Shura Council panel rejects plan for a fixed cap on foreign workers’ permits

● Lawmakers brace for Sunday debate

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

Plans to make Bahrain’s labour market authorities set a national ceiling on work permits for foreign workers face a hurdle in the Shura Council.

The council’s Services Committee has urged members to reject a draft amendment to the Labour Market Regulation Law when it comes up for debate on Sunday.

Under the proposal — already approved by Parliament — Article 4 of Law No. 19 of 2006 would be revised so that the national labour market plan must set a maximum number of work permits the Labour Market Regulatory Authority (LMRA) can issue within a given period.

Current wording only states that the plan may include such a ceiling.

Recommendation

Committee members, supported by the LMRA, the Ministry of Labour and the government’s legal advisers, have recommended that the Shura Council should not agree in principle to the amendment.

While the draft retains the overall structure of Article 4, it tightens one key sentence.

The revised plan, prepared

Shura Council session in progress

by the Labour Ministry in coordination with the LMRA and approved by the Cabinet every four years, would be obligated to include an upper limit on total work permits — whether across all sectors or defined by occupation or economic activity.

Draft

In its review, the Shura Council’s Legislative and Legal Affairs Committee confirmed that the draft is constitutionally and legally sound.

In its report, the Services Committee says the current law was written in a way that allows the LMRA to respond to economic shifts and emergency events without having to wait for amendments to pass through the legislature.

The national plan runs for four years.

If a compulsory ceiling is set at the start of each period and left in place until the end, the committee argues, the labour market may be left with numbers that no longer match actual demand if new needs arise in key sectors halfway through.

The committee report also warns that a hard national ceiling might restrict Bahraini employers who wish to expand their projects.

The committee also questions how far the proposed wording would reduce the volume of permits in practice.

It says public bodies asked to set a ceiling for a four-year plan are likely to choose a high figure that covers as many future scenarios as possible, which would leave the legal change as a formality while the limit itself remains broad enough to absorb both expected and unexpected demand.

Abroad

Another point raised is that work permits are not all used to bring in new workers from abroad.

A large share relates to foreign workers already living in Bahrain who move from one employer to another as demand shifts.

A single compulsory ceiling on total permits, the report notes, could limit this movement in the market and place extra pressure on businesses, without directly shrinking the foreign workforce.

Progress

On the question of job opportunities for citizens, the Services Committee argues that progress depends on training, qualifications and wage support rather than simply cutting numbers of permits.

It says the employment of Bahrainis rests on preparing people for the skills employers seek in an open market and on continuous training and incentives delivered through government programmes, rather than on a numerical cap alone.

BD200m state transfer cuts jobless fund assets by a fifth

● Shura panel affirms account remains sound

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

Millions shifted from Bahrain’s unemployment insurance fund to the state in 2023 have cut its net assets by about a fifth, but a Shura Council committee says the account remains sound and wants councillors to approve its audited 2023 statements on Sunday.

In a report to the chamber, the Financial and Economic Affairs Committee says total assets in the Unemployment Insurance Account stood at BD614.9 million at the end of 2023, with liabilities of BD151.8m and net assets of about BD463.2m.

The rise in liabilities is mainly linked to the BD200m transfer authorised by Parliament to support programmes aimed at moving Bahrainis into work, of which BD67.67m had been paid by 31 December 2023 and BD133.3m remained due.

The committee notes that core insurance activity continued to generate a surplus, with contributions outstripping benefits by roughly BD54.4m in 2023, compared with about

Khalid Al Maskati, Head of Shura’s Financial and Economic Affairs Committee

Core insurance activity continued to generate a surplus, with contributions outstripping benefits by roughly BD54.4m in 2023, compared with about BD51.3m in 2022.

Contributions from the public and private sectors reached BD89m, up 8.3 per cent on the previous year, while payments to unemployed Bahrainis and first-time jobseekers rose by 11.8pc to around BD34.6m.

About 81pc of contributions came from private-sector employers and workers, with the public sector providing the remaining 19pc.

Investment returns strengthened over the year. Net investment income rose from BD434,000 in 2022 to BD22.7m in 2023, driven by higher gains on financial instruments and interest income.

As a result, operating results reached BD75.5m before accounting for the BD200m transfer to the state.

Fall

Once that transfer is recognised, the net change in assets for 2023 becomes a negative BD124.5m, which explains the fall in the fund’s overall position.

Cash movements also shifted.

Net cash from operating activities fell from BD68m in 2022 to BD3.9m in 2023, while net cash from investing activities moved from a negative BD118.3m to a positive BD15.7m.

Despite the change in pattern, cash and cash equivalents at year-end climbed to BD35m, more than double the BD15.4m recorded a year earlier.

