‘Criminal offence’

Renting out commercial registrations is ‘commercial concealment’, lawyer warns

Mohammed Darwish
TD | Manama

Renting out a commercial registration in exchange for a monthly payment is not a harmless side deal but a criminal offence known as “commercial concealment”, Bahraini lawyer Jassim Al Issa has warned in an interview with The Daily Tribune.

“This relationship is not a lease arrangement involving the commercial registration. It is regarded as an offence, described under Bahraini law as commercial concealment,” Al Issa said.

He described the practice as allowing a foreigner to run a business under a Bahraini’s name while the Bahraini collects money without real involvement.

Al Issa said the authorities can act against both sides of the arrangement, meaning the foreign party running the business and the Bahraini individual or company providing the cover, with measures that can include suspending or cancelling the registration and shutting the premises until the status is corrected.

“The ministry may act against those engaging in commercial concealment by administratively closing the commercial premises until the legal status of the commercial registration is rectified,” he said.

Al Issa pointed to penalties set out in Decree-Law No. 1 of 1987 concerning certain provisions related to the sale and lease of commercial premises, saying repeat offences can bring jail time, a fine, and removal from the commercial register.

Imprisonment

He said reoffending can be punished by imprisonment for up to a year and a fine of up to BD1,000, or one of the two, alongside striking off the registration and closing the premises where the violation took place.

The lawyer said the practice is treated as a crime because commercial activity is granted to the registered merchant and is not meant to be passed on to someone else.

The offence, he added, is made out when a Bahraini enables a non-Bahraini to carry out commercial activity that the non-Bahraini is barred from practising, while the foreign party controls the business in reality.

Al Issa said Bahrain has stepped up oversight through inspections and information-sharing between agencies, and that penalties may extend to deportation for foreigners involved.

He also pushed back against the idea that collecting modest monthly sums makes a person a “business owner”, arguing the wider harm falls on the market and on small traders.

The lawyer said commercial concealment can curb economic growth, distort fair competition, and weaken service quality when the real operator of a business is hidden behind paperwork.

Al Issa said the practice can also leave consumers and suppliers dealing with blurred responsibility, while enabling non-Bahrainis to corner certain activities through front arrangements that appear compliant on paper but are not so in practice.

Her Excellency Ms. Asako Okai, Ambassador of Japan to Bahrain

As 2026 brings renewed pressure on the foundations of international law amid geopolitical rivalry, technological disruption, and transnational risks, Japan warns that unilateralism and coercion are eroding the norms essential to global stability. In conversation with Mahir Haneef, Her Excellency Ms. Asako Okai, Ambassador of Japan to Bahrain, outlines why diplomacy, multilateral cooperation, and responsible governance of emerging technologies remain indispensable to safeguarding peace, trust, and shared prosperity.

As we embark on 2026, humanity faces a critical juncture. International law and humanitarian principles, diligently built over a century, now face the unsettling reality of their very foundations being threatened. The global landscape is complex and volatile, marked by unilateral attempts to alter the status quo by force, erosion of the rule of law, reliance on coercion over dialogue, and widening geopolitical divides. Thus, diplomacy must be reaffirmed as the only sustainable path to peace and stability.

Beyond geopolitics, escalating climate change, cyber threats, disinformation, and the destabilizing potential of non-state actors continue to threaten societal stability and trust. Concurrently, rapid technological advancements, especially in AI, offer immense opportunities, yet their development must be responsibly guided to address ethical concerns, privacy, and potential misuse, such as in autonomous weapon systems. Faced with these multifaceted and transnational issues, it is clear that no single nation can address them alone; robust international cooperation and multilateralism are therefore indispensable frameworks for collective action.

Open and inclusive global economic systems, fostering equitable growth, are necessary. While geopolitical pressures necessitate supply chain reorientations, upholding free trade principles remains vital. These shifts must strengthen, not undermine, the foundations of an open global economy, ensuring exchange and innovation thrive.

The Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), unanimously adopted at the UN in 2015, powerfully testify to humanity's capacity for collective ambition. Though their 2030 achievement faces challenges, these foundational goals must not be discarded. Their critical state makes their principles even more vital, urging us to recall this spirit of unity and transform pledges into tangible action.

Against this backdrop, Bahrain, a champion of international law and peaceful co-existence, stands as a reliable partner, now serving at the UN Security Council. Japan remains resolute in its commitment to a rules-based international order, dialogue, and multilateralism. This stems from its profound dedication to peace and consistent efforts to uphold the rule of law at every level. Japan has also long provided development cooperation genuinely tailored to the needs of its partners. Through such concerted, mutually respectful efforts, we must collectively forge a future where peace and prosperity prevail for all.

Drug trafficking suspect arrested in sting operation

● In possession of narcotic substances

Rehab Mohammad

Based on confidential intelligence and close security surveillance, a case involving the possession and trafficking of narcotics has been referred to the courts after suspects were arrested following a pre-arranged sting operation.

The High Criminal Court is set to examine the case.

Investigations indicate that information received from confidential sources confirmed that the suspects were in possession of narcotic substances with the intent to sell and use them.

This intelligence led to the issuance of arrest and search warrants by the competent authorities.

Contact

A confidential source managed to establish contact with one of the suspects, who agreed to sell narcotics for 400 dinars, with a time and place for the exchange agreed upon.

At the appointed time, the source proceeded to the location under discreet surveillance by the arrest team.

Contact was made with the suspect, who arrived shortly thereafter. He was apprehended after identifying himself, and police officers carried out the arrest.

A search of the suspect's vehicle led to the seizure of four bottles containing liquid narcotics.

A subsequent search of his residence uncovered 160 plastic containers filled with liquid narcotics, another large container of narcotic substances, 51 empty containers believed to have been used for repackaging drugs, two bank cards, and a sum of cash.

During questioning by the Public Prosecution, the suspect admitted to drug use, stating that the seized items found in the vehicle and residence belonged to him.

