AFP | Tehran, Iran

The talks took place following threats from Washington and after it recently deployed an aircraft carrier group to the Middle East following Iran's deadly response to anti-government protests.

"In a very positive atmosphere, our arguments were exchanged and the views of the other side were shared with us," Araghchi told Iranian state TV, adding that "it was a good start."

He noted the two sides had "agreed to proceed with the negotiations" and that the "way forward" would be decided after negotiators held consultations within their respective capitals.

The timing and the format of the next round will be decided "at a later date", Araghchi said, expressing hope that Washington would refrain from "threats and pressure" so that "the talks can continue".

The top diplomat insisted that the discussions were "focused exclusively on the nuclear issue", in an interview with the official IRNA news agency.

"We are not addressing any other subject with the Americans," he added.

Yesterday's talks were the first since nuclear negotiations between Iran and the US collapsed last year following Israel's unprecedented bombing campaign against Iran, which triggered a 12-day war.

Power trouble

MPs push for separate power meters for families sharing homes

Families sharing a single home should be allowed to install separate electricity meters for each household, according to a proposal submitted to Parliament.

positional submitted to Parliament.

The proposal, put forward by MPs Abdulhakeem Al Sheno, Bader Al Tamimi, Hamad Al Doy, Abdulwahid Qarata and Hassan Ibrahim, focuses on extended families and households benefiting from housing finance and housing programmes that are currently billed through a single shared meter.

The MPs said combining electricity use often pushes households into higher tariff bands, resulting in bills that do not reflect the actual consumption of each family.

They noted that the impact is felt most by retirees and low- to middle-income families, with homeowners frequently bearing the cost of electricity used by multiple households.

The accompanying memorandum described the proposal as an administrative measure that would not impose additional direct costs on the state.

Budaiya Farmers Market grows into a weekend community favourite

TDI | Manama

Under the shade of Budaiya Botanical Garden's greenery, the Bahraini Farmers Market has evolved into a lively weekend destination, drawing families, food lovers and visitors from Bahrain and abroad.

Every Saturday until February 14, colourful stalls come alive with the sights and sounds of local agriculture. Fresh fruits, vegetables and traditional Bahraini products are displayed in abundance, all offered directly by the farmers who grow them. The setting creates a relaxed atmosphere where shopping blends naturally with community interaction.

This season, 33 Bahraini farmers are taking part, presenting more than 100 varieties of locally grown produce. From crisp leafy greens to sun-ripe tomatoes and fragrant herbs, the market reflects the diversity and quality of Bahrain's agricultural output.

Beyond the produce, the market has become a family-friendly space. Children gather around interactive workshops that turn lessons on sustainable farming into hands-on experiences, while parents browse stalls with baskets gradually filling with fresh, local food. These scenes highlight the market's growing role as both a social hub and an educational platform.

Organised by the Ministry of Municipalities and Agriculture, in partnership with the National Initiative for Agricultural Sector Development and private-sector partners, the initiative strengthens the link between farmers and consumers. It also plays a wider role in supporting local producers and reinforcing national food security by encouraging the purchase of Bahraini-grown products.

The market also supports Bahraini entrepreneurship, providing space for agricultural initiatives, craft projects and value-added food products. Alongside this, educational and awareness activities continue throughout the season, focusing on environmental preservation, sustainable agriculture and the importance of local produce.

Budaiya Botanical Garden is a popular public green space in Bahrain known for its diverse plant life, including areas dedicated to palm trees, aromatic plants, wild plants and flowers, and it hosts seasonal community events such as the Bahraini Farmers Market which attracts thousands of visitors and supports local agriculture every winter.

The issue will be discussed alongside other pension and social insurance matters during the same sitting, highlighting the importance of effective implementation in addition to legislative reform.

Royal Hospital could become public maternity facility

Bader Al Tameemi, MP
Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

Parliament is set to vote on Tuesday on a proposal to convert the Royal Hospital for Women and Children (Al Malaki) into a public maternity hospital serving the Southern Governorate.

The Services Committee has recommended approval, saying the public-interest grounds presented for the proposal justify its support.

The proposal was submitted by MPs Bader Al Tameemi, Dr Ali Al Nuaimi, Ali Saqer Al Doseri, Mohammed Mousa and Mohammed Al Rifai. It calls for the hospital to be brought under the Ministry of Health to provide maternity and related healthcare services to residents of Riffa and surrounding areas.

Al Tameemi said the aim was to establish the facility as a public maternity hospital serving the area, noting that Riffa and nearby districts are among the most densely populated in Bahrain.

He said converting the hospital into a public facility would help narrow gaps in access to healthcare for women and children and promote a fairer distribution of health services across the Kingdom.

