Alonso faces Real Madrid turning point test at Alaves

● Alonso was set for the sack if Madrid lost against Manchester City in the Champions League

AFP | Madrid, Spain

Real Madrid ran, and running was enough. Not to earn three points, or even one, but to keep the wolf from Xabi Alonso's door -- for now.

However the groundwork for the Basque coach's dismissal has been laid and the feeling that he is fighting for his position in every match, starting with Sunday's visit to face Alaves in La Liga, pervades.

Alonso, whom Spanish media reported was set for the sack if Madrid lost against Manchester City in the Champions League on Wednesday, remains at the helm despite a 2-1 defeat at a frustrated, whistling Bernabeu.

The hope is this match, despite the outcome, can be a turning point for a team with just two wins in their last eight games across all competitions.

Madrid trail La Liga leaders Barcelona by four points, which could become seven if the champions defeat Osasuna on Saturday.

Alonso's players rallied around him, offering public messages of support after the game and even during it, as goalscorer Rodrygo Goes ran over to hug his manager.

"The only thing we can do is change our attitude... and today we saw a change," said defender Raul Asencio.

After Madrid's improved display against City, it did not make sense for president Florentino Perez to let the axe fall.

It would be easy to make that call the next time the team stumbles -- and if it really is a turning point, and that doesn't happen, that would work for him too. Particularly given the lack of an obvious replacement.

Goalkeeper Thibaut Courtois was another Madrid player who backed the coach, and believes

Player to watch: Ferran Torres

Spain international Torres scored a hat-trick for Barcelona last weekend as they thrashed Real Betis, but was benched by Hansi Flick in the Champions League. The striker, who has compared himself to a "shark", will look to reiterate his point as Osasuna visit Camp Nou

Key stats

- 4 - Valencia have drawn 1-1 in four of their last five games
- 5 - Barcelona have fallen behind in each of their last five matches

Real Madrid's Brazilian forward #07 Vinicius Junior (L) heads the ball challenged by Celta Vigo's Spanish defender #32 Javier Rodriguez during the Spanish league football match between Real Madrid CF and RC Celta de Vigo at the Santiago Bernabeu Stadium in Madrid

the situation will be eased when results turn.

"All of us here support the coach with all our heart, and by winning on Sunday we will change this dynamic," said Courtois.

Madrid will be without several players for the clash in Victoria, after their meltdown last weekend during the 2-0 defeat by Celta Vigo at home, which put Alonso on the brink.

Alvaro Carreras and Fran Garcia were sent off and are suspended, while Madrid have many injuries to contend with, including Trent Alexander-Arnold, Eder Militao and doubts over Dean Huijsen and Eduardo Camavinga.

Most crucially, they do not yet know if top goalscorer Kylian Mbappe will be fit to play.

The French superstar was on the bench against City after knee discomfort and Alonso said it would have been a "risk" to play him.

One player they seem to have recovered is winger Rodrygo. Not from injury, but his dismal run of form finally ended against City.

After 32 games without finding the net, the Brazilian finished superbly to send his team ahead.

Beyond that, he was back to his electric best, transformed from the diminished figure seen in recent months.

"It's one of today's good pieces of news to see him with that individual quality, that flair, and he also scored, which was important for him," said Alonso.

On the other flank, Rodrygo's compatriot Vinicius Junior offered a less convincing display.

The winger's anger at Alonso when withdrawn in the Clasico in October was a flash-point which played its part in Madrid's season flying off the rails.

Since that moment, Spanish media have reported a growing rift between the players and the coach, suggesting various complaints about his selection decisions and the tactical work they have to do.

It appears to be healing, with the support Alonso was offered, although whether Madrid's stars retain the work-ethic they displayed in a glamorous European tie on a wintry Sunday night at Alaves' Mendizorroza stadium will be a good barometer.

PSG team bus stoned outside Bilbao hotel

Bilbao, Spain

The Paris Saint-Germain team bus was pelted with stones outside the team hotel in Bilbao during the night after their Champions League game with Athletic, a source close to the club told AFP on Thursday.

The bus was parked and had no passengers, the source said.

Media reports said two cracks were visible on the coach and two people were arrested.

The PSG players and staff were able to travel to the city's airport for their Thursday morning flight back to Paris.

The club is considering filing a complaint over the incident, said the source.

On Wednesday evening, European champions PSG drew 0-0 at Bilbao, a result which left PSG third in the 36-team qualifying league. Bilbao are 28th.

British cycling great Hoy recovers from 'worst' crash

London, United Kingdom

British six-time Olympic cycling champion Chris Hoy said he recently suffered the "worst" crash of his life as he receives treatment for cancer.

The former track star revealed last year that his cancer was terminal but the 49-year-old has continued to ride his mountain bike.

Hoy said earlier this year that he had entered "a bit of a stability stage" in his treatment.

In an interview with Sky Sports published on Thursday, the Scotsman said he had "smashed his leg up" while riding.

"That's the worst thing that's happened recently," he said. "You just don't bounce like you do when you're younger."

"It was a big one. I'm doing better now, I'm still on crutches, hobbling about."

He added: "Worse things happen. I've been riding bikes for 43 years and it's the worst crash I've ever had."

Ben Sulayem to stand unopposed as FIA election goes ahead

AFP | Paris, France

Mohammed Ben Sulayem, the only candidate to succeed himself as president of the International Automobile Federation (FIA), is expected to be re-elected on Friday in Tashkent following a contested election process.

Swiss national Laura Villars wanted to run in the election, as did American former FIA steward Tim Mayer.

However, election regulations require candidates to appoint vice-presidents from each of the six global regions, chosen from a list approved by the FIA.

Hay fifty on debut helps put New Zealand on top in West Indies Test

AFP | Wellington, New Zealand

Mitch Hay scored an aggressive half-century on his Test debut to help New Zealand to a 41-run lead over the West Indies at the close of play on day two of the second Test in Wellington yesterday.

The Black Caps were 278 all out with about an hour to play in the final session, after the West Indies scored 205 at the Basin Reserve.

At stumps the visitors were 32-2 in their second innings, with Brandon King (15) and Kavem Hodge (3) at the crease.

Michael Rae and Jacob Duffy took a wicket each as New Zealand got through 10 overs in fading light.

Hay top-scored with 61 from 93 deliveries, playing with poise in his first taste of Test cricket. He hit nine fours and a six.

Anderson Phillip was the pick

New Zealand players celebrate West Indies' Anderson Phillip (L) being caught with LBW during day two of the 2nd international Test cricket match between New Zealand and West Indies at the Basin reserve in Wellington of the visiting bowlers, taking 3-70 in 13 overs. Kumar Roach had figures of 2-43.

The 25-year-old Hay came to the crease at 117-4 after Rachin Ravindra, for five, and Devon Conway, who made 60, fell in back-to-back overs immediately after lunch.

He quickly found his feet at Test level, at ease with the pace and movement of the Basin Reserve wicket.

Hay and Daryl Mitchell combined for a 73-run partnership for the fifth wicket, with Hay the aggressor, leaving Mitchell in the unusual position of playing anchor.

"It was awesome to see Mitch do what he does," Mitchell said of his Canterbury teammate.

"He's obviously done that for Canterbury for a number of years. He's good fun out in the middle, and he showcased the talent he's got."

"Debut's always nervy, and it's always nice to get that first run, so very proud of him."

Mitchell fell just before tea for 25 and Hay eventually hooked a ball to Roach in the deep.

Zak Foulkes added 23 unbeaten runs but ran out of partners.