Rental fraud

Man accused of renting generator using stolen ID card and forged contract

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

An advert selling an electric generator online put a Bahraini man in the dock, accused of renting the machine using someone else's ID card and a forged hire contract, the High Criminal Court heard.

Prosecutors said the defendant, 33, used a valid identity card belonging to another person during September and October 2025 to get equipment from a construction hire shop.

He is accused of signing the shop's rental agreement while posing as the cardholder, using a forged signature, and then handing the paperwork back to the business as if it were genuine.

Delivery

The shop manager told the court the man first rented a generator and asked for it to be delivered to East Riffa.

After the delivery, the customer handed the workers a copy of an ID card, the witness said.

The next day, the same man ordered another generator to be delivered to a different address, according to the manager.

This time, the ID card given to staff carried another name.

Sale

Days later, on 3 October, the manager said he spotted an online advert offering a generator for sale and believed it matched the one hired out on the second order.

A report was filed at a police station and an inquiry began.

Investigators later recovered the generator and confirmed it belonged to the shop, prosecutors said.

Contract

One of the shop's workers identified the defendant as the man who received the generator on both occasions, saying that on the second visit an ID card belonging to someone else was produced and the customer signed the hire contract under that person's name.

The court has adjourned the case until 11 January.

Bahraini accused of torching friend's motorcycles faces fate

● Court verdict set for 10 February

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

A 42-year-old Bahraini man accused of setting fire to his friend's motorcycles will be sentenced, or cleared, on 10 February after the High Criminal Court held the case for judgment and kept him in custody.

Prosecutors say he lit a fire in moveable property owned by a friend in a way that could have put people and property at risk.

The defendant denies it. He has told the court the blaze started by accident while he was smoking a cigarette.

Intent

His lawyer, Reem Al Mahhari, asked the court to acquit him, arguing that intent had not been proven and that the file contained no sure proof that her client meant to start a fire or cause damage.

As a fallback, she asked the court to show mercy and, if it convicts, to impose the lowest penalty allowed under Articles 73 and 81.

Al Mahhari pointed to a Civil Defence report dated 24 November 2025, which said two motorcycles and part of a house wall were damaged by fire and smoke.

The report suggested the blaze was likely started by someone, but did not name that person, which the defence said leaves the charge unproven.

Accounts

She also challenged the witness accounts, telling the court that one witness spoke of seeing a person set the motorcycles alight outside the home but did not give a description or identify the accused.

She said police enquiries, as recorded in the case papers, did not produce extra information that supports the allegation, and that her client has denied the charge throughout questioning and in court.

The prosecution's case centres on CCTV footage and witness statements.

Arabic language check required for all adverts

H.E. Wael Al Mubarak

Dr Ebtisam Al Dalal

● Advertising licences processed online on Ministry website

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

Advertising permits are issued through an online system and decided by a specialist committee, the Minister of Municipalities Affairs and Agriculture, His Excellency Wael Al Mubarak, has told the Shura Council, saying 18 staff process applications across all municipalities.

Replying in writing to Shura Council member Dr Ebtisam Al Dalal, Al Mubarak said applications are filed through the ministry's website or the national eGovernment portal, then checked to ensure the required details and papers are in place, including the advertising content.

The file is then sent to the Advertising Committee, which rules on acceptance or refusal. Fees are paid after approval.

Applications

"Advertising licences are processed through applications submitted via the approved electronic system on the Ministry's website, or through the national eGovernment portal," he said.

The minister said the 18 staff sit in services licensing sections and handle the review, follow-up and oversight of adverts under the rules in force.

He added that each municipality also has five staff in its inspection and monitoring section tasked with overseeing advertisements.

He said the key requirements for a permit include the type of advert, where it will be placed, its size, and the details of the advertising company.

Requirements

Licences are usually issued within an average of five working days from the date an application is submitted, provided it meets the full requirements.

Adverts are also checked for language when they reach the committee, Al Mubarak said, with Arabic required to be correct before clearance is given.

"The advertising content is linguistically reviewed when presented to the Advertising Committee, with an emphasis on adherence to correct Arabic before approval is granted," he said.

Coordination

On coordination with other bodies, the minister said the Advertising Committee was formed under Decree-Law No. 14 of 1973 on the Regulation of Advertisements and its executive rules, issued under Decision No. 2 of 1977 and later amended.

The committee brings together the relevant parties, studies applications and gives a technical view, while some requests are sent to service bodies for review.

Amendments

Al Mubarak said the ministry has submitted two draft amendments to the current law to the legislative authority to match current conditions and changes in commercial and advertising activity.

The aim, he said, is to improve the look of cities and make licensing procedures faster and more orderly.

He added that the ministry would continue working with the Shura Council on matters that fall within its remit.

The Southern Municipal Council has backed a proposal to ban damas trees (Conocarpus) from homes and residential neighbourhoods in the Southern Governorate.

The council will write to the Minister of Municipalities Affairs and Agriculture to consider introducing the restriction.

Councillors approved the proposal at their meeting yesterday.

Vote

It was submitted by council member Abdullah Darraj, and passed by unanimous vote.

“Despite their benefits, we have received many complaints from residents,” Darraj told the council as he presented the case for a ban on planting the trees in housing areas.

The proposal focused on the tree’s roots, saying they tend

Drivers jailed and fined for illegal street race in Zallaq

TDT | Manama

The Attorney General, Head of the Traffic Prosecution, announced that the Minor Criminal Court has handed down sentences in a case involving an illegal street race.

The court ruled that the first defendant will serve one month in prison and pay a fine of BD1,000, while the second defendant will serve six months in prison and pay a BD1,000 fine.

Both vehicles involved in the incident were also ordered to be confiscated.

According to official reports, the Public Prosecution received a complaint from the General Directorate of Traffic regarding a high-speed race between two vehicles on Bahrain Bay Street in the Zallaq area.

The drivers allegedly exceeded the legally prescribed speed in a manner that posed a serious risk to both lives and property.

During questioning, they admitted to the charges.

