Energy and gas sector progress reviewed

His Royal Highness Prince Salman bin Hamad Al Khalifa, the Crown Prince and Prime Minister, chairs the 33rd meeting of the Higher Committee for Energy and Natural Resources. Several topics related to the development of the energy sector, as well as progress in Bahrain's gas sector, were reviewed.

His Excellency Mr. Eric Giraud-Telme, Ambassador of the French Republic to the Kingdom of Bahrain

As 2026 underscores the depth of global interdependence amid fragmentation and rivalry, France argues that coordinated multilateral action remains the only credible path to addressing shared challenges, from health and technology to sustainable growth. In conversation with Mahir Haneef, His Excellency Mr. Eric Giraud-Telme, Ambassador of the French Republic to the Kingdom of Bahrain, outlines how France is seeking to translate this commitment into action through global agenda-setting and renewed co-operation within multilateral fora.

“Today’s major global challenges call for coordinated responses grounded in dialogue, cooperation and the pursuit of shared solutions.”

The year 2026 unfolds in an international context in which interdependence has become a defining feature. Today’s major global challenges call for coordinated responses grounded in dialogue, cooperation and the pursuit of shared solutions. In this respect, multilateralism remains an essential reference framework for consultation and collective action.

Three areas stand out as particularly structuring. The first is global health, now understood in its close links with the environment, agriculture and biodiversity. The second relates to advanced technologies, whose role is instrumental in ensuring autonomous access to new frontiers in the digital or physical space. The third focuses on international political and economic coordination, which is essential to accompany people towards progress and social transformations and support sustainable growth.

On these 3 major pillars for the future, France is setting the agenda with major international meetings in 2026. First, The One Health Summit, on 7 April 2026 in Lyon, will highlight an integrated approach to global health, bringing together public authorities, international organizations and the scientific community around science-based prevention policies. Second, in April in Paris, a summit dedicated to space will underscore the growing role of space technologies in ensuring autonomous access to space, supporting innovation and responding to contemporary strategic challenges. Finally, the G7 Summit, to be held in Evian-les-Bains from 14 to 16 June 2026, will provide a forum for collective reflection among leading economies on responses to economic, climate and social challenges.

Taken together, these sequences are part of an ongoing dynamic of dialogue and co-operation within multilateral fora. In this regard, sharing a common trust in multilateralism, Bahrain has been sitting alongside France on the United Nations Security Council since 1 January 2026. Building on the excellent bilateral relations between France and Bahrain and our converging approaches on international cooperation, we are ready, in 2026, to work together in support of peace, stability, development and the promotion of economic and cultural exchanges for mutual benefit.

Shura Council passes anti-money laundering decree-law ahead of FATF review

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

The Shura Council passed Decree-Law No. 36 of 2025 yesterday, approving changes to Bahrain's anti-money laundering and counter-terrorist financing rules ahead of a Financial Action Task Force (FATF) assessment due in March 2026.

Members discussed the report of the Shura Council's Foreign Affairs, Defence and National Security Committee on the decree-law, which amends parts of Decree-Law No. 4 of 2001 on the prohibition of and combating money laundering and terrorist financing.

Dr Bassam Al Binmohammed, the committee's rapporteur, said the amendments were driven by evolving methods used in money laundering, terrorist financing and the financing of the proliferation of weapons, adding that they "embody core international obligations that the Kingdom will be assessed against in the next periodic review".

H.E. Nawaf Al Maawda

The committee report said the decree-law updates key definitions in the 2001 law, widens the forms of the money laundering offence, and tightens confiscation rules to cover proceeds and the means used, while protecting the rights of good-faith third parties.

It also replaces the schedule attached to the law to cover newly emerging activities and sectors seen as higher-risk for money laundering and terrorist financing, including virtual asset service providers.

A key change is expanded powers for the Financial Intelligence National Centre (FINC) as the implementing body, through a new Article 4 bis.

The committee said this broadens FINC's scope in financial enquiries, analysis and co-ordination, including the power to request a pause or delay of suspicious transactions for a limited period while checks are completed, including in response to requests from overseas

Crime

Dr Ali Al Rumaihi, a Shura Council member and head of the Foreign Affairs, Defence and National Security Committee, told the sitting that, "The term "money laundering" has become a media simplification; it is a crime punishable by law", describing how its tools have changed over time and how countries now fight it through law and capable enforcement bodies.

Dalal Al Zayed

Dalal Al Zayed, head of the Shura Council's Legislative and Legal Affairs Committee, pointed to changes in how criminal gains are framed in the text, saying, "Replacing "returns of crime" with "proceeds derived from crime" is a broader and more comprehensive definition", capturing direct and indirect funds that can pass through property and investment.

Justice Minister, His Excellency Nawaf Al Maawda, told the council the decree-law "is important for the Kingdom of Bahrain", linking it to Bahrain's push to sharpen oversight tools in line with FATF standards.

Mechanisms

He said firms that provide artificial intelligence services but, within their work, manage financial portfolios, digital assets or funds through those portfolios "will be subject to accountability mechanisms", adding that oversight follows the activity rather than simply using AI.

On cash dealings, H.E. Al Maawda cited an existing decision tied to the gold trade that bars cash payments above BD3,000, and said monitoring systems track compliance.

He added that the Central Bank of Bahrain will issue instructions spelling out the duties of banks and financial firms in applying FATF standards, and that FINC's powers have been expanded, with the centre expected to take on a larger role in monitoring transfers.

