30-year-old rap star has revealed via social media that she loves eating her baby boy's yoghurt, jokingly suggesting that it's one of her favourite things about motherhood.

Iggy - who announced in June that she'd given birth to a son called Onyx Kelly - wrote on Twitter: "The best thing about having a kid is you can steal their baby yogurt. (sic)"

The 'Fancy' hitmaker often discusses her baby boy on social media, and she previously revealed she wants to get a tattoo of Onyx.

Iggy admitted she was keen to get a permanent inking, but she wasn't sure where she wanted it.

She shared: "I want to get an onyx tattoo (of course) but I don't know if I should add into my sleeve more or do it in another place."

If I did, it would make my sleeve extend into my upper arm and not be all below my elbow. I'm so torn. (sic)"
