

'Defend European interests' in US tariff talks: Macron

AFP | Paris

French President Emmanuel Macron yesterday condemned US President Donald Trump's threat to impose 30-percent tariffs on the European Union, calling on the bloc to "resolutely defend European interests".

US President Donald Trump yesterday warned that Mexico and the EU would be slapped with 30-percent tariffs starting on August 1, raising the stakes in already tense negotiations with two of the largest US trading partners.

Expressing France's "very strong disapproval" of the announcement, Macron called on the bloc to "step up the preparation of credible countermeasures by mobilising all instruments at its disposal" if the two sides failed to reach agreement by August 1.

Rallies spark UK wave of arrests

Tensions rise as police detain 86 more Palestine Action supporters across five British cities

Protests to 'defy' government ban on group using anti-terror law

AFP | London

Police in several British cities yesterday arrested scores of people for supporting Palestine Action, following a second consecutive weekend of protests over the government's decision to the group using anti-terror laws.

Campaign group Defend Our Juries, which had announced the rallies "to defy" the ban, said 86 people had been arrested across five different cities.

They included four vicars, a lawyer, a civil servant, a social worker, a mechanical engineer and the daughter of a Polish resistance fighter, as well as veterans of the 1960s civil rights movement, the group added.

Accusations

"We will not be deterred from opposing genocide, nor from defending those who refuse to be bystanders," the group said in a statement, referring to accusations levelled against Israel over its war in Gaza.

The protesters were also taking a stand "against the corruption of democracy and the rule of law", it added.

In London, the Metropolitan Police said its officers had made 41 arrests for "showing support for a proscribed organisation".

Assault

Another person was arrested for common assault, the force added.

Footage showed police moving in on a small group of protesters displaying signs supporting Palestine Action.

They had gathered at lunchtime at the steps of the Mahatma Gandhi statue in Parliament Square.

Offence

Greater Manchester Police arrested 16 people, while officers in the Welsh capital Cardiff detained 13, all for the same offence under the 2000 Terrorism Act, both forces confirmed.

"South Wales Police supports the right for people to make their voices heard through protest providing it is done lawfully," said a police statement.

The other arrests occurred in the Northern Irish city Londonderry - also known as Derry - and Leeds, in northern England, according to Defend Our Juries.

They come a week after 29 similar arrests at protests staged last Saturday, mainly in London.

Crime

Since the Palestine Action ban kicked in on July 5, police have warned that expressing support for the group was now a crime, after a last-ditch High Court challenge failed to stop its proscription becoming law.

The government announced plans for the ban under the 2000 Terrorism Act days after the group's activists claimed to be behind a break-in at an air force base in southern England.

Two aircraft there were sprayed with red paint, causing an estimated £7 million ($9.55 million) in damage.

Push for diplomatic solution

Iran's cooperation with IAEA to take 'new form'

AFP | Tehran

Iran said yesterday its cooperation with the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) "will take on a new form", expressing a desire for a diplomatic solution to resolve concerns over its nuclear programme.

Iran's 12-day war with Israel last month, sparked by an Israeli bombing campaign that hit military and nuclear sites as well as residential areas, rattled its already shaky relationship with the UN nuclear watchdog.

The attacks began days before a planned meeting between Tehran and Washington aimed at reviving nuclear negotiations, which have since stalled.

Foreign Minister Abbas Araghchi said yesterday that Iran's cooperation with the IAEA "has not stopped, but will take on a new form", after the Islamic republic formally ended cooperation with the UN watchdog in early July.

Iran has blamed the IAEA in part for the June attacks on its nuclear facilities, which Israel says it launched to prevent Iran from developing a nuclear weapon - an ambition Tehran has repeatedly denied.

The US, which had been in talks with Iran since April 12, joined Israel in carrying out its own strikes on June 22, targeting Iranian nuclear facilities at Fordo, Isfahan and Natanz.

Araghchi said requests to monitor nuclear sites "will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis... taking into account safety and security issues", and be managed by Iran's Supreme National Security Council.