"The decree-law is important for the Kingdom of Bahrain's push to sharpen oversight tools in line with FATF standards."

Shura backs wider powers to update protected-species lists

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

The Shura Council approved a draft law on Sunday that expands the Supreme Council for Environment’s power to update Bahrain’s protected-species annexes tied to international trade controls, and sent it onwards on an urgent basis.

The bill amends Article (3) of Law No. (5) of 2021 on regulating and monitoring international trade in endangered species of wild fauna and flora, accompanying Decree No. (57) of 2025. It replaces item (13) so the Supreme Council for Environment may delete or add any species in the law’s annexes, rather than being limited to Annex (3) only.

Aim

Committee rapporteur Juma Al Kaabi said the aim is to let the Supreme Council for Environment “exercise its powers in a comprehensive manner to amend and update all annexes” that include Bahrain’s lists of protected species, with a focus

Dr Mohammed Ali Hassan on those most at risk of extinction.

He told the Council the law includes three annexes.

Annex (1) covers species threatened with extinction, where trade must be strictly controlled and specimens traded only in exceptional cases.

Annex (2) covers species that

Jawad BuHussain are not necessarily threatened now but could become so if trade is not controlled. Annex (3) covers species that a party identifies as needing cooperation with other parties to control trade.

Shura Council member Jawad BuHussain said the amendment would give the Supreme Council for Environment “wider pow-Juma Al Kaabi ers to update the lists of endangered species without the need to amend the law each time”.

He pointed to the houbara bustard, and quail when speaking about species subject to protection decisions.

Organisms

head of the Public Utilities and Environment Committee, said: “Man has tampered with those organisms and started trading in them,” as he explained why international rules were drawn up to protect wildlife from cross-border trade.

The Council said the bill would be sent to the Speaker of the Council of Representatives for referral to the Prime Minister, ahead of submission to His Majesty the King.

The draft text states that, once ratified and published in the Official Gazette, the amendment takes effect the day after publication, with implementation assigned to the Prime Minister and ministers in their areas of responsibility.

MP proposes selling hotel rooms as independent units amid low occupancy

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

Room-by-room hotel ownership has been proposed in Parliament, with MP Hassan Ebrahim calling for hotels to sell individual rooms as independent units backed by official documents.

The proposal follows a sharp drop in occupancy, with many hotel properties now operating at around 40 per cent.

In a parliamentary request, Ebrahim argues that letting hotels issue formal ownership papers for single rooms would bring in new buyers, spread the cost of upkeep, and give hotels cash from sales alongside ongoing income from running the rooms for their owners.

“Allowing hotel rooms to be sold as independent units with official title documents is an innovative idea, tried globally, that introduces a new economic model linking real-estate investment with the hotel sector at the same time,” he said.

The plan, as described in the memorandum, would leave day-to-day running with the hotel.

Owners would buy the room, while the hotel would keep control of operations, maintenance and marketing under a shared system, with returns paid out under agreed terms.

Ebrahim said that structure would lower the weight on hotel operators, while opening the door to smaller investors who cannot usually reach the sector.

“This model not only eases the burden on hotels in terms of operating and maintenance costs, but also gives investors a chance to enter a sector that has long been closed to them because of its high costs,” he said.

He added that it would “open the door for individuals and small and medium-sized enterprises to own hotel units that are managed professionally by the hotel”.

Ebrahim also argued that splitting ownership across many holders would push hotels to keep service levels up, since the value of each unit would rest on the hotel’s name, its ratings and its day-to-day standards.

The memo ties the request to parts of the Constitution dealing with social justice and the way the law governs ties between property owners and tenants.

Principle

It also cites the principle that the national economy rests on fair co-operation between public and private activity, aimed at

“It is an innovative idea, tried globally, that introduces a new economic model linking real-estate investment with the hotel sector at the same time.”

— MP HASSAN EBRAHIM

growth and prosperity within the law.

Beyond helping hotels cope with weak occupancy, the request says the model could widen the pool of money flowing into tourism and hotel projects, including from outside Bahrain.

It argues that more buying and selling would help build a more ordered market for hotel property, while feeding demand

High Appeal Court puts BD6mln embezzlement sentences on hold

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

The First High Criminal Court of Appeal has put on hold the prison terms handed to three company executives in a fraud, forgery and embezzlement case said to involve more than BD6 million, while the appeal is heard.

At a hearing yesterday, the court ordered a stay on enforcement for the second, third and fourth defendants, identified as the firm’s chief executive and two members of its board of directors. They were previously sentenced to one year in jail and fined.

The first appellant, the company’s owner, appeared in court while in custody serving an eight-year prison term. The other three appellants attended while their sentences were not being carried out.

Lawyers for the executives told the court their clients had no knowledge of what they described as breaches committed by the owner. They said the men reported the matter to the Central Bank of Bahrain as soon as they became aware of violations.

The court adjourned the case to 18 January 2026 and tasked the Public Prosecution with writing to the Central Bank of Bahrain to state, in an official response, if the company and its management had the right to change the declared use of the investment in the final two deals linked to the two companies.

The exercise was implemented to develop specialised military capabilities and enhance combat readiness in addressing current, emerging, and future threats, while consolidating joint defence and flexible deterrence concepts.

MPs to revisit East Riffa site plan for cancer centre

Repurposing the former East Riffa Health Centre as a specialist site for treating cancer patients

● Move to improve standard of care, support stronger health service

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

MPs will return tomorrow to a proposal to turn the former East Riffa Health Centre into a cancer treatment centre in the Southern Governorate, after the item was delayed at the last sitting because time ran short and the agenda was crowded.