Al Tameemi added that the hospital is already specialised, with trained staff and equipment in obstetrics and paediatrics, and said integrating it into the public system would reduce travel for patients currently seeking care elsewhere. He also said it could ease the financial burden on families who rely on private hospitals, where maternity and newborn care costs can be high.

29.5 km coastal road to transform northern Bahrain

Hasan Barakat
TDT | Manama

The Northern Bahrain Road project is set to move into its next phase, with the Ministry of Works preparing to appoint a qualified transaction adviser under a public-private partnership (PPP) framework.

The ministry is expected to issue a tender next week to appoint an advisory firm to provide integrated financial, technical and legal services for the project, as part of efforts to accelerate investment and strengthen infrastructure along the Kingdom's northern coastline.

The proposed road will run from the Northern Manama Bridge interchange at Bahrain Bay in the east, pass through Suhailah Island in the west, and extend towards the King Fahd Causeway. The route is expected to enhance connectivity between major development zones, improve traffic flow and support commercial activity across key areas.

The Northern Bahrain Road forms a core element of a wider package of residential and development projects planned for the northern coast, including Noorana, Marassi Al Seef, North Star and Diyar Al Nakheel.

The project is expected to span approximately 29.5 kilometres. Its first phase will include two lanes in each direction, with a second and final phase expanding the road to four lanes each way to meet future urban growth and transport demand.

Sheikh Jaber highway financing deal up for parliamentary review

Hasan Barakat
TDT | Manama

The Council of Representatives is set to review a proposed financing agreement for the second phase of the Sheikh Jaber Al Ahmad Al Sabah Highway during its session on Tuesday.

The agenda includes a report by the Financial and Economic Affairs Committee on a draft law approving a framework agreement between the Government of Bahrain and the Kuwait Fund for Arab Economic Development, which would contribute to financing the project through a series of loans.

The committee said the agreement allows for multiple loans to be extended over several years, supporting the project while spreading financial commitments over time. It concluded that the agreement meets constitutional requirements related to public borrowing and treaty approval.

The highway project is considered a strategic infrastructure initiative aimed at improving traffic flow and connectivity across key areas of the Kingdom.

MPs are expected to assess the financing structure during the session and decide whether the agreement should move forward through the remaining legislative stages.

MPs to vote on raising housing income cap to BD 2,500

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

Parliament will debate and vote on Tuesday on a proposal to raise the maximum salary ceiling for eligibility for state housing services to BD2,500, a move supporters say reflects rising living costs and changing income realities.

The recommendation, submitted by MPs Abdulwahid Qarata, Bader Al Tamimi, Hamad Al Doy, Ali Al Doseri and Mohammed Salman Al Ahmed, aims to widen access to housing support by allowing more middle-income families to qualify. MPs argue that the current income cap no longer reflects market conditions, particularly higher rents, property prices and household expenses.

The Services Committee has endorsed the proposal, with all attending members voting in favour, citing strong public-interest grounds and the need to ease pressure on families who are currently excluded despite facing housing affordability challenges.

In its written response, the Ministry of Housing and Urban Planning said existing regulations limit eligibility for housing services to applicants earning no more than BD1,200. It outlined that nomination certificates and most housing finance programmes are tied to strict income thresholds, both at the time of application and at allocation or payout.

Marriage to move-in: MPs want housing allowance paid immediately

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

Newly married couples should receive a housing allowance from the date of marriage, rather than after a five-year wait, according to a proposal backed by MPs but opposed by the Ministry of Housing and Urban Planning.

Despite the ministry's objections, Parliament's Public Utilities and Environment Committee has recommended approval of the proposal, with all attending members voting in favour. The proposal, submitted by MP Dr Ali Al Nuaimi, seeks to amend current rules governing housing allowance payments. Supporters argue that newlyweds face rising living costs, alongside higher property prices and rents, particularly during the early years of marriage.

MPs backing the move said paying the allowance from the date of marriage would help couples meet daily expenses, support family stability and ease financial pressure at the start of married life. They also linked the proposal to the government's 2023–2026 programme, which includes targets related to improving living standards and preserving social gains. The Ministry of Housing and Urban Planning has warned that implementing the change would affect the sustainability of its housing plans and its ability to deliver services at the required pace. The ministry cited Decision No. 909 of 2015, which governs the housing system and stipulates that the allowance is paid after five years from the date an application is submitted. It noted that certain categories — including divorced women and widows — are exempt from this rule and receive the allowance from the date of application, in recognition of their financial circumstances. The ministry Dr Ali Al Nuaimi, MP added that its current efforts are focused on expanding housing options, including immediate financing solutions tailored to different needs, without reliance on long waiting periods.