Following a thorough review of the evidence, the Public Prosecution referred the case to the competent court, which issued the sentencing as described.

National elements are mandatory, with teams required to

They underlined the need for structural stability and safe materials, warning against any installations that could endanger participants or spectators.

The Ministry also encouraged the use of recycled materials in decoration as part of a wider push towards sustainability.

Teams must meet submission and participation deadlines, attend preparation sessions, and coordinate closely with organisers on execution.

Participants are also expected to handle key logistics such as display vehicles, energy sources, and sound systems to ensure the presentation runs smoothly on the day.

In line with efforts to strengthen the national data framework and improve labour market indicators, the Information & eGovernment Authority (iGA) announced the launch of the 2026 Labour Force Survey (LFS), which will be conducted from January to December 2026.

Targeting a random sample of more than 8,000 households across the Kingdom’s governorates, the study aims to collect comprehensive data on the Kingdom of Bahrain’s labour market, including information on occupational structure and the economic activities of the employed population. The data will be compiled according to the standards and recommendations of the International Labour Organisation (ILO), allowing for regional and international comparability.

A higher ceiling

Southern Municipal Council backs BD13,000 cap for home renovation aid

TDT | Manama

BD13,000 could become the new upper limit for renovation support under the Cities and Villages Development Project.

The Southern Municipal Council voted yesterday to write to the Minister of Municipalities Affairs and Agriculture, urging a change to the project’s guidance manual.

The council backed, unanimously, a proposal from Mohammed Darraj, the member for the Fourth Constituency, to lift the cap from BD10,000 to BD13,000, or less, but only in exceptional cases.

Darraj told the council: “The expected actual cost of carrying out the works has become higher than the amount estimated and approved in the first phase. There is a need to complete the project without placing additional burdens on citizens. Citizens rely on limited salaries, which makes them unable to cover any additional costs.”

Under the proposal, the higher ceiling would apply only when extra works are needed because of the scale of damage and rising costs, subject to a decision by the project’s Exceptions Committee.

Darraj said the extra amount would also help with items that can sit outside the main renovation schedule, including fees to issue permits, engineering drawings and other additional works linked to the job.

He linked the request to the aim of the Cities and Villages Development Project’s renovation and rain insulation service, which targets safe and suitable housing for low-income citizens, with the aim of raising housing standards across the Kingdom.

In its recommendation, the council referred to provisions in the Municipalities Law and its executive regulations that allow municipal councils to propose local projects and follow up services within their remit, while co-ordinating with the relevant authorities.

The proposal also notes that the “houses at risk of collapse” project has been stopped since 2012, leaving some urgent cases relying on renovation support despite the scale of damage in some homes.

Vehicle embezzlement and impersonation case

TDT | Manama

In a further connected case, the loss of ID cards inside a vehicle led to the uncovering of a broader fraud and vehicle embezzlement scheme.

The suspect had used an identity belonging to a detainee serving a sentence at a rehabilitation centre to rent a vehicle, which he failed to return.

The rightful owner of the ID later confirmed that he had neither rented the vehicle nor signed the contract, and that his card had been stolen.

Signatures

Forensic examination established that the suspect had forged the signatures on the rental agreement, and financial investigations confirmed that payments for the vehicle rental were made using a phone number registered in the suspect’s name.

The Public Prosecution charged the defendant in 2025 with using forged official documents, impersonation, fraud, document forgery, misuse of a forged document, vehicle theft and causing financial damage to the rightful owner.

The High Criminal Court set 10 February as the date for issuing its verdict, with the defendant remaining in custody.

Lenovo unveils AI agent to bridge PCs, phones and wearables at CES

AFP | Las Vegas, United States

Lenovo, the world's top PC maker, unveiled its own AI assistant Tuesday at the CES tech show in Las Vegas, promising a tool that follows users seamlessly across laptops, smartphones and connected devices.

The Beijing-based company commanded 28 percent of global PC market share in the third quarter of 2025, ahead of rivals HP at 21.5 percent and Dell at 14.5 percent, according to US research firm Gartner.

Lenovo's new artificial intelligence agent, dubbed Qira, is designed as an autonomous interface capable of performing tasks rather than simply generating content on demand, a move Lenovo hopes will showcase the breadth of its product portfolio. Unlike rivals focused on single categories, Lenovo was the only major manufacturer whose offering spanned laptops, tablets and smartphones -- under its Motorola brand, acquired in 2014 -- as well as servers and even supercomputers.

The company also unveiled prototypes of connected glasses and an AI-powered pendant, still in testing, that captures "important moments" with user consent by recording conversations, said Motorola's Angelina Gomez.

Codenamed the AI Perceptive Companion, the pendant features a microphone and camera and "sees what you see and hears what your hear," Lenovo vice president Luca Rossi told reporters.

An interaction with Qira can start via the pendant, continue on a smartphone and end on a laptop, with the agent retaining user context across devices.

It can summarize the highlights of a user's day, draft and send emails, or even select photos from archives to post on social media.

Lenovo stressed it is not positioning Qira as a rival to Microsoft's Copilot and announced the integration of Copilot into Motorola smartphones.

News in brief

◆ The United States should pressure Russia by “carrying out some sort of operation” to remove Chechen head Ramzan Kadyrov from power, just like it did with Venezuelan leader Nicolas Maduro, Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky said yesterday. In comments to journalists, Zelensky said the operation to remove Maduro showed that Washington had the power to influence Moscow if it really wished, arguing that deposing Kadyrov would make Russian President Vladimir Putin “think twice” about his ongoing offensive on Ukraine. US special forces snatched Maduro and his wife from Caracas last Saturday, shocking Washington’s allies and drawing condemnation from Venezuela’s partner Moscow. Kadyrov, the leader of Russia’s Muslim-majority region of Chechnya since 2007, is one of Putin’s most vocal supporters and sent thousands of soldiers to fight in Ukraine.

