Bahrain expresses solidarity with Kingdom

Dubai

Gulf countries have condemned Houthis' continued launching of drones and ballistic missiles towards Saudi Arabia.

Bahrain further expressed its solidarity with the Kingdom against anything that would target its security and safety.

Saudi Arabia's defense forces intercepted a ballistic missile and two Houthi explosive drones targeting the southern city of Najran, the Arab Coalition reported.

The UAE's foreign ministry said the continuation of these extremist attacks reflects the militia's disregard for all international laws and norms.

Meanwhile, Kuwait's foreign ministry said the attacks pose a threat to the security of the Kingdom and the region.

The Council of the Arab Ministers of Interior called for holding the Iranian-backed militia accountable, as it exceeded all religious, humanitarian and ethical limits and values, during the Holy Month of Ramadan.

Aramco beats quarterly profit forecast, maintains dividend

● Net income rose to $21.7 billion

● Aramco average total hydrocarbon production came in at 11.5 million barrels per day of oil equivalent in the first quarter of 2021

● Aramco declared a dividend of $18.8 bn

Reuters

State-run oil producer Saudi Aramco beat analysts' forecasts yesterday with a 30% rise in first-quarter net profit and maintained its dividend payout, helped by strong oil prices.

Earnings by global energy companies such as Exxon Mobil have climbed on the back of rising crude prices, which are up by about a third this year, as fuel demand recovers from the pandemic and as a global surplus of crude shrinks.

"Given the positive signs for energy demand in 2021, there are more reasons to be optimistic that better days are coming," Amin Nasser, chief executive of the world's top oil exporter, said in a statement.

"And while some headwinds still remain, we are well-positioned to meet the world's growing energy needs as economies start to recover," he said.

Net income rose to $21.7 billion for the quarter to March 31 from $16.7 bn a year earlier. Aramco was expected to post net profit of $19.48 bn, according to an average of estimates by five analysts.

Aramco, which listed in 2019 with the sale of a 1.7% stake mainly to the Saudi public and regional institutions, said earnings were boosted by stronger crude prices and higher refining and chemicals margins, helping offset lower production.

The OPEC+ group, the alliance that groups the Organisation of the Petroleum Exporting Countries, Russia and several other producers, have cut output to support prices but agreed on a plan in April to start gradually easing those curbs from May 1.

Aramco, which reduced its output as part of that pact and as a result of Saudi Arabia's additional voluntary production cuts, said global demand for petroleum products was recovering from its lows in 2020 but remained below pre-pandemic levels.

Aramco declared a dividend of $18.8 bn for the first quarter, to be paid in the second quarter, in line with company guidance of a $75 billion dividend for this year.

"Aramco's dividend commitment is already pretty ambitious, particularly given the continued volatility in the market," said Dmitry Marinchenko, oil and gas analyst at Fitch Ratings.

Aramco would possibly prefer to keep dividends stable, particularly in light of some uncertainty around the Shareek or Partner programme by the Saudi government, he said.

The programme encourages Saudi companies including Aramco to lead private sector investments in the domestic economy.

HSBC, in an equity note to clients, said the move could restrict headroom to boost dividends in the next few years.

Aramco average total hydrocarbon production came in at 11.5 million barrels per day of oil equivalent in the first quarter of 2021. That includes 8.6 m barrels per day of crude oil.

Saudi Crown Prince Mohammed has said more Aramco shares could be sold in the next year or two, including to international investors. He has said the kingdom was in talks to sell 1% to a leading global energy company.

Egypt, France agree large warplane deal

Reuters

France said yesterday it will begin delivering 30 Dassault warplanes to Egypt from 2024 in a 4 billion euro ($4.8 bn) deal, as it strengthens ties with a partner it considers vital in fighting Islamist militants.

Armed Forces Minister Florence Parly said the deal, confirmed yesterday, illustrated the "strategic nature of the partnership" between the countries and would secure 7,000 jobs in France over three years.

"Our two countries are resolutely committed to the fight against terrorism and work for stability," she said.

The deal also covers contracts for missile provider MBDA and equipment provider Safran Electronics & Defense worth another 200 million euros.

France concluded more than 7.5 bn euros in arms deals with Egypt between 2010-2019, including 24 of the same warplane, the Rafale, in 2015 in what was its first export sale.

A French official said financing for the deal would be finalised on Tuesday with up to 85% guaranteed by the French state.

