Meanwhile Ronaldo, who will turn 38 in February, recently joined Al Nasser after agreeing a contract that runs until 2025 and is reportedly worth more than 200 million euros ($214m).

Mbappe defends 'legend' Zidane amid 'disrespectful' FFF boss comments

Kylian Mbappe blasted as “disrespectful” comments made by the head of the French football federation (FFF) concerning former international Zinedine Zidane with the PSG superstar describing his fellow World Cup winner as a “legend”.

“Zinedine Zidane, I wouldn't even have taken his call on the phone,” FFF president Noel Le Graet quipped dismissively in an interview on French radio when asked whether Zidane had called him to express an interest in taking over as coach from Didier Deschamps.

Deschamps' contract expired after the World Cup in Qatar where reigning champions France lost to Argentina in a penalty shootout after a thrilling final on December 18.

However, Deschamps on Saturday signed a new deal until the 2026 World Cup.

Asked whether Zidane, who won the 1998 World Cup as a player alongside Deschamps and was a runner-up in 2006, had called him in recent days, Le Graet dismissed the former Real Madrid coach as having been a potential candidate.

“I wouldn't even have taken his call,” Le Graet said. “To tell him what? ‘Hello sir, don't worry, look for another club, I just agreed a contract with Didier’.”