A Hamas official told AFP that the Palestinian Islamist movement’s armed wing, the Ezzedine al-Qassam Brigades, “accompanied by Red Cross teams, are resuming today search operations for the body of the last Israeli captive in the Zeitun neighbourhood in southeastern Gaza City.” Another official said that search operations had been suspended over the past two weeks due to stormy weather and heavy rain, which had prevented excavators and other machinery from reaching Zeitun. “The search operations resumed today, and we hope to recover the body to close the exchange file,” the official added, urging pressure on Israel to complete the first stage of the ceasefire agreement and open the Rafah border crossing between Gaza and Egypt.

‘Never expected this’: Creator of viral AI Maduro image comes forward

AFP | Washington, United States

The man who created an AI-generated image of Nicolas Maduro that went viral has come forward, telling AFP he was shocked the fake racked up millions of views online.

The image depicting Maduro flanked by US forces exploded across social media after Washington seized the Venezuelan leader and his wife in a raid on Caracas on Saturday. Many posts called it the first photo of Maduro in custody.

But the X user who first posted the image, who goes by Ian Weber and describes himself as an “AI video art enthusiast” based in Spain, told AFP in an exclusive interview that he used Nano Banana Pro, an image generator within Google’s Gemini, to create it.

“I never expected this to become the most shared picture worldwide,” he said Tuesday in a series of direct messages on X, where his account has fewer than 100 followers.

As the news broke, Weber gave the image generator a simple prompt, according to a screenshot of the chat shared with AFP. Translated from Spanish, it read: “Nicolas Maduro detained by American assault forces. Put granular photo.” He cropped out the Gemini watermark and posted the result on X within 20 minutes of US President Donald

Representative image

Trump announcing the operation on Truth Social.

“I just wanted to see if an account on X with fewer than 78 followers at the time could make a picture go viral organically,” he told AFP.

Almost immediately, it did. Weber watched as users asked Grok, Elon Musk’s AI tool, to verify the image. In some cases, the chatbot responded that it was authentic.

Prominent accounts misrepresented the image, and further manipulated versions soon spread online.

“That was when the avalanche began,” Weber said. “Everyone was suddenly desperate to publish the first picture of his arrest.”

AFP and other news agencies quickly debunked the fake, noting that Gemini said it contained a SynthID, an invisible watermark attached to AI content created using Google’s tools.

Trump says doubts ‘NATO would be there for us’ if needed

US leader added that the NATO member countries are “all my friends”

● Russia and China have “zero fear of NATO” without the United States

AFP | Washington, United States

US President Donald Trump, whose renewed threats to seize Greenland from NATO member Denmark have rattled the transatlantic alliance, said yesterday he doubted allies would “be there for us if we really needed them.”

“We will always be there for NATO, even if they won’t be there for us,” he wrote on his Truth Social platform, a day after the White House said it was not ruling out military intervention to acquire Greenland.

In his post, Trump repeated his frequent assertion that many members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization had failed to meet military spending commitments until he intervened.

“The USA was, foolishly, paying for them! I, respectfully, got them to 5% GDP, AND THEY PAY, immediately,” he wrote.

But the US leader added that the NATO member countries are “all my friends.”

Trump, who has cast himself

A tourist looks at the statue of Hans Egede (1686-1758), a Dano-Norwegian Lutheran missionary, in Nuuk, Greenland as a global peacemaker, also touched on a personal grievance.

“I single-handedly ENDED 8 WARS, and Norway, a NATO Member, foolishly chose not to give me the Noble Peace Prize,” he said, misspelling the name of the prestigious award that instead went to Venezuelan opposition leader Maria Corina Machado.

Trump concluded by saying that Russia and China have “zero fear of NATO” without the United States as part of the alliance.

“The only Nation that China and Russia fear and respect is the DJT REBUILT U.S.A.” he said, referring to himself by his initials.

Trump’s designs on the mineral-rich, self-governing Danish territory of Greenland has set off alarm bells among European NATO members, who see such a move as an existential threat to the alliance.

Trump weighs military option to acquire Greenland

AFP | Washington, United States

US President Donald Trump is discussing options including military action to take control of Greenland, the White House said Tuesday, upping tensions that Denmark warns could destroy the NATO alliance.

Trump has stepped up his designs on the mineral-rich, self-governing Danish territory in the arctic since the US military seized Venezuelan leader Nicolas Maduro last weekend.

White House Press Secretary Karoline Leavitt said that “acquiring Greenland is a national security priority” for Trump to deter US adversaries like Russia and China. “The president and his team are discussing a range of options to pursue this important foreign policy goal, and of course, utilizing the US military is always an option at the commander in chief’s disposal,” she said in a statement to AFP.

The Wall Street Journal reported Secretary of State Marco Rubio told lawmakers that Trump’s preferred option is to buy Greenland from Denmark, adding the threats did not signal an imminent invasion.

Denmark has warned any move to take Greenland by force would mean “everything would stop,” including NATO and 80 years of close transatlantic security links.

Any US military action against Greenland would effectively collapse NATO, since the alliance’s Article Five pledges that member states will defend any of their number that come under attack.

Greenland’s Foreign Minister Vivian Motzfeldt wrote on social media that they’d sought a meeting with Rubio throughout 2025 but “it has so far not been possible.” Denmark’s Foreign Minister Lars Lokke Rasmussen said meeting Rubio should “clear up certain misunderstandings.”

And Greenland Prime Minister

Jens-Frederik Nielsen insisted that the island was not for sale, and only its 57,000 people should decide its future.

‘Not acceptable’

Allies have rallied around Denmark and Greenland while simultaneously trying not to antagonize Trump.

The leaders of Britain, France, Germany, Italy, Poland and Spain joined Denmark in a statement on Tuesday saying they would defend the “universal principles” of “sovereignty, territorial integrity and the inviolability of borders.”

French President Emmanuel

Macron and British Prime Minister Keir Starmer both sought to play down the row as they attended Ukraine peace talks in Paris alongside Trump’s envoy Steve Witkoff and son-in-law Jared Kushner.

