My Next Guest Needs No Introduction with David Letterman ft. Shah Rukh Khan

As a host, he's been chatting with celebrities for over 33 years. Now older, with less of a bite, he meets Shah Rukh Khan for his Netflix show, My Next Guest Needs No Introduction. Shah Rukh Khan definitely needs no introduction, and when he came on Netflix's talk show hosted by legend, David Letterman, it was like two legends meeting. What makes Shah Rukh Khan the magnanimous personality that he is isn't just the fact that his fans like his movies, but his fans actually like the person that he is – visible in every single public interaction that he is in. His charm, wit, intelligence and his genuineness makes him incredibly likable. And if you've watched any Shah Rukh Khan interview ever, this one is his best yet. In an hour-long conversation with Letterman, we meet SRK like never before. We learn things about him that we didn't know. Speaking with extreme candor, SRK speaks about everything under the sun – his relationship with his parents, his marriage, his children, his career, even his opinions on world politics. We learn that Shah Rukh Khan once used to loiter through Bombay beaches to woo Gauri Khan. He tells us with utmost flair about his newfound love for cooking. He tells us how his son Aryan will not follow his steps and become an actor. With each revelation, he sweeps us off our feet. The episode also includes never seen before footage of Letterman's visit to India where he visited Mannat. We see the King up close and personal in his very own space. In the end, Letterman explains how Shah Rukh might just be his favorite guest – and we couldn't agree more. For diehard fans, the episode is a complete treat. For non-diehard fans, you might just fall in love with him after this one. You have been warned! a quality guilty thrill. Mindhunter is available on Netflix.

Lamb Mandi at Sama Deraty, Riffa, Bahrain

Another Mandi place visited, this time in Riffa, Bahrain. We drove past "Sama Deraty" on our way to another restaurant but ended up coming back here since the other places were closed. With my fellow foodies, we decided to go all out and ordered 2 portions of the Lamb Mandi. The Mandi was decadent, garnished with fried almonds and onions and the meat looked scrumptious.

It was my friend's first time having Mandi and this place did justice to the dish. It was well worth the money. If you ever pass by this place, don't forget to stop and try it out!

Missing Pets

Have You Seen These Beloved Pets?

BE SURE to microchip your pets and have them wear collars with ID tags ...

The incidents of pets going missing/stolen is very prevalent in Bahrain, especially pedigrees. Hundreds have gone missing - never to be found. Some people let their pets free-roam, but there are just too many hazards. If you have a secured pet (one that does not free-roam) that has gone missing and you would like to be included in the Programme, please check Lost, stolen and found pets in Bahrain Facebook for the information needed. Contact Peg Altemueller directly via private message or email ampmpa2@yahoo.com.