French Navy Rafale fighter jets are seen onboard the Charles de Gaulle aircraft carrier, currently moored at the port of Limassol, Cyprus

Saudi cuts Q1 deficit

Reuters

Saudi Arabia reduced its budget deficit to 7.4 billion riyals ($1.97 b) in the first quarter of the year, the finance ministry said yesterday, as the government reaps the benefits of consolidation measures introduced last year.

The kingdom, the Arab world's largest economy and the world's top oil exporter, cashed in 117 bn riyals in oil revenue in the first quarter - 9% below the first three months of 2020.

Total revenue however rose 7% annually, with a 75% increase in income from taxes boosting non-oil revenue by 39% year on year.

In the first quarter last year the budget deficit stood at roughly $9 bn.

The Saudi government spent 212 bn riyals in the first three months of this year, a 6% annual reduction partly due to a significant cut in capital expenditure - down by over 13 billion riyals year on year.

Military spending was also down by nearly 10 bn riyals.

The International Monetary Fund said this week it expects the kingdom to post a deficit of 4.2% of GDP in 2021 - which would be slightly better than Saudi budget forecasts.

Dubai optimistic visitors will return but numbers unclear

Reuters

Dubai's tourism chief yesterday said he was very optimistic business and leisure travellers would return this year, though the pandemic made it difficult to predict exactly how many.

Dubai, a trade and tourism hub which has kept its borders open since reopening last July, saw 1.26 million visitors in the first quarter, while last year the number of visitors fell 67% to 5.5 million.

"We are very optimistic on the numbers for the year," Dubai Tourism Chief Executive Issam Kazim told reporters yesterday.

But he said forecasts were "a little bit up in the air" as some markets expected to be allowing international travel were in fact imposing restrictions.

Kazim did not identify any particular market.

The United Kingdom, a top source market, has suspended most direct flights from the United Arab Emirates while arrivals who have recently been in the Gulf state must quarantine in hotels. Meanwhile, the UAE has largely banned entry for those who have recently visited India, another key market, due to the latest outbreak there.

Deaths rose 3,449 to 222,408. India has added around eight million new cases since the end of March in a ferocious new wave blamed on virus variants.

Germany is cancelling its iconic Oktoberfest festival for the second year running due to the coronavirus pandemic, Bavaria's state premier Markus Soeder said Monday. DeSantis signed a law invalidating local emergency orders -- which impose restrictions due to Covid-19 -- effective from July 1, and then signed an executive order that bridges the gap between now and then. "That's the evidence thing to do," the Republican governor said at a news conference, referring to the reduction in infections and deaths as the vaccine rollout continues.

The A Symphony was anchored roughly 40 nautical miles off the coast of Qingdao when it was struck in dense fog by the bulk carrier Sea Justice on April 27. The collision ruptured A Symphony's cargo and ballast tanks, causing it to leak roughly 400 tonnes of its bitumen mix cargo.

He is one of 50 journalists currently held in Myanmar as part of the junta's crackdown on widespread protests against its February 1 coup. The country has been in turmoil since civilian leader Aung San Suu Kyi's government was ousted, with more than 750 people killed as security forces struggle to quash near-daily demonstrations against their rule.

AI can Power Bahrain's Environmental Protection

KOTA SRIRAJ

Artificial Intelligence (AI) is a wide-ranging branch of computer science concerned with building smart machines capable of performing tasks that typically require human intelligence. It is the endeavour to simulate human intelligence in machines. The most common example of AI is how it has made it possible to deposit cheques from the comfort of one's home. AI is proficient in deciphering handwriting and signatures thereby making online cheque processing practical. Yet another example is how banking processes powered by AI have perfected fraud detection by observing credit card spending patterns. In the business world, AI has minimised human-error and increased insights from big data which have lowered operational costs and increased profitability.

With each passing day, the world is being besieged by environmental concerns such as global warming, animal endangerment, carbon emissions, disease containment, air, and water pollution. Bahrain is no stranger to these threats and in an effort to counter these challenges, the kingdom has already taken a slew of appreciable measures. Some of the measures include the increased utilisation of renewable sources of energy such as wind energy, solar energy, tidal power and biogas instead of conventional sources. But in addition to these measures, Bahrain can stand to benefit much more if AI is roped in for environmental protection as it can take conservation to next level by combining scalability with accuracy.