The request was submitted by MPs Dr Ali Al Nuaimi, Mohammed Mousa, Bader Al Tameemi, Mohammed Yousif Al Maarafi and Najeeb Al Koari.

They are asking the government to repurpose the former clinic building in East Riffa as a specialist site for treating cancer patients, serving residents of the Southern Governorate and others.

Service

Backers say the move would improve the standard of care, support a stronger health service, and help cut pressure on existing oncology services at Salmaniya Medical Complex and King Hamad University Hospital.

They also say the governorate needs a dedicated site for malignant tumours closer to local families.

of prevention and treatment by establishing different types of hospitals and health institutions,” he said, citing Article 8(a) of Bahrain’s Constitution.

He said the case for a new site was tied to rising demand and strained capacity at current providers.

“Malignant tumour cases are increasing in Bahrain, and the Southern Governorate needs a dedicated cancer hospital close to its people, while pressure must be reduced on oncology services at Salmaniya and King Hamad University Hospital,” he said.

The Ministry of Health, in its summary view submitted to Parliament, said the King Hamad Cancer Centre at King Hamad University Hospital already serves as a national specialist hub for cancer care, covering patients across the Kingdom, including the Southern Governorate.

Bahrain has 661 licensed civil society organisations, the Ministry of Social Development has said, reporting stronger compliance with legal and financial rules but warning that many groups still struggle with funding, governance and attracting skilled administrators.

The ministry’s comments came in a written reply to a parliamentary question from MP Ahmed Al Salloom about the state of civil society organisations and how the government oversees them.

It said compliance has improved ‘markedly’ in recent years, particularly in the submission of meeting minutes, annual financial statements and fundraising reports, alongside better financial disclosure and record-keeping of spending.

Germany's Merz heads to India to bolster trade, security ties

AFP | Berlin, Germany

German Chancellor Friedrich Merz left for India on Sunday for a visit to bolster economic and security ties between the top EU economy and the Asian population giant.

Both Berlin and New Delhi face a turbulent world order and a set of economic and geopolitical challenges from the world's two largest economies, the United States and China.

Merz's visit from Monday -- his first to an Asian country since he took office last May -- comes two weeks ahead of a

Germany's Chancellor Friedrich Merz

planned EU-India summit and as India and the bloc are working on a free trade agreement. "This agreement is envisioned not just as a trade deal, but as a comprehensive partnership that addresses modern economic realities," India's commerce ministry said on Friday.

During Merz's two-day visit, Prime Minister Narendra Modi will host him in Ahmedabad, in the premier's western home state of Gujarat, before Merz travels to the southern technology hub of Bengaluru.

The two leaders will attend a traditional kite festival and visit the Sabarmati Ashram, the spiritual retreat where Mahatma Gandhi, the leader of the Indian independence struggle, lived for many years. That Merz chose India for his first trip to Asia as chancellor "demonstrates how India, the world's largest democracy, is an important strategic partner for Germany," a government spokesman said on Friday in Berlin.

European Commission President Ursula von der Leyen and European Council President Antonio Costa will be in New Delhi on January 26 for India's annual Republic Day parade.

For India and Germany, security links could also be bolstered by a potential deal for German's Thyssenkrupp Marine Systems to build six submarines for the Indian Navy in a partnership with Indian state-run Mazagon Dock Shipbuilders.

That deal remains under negotiation, but would allow India to replace its ageing fleet of Russian-built submarines and likely include technology transfer provisions that would help build up its domestic defence industry. Merz will be accompanied by a large business delegation, including executives from corporate giants such as Siemens and Airbus.

News in brief

Israeli Foreign

Minister Gideon Saar said yesterday that Samoa will open an embassy in Jerusalem this year, a rare move as most foreign diplomatic missions to Israel are located in Tel Aviv. Samoa will become the eighth country to open its mission in Jerusalem, and the third from the Pacific region after Fiji and Papua New Guinea. "Just spoke with the Prime Minister of Samoa, La'auli Leuatea Schmidt. I thanked him for his moral decision to open an embassy in Jerusalem in 2026," Saar wrote on X. "I also expressed our appreciation for Samoa's consistent support for Israel in the multilateral arena," he said, adding that he had invited the prime minister to visit Israel. The status of Jerusalem is one of the thorniest issues in the Israeli-Palestinian conflict. Israel annexed east Jerusalem after the 1967 Arab-Israeli war, in a move not recognised by the international community.

Malaysia suspends access to Musk's Grok AI: regulator

◆ Malaysia suspended access to Elon Musk's chatbot Grok over AI-generated pornographic content, the country's tech regulator said yesterday. The decision follows global backlash after it emerged that Grok's image creation feature allowed users to sexualise pictures of women and children using simple text prompts. On Saturday Indonesia became the first country to deny all access to the tool, which has been restricted to paying subscribers elsewhere. The Malaysian Communications and Multimedia Commission said in a statement it had "directed a temporary restriction on access to the Grok artificial intelligence for users in Malaysia" with immediate effect. When an AFP reporter in the Malaysian capital Kuala Lumpur fed Grok prompts on Sunday, there was no response. "This action follows repeated misuse of Grok to generate obscene, sexually explicit, indecent, grossly offensive and non-consensual manipulated images," the regulator said.

