'Glee' star Naya Rivera missing, feared drowned

AFP | Los Angeles

"Glee" star Naya Rivera is missing and feared drowned at a California lake, local officials said, with rescuers to continue a search for her yesterday.

The Ventura County Sheriff's office earlier tweeted it was looking for a "possible drowning victim" at the lake, and said a dive team was being deployed to the area.

Rivera, 33, is best known for her role as high school cheerleader Santana Lopez in "Glee", the TV series she starred in for six seasons.

She rented a boat on Wednesday and took her four-year-old son onto Lake Piru, northwest of Los Angeles, a spokesman for Ventura County Sheriff's Office confirmed.

He was found by another person out on the lake "asleep and with his life vest on," Eric Buschow said.

"The search is suspended until the morning and it will resume at daybreak".

Rivera put up a photo of her and her son on Twitter Wednesday, alongside the phrase: "Just the two of us."

Hundreds have left comments below the post, many offering their prayers.

Rivera and the boy's father, actor Ryan Dorsey, divorced in 2018 and share custody of the child, according to the TMZ outlet.

Hough shares message about feeling 'stuck, depressed, anxious'

ANI | Washington

American singer-dancer, Julianne Hough appears to be doing some soul searching following her public split from husband Brooks Laich.

According to Fox News, the 31-year-old professional dancer shared a message with her fans on social media on Monday when she posted a quote from Kelly Noonan Gores about helping others whenever one might be feeling blue.

The mantra read, "When feeling stuck, depressed, anxious, or hopeless, try taking your attention off of yourself and helping someone less fortunate than you. Selfless acts of service ignite life force energy in the giver."

She also shared a meme in an Instagram story that read:

"When i don't answer messages but im sharing memes," while in another clip Hough quipped about going through an "emotional breakdown."

Hough and Laich announced their split in a joint statement to People magazine on May 29 after almost three years of marriage.

While Hough and Laich, have appeared to remain cordial post-breakup, it's reportedly been a rough go for the 'Rock of Ages' star as of late.

Previously in June, a source revealed to Us Weekly, "Julianne's not doing great right now and feels like her brunette hair is a reflection of her feelings. She is super upset."

Another insider maintained to the outlet that the 'Grease Live!' star has been shutting people out and "won't answer anyone's calls or texts, including her closest friends," since she left Los Angeles.

Mom reveals Eilish's intense Justin Bieber adoration

ANI | Washington

American singer-songwriter Billie Eilish was a huge fan of Justin Bieber as a young child and was obsessed with his songs.

According to Fox News, in a recent episode of the 18-year-old singer's Apple Music radio show 'me & dad radio,' the 'Bad Guy' singer and her father, Patrick, welcomed Eilish's mother, Maggie, as a special guest.

The trio talked through a bevy of topics, including Eilish's childhood obsession with singer Justin Bieber -- in particular her reaction to the music video for his 2012 hit 'As Long As You Love Me.'

Maggie remembered, "I remember this one really well and the video and Billie talking about it and being excited it was coming out and just crying and crying. Everyone knows the whole Billie-Justin Bieber thing but this song was a big part of it."

The songstress admitted that she would watch the video "and just sob."

Maggie said with a laugh, "I just want to say, we did consider taking you to therapy because you were in so much pain over Justin Bieber. It was so intense, it caused you so much pain."

During the interview, Eilish and her parents also discussed her previous struggles with mental health, which she reflected on heavily in her song "listen before I go."

The Grammy winner said, "With 'listen before I go,' I was worried that people would hear it and kind of be triggered by it and be offended, but all I've seen are fans talking about how much it's made them feel comforted. And hearing someone going through the same thing you're going through doesn't make you feel worse about yourself, it makes you feel a little better."

While her struggles are only just a few years behind her, Eilish is feeling much more positive now.

Hugh Jackman send fans into a frenzy with new post

Fox | Los Angeles

Hugh Jackman is aging in reverse, and fans want to know his secret.

After posting a throwback photo of himself and his wife Deborra-Lee Furness from 2002, fans went into a frenzy about how the "Wolverine" star, now 51, barely looks like he's aged.

"Are you a real Wolverine? You never age," commented a fan.

Another said, "CEO of not aging."

"Hugh Jackman looks even better than before with each passing year," said another fan.

One

commenter pointed out, "I don't think either of you has changed much since then. Gorgeous then and gorgeous now."

Jackman and Furness celebrated their 24th wedding anniversary in April.

He gushed about her in a moving post on social media, "These 24 years have been the best of my life! And, as far as I can see, we keep getting better. I love you Debs with every fiber of my soul. Happy anniversary. #24."

Jackson previously told a magazine he and Furness "reset" their marriage all the time. "We're always learning and humans change so you have to, even though we've been together 25 years, you gotta reset all the time," he said.

Mariah Carey reveals her memoir is completed

Fox | Los Angeles

Mariah Carey is delivering a new memoir to fans, and this one isn't similar to her 2015 picture book release, "All I Want For Christmas Is You."

"It took me a lifetime to have the courage and the clarity to write my memoir," Carey, 50, wrote in a lengthy note posted to her Instagram on Wednesday. "I want to tell the story of the moments - the ups and downs, the triumphs and traumas, the setbacks and the dreams that contributed to the person I am today."

The "Emancipation of Mimi" songstress' book was first announced by Henry Holt and Company in Nov. 2019 as the latest title from Andy Cohen Books, and Carey said this drop will delve into many of the stories that have been reported about her life over the course of decades.

"Though there have been countless stories about me throughout my career and very public personal life, it's been impossible to communicate the complexities and depths of my experience in any single magazine article or a ten-minute television interview," she continued. "And even then, my words were filtered through someone else's lens, largely satisfying someone else's assignment to define me."

Kylie Jenner denies refusing to tag fashion brand on Instagram

ANI | Washington

American reality TV star Kylie Jenner recently refuted a claim that she 'refused' to tag a fashion brand in her Instagram posts.

According to Page Six, during vacation for the Fourth of July, Kylie posted a photo of herself wearing loud 'Brand Studios' 'Vashtie' dress, a body-con style featuring a stretchy fishnet bodice. Initially, the 23-year-old star did not tag the brand in her post, which a Twitter user felt was an intentional decision.

"Kylie Jenner is refusing to tag the designer of the dress she just posted, which is a black-owned brand, and now limiting her comments. (clown face emoji) @ LoudBrndStudios is the designer!" wrote Zoey. Kylie responded almost immediately and denied Zoey's allegation.