BD382,000 investment scheme fraud

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

A young man is on trial accused of running an unlicensed crypto investment scheme that pulled in about BD382,000 from at least 19 victims after he promised monthly returns of 10 per cent, the High Criminal Court has heard.

Prosecutors say he collected and received the money through a private online investment platform he claimed to own and manage, without a licence from the Central Bank of Bahrain or any other competent authority.

He is also accused of taking victims’ cash through fraudulent means, including interference with an information technology system.

According to case papers, the defendant met victims, introduced himself as an experienced investor, and opened accounts for them on the platform, providing usernames and passwords.

He then asked them to transfer funds through a financial application to bank accounts held in other names, saying the sums were being deposited into the platform.

1.4 tonnes of illegal drugs and substances incinerated

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

About 1.4 tonnes of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances, with a street value put at more than BD7 million, have been burned in Bahrain after final court orders for their confiscation.

The quantities were seized in cases concluded between mid-2023 and the end of 2024 and were ordered destroyed under Law No. 15 of 2007 on narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances, once the judgments became final and binding.

A committee formed by a decision of the Minister of Justice, Islamic Affairs and Waqf, and including representatives from the Public Prosecution, the Interior Ministry and the Justice Ministry visited the secure store where the items were kept.

Lieutenant Colonel Fawaz Al Doseri attended on behalf of the Interior Ministry, alongside Mohammed Makki for the Justice Ministry.

The committee carried out a legal check of the seized materials, confirming the case details, seals and recorded weights.

TDT | Manama

The Bahrain Tourism and Exhibitions Authority (BTEA) is finalising preparations to launch Hawa Al Manama, taking place from December 25, 2025, to January 15, 2026, as part of the Celebrate Bahrain season.

The event will offer interactive experiences inspired by Bahrain's cultural and economic transformation between the 1960s and 1990s.

Sara Ahmed Buhejji, Chief Executive Officer of BTEA, said the event's location in the old souq carries particular significance, reflecting the historical importance of Manama and the role it played in shaping the economic and social identity of the Kingdom of Bahrain.

Restaurant owner jailed for selling expired foodstuffs and running unlicensed home kitchen

A restaurant owner has been jailed for three years and fined BD7,200 after the Lower Criminal Court found she had been preparing and selling food with expired ingredients and running an unlicensed kitchen from her home, according to the Public Prosecution.

The court also ordered the confiscation of all seized items that breached approved technical rules or had no clear source.

Prosecutors said the defendant was convicted of trading in expired foodstuffs and goods that did not meet approved standards, and neglecting the cleanliness and maintenance of her outlet.

She also displayed products of unknown origin and carried out activities not listed on her health registration certificate.

In addition, the defendant was found guilty of running a business without the required licences from the competent authorities.

The case began when the Public Prosecution received a report from an employee at the restaurant she owns.

He told prosecutors she was

The Public Prosecution opened an inquiry, took the whistle-blower's statement and asked the police to check his claims.

Police reports confirmed the account, after which prosecutors obtained a warrant to search the defendant's home.

During the search, officers seized quantities of expired and mouldy food, other items of unknown origin and tools and equipment used to prepare food without a licence.

Mohamed Al Bannai, a master boat maker

● Preserving kingdom maritime heritage

Heritage Village in Askar is now open from 4th to 28th December, welcoming visitors to experience authentic Bahraini traditions, historic architecture, handmade crafts, and local cuisine.

The Daily Tribune recently visited to meet Mohamed Al Bannai, a master boat maker.

Mohamed began making wooden ships as a hobby before turning it into his profession, practicing this craft for more than 20 years.

He works as a "Qallaf," the traditional term for a craftsman who builds wooden boats.

Journey

He began his professional journey in 2005 and specializes in creating several types of boat, each with distinct designs and purposes even if they may appear similar at first glance.

For instance, the Banoosh has a straight bow, while the Sanbouk features a sharply curved bow at the lower front; both are still used for fishing today.

The Batteel was historically used for warfare, and the large Boom served long-distance travel and for transporting goods across the Gulf, Africa, and India before the era of airplanes and bridges.

The Jalboot, with its right-angle design, is used for diving and transporting cargo.

The Trading Boom, the largest of these boats, is a tall, slender boat designed for long-distance maritime trade, reaching ports in India, Yemen, and East Africa.

In contrast, the Driving Boom is smaller and lower in height.

Mohamed explained, "Each boat has its own story and purpose. Even if they look similar, every detail is carefully designed for its specific function. This is what makes our craft unique."

Cost

One reason for the high cost of these boats is the use of teak wood, which is naturally oily, water-resistant, and imported from India.

However, it has become rare and expensive due to export restrictions.

A booth displaying preserved animals stunned visitors at the Arab Open University's National Day celebration, instantly becoming the event's most magnetic and debated attraction.

What initially appeared to be a modest display revealed itself to be an unexpectedly captivating collection of carefully preserved creatures and anatomical pieces rarely seen outside specialised museums.