◆ US and allied forces carried out "large-scale" strikes against the Islamic State jihadist group in Syria on Saturday, the US military said, the latest response to an attack last month that killed three Americans. S Central Command (CENTCOM), which oversees American military forces in the region, said multiple strikes "targeted ISIS throughout Syria," using an acronym for the jihadist group. ENTCOM's post on X did not give specifics on where they took place. Grainy aerial video accompanying the post showed several separate explosions, apparently in rural areas. The strikes were part of Operation Hawkeye Strike, which was launched "in direct response to the deadly ISIS attack on US and Syrian forces in Palmyra," CENTCOM said.

Saudi Arabia's oldest man dies at 142 after a life spanning country's history

Nasser bin Radan Al Rashid Al Wadaei Agencies

Saudi Arabia has lost its oldest known man, Nasser bin Radan Al Rashid Al Wadaei, who passed away at the age of 142, local media reported. He died in Riyadh, leaving behind a remarkable legacy of longevity and devotion. Al Wadaei was born in the late 19th century in the Dhahran Al Janoub area — years before the unification of the Kingdom — and lived through the reigns of Saudi Arabia's rulers from the founder, King Abdulaziz, to the current sovereign, King Salman. His life thus spanned more than a century of profound political, social and economic transformations in the country. His funeral was held in Dhahran Al Janoub, in the southern region, and was attended by more than 7,000 people, a testament to his deep standing in the community. He was then laid to rest in his home village of Al Rashid. According to family accounts and local reporting, Al Wadaei was known for his strong religious devotion. He is said to have performed the Hajj pilgrimage more than 40 times, an unusual feat reflecting both his faith and physical resilience. He also had an exceptionally large family: he is survived by 134 children and grandchildren. Reports indicate that he married for the last time at the age of 110 and subsequently had a daughter. News of his passing attracted widespread attention across Saudi social media, where many users described him as a symbol of faith, resilience and living memory of more than a century of Saudi history.

US President Donald Trump urged Cuba yesterday to "make a deal" or face unspecified consequences, warning that the flow of Venezuelan oil and money to Havana would now stop. "THERE WILL BE NO MORE OIL OR MONEY GOING TO CUBA - ZERO!" Trump said on his Truth Social channel. "I strongly suggest they make a deal, BEFORE IT IS TOO LATE." His remarks come a week after US forces seized Venezuela's authoritarian leader Nicolas Maduro in a nighttime operation in Caracas that killed dozens of Venezuelan and Cuban security forces. President Donald Trump reposted a social media message on Sunday suggesting that US Secretary of State Marco Rubio, born to Cuban immigrant parents, would become the next leader of Cuba. Trump republished a Truth Social message from user Cliff Smith, posted on January 8, that read "Marco Rubio will be president of Cuba," accompanied by a crying laughing emoji. Trump's comment on the repost was "Sounds good to me!" The largely unknown user, whose bio refers to him as a "conservative Californian" has ident of now communist-ruled Cuba. Trump shared that post with the comment: "Sounds good to me!" In his own post soon afterwards, Trump said that "Cuba lived, for many years, on large amounts of OIL and MONEY from Venezuela. In return, Cuba provided 'Security Services' for the last two Venezuelan dictators, BUT NOT ANYMORE!" "Most of those Cubans are DEAD from last week's U.S.A. attack, and Venezuela doesn't need protection anymore from the thugs and extortionists who held them hostage for so many years." Under a US trade embargo, Havana since 2000 has increasingly relied on Venezuelan oil provided as part of a deal struck with Maduro's predecessor Hugo Chavez.

Germany, Sweden warn Trump over new Greenland threats

AFP | Berlin, Germany

Germany and Sweden on Sunday pushed back as US President Donald Trump again suggested using force to seize the self-governing Danish territory of Greenland. The US general who is NATO's supreme commander in Europe said meanwhile that the military alliance was having "healthy" talks on Greenland's importance. Swedish Prime Minister Ulf Kristersson condemned US

"threatening rhetoric" after Trump repeated that Washington was "going to do something on Greenland, whether they like it or not". "On the contrary, the United States should thank Denmark, which over the years has been a very loyal ally," Kristersson said at a conference on Swedish defence. "Sweden, the Nordic countries, the Baltic states, and several major European countries stand together with our Danish friends," he said. Kristersson stressed a US takeover of the mineral-rich Arctic territory would be "a violation of international law and risks encouraging other countries to act in exactly the same way". "It is a dangerous path to take," he added. No 'immediate threat' Meanwhile, Germany reiterated its support for Denmark and Greenland ahead of meetings in Washington on Monday. Before talks with US Secretary of State Marco Rubio, German Foreign Minister Johann Wadepul will stop Sunday in Reykjavik to address the "strategic challenges of the Far North", according to the foreign ministry statement. "The legitimate interests of all NATO Allies, as well as those of the inhabitants of the (Arctic) region, must be at the centre of our discussions," Wadepul said in the statement. "It is clear that it is exclusively up to Greenland and Denmark to decide questions of Greenland's territory and sovereignty," he previously told Germany's Bild daily. NATO Supreme Allied Commander General Alexus Grynkeiwich told the Swedish defence conference that alliance members were having talks on Greenland's future. The US general added that while there was "no immediate threat" to NATO territory, the Arctic's strategic importance is fast growing.

AFP | Paris, France

At least 192 protesters have been killed in Iran's biggest movement against the Islamic republic in more than three years, a rights group said yesterday, as warnings grew that authorities were committing a "massacre" to quell the demonstrations.