Globally the application of AI processes are rapidly changing the narrative in the international environmental protection arena. The use of AI in environment protection includes machine learning for protecting the oceans, monitoring shipping, ocean mining, fishing, coral bleaching or the outbreak of marine diseases. For an island nation such as Bahrain these applications of AI can have a far reaching impact which can further be bolstered by forging productive collaborations. For instance, The NGO, Nature Conservancy is collaborating with Microsoft on using AI for carbon storage, seafood harvesting, and conservation of marine life. Bahrain can also find multiple inland uses of AI that can go the extra mile not only for ecological protection but also for ensuring food security. AI can be used in Bahraini agricultural sector for automated data collection, detection of crop diseases and optimizing agricultural inputs and returns based on demand and supply.

Bahrain can also use AI to accelerate the process of environmental analysis. AI can process a huge amount of data quickly and draw conclusions that may have not been possible by humans. For instance, in China, IBM's Green Horizon project uses AI technology to forecast air pollution, track pollution sources and provide potential solutions to deal with it. This is critical for Bahrain because the scale of pollution is reaching such levels that it may soon be difficult to manage the problem with only human efforts. The World Health Organisation (WHO) estimates that exposure to air pollution causes around 4.2 million mortalities across the globe each year. As per its further estimation, around 91% of the global population lives in places where the air quality is much more than the guidelines of WHO and this has led to be a concern for nations around the globe, especially Bahrain.

As challenges arising out of climate change get more complex Bahrain will do well to be an early adapter in the mass scale implementation of AI in environmental protection. In the process of doing this the kingdom must set up a triangular integrated system of people, government and AI. As people get aware of the importance of environmental conservation, the government must take AI to grass root level and provide tools to people in the form of nature conservation apps powered by AI to the people to download. Through these apps the public can track their carbon foot print, reduce greenhouse emissions, provide crucial data pertaining to environment and much more.

These steps can help Bahrain in setting up state of the art environment protection systems that monitor and reduces the amount of energy consumption and water usage that helps in preserving precious resources. As the entire process is data driven, it will become easy for the government to track the progress of the conservation initiatives and make necessary changes to increase efficiency and spot problems in the processes long before they crop up. The use of AI can aid the nation to also succeed in achieving the Economic Vision 2030 by ensuring sustainable growth of the country that is friendly towards the environment.

Environmental protection powered by artificial Intelligence is the future, and Bahrain can set the global benchmark by adopting AI for nature preservation.

Rail overpass collapses, killing at least 23

Reuters

At least 23 people were killed and 65 were hospitalised when a railway overpass and train collapsed onto a busy road in Mexico City on Monday night, crushing cars under fallen carriages and rubble.

The authorities halted rescue efforts shortly after they began, saying there was a risk that more train parts and debris could slam down onto the road.

A video on local channel Milenio TV showed the structure plummeting onto a stream of cars near the Olivos station in the southeast of the city at around 10.30 p.m. local time, sending up clouds of dust.

At least two train carriages precariously hung from the damaged overpass. Initial rescue efforts saw medical and fire crews trying to access the carriages. The army was also in attendance.

Speaking to reporters at the site, Mexico City Mayor Claudia Sheinbaum said it appeared a girder had given way on the overpass but the cause was being investigated.

She said the rescue had been suspended as the structure was very weak. A crane was working to stabilise the train carriages so rescuers could resume their search for survivors.

The authorities were working to identify the dead, which included children, Sheinbaum said. One person trapped in their car underneath the wreckage had been rescued alive and was taken to hospital. Seven of the people transported to hospital were in a "grave condition" and undergoing surgery, she said.

The Metro 12 line that runs over the collapsed overpass was built almost a decade ago when Foreign Minister Marcelo Ebrard was mayor of Mexico City.

"What happened today with the Metro is a terrible tragedy. My solidarity is with the victims and their families," Ebrard said on Twitter. "Of course, the causes must be investigated and responsibilities defined."

Ebrard and Sheinbaum are seen by many political observers as the most likely successors to President Andres Manuel Lopez Obrador once his six-year term is over in 2024.

Lebanon, Israel resume talks on disputed maritime border

Reuters

Lebanon and Israel resumed US-mediated talks yesterday over a dispute about their Mediterranean Sea border that has held up hydrocarbon exploration in the potentially gas-rich area, an official Lebanese source said.