Bahrain's National Environment Day, An Annual Milestone

SRIRAJ KOTA

Bahrain observed its National Environment day on 4th February, 2026 with the theme of “We Restore it...to Revive it”. The occasion highlighted Bahrain’s commitment to environmental protection, sustainable development, and raising public awareness about preserving the natural resources for future generations. The day was marked by special initiatives such as the placement of recycling bins in over 300 locations to boost waste management. The day also put the spotlight on key initiatives such as the Afforestation Plan that aims to plant 3.6 million trees by 2035 to expand green spaces. Due to the commendable efforts of Bahrain, already 67% of the target or 2.4 million trees have already been planted in 2025.

Efforts such as above have helped Bahrain put words to action and helped translate policies to environmental conservation achievements. On the eve of the National Environment Day it is important to note that the Bahrain Mangrove Initiative is yet another step that envisions an increased role of mangroves in ecological conservation. The initiative aims at increasing the mangrove cover four-fold by 2035. These steps have solidly put Bahrain on the path of carbon neutrality by 2060 besides enhancing the quality of life of the citizens. The special day helped Bahrain highlight these achievement and future ambitious plans for the environment which in turn inspire societal commitment for environmental protection. This year’s National Environment Day served as an opportunity to strengthen the relationship between people and their natural surroundings.

Additionally Bahrain’s decision to ban import of plastic in all forms is yet another global benchmark in environmental conservation. Moreover the prohibition of manufacture, trade and import of plastic bottles and cups less than 200 milliliters is also a encouraging step towards an eventual plastic free future. These steps have helped the nation celebrate the National Environment day as they aid in tackling everyday environmental challenges such as climate change, water stress, rising temperatures, and increasing waste generation. Moreover the society is also encouraged to come together to pause and consider how everyday choices shape the environment and also underscore the importance of private sector participation in environment conservation.

world to emulate. The implementation of “My Clean Plate Bahrain” for instance targets food wastage and aims to combat plastic pollution. Similarly, investment in solar and other renewable energies aiming for 5% usage by 2025 and 10% by 2030 is yet another outstanding step by Bahrain.

Inspite of being in a geographical area that has harsh weather conditions all year long, Bahrain has been able to log impressive progress in almost all spheres of environment protection. The National Environment Day is an apt event to showcase this progress so that it serves as inspiration to achieve even greater heights.

This year’s National Environment Day underlines Bahrain’s unwavering commitment to protecting and conserving the environment.

● Russia demands UK and France join

AFP | Washington

The United States yesterday urged three-way talks with Russia and China to set new limits on nuclear weapons, after the last treaty between top nuclear powers Washington and Moscow expired.

China has already rejected joining disarmament negotiations “at this stage”, while Russia suggested other nuclear-armed states like Britain and France should be included.

“Arms control can no longer be a bilateral issue between the United States and Russia,” US Secretary of State Marco Rubio wrote in an online essay.

“Other countries have a responsibility to help ensure strategic stability, none more so than China,” he said.

Thomas DiNanno, US under secretary of state for arms control, presented a new plan to the UN Conference on Disarmament, charging that the New START treaty that lapsed on Thursday had “fundamental flaws”.

“Serial Russian violations, growth of more worldwide stockpiles and flaws in New START’s design and implementation gives the United States a clear imperative to call for a new architecture that addresses the threats of today, not those of a bygone era,” he told a United Nations meeting in Geneva.

‘Modernised treaty’

The expiration of New START, which restricted the United States and Russia to 1,550 dea naval flag-raising ceremony aboard the latest Project 955A (Borey-A) strategic nuclear-powered submarine Knyaz Pozharsky in Severodvinsk ployed nuclear warheads each, marks the first time in decades that there is no treaty to curtail the positioning of the planet’s most destructive weapons, sparking fears of a fresh arms race.

US President Donald Trump did not accept a proposal from Russian counterpart Vladimir Putin to keep New START’s restrictions in place for another year. He called Thursday for a “new, improved and modernised treaty”.

Rubio said that the United States will “negotiate from a position of strength”.

“Russia and China should not expect the United States to stand still while they shirk their obligations and expand their nuclear forces,” Rubio wrote.

“We will maintain a robust, credible and modernised nuclear deterrent.

“But we will do (so) while pursuing all avenues to fulfil the president’s genuine desire for a world with fewer of these awful weapons.”

Trump has said he wants to restart nuclear testing for the first

The expired New START treaty capped US and Russian deployed nuclear warheads at 1,550 each – and its lapse leaves no active limits between the world’s largest nuclear arsenals time in decades, although there has been no follow-through.

‘No limits’

DiNanno accused China of taking advantage of the “legally-binding US-Russian restraint to begin expanding its arsenal at a historic pace”, maintaining that it was “on track to have over 1,000 nuclear warheads by 2030”.