The protests, initially sparked by anger over the rising cost of living, have now become a movement against the theocratic system in place in Iran since the 1979 revolution and have already lasted two weeks.

The mass rallies are one of the biggest challenges to the rule of supreme leader Ayatollah Ali Khamenei, 86, coming in the wake of Israel's 12-day war against the Islamic republic in June, which was backed by the United States.

Protests have swelled in recent days despite an internet blackout that has lasted more than 60 hours, according to monitor Netblocks, with activists warning the shutdown was limiting the flow of information and the actual toll risks being far higher.

"Since the start of the protests, Iran Human Rights has confirmed the killing of at least 192 protesters," the Norway-based non-governmental organisation said, warning that the deaths "may be even more extensive than we currently imagine".

Videos of large demonstrations in the capital Tehran and other cities over the past three nights have filtered out despite the internet cut that has rendered impossible normal communication with the outside world via messaging apps or even phone lines.

Video verified by AFP showed large crowds taking to the streets in new protests on Saturday night in several Iranian cities including Tehran and Mashhad in the east, where images showed vehicles set on fire.

Several circulating videos, which have not been verified by AFP, allegedly showed relatives in a Tehran morgue identifying bodies of protesters killed in the crackdown.

The US-based Center for Human Rights in Iran (CHRI) said it had received "eyewitness accounts and credible reports indicating that hundreds of protesters have been killed across Iran during the current internet shutdown".

"A massacre is unfolding in Iran. The world must act now to prevent further loss of life," it said.

It said hospitals were "overwhelmed", blood supplies were running low and that many protesters had been shot in the eyes in a deliberate tactic.

'Shot in the eyes'

Iran's security chief Ali Larijani drew a line between protests over economic hardship, which he called "completely understandable", and "riots", accusing them of actions "very similar to the methods of terrorist groups", Tasnim news agency reported.

Iran's President Masoud Pezeshkian said "rioters" must not disrupt Iranian society.

"The people (of Iran) should not allow rioters to disrupt society. The people should believe that we (the government) want to establish justice," he told state broadcaster IRIB.

In Tehran, an AFP journalist described a city in a state of near paralysis.

The price of meat has nearly doubled since the start of the protests, and while some shops are open, many others are not.

Those that do open must close at around 4:00 or 5:00 pm, when security forces deploy in force.

'Would hit back'

Iran's parliament speaker Mohammad Bagher Ghalibaf said Iran would hit back if the US launched military action.

"In the event of a military attack by the United States, both the occupied territory and centres of the US military and shipping will be our legitimate targets," he said in comments broadcast by state TV.

He was apparently also referring to Israel, which the Islamic republic does not recognise and considers occupied Palestinian territory.

Israel army issues evacuation warning for Lebanon village ahead of strikes

AFP | Jerusalem, Undefined

The Israeli army issued an evacuation warning on Sunday for the village of Kafr Hatta in southern Lebanon ahead of air strikes on Hezbollah targets in the area.

"The IDF (army) will soon, and once again, strike terrorist Hezbollah military infrastructure in the village, in order to address the prohibited attempts it is making to rebuild its activities there," Arabic-language spokesman Colonel Avichay Adraee wrote on X.

"We urge residents of the area... you are located near a compound used by Hezbollah. For your safety, you must evacuate it immediately and move at least 300 metres (980 feet) away. Remaining in the marked area puts your lives at risk," the warning said.

The Lebanese army said Thursday that it had completed disarming Hezbollah south of the Litani river, the first phase of a nationwide plan. Kafr Hatta is located north of the river.

Earlier on Sunday, the Israeli army announced in a statement that it had carried out strikes against what it said was Hezbollah infrastructure in other areas of south Lebanon "in response to Hezbollah's continuous violations of the ceasefire understandings."

Lebanon's state-run National News Agency reported "a series of violent Israeli strikes" on Jezzine, Mahmudiyeh and Al-Dimasqiyeh, as well as "more than 10 strikes" on Al-Bureij, all in southern Lebanon.

Under heavy US pressure and amid fears of expanded Israeli strikes, Lebanon has committed to disarming the, which was badly weakened after more than a year of hostilities including two months of all-out war that ended with a November 2024 ceasefire with Israel.

Bahrain's Youth Lead the Charge at Malkiya Beach Eco-Cleanup

Over 200 volunteers gathered at Malkiya Beach for a youth-led Eco Awareness & Action Beach Cleanup. The initiative, a brainchild of WMC Toastmasters and the Gavel Club, was organized in partnership with OneHeartBahrain, Urbaser, Al Mahd School, and supported by The Path Bahrain. The event transformed the beach into an outdoor classroom where Gavel Club members led by example, delivering eco-awareness speeches and mentoring younger children. Urbaser's interactive Eco Bus provided practical lessons on waste management, while Al Mahd School students and staff reinforced the importance of environmental education. WMC Toastmasters President Mr. Roy Skaria, alongside representatives from OneHeartBahrain, emphasized that the day was about more than just collecting litter. By fostering teamwork and leadership, the initiative successfully spread a vital message of ecological preservation. The event concluded with a shared commitment to work together toward a cleaner, greener future for Bahrain's coastal environment.

New Student Health Ambassadors Programme Launched at RCSI Medical University of Bahrain

Manama

The Royal College of Surgeons in Ireland (RCSI) – Medical University of Bahrain has launched its Student Health Ambassadors (SHA) programme, an initiative designed to promote positive health and wellbeing and foster a healthy campus environment for all students in line with the World Health Organization (WHO) Healthy University framework.