The longtime foes held several rounds of talks in October - a culmination of three years of diplomacy by the United States - hosted by the United Nations at a peace-keeper base in southern Lebanon.

But negotiations stalled after each presented contrasting maps outlining proposed borders that actually increased the size of the disputed area.

On Tuesday, the talks resumed at the same base in Lebanon's Naqoura. Since the talks stalled, Lebanon's caretaker prime minister and ministers of defence and public works approved a draft decree which would expand Lebanon's claim, adding around 1,400 square km (540 square miles) to its exclusive economic zone.

The draft decree has yet to be approved. Israel already pumps gas from huge offshore fields.

Lebanon, which has yet to find commercial gas reserves in its own waters, is desperate for cash from foreign donors as it faces the worst economic crisis since its 1975-1990 civil war.

Kuwait bars unvaccinated citizens from travel abroad

Reuters

Kuwaiti citizens who have not been vaccinated against COVID-19 will not be able to travel abroad from May 22, the information ministry said on Monday, citing a decision by Kuwait's cabinet.

The ban does not include people in age groups ineligible to receive vaccinations. A previous directive banning the entry of non-Kuwaitis into the Gulf state still stands, the statement said.

New daily COVID-19 cases in Kuwait have risen since the start of the year and are now hovering between 1,300 and 1,500 a day. Kuwait has registered more than 276,500 cases in total. The country suspended flights from India 10 days ago following a surge in infections there.

Senior Swiss diplomat in Iran found dead after fall from high-rise

Reuters

The first secretary at the Swiss embassy in Tehran was found dead on Tuesday after falling from a high-rise building where she lived in the north of the city, a spokesman for emergency services was quoted as saying by Iranian news agencies.

The Swiss foreign ministry (FDFA) said an employee at its embassy in Iran had died of an accident, without identifying the victim. "The FDFA and its head Federal Councillor Ignazio Cassis are shocked by the tragic death and express their deepest condolences to the family," it said.

Huge Afghan offensive after deadline for US pullout missed U.S. deadline to withdraw troops.

Although the United States did not meet the May 1 withdrawal deadline agreed in talks with the Taliban last year, its pull-out has begun, with President Joe Biden announcing all troops will out by Sept. 11. Critics of the decision to withdraw say the militants will try to sweep back into power.

"There was a thunderstorm of heavy weapons and blasts in the city and the sound of small arms was like someone was making popcorn," Mullah Jan, a resident of a suburb of provincial capital Lashkar Gah, told Reuters.

"I took all my family members to the corner of the room, hearing the heavy blasts and bursts of gunfire as if it was happening behind our walls," he said. Families that could afford to leave had fled, but he had been unable to go, waiting with his family in fear before the Taliban were pushed back.

Attaullah Afghan, the head of Helmand's provincial council, said the Taliban had launched their huge offensive on Monday from multiple directions, attacking checkpoints around the outskirts of Lashkar Gah, taking over some of them.

Afghan security forces had launched air strikes and deployed elite commando forces to the area. The insurgents had been pushed back but fighting was continuing on Tuesday and hundreds of families had been displaced, he added.

In Damascus, crispy pastry sweetens frugal Ramadan

Damascus is famous for pastry shops that make mouth-watering desserts like syrupy baklava stuffed with pistachios

AFP | Damascus

Year after year Ramadan meals become more frugal in war-torn Syria as the economy worsens, but Damascus dwellers say a traditional wafer-thin crispy pancake called "naaem" is here to stay.

During the Muslim fasting month, just before sundown Damascus residents flock to buy the deep-fried sweet from street vendors who make them in bubbling cauldrons all over the sidewalks.

The crunchy pastry -- also called "Ramadan bread" -- is prepared by dropping a thin circle of dough into hot oil until it snaps like a crisp.

Fished out, the sweet-smelling pancake is then drizzled with dark brown date or grape molasses.

Government employee Abdallah, 51, said he rushes out to buy a naaem to share with his wife and two daughters at the end of every day.

"However tough the circumstances, the naaem is a tradition we can't go without during Ramadan," he said.

At around 2,500 Syrian pounds (less than a dollar), the crunchy dessert is still one of the few affordable ones, he said.

A Syrian vendor holds on a traditional sweet known as "naaem"

Other more elaborate sweets, such as sesame-covered barazeq biscuits or syrupy baklava stuffed with pistachios, have become prohibitively expensive.