“As we sit here today, China’s entire nuclear arsenal has no limits, no transparency, no declarations, had no controls,” he charged.

Russia and the United States together control more than 80 percent of the world’s nuclear warheads.

But China’s nuclear arsenal is growing faster than for any other country, by about 100 new warheads a year since 2023, according to the Stockholm International Peace Research Institute.

China’s ambassador Shen Jian reiterated Beijing’s official position yesterday, insisting to the disarmament body that “China’s nuclear capabilities are nowhere near the level of those of the US or Russia”.

“China would not participate in nuclear disarmament negotiations at this stage.”

He insisted that “states possessing the largest nuclear arsenals should continue to fulfil their special and primary responsibilities for nuclear disarmament”.

Russia accuses Kyiv of gun attack on army general in Moscow

AFP | London

A top Russian military intelligence general was shot and wounded in a Moscow apartment building yesterday, in what Russia called an assassination attempt orchestrated by Ukraine.

There was no comment from Kyiv, which has claimed responsibility for several of the high-ranking military officials that have been killed on Russian soil since Moscow launched its full-scale offensive in February 2022.

Vladimir Alekseyev is the deputy head of Moscow’s GRU military intelligence. He is under Western sanctions for his alleged role in cyberattacks and charges that he organised a nerve agent attack on a Russian defector in Britain.

Russian investigators said he was shot by an “unidentified individual” who fled the scene, and was subsequently admitted to hospital.

In televised comments, Russian Foreign Minister Sergei Lavrov accused Ukraine of being behind the “terrorist act”, saying Kyiv wanted to “disrupt the negotiation process” aimed at ending the four-year war.

Alekseyev is the top deputy of Moscow’s main negotiator at trilateral talks with Ukraine and the United States, the latest round of which concluded Thursday in Abu Dhabi.

The Kremlin acknowledged its military leaders were under threat at home while its troops were fighting in Ukraine.

“It is clear that such military leaders and high-level specialists are at risk during wartime,” Kremlin spokesman Dmitry Peskov said.

“But it is not up to the Kremlin to decide how to ensure their safety. That is a matter for the special services.”

He added that Russian President Vladimir Putin was being kept aware of the incident and the Kremlin hoped the general would recover.

Deadly blast hits Islamabad

Suicide blast at Islamabad mosque kills at least 31, wounds over 130

- Suicide bomber detonates at mosque gate
- Deadliest Islamabad attack since 2008 Marriott blast

AFP | Islamabad

A suicide bombing at a mosque in Pakistan's capital Islamabad killed at least 31 people yesterday, according to authorities, with a police source saying more than 130 were wounded.

City officials said 31 people died in the blast at the Imam Bargah Qasr-e-Khadijatul Kubra mosque in the Tarlai area on the city's outskirts.

"The attacker was stopped at the gate and detonated himself," a security source told AFP.

A senior police official said the explosion occurred after Friday prayers, when mosques around the country are packed with worshippers.

The casualty toll was "expected to rise further", he told AFP, speaking on condition of anonymity.

No group immediately claimed responsibility, while Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif said those behind the blast would be found and brought to justice.

South Asia analyst Michael Kugelman said on X that the target suggests it was either the local affiliate of the Islamic State

Security personnel stand guard outside a mosque following an explosion group or other militants.

The attack was the deadliest in the Pakistani capital since September 2008, when 60 people were killed in a suicide truck bomb blast that destroyed part of the five-star Marriott hotel.

Bodies, bloodied clothing, debris

AFP journalists at the Pakistan Institute of Medical Sciences hospital saw several people including children being carried in on stretchers or by their arms and legs.

Medics and bystanders helped unload victims with blood-soaked clothes from the back of ambulances and vehicles. At least one casualty arrived in the boot of a car.

Friends and relatives of the wounded wept and screamed as victims -- dead or alive -- arrived at the hospital's heavily guarded emergency ward.

Another team of AFP journalists saw armed security forces outside the mosque, where pools of blood were visible on the ground.

Yellow crime scene tape surrounded an investigation area, with shoes, clothing and broken glass scattered around the site.

Videos shared on social media, which AFP was not able to verify immediately, showed several bodies lying near the mosque's front gate, with people and debris also strewn across the red-carpeted prayer hall.

Deputy Prime Minister Ishaq Dar branded the attack "a heinous crime against humanity and a blatant violation of Islamic principles".

"Pakistan stands united against terrorism in all its forms," he said in a post on X.

Growing insurgencies

The attack comes as Pakistan's security forces battle intensifying insurgencies in southern and northern provinces that border Afghanistan.