“I cannot imagine a scenario in which the United States of America would be placed in a position to violate Danish sovereignty,” Macron said. French Foreign Minister Jean-Noel Barrot said Wednesday he believed the US was committed to NATO, but he suggested European leaders were prepared to strike back against potential US “intimidation.”

Saudi strikes Yemen after separatist leader skips talks

The coalition said it had given Aidaros Alzubidi a 48-hour ultimatum

● Alzubidi decided not to join the delegation flying to Saudi Arabia

● On Wednesday, more than 15 air strikes hit Dhale

● STC said it had lost contact with the delegation following its arrival in Riyadh

AFP | Aden, Yemen

A Saudi-led coalition struck the home province of Yemen's separatist leader yesterday, after he failed to show up for talks in Riyadh and was kicked out of the country's presidential body.

The coalition said it had given Aidaros Alzubidi a 48-hour ultimatum to come to Riyadh for discussions, after his Southern Transitional Council (STC) grabbed swathes of territory last month.

They were rolled back by the Saudi-led coalition and allied Yemeni forces in recent days.

But he failed to board the flight carrying his delegation, and the coalition struck his home province of al-Dhale after

Members of the Southern Giants Brigade aka Al-Amaliqa sit in the back of military vehicles deployed in Aden ter accusing him of mobilising "large forces" there.

Yemen's Presidential Leadership Council, which holds executive power, then announced Alzubidi's removal, accusing him of high treason.

The showdown between Yemen's rival factions has raised fears that its second city, Aden, where the STC insisted its leader was still located, could be drawn into the violence.

Lost contact

The separatists said they were open to discussions but warned they had lost contact with their delegation in Riyadh, urging Saudi authorities to guarantee their safety.

Yesterday, more than 15 air strikes hit Dhale, a local official told AFP, killing four people, according to two hospital sources.

Alzubidi "fled to an unknown location... after he had distributed weapons and ammunition to dozens of elements inside Aden", coalition spokesperson Major General Turki al-Maliki said in a statement.

The coalition carried out strikes to prevent Alzubidi from "escalating the conflict" and extending it into Dhale governorate, he said.

An STC official told AFP that Alzubidi decided not to join the delegation flying to Saudi Arabia for talks after hearing he would be asked to dissolve his group, which forms part of the Presidential Leadership Council (PLC) governing government-held Yemen.

Later, the STC said it had lost contact with the delegation following its arrival in Riyadh, urging Saudi Arabia to "guarantee the safety of its delegation currently in Riyadh".

Alzubidi "continues his duties" in Aden, the group said, calling on the Saudi-led coalition to halt the air strikes.

'Grave crimes'

The PLC announced Alzubidi's removal, accusing him of committing several crimes, including "high treason" and "engaging in armed insurgency".

"It has been established that (Alzubidi) has abused the just cause of the South and exploited it to commit grave crimes against civilians in the southern governorates," it said.

A security official in Aden told AFP that the forces loyal to Mahrami have been deployed in the streets and government buildings, including the presidential palace.

Europe faces transport chaos as cold snap toll rises

AFP | Paris, France

Snow, ice and high winds brought transport chaos to swathes of Europe for a third day yesterday, with hundreds of flights cancelled and passengers stranded.

Airports in Paris and Amsterdam were the worst affected, with the Dutch authorities saying more than 1,000 travellers had been forced to spend the night at Schiphol, one of Europe's busiest hubs.

Seven people have died in weather-related accidents as the continent reels from the most bitter cold snap of the winter so far.

Hungary's interior ministry said on Wednesday that a woman had died after a car skidded on ice and crashed into another vehicle, adding to five people killed in France and one in Bosnia since the winter freeze descended on Monday.

With snowfall continuing on Wednesday, skiers and snowboarders enjoyed hurtling down the steep hills of the Montmartre district in Paris.

But the cold snap came as a bitter shock to the French capital's many homeless people.

Guinean teenager Boubacar Camara, who is sleeping in a tent on the city's outskirts, told AFP he had "no choice but to keep on going".

"You just have to stay strong, make sure you don't die, you know," said the 19-year-old. "We can't do anything about the cold -- I'm not used to this at all."

Hundreds of schools were closed for a third day across Scotland, and English authorities were warning of a snowstorm across parts of the country in the coming days.

Black ice warning

More than 100 flights were cancelled on Wednesday at Paris Charles de Gaulle airport and 40 more at the French capital's other main hub, Orly.

Almost half of mainland France was on alert for heavy snow and black ice, and lorries were banned from the roads in some areas, forcing truckers off the road while waiting for permission to get going again.

"It's better to be here than stuck on the road," said driver Carle Bruno, who managed to get to a roadside service station in the northern port city of Le Havre to wait out the weather.

In the Netherlands, Schiphol Airport said more than 700 flights had been cancelled so far and warned that the number was likely to increase.

Brussels Airport confirmed 40 cancellations on Wednesday, and Budapest Airport in Hungary said 20 flights had been cancelled overnight.

Andras Vaszko, a meteorologist at the Hungarian national weather service HungaroMet, told AFP it was the heaviest snow in the capital for 15 years.

Forecasters said temperatures could fall to -20C in some places in Hungary, and in neighbouring Austria the mercury plummeted even further to -24C in the Alps overnight.

'Calm prevails'

Britain also saw temperatures plunging, with the authorities warned some rural communities in Scotland could be "cut off" by snow. The Eurostar rail service connecting London with continental European cities was also disrupted again on Wednesday, with passengers facing cancellations and delays.

The Balkans region has been hit by heavy snow and floods in recent days and thousands were still without power in Serbia after a snowstorm tore down power lines on Tuesday.

The Albanian port city of Durrës was hit by torrential downpours on Tuesday that inundated hundreds of homes and forced around 200 people to flee, though officials said conditions were easing on Wednesday. Nordic countries were also facing snow-related chaos, with officials in eastern Sweden warning that power cuts were "likely" because of heavy snowfall.