Dizzying price hikes have forced many Syrian households like Abdallah's to cut back on some food items this Ramadan.

This year, red meat, chicken broth, and pistachio-filled sweets are largely off the menu for iftar, the meal at the end of a day's fasting. Instead, most families opt for cheaper items to put on their dinner tables such as naaem.

"Children love it, and that's the most important thing," Abdallah said.

'Within everyone's reach'

In one Damascus market, 49-year-old Abu Tareq called out to customers in a bellowing voice, near endless airy stacks of crispy naaem.

He said they disappear fast in the run-up to iftar.

"Sweets are an essential part of the Ramadan spread, and naaem are the cheapest and most delicious," he said.

But the wealthy too are customers, he added, because the dessert is a traditional Ramadan sweet.

Just a stone's throw away from Abu Tareq's shop, the scent of more freshly baked pastries wafts out of some of the sweets famous.

But each year, fewer and fewer people buy and take home trays of syrupy treats, baked in ghee and stuffed with nuts or tender date flesh.

A kilo of those sweets can cost up to 50,000 Syrian pounds ($17 at the black-market exchange rate).

In a country where the currency has lost 98 percent of its value since the start of the war in 2011 and millions struggle to put food on the table, that is money many simply do not have.

Instead, crispy "Ramadan bread" is still a delight they can afford.

"The naaem is within everyone's reach," said Abu Tareq. "Ramadan wouldn't taste the same without it."

● Number of stars from Belarus to be featured

TDT | Manama

The fastest-growing MMA organization in the world, BRAVE Combat Federation will return to Europe with yet another huge fight card, showcasing the continental talents against top fighters worldwide. And the main event of BRAVE CF 51: The Future Is Here relates to that as perhaps the number one fighter in Germany Marcel Grabinski takes on Brazilian former world champion Lucas "Mineiro" Martins in a Lightweight battle.

Both men are heavily featured in the official poster that has just been released by BRAVE Combat Federation. Donning the colours of their flags on their faces, Grabinski and Martins are joined on the poster by the co-main event fighters.

A two-division champion in Germany, Grabinski made waves last month as he dismantled Issa Isakov in a Super Lightweight bout on the historic BRAVE CF 50 fight card. Now he will look to join the mix of top fighters at Lightweight with a win over Martins.

Lucas "Mineiro" Martins is going for his fifth main event for BRAVE Combat Federation, but is eager to showcase that he will not be a stepping stone to the up-and-comer Grabinski and is looking forward to getting back to winning ways in Minsk.

Denis Maher will be among the Belarus representatives, and will be making his international debut on home soil, as he takes on Sweden's Fernando Gonzalez in a Super Welterweight match-up of epic proportions.

'Disgruntled' Parks steps away from PBA season

Parks' absence is a big blow for Tropang Giga

TDT | Manila

TNT Tropang Giga star guard Bobby Ray Parks Jr. remains firm on his decision to skip the upcoming Philippine Basketball Association (PBA) 46th season.

The ballclub's foremost weapon during the PBA's 2020 Philippine Cup, Parks is taking a sabbatical for "personal reasons" although he had earlier cited the frustration of being unable to come to terms on a contract with management on coming up with his decision.

He reportedly thumbed down a "good two-year offer that superstars would grab."

"It is with a heavy heart that I will have to excuse myself and not partake in this year's PBA season due to personal reasons which in particular, my family," said the 28-year-old Filipino-American in his Instagram post.

The 6-foot-4 swingman is the son of the late Bobby Parks Sr., who is largely regarded as one of the greatest imports in the PBA.

The former ABL MVP said that it was not an easy decision to make, since he is in constant talks with TNT management regarding his contract. Parks, a free agent, signed a one-year extension with the ballclub last year.

"Right now, this decision is what is best for me and my family," he said.

Parks was traded to the Tropang Giga mid-season after being selected second overall by the Blackwater Elite in the 2019 PBA Rookie Draft.

Due to his calf injury, he missed the last four games of the Philippine Cup Finals against Brgy. Ginebra, as his team fell in five games.

Parks also thanked team management and hopes to return to the team soon.

"Hopefully one day, once everything is resolved I can come back to the team and help bring a championship to TNT," said the NU alumnus.

Even without Parks, incoming TNT head coach Chot Reyes believes that his current roster can continue to contend in the upcoming season.