Islamabad has said separatist armed groups in southern Balochistan, and the Pakistani Taliban and other Islamist militants in northern Khyber Pakhtunkhwa province, near Islamabad, have used Afghan territory as a safe haven from which to launch attacks.

Afghanistan's Taliban government has repeatedly denied Pakistan's accusations.

Bilateral relations have plummeted, with forces from both sides regularly clashing along the border.

The last major attack in Islamabad took place in November when a suicide blast outside a court killed 12 people and wounded dozens, the first such incident to hit the capital in nearly three years.

In Balochistan, attacks claimed by separatist insurgents last week killed 36 civilians and 22 security personnel, prompting a wave of counter-operations in which authorities said security forces killed almost 200 militants.

Trump tried to name airport, rail station after himself: US media

AFP | Washington

US President Donald Trump offered to unfreeze federal infrastructure funding if the top Senate Democrat would help rename a major airport and train station after him, US media reported Thursday.

Trump, a real estate mogul who plastered his name on buildings around the world, has sought to leave his mark on the country in an unprecedented image and building campaign.

In December, Trump's hand-picked board of the Kennedy Center, an arts complex and memorial to late president John F. Kennedy, voted to rename itself the "Trump-Kennedy Center."

Meanwhile he has pushed for the construction of an "Independence Arch" similar to the Arc de Triomphe in Paris and launched the construction of a new White House ballroom, tearing down the storied building's East Wing to make way.

But New York's Penn Station and Washington's Dulles International Airport are also in Trump's sights, CNN and NBC reporting. Citing unnamed sources, the outlets reported Trump offered a quid-pro-quo for the held-up funding, meant for a New York infrastructure project, if New York Senator Chuck Schumer agreed to help get the train station and airport named after him.

Schumer rebuffed the offer, the broadcasters reported. CNN reported the offer was made last month.

New York and New Jersey are currently suing for the $16 billion in blocked federal funds, meant to be used for a tunnel connecting them.

Trump posts election conspiracy video with Obamas depicted as monkeys

AFP | Washington

US President Donald Trump on Thursday posted an election conspiracy video that depicted former president Barack Obama and his wife Michelle as monkeys, drawing condemnation from prominent Democrats.

Near the end of a one-minute-long video posted on Trump's Truth Social platform, the Obamas are shown with their faces on the bodies of monkeys for about one second.

The song "The Lion Sleeps Tonight" plays in the background when the Obamas appear.

The video repeats false allegations that ballot-counting company Dominion Voting Systems helped steal the 2020 election from Trump.

As of early yesterday morning, the video had been liked several thousand times on the president's social media platform.

The office of California Governor Gavin Newsom, a potential 2028 Democratic presidential candidate and a prominent Trump critic, slammed the post.

"Disgusting behavior by the President. Every single Republican must denounce this. Now," Newsom's press office account posted on X.

Ben Rhodes, a former top national security advisor and close confidant to Barack Obama, also condemned the imagery.

"Let it haunt Trump and his racist followers that future Americans will embrace the Obamas as beloved figures while studying him as a stain on our history," he wrote on X.

Obama is the only Black president in American history and backed Trump's opponent Kamala Harris on the campaign trail in the 2024 presidential election.

In the first year of his second term in the White House, Trump ramped up his use of hyper-realistic but fabricated visuals on Truth Social and other platforms, often glorifying himself while lampooning his critics.

He has used the provocative posts to rally his conservative base.

Emma Stone ‘too afraid’ of her ‘own mental health’ to launch own Instagram account

Bang Showbiz | Los Angeles

Emma Stone is “too afraid” of her “own mental health” to launch an Instagram account. The 37-year-old actress much prefers being a “lurker” and looking at other people’s content rather than creating a profile on the photo-sharing site in her name. Asked if she would ever start a lifestyle website, she told Rolling Stone magazine: “One hundred percent no. “That’s why I don’t even have Instagram. I’m too afraid of my own mental health to be engaged in that way, and that’s why I’m such a lurker and love following other people’s stuff.” The Bugonia star is to feature in a brand-new commercial for Squarespace, in which the company helps her to acquire her own website domain name. A 30-second version of Emma’s Squarespace ad will air between the first and second quarters of Super Bowl LX on Sunday. Filming the commercial led to Emma wondering why she hadn’t bought her own website name beforehand, and the star admitted it was a “lack of foresight” on her part. She said: “I don’t know what I never actually did that.

Squarespace kind of had to deal with my lack of foresight. “So I’m very grateful they did or else the commercial really would not have worked. “It would have been weird if you went to EmmaStone.com and it was ... I don’t even know what might have been going on over there.”