Encased butterflies shimmered under the light, colourful beetles appeared almost sculptural in their detail, and a gazelle skull crowned with its natural horns drew repeated gasps from onlookers.

Nearby lay a preserved peacock leg, textured and striking, alongside camel teeth arranged like archaeological findings from Bahrain's distant past.

The booth invited both curiosity and contemplation, prompting visitors to linger far longer than they anticipated,

Pottery-making and natural art displays delight visitors fascinated by the delicate balance between art, science and nature embodied in each item.

Celebration

The wider event unfolded across the university grounds with an atmosphere that blended heritage and joyful festivity.

A Bahraini folk band set the rhythm with nostalgic melodies that carried the spirit of the kingdom's cultural past, filling the venue with familiar echoes of tradition.

Food stalls offered an impressive range of experiences, from Bahraini Kebab to pasta, burgers and popular fast dishes.

Cafes poured matcha, karak and speciality brews, while a nostalgic corner revived the charm of old Bahraini snacks once found in neighbourhood groceries but now difficult to come find.

Market

A vibrant marketplace extended across the campus, showcasing anime stickers, accessories, clothing, shawls, hats and National Day apparel in red and white. Handmade items crafted from wool and beads added depth to the scene.

Traditional artisans demonstrated pottery making, palm-leaf basket weaving and the intricate shaping of wooden dolls, offering visitors an up close encounter with Bahrain's heritage crafts.

Festivities

Competitions, games and soft-toy prizes kept the energy high as families, children and guests joined the celebration.

The open door spirit transformed the campus into a community festival, where students laughed, parents explored and children played freely, weaving together a vivid National Day atmosphere.

The event reflected Bahrain's enduring pride in its cultural identity, celebrating unity, creativity and tradition in a lively, inclusive setting.

He further thanked all SPE volunteers, the SPE Bahrain team, and the SPE Bahrain Technical Committee, recognizing their dedication, passion, and behind-the-scenes work that shaped every session, workshop, and initiative delivered throughout the year.

10 major events

He highlighted that SPE Bahrain delivered ten major events in 2025 including knowledge sharing session, workshops, courses, which formed a comprehensive technical agenda that spanned subsurface innovation, digital transformation, operational excellence, and emerging strategic themes. These efforts elevated learning, fostered collaboration, and strengthened the Society’s role as a leading hub for knowledge exchange across the energy community. Looking ahead, the section announced that the 2026 Technical Program is shaping into one of its most ambitious lineups yet. Planned themes include next-generation reservoir technologies, digital subsurface workflows, AI-driven optimization, process engineering advancements, safety innovation, and the rising role of human-factors engineering. These topics reflect global industry trends and SPE Bahrain’s commitment to nurturing future-ready talent. SPE Bahrain now turns its attention toward a major milestone—the Silver Jubilee celebration, planned for April 2026, marking more than twenty-five years of collaboration, service, and technical excellence. ◆ Bangladesh will hold national polls on February 12, the electoral commission announced Thursday, the country's first vote since a student-led uprising toppled former prime minister Sheikh Hasina last year. A referendum on a landmark democratic reform charter will also be held on the same day, Chief Election Commissioner AMM Nasir Uddin said in a television broadcast to the nation. The Muslim-majority country of 170 million people has been in political turmoil since Hasina was overthrown in August 2024, ending her 15-year autocratic rule. Her former ruling party Awami League has been banned from running. More than 600 British Empire artefacts stolen from museum: police

◆ More than 600 items from a collection documenting the links between Britain and countries in the former British Empire were stolen from a UK museum in September, police said yesterday. Avon and Somerset police have launched an appeal for information about four men captured on CCTV images on September 25 outside a building in the southwestern city of Bristol which housed items from the collection. "More than 600 artefacts of various descriptions were taken by the offenders," police said in a statement about the theft from the British Empire and Commonwealth Collection. "The theft of many items which carry a significant cultural value is a significant loss for the city," said the officer in the case, Dan Burgan. "These items, many of which were donations, form part of a collection that provides insight into a multi-layered part of British history."

◆ Austrian lawmakers yesterday voted by a large majority in favour of a law banning headscarves in schools for girls under 14, a move rights groups and experts say is discriminatory and could deepen societal division. Austria's conservative-led government -- under pressure with anti-immigration sentiment is running high -- proposed the ban earlier this year, arguing it is aimed at protecting girls "from oppression". In 2019 the country introduced a ban on headscarves in primary schools, but the constitutional court struck it down. This time the government insists that its law is constitutional, though experts have suggested it could be seen as discriminating against one religion -- Islam -- and putting children in an uncomfortable position. The law prevents girls younger than 14 from wearing headscarves that "cover the head in accordance with Islamic traditions" in all schools.