In accordance with WHO indicators, trained Student Health Ambassadors will actively engage with students in their year group to promote health and safety, raise awareness of healthy lifestyles and contribute to initiatives that embed wellbeing into the University environment.

Student Health Ambassadors are selected through an open and competitive application process, where candidates are assessed on their knowledge and relevant experience in health and wellbeing initiatives, as well as the personal qualities essential to the role, including professionalism, approachability, cultural awareness and a strong commitment to upholding the Student Code of Conduct.

Dr Wendy Maddison, Head of Student Development and Wellbeing at RCSI Medical University of Bahrain, stated: "The launch of the Student Health Ambassadors programme at RCSI Medical University of Bahrain represents an important step in strengthening our holistic approach to student wellbeing and shaping future global healthcare practitioners. The launch of this programme reinforces our commitment to a comprehensive wellbeing framework that supports student success and prepares them in their future role as compassionate and resilient healthcare professionals."

Eleven Student Health Ambassadors have been selected, with one student appointed from each year of study in the School of Medicine and the School of Nursing and Midwifery, ensuring broad representation and accessible peer support across the University.

Ms Isra Yaser, Nursing Year 4 student and Student Health Ambassador, shared her perspective, stating: "I was motivated to join the Student Health Ambassadors Programme because I believe in promoting a culture of wellbeing and supporting my peers as they navigate their academic journey. Through my role as an SHA, I hope to raise awareness of available services, encourage students to prioritise their wellbeing and help create an environment where every student feels heard, supported and empowered to thrive."

Student Health Ambassador Ms Eman Alqayem, who is a final year medical student, said: "I understand the different challenges that students face throughout their academic journey as future nurses and doctors. Through my role as an SHA, I aim to contribute to a more supportive, open and connected student community at RCSI Medical University of Bahrain."

The Student Health Ambassadors programme forms part of RCSI Medical University of Bahrain's strategic approach to providing an enriched student experience, with an emphasis on personal growth and professional development, and recognising wellbeing and resilience as critical enablers of healthcare leadership.

ICC Men's T20 Cricket World Cup Trophy Tour at NMS

Manama

New Millennium School, Bahrain, witnessed a historic and proud moment as it hosted the ICC Men's T20 Cricket World Cup Trophy on 11th January, 2026 as part of the ICC Men's T20 Cricket World Cup Trophy Tour, a global initiative that brings the spirit and excitement of international cricket closer to fans across the world. The prestigious trophy visit turned the school campus into a hub of enthusiasm, inspiration, and sporting pride.

The event was graced by esteemed officials from the ICC, Bahrain Cricket Federation (BCF), members of the school management, faculty, and students, who gathered to witness the iconic symbol of cricketing excellence. The occasion highlighted the values of teamwork, resilience, discipline, and unity—principles that align closely with the school's educational philosophy.

Addressing the gathering, Principal Dr Arun Kumar Sharma expressed his pride and gratitude, stating that hosting the ICC Men's T20 Cricket World Cup Trophy was a moment of immense honour for the school. He further added that the school has had the glory of five of its students representing the Bahrain National Cricket Team and that such initiatives motivate the school to further strengthen its sports programmes, thus aiming to see many more players from the school representing Bahrain at international platforms in the future."

Chairman Dr Ravi Pillai and Managing Director Mrs Geetha Pillai expressed their delight on the occasion and shared that the trophy tour was not just about the game, but about inspiring young minds to pursue passion, dedication, and excellence in every field of life.

The programme concluded with a vote of thanks, acknowledging the ICC and BCF officials for giving the school the opportunity to be part of this remarkable global journey. The event left behind lasting memories and a renewed sense of inspiration among students and staff alike.

The ICC Men's T20 World Cup Trophy Tour at New Millennium School, Bahrain, will be remembered as a landmark event that beautifully blended education, sports, and global unity.

BIS Hosts ICC Men's T20 World Cup Trophy Tour 2026

Manama

Bahrain Indian School (BIS) had the honour of hosting the prestigious ICC Men's T20 World Cup Trophy Tour 2026 at its campus, in collaboration with the Bahrain Cricket Federation. The landmark event brought global sporting excitement directly to the school community and offered students a rare opportunity to witness one of international cricket's most iconic symbols.

The special engagement session enabled students to experience the ICC Men's T20

World Cup Trophy first-hand, inspiring them through exposure to a world-class sporting event and reinforcing the values of excellence, teamwork, and sportsmanship. The visit created an atmosphere of enthusiasm and pride across the campus.

An official photo session formed an integral part of the programme, with students proudly dressed in their physical education uniforms, reflecting discipline and unity. The trophy was formally welcomed by the School Directors, Mr Himanshu Verma and Mrs Ritu Verma, along with Principal, Mr Saji Jacob, in the presence of ICC Men's T20 World Cup officials, marking a memorable moment in the school's history.

Hosting the ICC Men's T20 World Cup Trophy Tour 2026 stands as a significant milestone for Bahrain Indian School, reaffirming its commitment to providing students with enriching global exposure and holistic learning experiences beyond the classroom.

Sabalenka fires Australian Open warm-up with Brisbane domination

World No.1 crushes Marta Kostyuk to claim back-to-back Brisbane titles

● Sabalenka beats Kostyuk 6-4, 6-3

● Straight-sets final victory

AFP | Brisbane

World number one Aryna Sabalenka warmed up for a tilt at a third Australian open title in four years in ominous fashion by winning her second successive Brisbane International crown yesterday.