Elton John accuses UK tabloids publisher of ‘abhorrent’ privacy breaches

Elton John
AFP | London

Pop icon Elton John yesterday accused the publisher of two UK tabloids of “abhorrent” privacy invasions “outside even the most basic standards of human decency” as he testified at London’s High Court. Giving evidence in the joint legal action against Associated Newspapers Ltd (ANL) -- the publisher of the Daily Mail and The Mail on Sunday -- John claimed the papers had unlawfully accessed his and his family’s medical records. Other complainants in the case include Prince Harry, King Charles III’s younger son, and actor Liz Hurley. “I have found The Mail’s deliberate invasion into my medical health and medical details surrounding the birth of our son Zachary abhorrent and outside even the most basic standards of human decency,” John wrote in a witness statement released as he began testifying by video link. Wearing a green blazer and purple tie, the 78-year-old musician who has a rocky relationship with British tabloids appeared furious while giving evidence. He and his husband David Furnish -- who testified on Thursday -- accuse the UK publisher of using unlawful means to gather information used in 10 articles between 2000 and 2015. ANL has strongly denied claims made against its journalism calling them “lurid” and “preposterous”. Hurley, a friend of the couple, and Prince Harry each took the stand in the first two weeks of the trial. The seven claimants suing ANL also include actor Sadie Frost, and two other public figures. The case “contains the most horrendous things in the world that you can ever suffer from a privacy point of view,” John told the trial, which is in its third week and expected to last until March. The “Rocket Man” singer alleged that all three of the family’s landlines “were hacked, including the junction box at the end of the road”.

Jennifer Garner bit a stunt performer’s ear

Bang Showbiz | Los Angeles

Jennifer Garner once bit a portion of a stunt performer’s ear off. The 53-year-old actress has revealed that she accidentally injured a stunt performer while filming The Kingdom, the 2007 action thriller film that also featured Jamie Foxx and Chris Cooper. The Hollywood star told reporters: “Pete Berg, who was the director, told him to try to kill me. We did not have a lot of choreography, and he told me to do anything I could to survive. He did, and I did, and I ended up scrambling onto his back. I bit his ear, and we have a picture of him missing a chunk of ear, because we were not kidding.” Jennifer likened her ear bite to boxer Mike Tyson biting a chunk out of Evander Holyfield’s ear back in 1997. The actress jokingly added: “Don’t make me mad. I seem nice. I’ve warned you before.” Meanwhile, Jennifer previously revealed that she got stuck in an elevator for more than an hour at San Diego Comic-Con in 2024. The actress confessed via social media that she spent more than an hour waiting to be rescued during the event. Jennifer explained on Instagram: “Hey, guys, we’re stuck on this elevator [and] I could use a Wolverine; I could use a Deadpool. I could use someone [and] we’re looking for stairs. OK, thanks for having us here. My first Comic Con!” Jennifer attended the event for the first time after she starred in the superhero movie Deadpool and Wolverine. And in one of her Instagram updates, Jennifer joked about her own misfortune as she waited to be rescued. The actress - who was previously married to fellow film star Ben Affleck - said: “I’m schvitzzy [and] I need to blot. ‘Don’t cut the blue wire’ is what we’re hearing. “I think I heard on an episode of ‘The Office’ or ‘Brooklyn Nine-Nine’ or something that you’re supposed to sit, so we’re sitting.”

Justin Bieber didn’t tell Grammys bosses he planned to perform in his underpants

Justin Bieber performs onstage during the 68th GRAMMY Awards

Bang Showbiz | Los Angeles

Justin Bieber didn’t tell bosses at the Grammy Awards he planned to perform in his underpants. The 31-year-old pop star was among the performers at the glitzy prizegiving in Los Angeles on Sunday night (01.02.26) and he stunned the audience at the Crypto.com Arena by walking out on stage wearing nothing but a pair of satin boxer shorts made by his fashion brand SKYLRK and a pair of socks. Bieber’s fashion choice also surprised organisers because the singer didn’t tell anyone about his plan. During an appearance on the Rolling Stone Music Now podcast, Grammy Awards executive producer Ben Winston said: “I don’t think he decided what the outfit would be until he walked on stage. “He’s not even really going: ‘This is what I’m going to do’. When we had got reached out to him about his creative, he was just like, I’m just going to get on stage and sing.” Winston went on to reveal the Baby star didn’t need much rehearsal time for the performance - only taking 15 minutes out of his allotted 90 minutes. He explained: “It was brilliant. We are seven minutes into his hour-and-a-half rehearsal. And he goes: ‘How’d it look to you? You happy with it?’