"First of all, our prayers go out to him, together with our wish that he finds resolution to his personal issues. Obviously losing him is a big blow, because Ray is such a big part of our plans moving forward. But I have faith in the players we have in this team. We will find a way," Reyes said.

'Demolition Man' fully focused on MMA

TDT | Manila

Despite an unsuccessful Brave Combat Federation debut last month, Filipino sensation Jenel "The Demolition Man" Lausa has no regret giving up his boxing career in favor of a total commitment to the sport of mixed martial arts.

Last March 11, the hard-hitting warrior fought for the first time at "BRAVE CF 47: Asian Domination" at the Arad Fort in Arad, Bahrain. He, however, lost via unanimous decision to 28-year-old Ryskulbek Ibraimov of Kyrgyzstan.

"The loss turned out to be a blessing, not just a lesson," Lausa said. "Now, I am living as a true and dedicated Filipino MMA fighter. Here in MMA, you have to think as a mixed martial artist day in and day out. Today, I can say that I see things clear as day."

He was last seen in action in the Ultimate Fighting Championship (UFC) in 2018, where he lost to Japanese Yuta Sasaki. He fought in the UFC four times, finishing with a 1-3 record.

"I've been missing the MMA cage for too long. I'm so excited to share that I have joined the Brave Combat Federation," said Lausa, who signed an exclusive multi-bout contract with Brave CF last February.

"I will represent the Philippines in the biggest Asian event."

"Coming back to mixed martial arts is really something that I look forward to. I am very grateful for this opportunity, and I value the trust that Brave CF has given me," he said.

Lausa holds a professional MMA record of 7-5 with two knockouts wins and two by way of submission. He once held the Pacific Xtreme Combat fly-weight title by defeating Team Lakay's Crisanto Pitpitunge via split decision in 2016.

He is also an accomplished boxer, holding a perfect 10-0-1 record with six knockouts. He captured the Philippine Boxing Federation Super Bantamweight Championship in 2016 and then clinched the Global Boxing Organization Asia-Pacific Super Featherweight title three years later.

"I'm very, very happy I will be able to showcase my talent again so everyone will know that I'm representing the Philippines in MMA," Lausa said.

Though he admitted that it was a "tough" decision to call, Lausa believes that focusing entirely on MMA will benefit him in the long run.

"My priority right now is MMA and to perform to the best of my ability as part of BRAVE CF," Lausa said.

West Ham United boss David Moyes picked an attacking side and told them to "go for it" against Burnley and they responded by racking up 22 shots on goal in a 2-1 win that puts them within touching distance of Champions League football next season.

The Hammers rose to fifth in the Premier League table, three points behind Chelsea in the final Champions League spot with four games left to play.

West Ham still have to face Everton (8th), Brighton & Hove Albion (14th), West Bromwich Albion (19th) and Southampton (15th), while Chelsea have a tougher run-in, taking on leaders Manchester City, Arsenal (9th), Leicester City (3rd) and Aston Villa (10th).

23rd Asian Men's Club League Championship 2021

TDI | Manama

Back-to-back Bahrain league champions Al Najma have been drawn in a tough Group A for the 23rd Asian Men's Club League Handball Championship 2021.

The other teams in their division are defending champions Al Arabi of Qatar, Shahid Kazeroon Club of Iran, Al Salmiya of Kuwait and Mudhar of Saudi Arabia.

Group B consists of Al Wehda of Saudi, Uzbek Club of Uzbekistan, Al Qaten of Yemen, Mes Kerman of Iran, Al Duhail of Qatar and Al Kuwait Club of Kuwait.

The draw was held at King Abdullah Sports City in Jeddah, setting the stage for the preliminary round of the competition, which is scheduled to take place from June 12 to 21.

Najma head into the tournament as the only Bahraini side. They are the only club from the Kingdom to have won the championship in the past, having taken the 2017 title when the event was played in Hyderabad, India. Najma have also won the silver and bronze medals once each.

Other Bahraini teams to taste success in the competition are Al Hilal Club, who have won bronze twice before; and Al Ahli and Barbar, who have each one third place once.

The clubs championship was supposed to be played last year, but was postponed by the Asian Handball Federation due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

IPL 2021 postponed after several players tested positive for COVID-19

● Members of three franchises have been confirmed to have tested positive

AFP | New Delhi

The Indian Premier League, the world's richest Twenty20 cricket tournament, was suspended yesterday and its players sent home as India battles a massive surge in coronavirus cases.