Sabalenka scored a dominant 6-4, 6-3 win over Marta Kostyuk in just 78 minutes.

“Every day you go out there and prove your level, and I think this week I did it really well,” said Sabalenka after a tournament in which she powered to the title without dropping a set.

Looking ahead to the Australian Open, which begins next yesterday, Sabalenka said: “The only thing I know is that I’ll be there, I’ll be fighting.”

Sabalenka lost in the Melbourne Park final last year to Madison Keys, having been Australian Open champion in 2023 and 2024.

“I’ll do my best to go as far as possible,” said Sabalenka. “And do a little bit better than last year. That’s my focus.”

Kostyuk, the world number 26, had enjoyed a spectacular week, beating three top 10 players on the way to the final.

But she had no answer to the power of Sabalenka and the Ukrainian’s serve, so reliable in the early rounds, also went off the boil.

Sabalenka was rarely troubled on her own delivery and faced only three break points.

The 27-year-old Belarusian said she had tried to introduce new elements to her game so she wasn’t relying just on power, and that had paid off this week.

Ukraine spotlight

“I finally found the touch game,” she said.

“I figured something and I kind of changed my game style-- now I’m not only the aggressive player, I can play at the net, I can be in defence, I can use my slice, I have a good touch.

“I’m super happy to see that things are clicking together.”

There has been animosity between the two players in the past.

Like many Ukraine players, Kostyuk refuses to shake hands with Russians or Belarusians because of the war in her homeland.

There was no handshake at the end of the Brisbane final and in her speech at the trophy presentation, Kostyuk brought up the situation in Ukraine.

“I play every day with a pain in my heart and there are thousands of people who are without light and warm water right now,” she said.

Kostyuk refused a post-match handshake, instead using her runner-up speech to draw attention to Ukraine’s freezing winter and ongoing humanitarian crisis

Sabalenka said she wasn’t concerned by Kostyuk’s attitude towards her.

“It’s their position, what can I do?,” she asked.

“When I go out there, I think about my tennis and the things I have to do to get the win.

“It doesn’t matter if it’s Marta Kostyuk or Jessica Pegula there. I have nothing to prove. I go there and I just compete as an athlete.”

Kostyuk told reporters she was determined to keep what is happening in Ukraine in the public eye.

“I think it’s important for me to use my platform in the right way, and my platform is Ukraine, because I represent Ukraine,” she said.

“So I think it’s really important to talk about that.”

Arsenal villain Martinelli turns FA Cup hat-trick hero

Arsenal’s Brazilian midfielder #11 Gabriel Martinelli headers the ball to score a goal

AFP | London

Gabriel Martinelli shrugged off the backlash to his clash with stricken Liverpool defender Conor Bradley to send Arsenal into the fourth round of the FA Cup with a 4-1 win at Portsmouth yesterday.

The Championship side were dreaming of an upset against the Premier League leaders when they went in front after just three minutes through Colby Bishop.

Arsenal boss Mikel Arteta had made 10 changes from the side that drew 0-0 with Liverpool on Thursday.

Martinelli drew stinging criticism for trying to push Bradley off the pitch in the closing stages after the Northern Irishman hit the ground with a serious knee injury.

Liverpool confirmed yesterday the right-back will need surgery and will miss the rest of the season.

The Brazilian apologised to Bradley after the game and did not seem affected by the furore at Fratton Park.

Arsenal could rely on their threat from set-pieces to turn the tie around.

The Pompey lead lasted only two minutes as Christian Norgaard bundled in from close range before Martinelli flicked in the first of his three goals.

Noni Madueke missed the chance to make it 3-1 from the penalty spot when the England international fired wide.

Martinelli did kill the tie off early in the second period from Gabriel Jesus’ cross before completing his hat-trick from another Arsenal corner.

Svitolina powers to Auckland title in Australian Open warm-up

AFP | Auckland

Top seed Elena Svitolina powered to a straight-sets victory over China’s Wang Xinyu in the Auckland Classic final yesterday in an impressive display just a week before the Australian Open.

Ukraine’s Svitolina won 6-3, 7-6 (8/6) for a 19th career title in a battle between two baseline specialists which featured only one service break.

The world number 13 reached the quarter-finals at Melbourne a year ago, the third time she had made the Australian Open last eight.

Svitolina, 31, was playing her first tournament in four months after choosing to finish the 2025 season early for mental health reasons.

“It definitely feels amazing to win another title and especially after not a very pleasant end of year for me,” Svitolina said.

“That break really helped me to regroup and come back with new energy.”

The former world number three’s has a remarkable record in WTA finals, having won 19 times in her 23 appearances.

It was just the second time for 24-year-old seventh seed Wang had reached a final.

Arab Club run back on track for Muharraq

TDT | Manama

Bahrain champions Muharraq returned to winning ways yesterday at the 44th Arab Club Men's Volleyball Championship, sweeping Qatar's Al Shorta SC 3-0 (25-23, 25-22, 25-20) at the Salle de la Cite Sportive in Le Kram, Tunisia. The result comes after back-to-back defeats and keeps Muharraq firmly in contention heading into the final round of the preliminary stage.

The fourth-round clash brought a spirited response from Muharraq, who displayed renewed intensity and composure throughout the contest. After narrowly edging the opening two sets, the Bahrainis delivered their most impressive stretch of volleyball in the third, highlighting the resilience that has defined their tournament campaign.