Kristen Stewart is ‘HAUNTED’ by Princess Diana and any thought of late royal leaves actress in tears

Bang Showbiz | Los Angeles

Kristen Stewart feels “haunted” by Princess Diana, and the mere thought of the late royal leaves her in tears “at any moment”. The 35-year-old actress and director portrayed the late Princess of Wales - who died in a car accident in Paris in 1997, aged 36 - in 2021 psychological drama film Spencer, and now whenever Kristen thinks about Diana she becomes emotional. Kristen also told how she cannot drive around London or Paris without thoughts of Diana invading her mind. Speaking about being “haunted” by Diana, she told the Daily Telegraph newspaper: “I still am. “I can’t drive round this city, and Paris for that matter, without thinking about her. All the love that poured out of this woman... I can cry about her at any moment.” The 5ft 5in American star thought Spencer director Pablo Larrañ was “insane” for casting her as the British royal, and he pleaded with the filmmaker to cast someone else - but he refused. She added: “I told Pablo he was insane and he should probably hire someone else, but he refused to accept that. “There were some massive distinctions between her and me. “It was the statuesque thing

It was the eye colour - I have green eyes; she has very famously blue eyes that match her ring. “So I was like, ‘Should we make the engagement ring green, then?’ “[They] were pulling me under and Pablo was like, ‘You really must detach from those things - this is about spirit.’ “

India captain admits ‘there will be nerves’ at home T20 World Cup

Suryakumar admits pressure but promises entertainment

● India face USA in World Cup opener today in Mumbai

AFP | New Delhi

India captain Suryakumar Yadav admitted yesterday “there will be nerves” when India open their T20 World Cup campaign in front of more than 30,000 fanatical home supporters in Mumbai, but vowed to give them “entertainment”.

The co-hosts start their Group A campaign against the United States at a packed Wankhede stadium on Saturday night.

Suryakumar is only too aware that India, the top-ranked T20 team in the world, are overwhelming favourites to retain their title .

But he said his team will try to feed off the positive vibes from a billion-plus home supporters and not be crushed by the huge weight of expectation.

“When you’re playing at home there is always an added pressure. I’m not running away from the fact,” Suryakumar told reporters ahead of India’s final training session yesterday.

“To be honest, there will be nerves, there will be pressure, but if you see the positive side of it, there’ll be a lot of cheer around.

“There’s so many people coming to watch in the stadiums, I’ve told my boys the same thing, 30,000-35,000 people coming and so many watching at home.

India know that their opening opponents, the United States, caused the biggest upset of the 2024 tournament when they beat Pakistan in a super over, and Suryakumar said no team would be taken lightly.

“I don’t see any weak teams in the competition. All 20 teams are very much capable of playing some good cricket,” he said.

Teen Suryavanshi smashes 175 as India win Under-19 World Cup final

AFP | Harare

Fourteen-year-old prodigy Vaibhav Suryavanshi hammered a stunning 175 from just 80 balls as India thumped England by 100 runs in the Under-19 ODI World Cup final in Harare yesterday.

Suryavanshi, who has already made history by becoming the youngest player to post a century in the Indian Premier League, lashed 15 fours and 15 sixes in his innings which saw him score his last 151 runs from just 56 balls.

The left-handed opener was finally caught behind by England captain Thomas Rew off Manny Lumsden to leave India on 251-3 in the 26th over. They closed their 50 overs on 411-9.

England launched a spirited attempt at making the runs with opener Ben Dawkins making 66 and middle-order batter Caleb

Falconer was last man out, superbly caught by Khilan Patel, with England all out for 311 in vanshi who was named player of the match and player of the tournament, having finished with 439 runs in seven innings at 62.71.

Suryavanshi launched himself on to the international scene in 2024 as a 13-year-old with a 58-ball century against Australia in his Under-19 debut.

Picked up by Rajasthan Royals, Suryavanshi then announced himself on the world stage by belting his first ball fearlessly for six on his IPL debut.

Nine days later, he clubbed the Gujarat Titans bowlers to all parts as he scored the second fastest hundred in tournament history.

The teenager brought up his century off 35 balls with 11 sixes and seven fours to stand behind only West Indies great Chris Gayle, who took 30 balls to make a ton in 2013.

Guardiola lauds Haaland as ‘world’s best striker’ but won’t confirm Liverpool start

AFP | London

Pep Guardiola insisted Erling Haaland is the “best striker in the world” despite refusing to confirm if the misfiring Manchester City star will start Sunday’s crucial clash with Liverpool.

Haaland has scored just twice in his last 12 appearances, and Guardiola elected to drop him to the bench for City’s 3-1 win over Newcastle in the League Cup semi-final second leg on Wednesday.

He has suffered a significant loss of form after scoring 19 goals in 14 games in all competitions in a blistering start to the season that included become the fastest player to reach 100 Premier League goals.

City have subsequently struggled during Haaland’s dip, falling six points behind Premier League leaders Arsenal.