French supermarket's veggie wolf Christmas ad goes viral

AFP | Paris, France

A French supermarket has made a strong entry into the competitive field of Christmas advertising with a viral animated clip about a vegetarian wolf that has wracked up tens of millions of views internationally.

The Intermarche production has been praised for its tear-jerking take on friendship and stereotypes, but also for its use of human actors and an animation studio -- instead of artificial intelligence.

Set to the song "Unloved" by French crooner Claude Francois, it recounts the journey of a wolf from feared forest predator to a beloved vegetarian chef who forages mushrooms and berries for an all-creature Christmas dinner.

"I'm genuinely in love with this ad a french one? for a SUPERMARKET?? like woa," wrote X user @pawcord who posted the full video which has been viewed there more than 26 million times.

Thierry Cotillard, the chairman of Intermarche, celebrated that "our 'unloved' wolf is now loved by the entire world" in a post on the LinkedIn social network.

He said it was made over the last year by around 100 people, led by Montpellier-based animation company Illogie Studios, whose short animated film "Garden Party" was nominated for an Oscar in 2018.

Cotillard and the studio confirmed that the Intermarche ad had been produced without artificial intelligence, which is blamed for flooding the internet with quick and cheap "slop" cartoons.

The technology is threatening jobs across the advertising and animation industries.

Many Western retail brands spend a considerable part of their annual marketing budget on Christmas advertisements, seeking to boost sales and their image at a time of peak consumer spending.

But while a brand such as Coca-Cola was long seen as expert in the domain, the exercise can be fraught with danger.

Coca-Cola's recent efforts have been panned as cheap low-quality animations, while the Dutch branch of McDonald's withdrew an AI-generated advert from YouTube earlier this month after it was dubbed "creepy" and "depressing" by critics.

Israel says Hamas 'will be disarmed' after group proposes weapons freeze

Hamas rejects the demand for total disarmament

- Netanyahu recently indicated the second phase to begin soon
- Netanyahu is expected to meet Trump on December 29

AFP | Jerusalem, Undefined

Israel said yesterday Hamas "will be disarmed" as part of the US-sponsored peace plan for Gaza, after a top leader from the Palestinian Islamist movement suggested a weapons freeze.

The ceasefire, in effect since October 10, halted the war that began after Hamas's deadly attack on Israel on October 7, 2023. But it remains fragile as Israel and Hamas accuse each other almost daily of violations.

Top Hamas leader Khaled Meshaal told Qatari news channel Al Jazeera that the group is open to a weapons "freeze", but rejects the demand for total disarmament put forward in Trump's plan for the Palestinian territory.

An Israeli government official told AFP, however, that "there will be no future for Hamas under the 20-point plan. The terror group will be disarmed and Gaza will be demilitarised".

The agreement is composed of three phases. Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu recently indicated that he expected the second phase to begin soon.

Under that phase Israeli troops would further withdraw from their positions in Gaza and be replaced by an international stabilisation force (ISF), while Hamas would lay down its weapons.

The Palestinian group has indicated it would not agree to giving up its arsenal.

"The idea of total disarmament is unacceptable to the resistance (Hamas)," Meshaal said in the interview aired on Wednesday. "What is being proposed is a freeze, or storage (of weapons)... to provide guarantees against any military escalation from Gaza with the Israeli occupation," he added.

"This is the idea we're discussing with the mediators, and I believe that with pragmatic American thinking... such a vision could be agreed upon with the US administration," he said.

Netanyahu is expected to meet US President Donald Trump in the United States on December 29 to discuss the next steps in the truce.

Hamas was founded in 1987 during the First Intifada as an offshoot of the Muslim Brotherhood in Gaza.

China's top diplomat to visit Middle East this week

AFP | Beijing, China

China's top diplomat Wang Yi will begin a tour of the Middle East on Friday for bilateral talks in the United Arab Emirates, Saudi Arabia and Jordan, Beijing said yesterday.

Wang will visit from 12 to 16 December for talks with foreign ministers "to exchange views on bilateral relations, the situation in the Middle East and major issues of common concern", China's foreign ministry said in a statement.

"China expects that through this visit, it can consolidate political mutual trust with the three countries," foreign ministry spokesman Guo Jiakun said.

China is also focusing on the Middle East as part of its Belt and Road Initiative, a vast global infrastructure project developed over the last decade.

US seized 'very large' tanker near Venezuela, Trump says

Screen grabs from a video posted by US Attorney General Pam Bondi on her X account shows what Bondi says is the execution of "a seizure warrant for a crude oil tanker used to transport sanctioned oil from Venezuela and Iran" off the coast of Venezuela

AFP | Washington, United States

The United States has seized a large oil tanker off the coast of Venezuela, President Donald Trump said yesterday, which Caracas deemed a 'blatant theft' amid escalating tensions between the countries.