Muharraq were forced to dig deep in the final set after falling behind 8-2 early. Refusing to let the match slip, they mounted a remarkable comeback, overturning the deficit to surge ahead 20-17. The momentum proved decisive, and a net touch on match point sealed a convincing straight-sets victory for Yaseen Al Meel's side.

The win lifts Muharraq's record to two victories from four matches in Group B, revitalising their hopes of progressing after a challenging start to the competition.

The Red Wolves will conclude their preliminary-round schedule today when they face the Palestinian Military Club at 1pm, with qualification still within reach as the championship continues in Tunisia until January 18.

Kohli hits 93 as India edge New Zealand in ODI opener

India's Virat Kohli watches the ball after playing a shot

AFP | Vadodara

Virat Kohli hit 93 to help India chase down 301 in a tense four-wicket win over New Zealand in the first one-day international yesterday.

The in-form Kohli struck his 77th ODI half-century as he became the second leading run-scorer in international cricket with a total of 28,068 runs.

With his dismissal, India slipped from 234-2 to 242-5 before they reached their target with six balls to spare in Vadodara.

Skipper Shubman Gill made 56 in a 118-run second wicket stand with Kohli, who shared another strong partnership with Shreyas Iyer, who made 49. Late cameos by Harshit Rana (29) and wicketkeeper-batter KL Rahul, who made an unbeaten 29 including the winning six, secured an Indian lead in the three-match series 1-0.

New Zealand pace spearhead Kyle Jamieson stood out with figures of 4-41.

Kohli led the chase as he went past Sri Lanka's Kumar Sangakkara (28,016 runs) to move second in the list of leading run-scorers in the international game, behind fellow Indian Sachin Tendulkar (34,357).

"My journey has been nothing short of a dream-come-true for me," Kohli said after being named man of the match.

"I look at my journey with grace and gratitude. With the way I am playing at the moment, I am not looking at milestones. Only thing in my mind was to help the team win."

The 37-year-old Kohli only plays the ODI format after he and fellow stalwart Rohit Sharma, 38, retired from T20 and Test cricket.

Medvedev warms up in style for Australian Open with Brisbane win

AFP | Brisbane

Three-time Australian Open runner-up Daniil Medvedev warmed up for an assault on this year's opening Grand Slam in perfect fashion by winning the Brisbane International final yesterday.

The Russian world number 13 was too strong for American Brandon Nakashima and ran out a 6-2, 7-6 (7/1) winner in 96 minutes on Pat Rafter Arena for his 22nd ATP Tour title.

Medevdev broke a shell-shocked Nakashima twice in the first set and looked on course for a quick victory.

Nakashima rallied in the second to force a tiebreak but the towering Russian raced to a 5-0 lead in the breaker and the match was as good as over.

in Melbourne next Sunday, January 18.

"It's been a great start to the year," said Medvedev, who made the final in Brisbane in 2019.

"I said then that I would try and come back and win it. I came back seven or eight years later and I'm happy to hold the trophy."

Keys draws on happy Adelaide memories before Australian Open defence

Madison Keys was relishing being back on her happy hunting ground in Adelaide yesterday, where a year ago her run to first Grand Slam title all began.

The American swept to the 2025 Adelaide International trophy and it sparked her run to an Australian Open triumph, won in an epic final against Aryna Sabalenka at Melbourne Park.

"It definitely helped a lot," the 30-year-old American told reporters on the eve of the WTA Adelaide event.

Keys also won in 2022 on her only other appearance in the South Australia city, and thinks that is a good omen for her Australian Open preparation.

"Twice before I've played Adelaide and I ended up making the semis of the Australian Open. And then last year obviously I went deep," said Keys, the world number seven.

The Australian Open is just a week away and Keys is taking only positives from her defeat to Sabalenka at the season-opening Brisbane International last week.

"You want matches at the beginning of the season. You really want to test yourself," said Keys, who has a first-round bye in Adelaide.

"Getting as many good matches as possible helps you figure out what's working, what's not working, where to make some tweaks here or there."

"It also gives you a lot of confidence and momentum."

Keys is now the top seed in Adelaide after fellow American Jessica Pegula pulled out following her run to the semi-final in Brisbane on Saturday.

Comeback kid Hurkacz inspires Poland to first United Cup title

AFP | Sydney

Poland's Hubert Hurkacz capped an emotional injury comeback and earned United Cup redemption as he inspired his country to their first title with victory against Switzerland in Sydney yesterday.

Switzerland took a shock early lead when Belinda Bencic stunned world number two Iga Swiatek 3-6, 6-0, 6-3 in the opening singles of the mixed teams event.

Playing his first tournament in seven months following knee surgery, the 28-year-old Hurkacz withstood a Stan Wawrinka fightback to prevail 6-3, 3-6, 6-3 and send it to a deciding doubles.

Hubert Hurkacz (left) is congratulated by Stan Wawrinka

Katarzyna Kawa and Jan Zieliński then completed a famous victory by beating Bencic and Jakub Paul 6-4, 6-3.

Hurkacz fired 18 aces against the 40-year-old Wawrinka to erase two heartbreaking near misses in the last two United Cup finals.

In 2024, Hurkacz squandered two championship points before falling to Germany's Alexander Zverev. The USA's Taylor Fritz denied him in a third-set tie-break last year.

"He's definitely an inspiration," Hurkacz said of Wawrinka, who is playing his final season on tour before retirement.

"I was growing up watching him play, compete and win so much. Obviously his game style is really powerful."

"The shots that he can pull off sometimes, you can really admire them even when you are on the other side of the net."