The Norwegian scored when City beat Liverpool 3-0 earlier this season, but Guardiola would not reveal if he will feature against Arne Slot’s side this weekend.

King’s Cup last eight confirmed

Hussain Almaskati
TDT | Manama

HM The King’s Cup round-of-16 continued on Thursday as A’ali and Al Ahli stormed into the quarter-finals, completing the line-up for Bahrain’s premier domestic knockout tournament.

At Shaikh Ali Bin Mohammed bin Isa Al Khalifa Stadium, A’ali put on a clinical display to see off Al Najma 2–0. Yazid Abdul-Ilah broke the deadlock in the 31st minute, slotting home from close range after a blocked corner rebound. Minutes into the second half, Diego Cardoso doubled the lead with a crisp finish from a perfectly weighted pass by Englishman Lyton Ndukwu. Despite further chances at both ends, A’ali’s defence held firm, though their upcoming clash with holders Al Khaldiya promises a sterner test.

Meanwhile, at Khalifa Sports City Stadium, Al Ahli survived a tense penalty shootout against Budaiya after a goalless 90 minutes. Rodrigo Varanda calmly converted the opening spot-kick, and Hamed Junior Toure scored the decisive penalty, while goalkeeper Sayed Shubbar Alawi

Russian Players Dominate Junior ITF Last-16 in Bahrain

TDT | Manama

Russian players dominated the round of 16 at the ITF junior tennis tournament in Bahrain, where local player Ahmed Al Sayed saw his campaign end after a straight-sets loss to Russia’s sixth seed Nikita Davidovsky.

Top seed Javier Montes Jimenez of Spain continued his strong run, defeating Russia’s Demyan Medvedev 6-3, 6-2 to reinforce his status among the title favourites. Russia’s Andrey Li also advanced convincingly with a 6-4, 6-1 win over Switzerland’s Ben Neiveller, while Sergei Bankov beat Lebanon’s seventh seed Rami Saouli 6-2, 7-5 in another closely contested match.

In the girls’ singles, Turkey’s Asya Ay cruised past Kristina Danko 6-0, 6-3 to reach the quarter-finals. Russia’s Maria Kovaleva and Stefania Kadzova also progressed with solid wins, while Sofia Bizyanova completed a strong Russian showing by defeating compatriot Elena Titova 6-3, 6-3.

Ahli book quarter-final place with second straight win

Hussain Almaskati
TDT | Manama

Bahrain’s Al Ahli secured their place in the quarter-finals of the 4th WAVA Men’s Clubs Volleyball Championship yesterday with a straight-sets victory over Lebanon’s CJS Batroun in Kuwait City. The Group B contest, held at the Kuwaiti Volleyball Federation Hall, ended 3–0 in Al Ahli’s favour, with set scores of 25–19, 25–21, 25–21. This result lifts the Bahraini side to six points from two matches, while Batroun remain without a point after suffering back-to-back defeats.

The opening set was finely balanced at 18–18 before Al Ahli asserted control with solid blocking, with Sayed Mohammed Al Abbar finishing it with a composed spike. The second set followed a similar script, as Al Ahli’s defence forced errors from Batroun, allowing Al Abbar to close it out again. In the third set, Al Ahli raced to a 14–6 lead, and despite a late fightback to 22–20, two double-touch calls sealed the match.

The win guarantees Al Ahli

Meanwhile, Bahrain’s other representative, Dar Kulaib, made a winning start in Group C on Thursday, coming back from a set down to beat Oman’s Al Seeb 3–1 (31–33, 25–15, 25–20, 25–16).

The team, coached by Ivan Joksimovic and featuring stand-out performers Enock Mogeni, Mahmoud Abdulwahed, Ali Marhoon, and Ali Habib, dominated the last three sets after a closely contested opener. They return to action today at 4 PM against Kuwait’s Burgan SC.

The championship features 11 clubs from across the region, with the top two from each group, plus the two best third-placed sides, advancing to the quarter-finals.

The tournament also serves as a qualifier for the 2026 Asian Volleyball Confederation Men’s Champions League in Indonesia.

Hazlewood out of T20 World Cup in fresh blow to Australia

AFP | Sydney

Fast bowler Josh Hazlewood was yesterday ruled out of the T20 World Cup after failing to recover from hamstring and Achilles injuries in another setback for Australia.

The 35-year-old missed the entire Ashes series against England and has not played any cricket since November.

Earlier this week, Cricket Australia said he would miss the initial stages of the tournament with Sean Abbott called up as cover.

But yesterday they conceded Hazlewood had “run out of time” to be fit for the event which begins in India and Sri Lanka on Saturday.

“We were hopeful Josh would be back to match fitness by the Super Eight stage,” said selector Tony Dodemaide.