The move comes during a huge US naval build-up in the Caribbean, which Venezuela's leftist leader Nicolas Maduro says is aimed at regime change, and strikes on alleged drug boats.

A video published by US Attorney General Pam Bondi showed troops rappelling from a helicopter onto the tanker's deck, then entering the ship's bridge with rifles raised. "We've just seized a tanker on the coast of Venezuela, a large tanker, very large -- the largest one ever seized, actually," Trump told reporters at the start of a roundtable with business leaders at the White House.

"And other things are happening, so you'll be seeing that later," Bondi said the tanker was part of an "illicit oil shipping network" used to carry sanctioned oil from Venezuela and Iran.

Time magazine named the "Architects of AI" as its Person of the Year yesterday, highlighting the US tech titans whose work on the cutting-edge technology is transforming humanity.

Nvidia's Jensen Huang, OpenAI's Sam Altman and xAI's Elon Musk are among the entrepreneurs who have "grabbed the wheel of history, developing technology and making decisions that are reshaping the information landscape, the climate, and our livelihoods," the magazine said.

"They reoriented government policy, altered geopolitical rivalries, and brought robots into homes. AI emerged as arguably the most consequential tool in great-power competition since the advent of nuclear weapons."

One of two covers of the magazine is a take on the iconic "Lunch atop a Skyscraper" photograph from 1932 that shows ironworkers casually eating lunch on a steel beam above New York City. In the Time illustration, Mark Zuckerberg, AMD chief Lisa Su, Musk, Huang, Altman as well as Google's AI chief Demis Hassabis, Anthropic's Dario Amodei and Stanford professor Fei-Fei Li are sitting astride the city.

According to the magazine, which is owned by Silicon Valley billionaire Marc Benioff, 2025 was the year AI shifted from promising technology to reality and when ChatGPT usage more than doubled to 10% of the world's population.

Skydiver survives plane-tail dangling incident in Australia

AFP | Sydney, Australia

Heart-stopping footage released Thursday by Australian authorities showed the moment a skydiver was left dangling thousands of metres in the air after their parachute caught on the plane's tail.

The skydiver survived the incident, which occurred south of Cairns during a stunt in September but has only just been revealed following investigations by the transport safety watchdog.

Plans for a 16-way formation by parachutists at 15,000 feet (4,600 metres), filmed by a parachuting camera operator, hit chaos within seconds of the first participant reaching the plane's exit.

A video released by the Australian Transport Safety Bureau showed the participant's reserve parachute being activated after its handle snagged the wing flap of the plane.

The jumper was flung backwards -- their legs striking the aircraft -- as the orange reserve parachute wrapped itself around the plane's tail.

The moment a skydiver was left dangling thousands of metres in the air after their parachute caught on the plane's tail.

The parachuter also knocked the camera operator, who was straddling the side of the aircraft and preparing to jump, into freefall, the bureau said in a report that did not include names, ages, or genders.

The jumper was seen placing their hands on their helmet for a few seconds, as if in shock.

While dangling over the terrifying drop, the jumper cut the strings of the reserve chute with a hook knife and freed himself, the bureau said.

The parachuter then deployed their main chute and landed safely on the ground.

"Carrying a hook knife -- although it is not a regulatory requirement -- could be life-saving in the event of a premature reserve parachute deployment," said the bureau's chief commissioner Angus Mitchell.

The aircraft's tail was "substantially damaged" by the incident and the pilot had limited control of the plane, issuing a mayday distress call, but managed to safely land the plane.

Swiss yodelling joins world cultural heritage list

AFP | Geneva, Switzerland

Yodelling, the traditional singing of herders in the Swiss Alps, was recognised by the United Nations yesterday as part of the world's cultural heritage.

Yodelling was added to UNESCO's Representative List of the Intangible Cultural Heritage of Humanity, at a meeting in New Delhi.

"As the emblematic song of Switzerland, yodelling encompasses a wide variety of artistic expressions and is deeply rooted in the population," the Swiss culture ministry said.

Yodelling is also sung in Austria and Germany, but while Switzerland joined forces with France to have the mechanical watchmaking tradition of the Jura mountains recognised by UNESCO in 2020, it pursued this nomination independently.

In Switzerland, yodelling is passed on in families, clubs, music schools or simply between singers.

More than 12,000 yodellers are members of one of the 711 groups of the country's Federal Yodelling Association.

Pakistan's ex-spy chief jailed 14 years for abuse of power

AFP | Islamabad, Pakistan

A military court sentenced the former head of Pakistan's powerful Inter-Services Intelligence spy agency to 14 years in prison for violating state secrets and abusing his authority, the army said yesterday.

Faiz Hameed, who served during the tenure of jailed former prime minister Imran Khan, was also convicted of "engaging in political activities" and causing "wrongful loss to persons", the army's publicity wing said in a statement.