‘Dire’ financial crisis forces UNRWA to fire 571 Gazan staff

Staff affected had originally worked in the Gaza Strip

- Affected staff have been without pay for over 10 months
- Israel has barred UNRWA from operating on its soil
- Israel had not provided conclusive evidence for its headline allegation

AFP | Geneva, Switzerland

The UN’s beleaguered agency for Palestinian refugees said yesterday that a “dire” financial crisis had this week forced it to fire hundreds of Gazan staff who had left the territory.

“On Tuesday, 571 local UNRWA staff, outside Gaza, were informed that they were being separated from the agency with immediate effect,” a spokesperson told AFP in an email.

For more than seven decades, the United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees has provided aid and assistance to Palestinian refugees across Gaza, the West Bank, Lebanon, Jordan and Syria.

But the agency has seen the voluntary contributions it relies on dwindle as it has become the focus of increasingly harsh Israeli criticism and attacks, causing what the spokesperson called an “unprecedented financial crisis”.

While the work UNRWA was mandated to do cost around $880 million in 2025, the agency received only around $570 million in contributions, the spokesperson said.

“As things stand, we expect a substantial shortfall in 2026,” they added.

All of the staff affected by this week’s announcement had originally worked in the Gaza Strip, but had managed to leave early in the war sparked by Hamas’s deadly attacks inside Israel on October 7, 2023.

‘Intense defamation’

Most had been unable to carry out their duties remotely since leaving Gaza, but had remained on UNRWA’s payroll until last March, when they were placed on exceptional unpaid leave, the spokesperson said.

“The affected staff have been without pay for over 10 months, and it is impossible to foresee when or if they could resume their duties due to circumstances entirely beyond UNRWA’s control,” the spokesperson said.

“Recognising that UNRWA’s financial situation remains dire, the agency took a decision which at least allows them to access financial resources rapidly, including separation indemnities.”

The spokesperson stressed that UNRWA, which has seen more than 300 of its employees killed in Gaza since the start of the war, still had around 12,000 staff working inside the Palestinian territory.

Israel has barred UNRWA from operating on its soil, accusing the agency of providing cover for Hamas militants, and claiming that some of the agency’s employees took part in the October 7 attack.

A series of investigations found some “neutrality-related issues” at UNRWA, but stressed that Israel had not provided conclusive evidence for its headline allegation.

Tuesday’s decision was “extremely difficult and (came) as a result of an extremely challenging financial outlook, as well as intense defamation campaigns to undermine UNRWA and deter its donors”, the spokesperson said.

US seizes Russia-flagged oil tanker chased to North Atlantic

- Washington says the tanker is part of a so-called shadow fleet that carries oil for countries such as Venezuela, Russia and Iran

AFP | Washington, United States

The United States on Wednesday seized a Russian-flagged oil tanker in the North Atlantic after pursuing it from off the coast of Venezuela, in an operation condemned by Moscow.

Washington says the tanker is part of a so-called shadow fleet that carries oil for countries such as Venezuela, Russia and Iran in violation of US sanctions, and seized it despite the ship being escorted by the Russian navy.

The vessel had thwarted an

After the operation, Pentagon chief Pete Hegseth posted that the US blockade on Venezuelan oil was in full effect “anywhere in the world.”

Russia’s Transport Ministry slammed the seizure, saying “freedom of navigation applies in waters on the high seas, and no state has the right to use force and included a video of US forces roping down from a helicopter onto an unidentified ship and proceeding toward the bridge with weapons ready.

US to control oil sales ‘indefinitely’

Last weekend, US special forces snatched Maduro and his wife from Caracas and flew them to New York to face trial on drug charges.

Since then, President Donald Trump has said that the United States will “run” Venezuela and US companies will control its critical oil industry.

In Caracas, after several days of shuttered shops and intermittent public transport, the capital’s streets were again busy Wednesday with pedestrians, street vendors, cars and motorbikes.

The North Atlantic operation came despite Russia reportedly sending a submarine and other naval assets to escort the empty tanker and saying the vessel was sailing under the Russian flag.

The vessel, formerly known as the Bella-I, in recent weeks switched its registration to Russia, changed its name to the Marinera and the tanker’s crew reportedly painted a Russian flag on the tanker.

It had been en route to Venezuela before it evaded the US blockade, and has been under US sanctions since 2024 over alleged ties to Iran and Hezbollah.

Trump said Tuesday that Venezuela said 30-50 million barrels of “high-quality, sanctioned” Venezuelan crude will be shipped to US ports, with the revenue -- perhaps more than $2 billion at current market prices -- placed under his personal control.

US Energy Secretary Chris Wright added Wednesday that Washington will control sales of Venezuelan oil “indefinitely.”

It was not clear whether Venezuela’s new ruler -- interim president Delcy Rodriguez -- had agreed to hand over the oil, how the plan would work, or what its legal basis would be.

Rodriguez -- a long-time member of Maduro’s inner circle as vice president and energy minister -- has vowed cooperation with the United States amid fears that Trump could pursue wider regime change.

Muharraq open Arab volleyball championship quest in Tunisia

Red Wolves set to hit the ground running against Omani challengers

Hussain Almaskati
TDT | Manama

Bahrain's volleyball champions Muharraq take center stage today as they begin their 44th Arab Club Men's Volleyball Championship campaign against Majees SC of Oman at 2 PM (BRN time) in Tunisia. The tournament, which runs through January 18 at El Menzah Sports Palace, brings together 12 of the Arab world's top clubs, promising intense competition from the outset.

The Red Wolves arrive in Tunisia with added firepower, having strengthened their squad with Polish spiker Mateusz Jozwik. The 29-year-old former Zamalek SC standout, who helped the Egyptian club claim last year's Arab Club Championship, joins Swedish professional Jacob Link and a core of Bahraini stars including: Naser Anan, Mahmood Alafyah, Sayed Hashem Issa, Mohammed Abdulla, Mohammed Omar, and Abbas Al Khabbaz. Local talents Majeed Mohammed, Hussain Ehsan, Abbas Ehsan, and Ali Alsairafi complete a balanced and experienced roster ready to test themselves against the region's elite.