The move, which follows growing controversy over the competition, comes a day after two players -- Varun Chakravathy and Sandeep Warrier -- tested positive, forcing a match to be postponed.

The Chennai Super Kings added in a statement yesterday that its bowling coach L. Balaji and a member of the side's travel support staff tested positive after undergoing tests in India's capital New Delhi on Sunday.

"The Indian Premier League Governing Council and Board of Control for Cricket in India in an emergency meeting has unanimously decided to postpone (the) IPL 2021 season, with immediate effect," a statement from organisers said.

"The BCCI does not want to compromise on the safety of the players, support staff and the other participants involved in organising the IPL," it added. The high-paying IPL, which was taking place in biosecure "bubble" conditions, attracts many of the world's top cricketers, including players from Australia, England and South Africa.

'Difficult times'

BCCI Vice-President Rajiv Shukla told AFP that the governing body would "make the arrangements" for the IPL's international players to leave India.

"About the foreign players, as we have said, we will try and ensure all of them get to their homes," he said.

Cricket Australia said in a statement that it was in touch with the BCCI to "ensure the safe accommodation and repatriation of Australian players, coaches, match officials and commentators back home".

The governing body added that it was not seeking exemptions from the Australian government's move to ban travellers from India from entering the country until at least May 15.

Cricket South Africa said it was in touch with franchises for the "expedited travel of all South African players and support staff" back home, where they will undergo home quarantine.

The IPL has been running since early April, even as India's health care system has been overwhelmed by a vicious second wave of virus cases.

This prompted criticism from some who said it was inappropriate, given the suffering in the country, while others defended it as a welcome distraction.

Eight teams have been playing behind closed doors in six cities including Delhi and Mumbai, both badly hit by the pandemic.

UEFA allows 26-player squads for Euro 2020

AFP | London

UEFA said yesterday it would allow expanded 26-man squads at Euro 2020, meeting a demand from coaches who feared they could lose players due to coronavirus.

European football's governing body said it had agreed the increase from 23 players "to mitigate the risks of teams facing a shortage of available players for certain matches due to possible positive Covid-19 test results and subsequent quarantine measures".

France coach Didier Deschamps and Belgium boss Roberto Martinez were among those who had called for the change while England manager Gareth Southgate had been opposed.

Matchday squads will still be limited to 23 players.

UEFA clarified that the current regulations that allow coaches to change their squads after the cut-off point of June 1 up until their first match in the case of "serious injury or illness" will include players who test positive for Covid-19 or who are declared as "close contacts" of a positive Covid-19 tested person.

The new regulations will also allow goalkeepers to be replaced before each match during the tournament in case of physical incapacity even if one or two goalkeepers from the player list are still available.

A player that has been replaced on the player list will not later be allowed to return to the competition.

substitutions will be allowed in games at the delayed Euro 2020 instead of the usual three, in line with current rules across many club competitions

UEFA had already decided that teams would be allowed to make up to five substitutions in games at the delayed Euro 2020 instead of the usual three, in line with current rules across many club competitions.

National teams have named squads of 23 players at the World Cup and European Championship ever since the 2002 World Cup in Japan and South Korea.

Euro 2020 was postponed last year because of the pandemic but is due to take place at venues across the continent, from June 11 to July 11.

World number three Simona Halep was dumped out of the Madrid Open yesterday, losing 4-6, 7-5, 7-5 in the round of 16 to the Belgian Elise Mertens.

Halep had sailed through the first two rounds on the Spanish clay without dropping a set but she ended up second best in a match which yielded 15 breaks of serve.

Halep produced 10 double faults in the match, Mertens nine.

Halep, a two-time Grand Slam champion and former world number one, was twice a break up in the final set at 3-1 and 4-3 but finally succumbed after just over two and a half hours of play.

In the quarter-finals 13th seed Mertens will meet the Belarusian seventh seed Aryna Sabalenka, who dispatched American Jessica Pegula 6-1, 6-2 in just 52 minutes.

Two other quarter-final line-ups are also settled with world number one Ashleigh Barty set to meet ninth seed Petra Kvitová while eighth seed Belinda Bencic is up against unseeded Spaniard Paula Badosa, ranked 62 in the world.