Faiz Hameed, a lieutenant general who stepped down in December 2022, was detained in August 2024 after claims he raided the businesses of a real estate developer, according to Supreme Court documents published in 2023.

The intelligence chief is considered the second most-powerful position in the Pakistani military.

Alonso faces Real Madrid turning point test at Alaves

● Alonso was set for the sack if Madrid lost against Manchester City in the Champions League

AFP | Madrid, Spain

Real Madrid ran, and running was enough. Not to learn three points, or even one, but to keep the wolf from Xabi Alonso's door -- for now.

However the groundwork for the Basque coach's dismissal has been laid and the feeling that he is fighting for his position in every match, starting with Sunday's visit to face Alaves in La Liga, pervades.

Alonso, whom Spanish media reported was set for the sack if Madrid lost against Manchester City in the Champions League on Wednesday, remains at the helm despite a 2-1 defeat at a frustrated, whistling Bernabeu.

The hope is this match, despite the outcome, can be a turning point for a team with just two wins in their last eight games across all competitions.

Madrid trail La Liga leaders Barcelona by four points, which could become seven if the champions defeat Osasuna on Saturday.

Alonso's players rallied around him, offering public messages of support after the game and even during it, as goalscorer Rodrygo Goes ran over to hug his manager.

"The only thing we can do is change our attitude... and today we saw a change," said defender Raul Asencio.

After Madrid's improved display against City, it did not make sense for president Florentino Perez to let the axe fall.

It would be easy to make that call the next time the team stumbles -- and if it really is a turning point, and that doesn't happen, that would work for him too. Particularly given the lack of an obvious replacement.

Goalkeeper Thibaut Courtois was another Madrid player who backed the coach, and believes

Player to watch: Ferran Torres

Spain international Torres scored a hat-trick for Barcelona last weekend as they thrashed Real Betis, but was benched by Hansi Flick in the Champions League. The striker, who has compared himself to a "shark", will look to reiterate his point as Osasuna visit Camp Nou

Key stats

Real Madrid's Brazilian forward #07 Vinicius Junior (L) heads the ball challenged by Celta Vigo's Spanish defender #32 Javier Rodriguez during the Spanish league football match between Real Madrid CF and RC Celta de Vigo at the Santiago Bernabeu Stadium in Madrid

the situation will be eased when results turn. "All of us here support the coach with all our heart, and by winning on Sunday we will change this dynamic," said Courtois. Madrid will be without several players for the clash in Victoria, after their meltdown last weekend during the 2-0 defeat by Celta Vigo at home, which put Alonso on the brink.

Alvaro Carreras and Fran Garcia were sent off and are suspended, while Madrid have many injuries to contend with, including Trent Alexander-Arnold, Eder Militao and doubts over Dean Huijsen and Eduardo Camavinga.

Most crucially, they do not yet know if top goalscorer Kylian Mbappe will be fit to play.

The French superstar was on the bench against City after knee discomfort and Alonso said it would have been a "risk" to play him.

One player they seem to have recovered is winger Rodrygo. Not from injury, but his dismal run of form finally ended against City.

After 32 games without finding the net, the Brazilian finished superbly to send his team ahead.

Beyond that, he was back to his electric best, transformed from the diminished figure seen in recent months.

"It's one of today's good pieces of news to see him with that individual quality, that flair, and he also scored, which was important for him," said Alonso.

On the other flank, Rodrygo's compatriot Vinicius Junior offered a less convincing display.

The winger's anger at Alonso when withdrawn in the Clasico in October was a flash-point which played its part in Madrid's season flying off the rails.

Since that moment, Spanish media have reported a growing rift between the players and the coach, suggesting various complaints about his selection decisions and the tactical work they have to do.

It appears to be healing, with the support Alonso was offered, although whether Madrid's stars retain the work-ethic they displayed in a glamorous European tie on a wintry Sunday night at Alaves' Mendizorroza stadium will be a good barometer.

PSG team bus stoned outside Bilbao hotel

Bilbao, Spain

The Paris Saint-Germain team bus was pelted with stones outside the team hotel in Bilbao during the night after their Champions League game with Athletic, a source close to the club told AFP on Thursday.

The bus was parked and had no passengers, the source said.

Media reports said two cracks were visible on the coach and two people were arrested.

The PSG players and staff were able to travel to the city's airport for their Thursday morning flight back to Paris.

The club is considering filing a complaint over the incident, said the source.

On Wednesday evening, European champions PSG drew 0-0 at Bilbao, a result which left PSG third in the 36-team qualifying league. Bilbao are 28th.

British cycling great Hoy recovers from 'worst' crash

London, United Kingdom

British six-time Olympic cycling champion Chris Hoy said he recently suffered the "worst" crash of his life as he receives treatment for cancer.

The former track star revealed last year that his cancer was terminal but the 49-year-old has continued to ride his mountain bike.