The Bahrainis are in Group B alongside Libya's Al Ittihad SCSC Tripoli, Palestine's Military Club, Qatar's Al Shorta SC, Majees of Oman, and hosts Etoile Sportive du Sahel. After today's opener against Majees, Muharraq will play four more matches in as many days: Al Ittihad SCSC Tripoli (Libya) on Friday at 5 PM, hosts Etoile Sportive du Sahel (Tunisia) on Saturday at 1 PM, Al Shorta SC (Qatar) on Sunday at 3 PM, and the Palestinian Military Club on Monday at 3 PM.

The Bahrainis come into the tournament in excellent form, having won all six of their matches in the Isa Bin Rashid Bahrain Volleyball League this season. Coach Yaseen Al Meel has overseen a rigorous preparation program, blending domestic success with the need to adapt to the challenges of continental competition. With last year's finalists Zamalek and Al Ahly absent, Muharraq have a prime opportunity to assert themselves and aim for a deep run, all while representing Bahrain on the regional stage.

Giro d'Italia champion Yates announces shock retirement

Simon Yates
AFP | Paris

Two-time Grand Tour winner Simon Yates announced yesterday that he was retiring from professional cycling, just seven months after winning the Giro d'Italia.

The news comes after Yates enjoyed probably the best season of his career, following up his stunning Giro success with a stage victory at July's Tour de France.

"This may come as a surprise to many, but it is not a decision I have made lightly," Yates said in a statement released by his team, Visma-Lease a Bike.

"I have been thinking about it for a long time, and it now feels like the right moment to step away from the sport."

Yates, 33, shared more than a decade in the peloton with his twin brother Adam, initially together at the Jayco-AlUla team.

Arsenal boss Arteta 'sad' to see Amorim sacked by Man Utd

AFP | London

Arsenal manager Mikel Arteta said yesterday that he was "sad" to see rival boss Ruben Amorim sacked by Manchester United as he reflected on the brutal nature of their trade.

Amorim was dismissed by the Premier League giants on Monday after just 14 months in charge.

The Portuguese coach's exit followed growing tensions with senior Old Trafford officials, including director of football Jason Wilcox, over recent days.

United co-owner Jim Ratcliffe had previously suggested that Amorim would be given at least three years in charge, comparing his position with that of Arteta.

The Spaniard, appointed in 2019, endured a rocky start to his time in charge of Arsenal, but they now head into Thursday's match at home to reigning champions Liverpool six points clear at the top of the Premier League table as they chase a first English title in over 20 years.

United, by contrast, are sixth -- a huge 17 points adrift of the Gunners.

Amorim won just 25 of his 63 games at United in all competitions during the shortest reign for a permanent manager since David Moyes was sacked just eight months into his tenure in 2014.

"I can only talk about what I have experienced and it's always sad to see a colleague losing his job, obviously," Arteta told reporters in a pre-match press conference.

Bethell slams maiden century to give England glimmer in final Ashes Test

AFP | Sydney

Jacob Bethell fulfilled his rich potential with a chanceless maiden Test century yesterday as England built a fragile 119-run second-innings lead with two wickets remaining to give themselves a glimmer of hope in the final Ashes Test.

At the end of day four at the Sydney Cricket Ground, England had reached 302-8 with Bethell imperious on 142 not out and number 10 Matthew Potts yet to score.

England are desperate for another morale-boosting win after victory in the previous Test at Melbourne. Australia lead 3-1 and have already retained the Ashes.

It was the 22-year-old Bethell who kept their faint hopes alive after Zak Crawley fell early and first-innings centurion Joe Root departed cheaply.

He powered to his hundred off 162 balls by smashing a lofted drive over midwicket for four.

"It's pretty special, it's not really sunk in yet. I haven't really had time to kind of reflect on it," Bethell told reporters.

Bethell had his parents in the stands and raised his bat towards them as he passed the milestone.

"To do that and have the family there was very special," said the left-hander.

"My dad was a cricketer so he knows how it feels to be out there batting, but I don't think that stops him from getting any less nervous."

It was not just Bethell's maiden Test ton but the only one he

England's Jacob Bethell (L) hits a shot to reach his century

England 384 and 302 for 8 (Bethell 142*, Duckett 42, Brook 42, Webster 3-51, Boland 2-34) lead Australia 567 (Head 163, Smith 138, Tongue 3-97, Carse 3-130, Stokes 2-95) by 119 runs

Bethell was recalled for Melbourne to replace the under-performing Ollie Pope, scoring a gritty 40 in difficult batting conditions.

He proved to be England's rock, but soon saw wickets tumballs from part-time off-spinner Beau Webster.

"I certainly didn't think I would (impact) with spin this game," said Webster, who is more usually employed as a seamer, but returned figures of 3-51.

Webster believed the pitch had begun to take turn. "There was a bit of wear and tear there from Starcy's footmarks," he said. "And we managed to make the most of it in that session."

A mix-up saw Jamie Smith run out for 24 just as he and Bethell were threatening to take the game away from Australia with a sixth-wicket partnership that had reached 45.

Bahrain’s handball team sets Asian target

Reds ready to impress at prestigious Yellow Cup

Hussain Almaskati
TDT | Manama

Bahrain’s men’s handball team arrived in Switzerland yesterday to compete in the 52nd Yellow Cup, one of Europe’s most prestigious handball tournaments. The three-day event begins today and continues through Saturday at Winterthur Central Sports Hall. As part of a focused preparation program ahead of the 22nd Asian Men’s Handball Championship in Kuwait later this month, the Kingdom’s representatives will face North Macedonia, Switzerland, and Ukraine.

The team comes into the Yellow Cup following two tough friendly matches against Portugal, who finished fourth in last year’s IHF Men’s Handball World Championship. In the first encounter, Portugal won 39-29, while the second match ended 40-28 in Portugal’s favor, with Bahrain taking the first set 14-13 before Portugal responded with 14-7 and 13-7 in the following sets.

Despite the losses, the games provided a valuable opportunity for Bahrain’s coaching staff to evaluate the squad’s form, build cohesion, and identify areas for improvement ahead of the Yellow Cup in Switzerland.

Bahrain will open their campaign tonight against North Macedonia at 10:30 PM. They then meet hosts Switzerland tomorrow at 10:15 PM before concluding the tournament against Ukraine on Saturday at 5:30 PM.

Passionate Bahrain celebrations at 2025 Islamic Solidarity Games

Head coach Robert Hedin has named a 19-player squad led by captain Hussain Al Sayyad.

The roster includes key national-team regulars alongside Bahrain’s top emerging talent, such as Mohammed Abdulhussain, Mohammed Habib Ahmed, Mohammed Habib Nasser, Hassan Al Samaheji, Hussain Mahfoudh, Jaffar Abdulshaheed, Mohammed Hameed, Hesham Ahmed, Salman Al Showaikh, Qassim Qamber, Ahmed Redha, Sayed Ali Basem, Hassan Madan, Ahmed Almaqabi, Ali Mahmood, Jassim Khamis, Ali Redha, and Ali Alasheeri.

Looking beyond Europe, Bahrain will soon compete in the Asian Men’s Handball Championship, running from January 15 to 29 in Kuwait.

This tournament also doubles as the qualifier for the 2027 IHF Men’s Handball World Championship in Germany. Drawn into Group B alongside Iraq, China, and Jordan, the Red Wolves will need to finish among the top two in their group to advance to the main round, with semi-finalists from that stage earning automatic berths at the World Championship.

Last year’s gold medals at the Islamic Solidarity Games demonstrated the team’s potential, but the Yellow Cup provides a final opportunity to test their strategies and build cohesion before the continental stage. With tough opponents and high stakes ahead, all eyes will be on Hedin’s men to challenge Asia’s best.

Gauff drags US into United Cup semis as Swiatek also wins

Coco Gauff and Christian Harrison celebrate defeating Greece’s Maria Sakkari and Stefanos Tsitsipas

AFP | Perth

Coco Gauff pulled off double duty to drag defending champions the United States into the United Cup semi-finals yesterday while world number two Iga Swiatek did her bit for Poland.

Fourth-ranked Gauff, who suffered a surprise defeat last time out, put the United States on their way in their quarter-final against Greece with a 6-3, 6-2 win over former world number three Maria Sakkari in Perth.

Stefanos Tsitsipas brought Greece level by defeating struggling Taylor Fritz 6-4, 7-5.

In the deciding mixed doubles, Gauff teamed up with Christian Harrison to battle past Tsitsipas and Sakkari 4-6, 6-4, 10-8.

The 21-year-old Gauff struggled with her serve as she suffered her first-ever defeat at the United Cup on Monday when she was stunned by Spain’s Jessica Bouzas Maneiro.

“Definitely a much better match today,” Gauff said after making light work of Sakkari. “Last match, I just tried to erase it. That’s the beauty of this tournament.

“So definitely happy to give my team the lead today.”

Six-time Grand Slam champion Swiatek beat 97th-ranked Suzan Lamens 6-3, 6-2 in the tie against the Netherlands in Sydney.

Hubert Hurkacz, on his way back after being out for seven months following knee surgery, defeated Tallon Griekspoor 6-3, 7-6 (7/4) as Poland sealed their last-eight spot.

Poland will play hosts Australia, with the winner facing the United States for a place in Sunday’s final.

In Perth, Switzerland’s Belinda Bencic beat Solana Sierra 6-2, 6-2 but a 7-5, 6-4 loss by Stan Wawrinka to Sebastian Baez sent the tie into a mixed doubles decider.

The Swiss finished off the win with Bencic and Jakub Paul clinching the winning point over Maria Lourdes Carle and Guido Andreozzi 6-3, 6-3.

The mixed-team United Cup features 18 teams and serves as a build-up towards the Australian Open, which starts on January 18.

Slot says Liverpool can still do 'special things' ahead of Arsenal clash

AFP | London

Liverpool manager Arne Slot insists his reigning English champions can still do "special things" this season as they prepare to face Premier League leaders Arsenal following a faltering start to their title defence.

Slot's men head to the Emirates for Thursday's clash in fourth place in the table, but 14 points adrift of the Gunners.

However, following on from a run of nine defeats in 12 games in all competitions, Liverpool are unbeaten in their last nine -- although that sequence includes four draws.

Those draws include a goalless stalemate against Leeds and a 2-2 share of the spoils with Fulham in their first two Premier League fixtures of 2026.

"It is nine games unbeaten but we have definitely had two draws too many," Slot told a pre-match press conference yesterday.

Slot, who guided Liverpool to an impressive title triumph in his first season in charge at Anfield after succeeding Jurgen Klopp, added: "Where are we? I think I've said so many times that the answer to that question is we aren't where we want to be, but I feel we have a very talented squad.

"If everyone's available and ready, then I think we can do special things."

'A lot to play for'

They certainly gave that impression earlier in the season when Liverpool beat Arsenal 1-0 at Anfield in August.

However, a crisis up front, in terms of personnel, casts doubt over their achieving the double over the Gunners.

Hugo Ekitike is a major doubt after missing the Fulham draw because of a hamstring problem.

The Reds are also without Alexander Isak through injury, while Mohamed Salah remains at the Africa Cup of Nations with Egypt.

Slot said he hoped his side would become more consistent.

"We haven't had the consistency but we've already beaten some very good teams, so that tells you the talent is definitely there but the consistency isn't," he said.

They have recorded some notable victories, home successes against Real Madrid and Atletico Madrid and a 5-1 romp away to Eintracht Frankfurt in the Champions League.

But on the flip side, Liverpool have suffered three-goal defeats at home three times this season, against Crystal Palace, Nottingham Forest and PSV Eindhoven.

"This club has shown so many times that when they don't have the greatest form in the league, they are still able to win other trophies," said Slot.