Hoy said earlier this year that he had entered "a bit of a stability stage" in his treatment.

In an interview with Sky Sports published on Thursday, the Scotsman said he had "smashed his leg up" while riding.

"That's the worst thing that's happened recently," he said. "You just don't bounce like you do when you're younger.

"It was a big one. I'm doing better now, I'm still on crutches, hobbling about."

He added: "Worse things happen. I've been riding bikes for 43 years and it's the worst crash I've ever had."

Ben Sulayem to stand unopposed as FIA election goes ahead

AFP | Paris, France

Mohammed Ben Sulayem, the only candidate to succeed himself as president of the International Automobile Federation (FIA), is expected to be re-elected on Friday in Tashkent following a contested election process.

Swiss national Laura Villars wanted to run in the election, as did American former FIA steward Tim Mayer.

However, election regulations require candidates to appoint vice-presidents from each of the six global regions, chosen from a list approved by the FIA.

Hay fifty on debut helps put New Zealand on top in West Indies Test

AFP | Wellington, New Zealand

Mitch Hay scored an aggressive half-century on his Test debut to help New Zealand to a 41-run lead over the West Indies at the close of play on day two of the second Test in Wellington yesterday.

The Black Caps were 278 all out with about an hour to play in the final session, after the West Indies scored 205 at the Basin Reserve.

At stumps the visitors were 32-2 in their second innings, with Brandon King (15) and Kaveem Hodge (3) at the crease.

Michael Rae and Jacob Duffy took a wicket each as New Zealand got through 10 overs in fading light.

Hay top-scored with 61 from 93 deliveries, playing with poise in his first taste of Test cricket. He hit nine fours and a six.

Anderson Phillip was the pick

New Zealand players celebrate West Indies' Anderson Phillip (L) being caught with LBW during day two of the 2nd international Test cricket match between New Zealand and West Indies at the Basin reserve in Wellington of the visiting bowlers, taking 3-70 in 13 overs. Kemar Roach had figures of 2-43.

The 25-year-old Hay came to the crease at 117-4 after Rachin

Ravindra, for five, and Devon Conway, who made 60, fell in back-to-back overs immediately after lunch.

He quickly found his feet at Test level, at ease with the pace and movement of the Basin Reserve wicket.

Hay and Daryl Mitchell combined for a 73-run partnership for the fifth wicket, with Hay the aggressor, leaving Mitchell in the unusual position of playing anchor.

"It was awesome to see Mitch do what he does," Mitchell said of his Canterbury teammate.

"He's obviously done that for Canterbury for a number of years. He's good fun out in the middle, and he showcased the talent he's got.

"Debut's always nervy, and it's always nice to get that first run, so very proud of him."

Mitchell fell just before tea for 25 and Hay eventually hooked a ball to Roach in the deep.

Zak Foulkes added 23 unbeaten runs but ran out of partners.

Knockout night belongs to Morocco, Saudi

Atlas Lions and Green Falcons storm into the Arab Cup last four

- Morocco to face Algeria/UAE
- Saudi meet Jordan/Iraq winner

Hussain Almaskati
TDT | Manama

Football's magic and unpredictability shone brightly last night as Morocco and Saudi Arabia secured their spots in the FIFA Arab Cup semi-finals after a pulsating night of quarter-final drama in Doha. Both sides delivered decisive performances, proving that in knockout football, anything can happen.

At Khalifa International Stadium, Morocco edged Syria 1-0 in a match they largely controlled. Under head coach Tarik Sektioui, the Atlas Lions dictated possession and rhythm, while Jose Fernandez's Syria defended deep and relied on counterattacks. The first major flashpoint came in the 26th minute when Syria appealed for a penalty after Mahmoud Al Aswad went down under a shove from Marwane Saadane. VAR reviewed the contact but deemed it normal, keeping the scores level

Action from Saudi Arabia's thrilling extra-time win vs Palestine

Saudi Arabia now await the winner of today's Jordan vs Iraq clash at Education City Stadium. Both semi-finals are set for December 15, with the final and third-place match on December 18.

and tension high. Morocco intensified their pressure after halftime, carving out chance after chance as Syria struggled to escape their own half. The breakthrough finally arrived in the 79th minute. Mountassir Chouiar unleashed a powerful long-range strike that Syria's goalkeeper parried straight into the path of Waleed Azaro, who had come on earlier due to injury. Azaro reacted sharply and buried the rebound to give Morocco a deserved lead. Their momentum was briefly dampened in the 89th minute when substitute Mohamed Mofid was shown a red card for a dangerous stamp on Anas Al Dahhan's Achilles, ruling him out of the semi-final. Even with ten men, Morocco created further chances and comfortably saw out the win to advance to the last four, where they will face the winner of Algeria vs UAE.

At Lusail Stadium, Saudi Arabia, managed by Herve Renard, triumphed 2-1 over Palestine after an exhausting, high-drama battle that stretched into extra time. The Green Falcons opened the scoring in the 58th minute when Salem Al Dawsari was fouled in the box, allowing Feras Al Buraikan to convert the penalty. Palestine equalised six minutes later as Ameer Sawarfta's early ball found Oday Dabagh, who controlled expertly and fired past Nawaf Al Aqidi.

Regular time ended in chaos: Majrashi struck the bar, Saudi had a handball appeal denied, and an apparent winner was ruled offside. Extra time saw Saudi pour forward relentlessly, and in the 115th minute Al Dawsari delivered a perfect cross that Mohamed Kanno headed home from close range to break Palestinian hearts and finally reward Saudi's pressure.

Bahrain crash out of U23 Gulf Cup

Hussain Almaskati
TDT | Manama

Bahrain's U23 national team saw their Gulf U23 Cup campaign come to an end yesterday following a 2-1 defeat to Kuwait at Aspire Zone 2 in Doha, a result that confirmed their exit from the tournament with no points from three matches.

Kuwait took control early, breaking the deadlock in the 15th minute through a moment of brilliance from Ahmad Boodai, who unleashed a sensational free kick from nearly 40 yards. His strike sailed over the wall and rocketed into the top corner, leaving Bahrain goalkeeper Mohamed Arhama with no chance.

The Kuwaitis extended their lead before the break when Montaser Al Abdul-salam converted from the penalty spot, sending Arhama the wrong way with a calm finish.

Bahrain showed greater purpose in the second half and were rewarded in the 68th minute. Captain for the night Ali Aldoseri received the ball wide on the flank, drove into a dangerous area, and fired low at the near post, sneaking the ball past Kuwait goalkeeper Abdulrahman Al Harbi to reduce the deficit.

Despite the late surge, Bahrain could not find an equaliser, closing their group-stage run with three consecutive defeats: 5-0 to Saudi Arabia, 1-0 to Qatar, and 2-1 to Kuwait. The result leaves Bahrain bottom of the group and eliminated, while Kuwait finish their campaign with their first victory.

Ipswich beat Stoke to climb to fourth in Championship

London, United Kingdom

Ipswich beat Stoke 1-0 in the Championship to move up to fourth, just a point behind Millwall. Jaden Philogene scored after 100 seconds, and although Ipswich missed further chances, Stoke failed to threaten despite dominating possession, slipping to eighth after a third straight loss. Millwall drew 1-1 at Derby, missing the chance to close on second place. Derby's Matt Clarke scored an own goal to give Millwall the lead, but Jake Cooper diverted another into his own net late on. Bristol City fought back from two down to draw 2-2 with Leicester, while Hull defeated Wrexham 2-0.

Relentless Muharraq leave Al Hala behind

Hussain Almaskati
TDT | Manama

Champions Muharraq delivered one of their most dominant performances of the season, overwhelming Al Hala 97-67 last night at the BBA Arena in Um Al Hassam and solidifying their status as favourites in the Zain Bahrain Basketball League title race. Under head coach Peter Shommers, Muharraq have been in fine form, coming off wins over Nuwaidrat, Al Ahli, and Manama in the Super Cup final, and look well-placed to retain the title.

Top scorer Mohamed Nasser looks for a way through

The opening quarter was competitive, with Al Hala's Joshua Corey, Ahmed Khalifa, and Hussain Jan keeping their side close. Muharraq gradually took control through Mohamed Nasser and Wayne Chism's early layups, while Himothy Lamount added a key three-pointer and inside points, giving Muharraq a 21-10 lead by the end of the period.

In the second quarter, Muharraq pulled away decisively. Nasser scored multiple layups and free throws, eventually totaling 22 points, while Ali Hussain Rashed contributed drives and a three-pointer. Chism's mid-range shooting and defensive rebounds fuelled fast breaks, with Lamount and Mohamed Ameer adding timely baskets. Al Hala's Corey (11 points), Jan, and Khalifa (9 each) briefly kept their team in the contest, but turnovers and missed shots limited their challenge. By half-time, Muharraq held a comfortable lead.

The third quarter saw Muharraq extend their dominance. Rashed and Nasser orchestrated fast breaks and scored layups, Chism added jumpers, and Lamount's dunks and assists highlighted their offensive fluidity, leaving Al Hala struggling. Even Corey's late free throws and Alwatheq Ali's layups could not reduce the deficit.

In the final quarter, Muharraq sealed the win with Nasser's tip-ins and driving layups, Chism's jump shots, and contributions from Ameer and Rashed, finishing 97-67.

The Zain Basketball League continues today at Um Al Hassam Arena, with Isa Town facing Samaheej at 6 PM, followed by Al Najma against Al Ahli at 8 PM.