In early July, a team of IAEA inspectors left Iran to return to the organisation's headquarters in Vienna after Tehran suspended cooperation.

The talks were aimed at regulating Iran's nuclear activities in exchange for the lifting of economic sanctions.

Before agreeing to any new meeting, "we are examining its timing, its location, its form, its ingredients, the assurances it requires", said Araghchi.

Man on death row files appeals over Shakhoora killing verdict

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

A man sentenced to death for stabbing his neighbour to death in Shakhoora has lodged an appeal less than a day after the ruling. The First High Criminal Court of Appeal is due to hear the case on 21 July.

The appeal follows a unanimous ruling by the High Criminal Court, which sentenced the man to death and ordered him to pay provisional compensation to the victim's family.

The court also ordered the confiscation of the knife and other items used in the attack.

Confession

The defendant had confessed during questioning by investigators, according to the court's written judgment.

His answers were said to be calm and coherent, showing full grasp of the questions put to him.

A psychiatric assessment found no signs of disorder.

The judges concluded he was fully aware of his actions and had acted of his own accord.

Plan

The court found that the man had planned the killing in advance.

He had watched the victim's movements, chosen his moment, and waited outside the house.

On the day of the attack, he stood near the front door wearing gloves and holding a knife.

When the victim stepped outside, the defendant lunged at him and stabbed him repeatedly in different parts of the body.

Intent and awareness

The court said this showed both intent and awareness.

The murder came to light when police received a report of a body found on the road in Shakhoora, near the victim's home.

The High Criminal Court has sentenced the man to death and ordered him to pay provisional compensation to the victim's family.

He had suffered several stab wounds. Prosecutors were informed and opened an inquiry on the spot.

A team from the Public Prosecution, along with a forensic doctor and crime scene specialists, examined the area and inspected the body.

Samples were collected for testing, and the forensic team was asked to determine the cause and nature of the wounds.

Security cameras

Witness statements and footage from nearby security cameras helped identify the suspect, who turned out to be a relative and neighbour of the victim.

He was arrested on the order of the prosecution.

When questioned, he admitted to the killing.

He said the attack followed a long-running personal dispute. He had decided to lie in wait for the victim and stab him as he left the house.

Appeal against jail terms, fines in 'dirty money' case rejected

TDT | Manama

Four defendants have lost their appeal against prison terms and fines in a money laundering case tied to human trafficking and prostitution earnings.

Judges upheld a five-year sentence for each, along with a BD100,000 fine, and ordered the confiscation of BD175,557.882 from their assets.

Three of them, identified as the first, third and fourth accused, will also be deported.

The case unfolded following investigations by a First Lieutenant at the Financial Intelligence National Centre (FINC).

Inquiries

He told prosecutors that inquiries had been carried out using unnamed sources.

The first accused, he said, ran a criminal ring trading in women, and the others played various parts in handling the proceeds.

Cash made through these crimes was funnelled through different financial dealings, including overseas transfers made through local exchange houses. The amounts varied, and the transfers were spaced out.

The aim, according to the findings, was to cover the tracks.

Accounts

Authorities moved to examine accounts and property linked to the accused.

Letters were sent to several government bodies.

The data pointed to regular use of exchange houses, currency swaps and remittances, enough, the court ruled, to uphold the convictions.

A woman has been remanded in custody for seven days after prosecutors accused her of sharing indecent videos online, violating public decency laws.

The Cybercrimes Directorate, alerted prosecutors after noticing explicit footage openly available on the woman's social media account.

Prosecutors swiftly issued an arrest order, and officers detained her shortly afterwards.

When confronted with the video clips during questioning, the woman admitted responsibility for posting the content.

Investigators seized her mobile phone, believed to have been used to publish the offending videos, and preparations are now being made to refer the case to a criminal court.

The Cybercrime prosecutor warned the public to be cautious about what they choose to share online, pointing out that posting content offensive to modesty can land offenders in prison for up to two years.

Devices used to commit such offences will also be confiscated.

She added that prosecutors remain determined to enforce the law against those responsible for sharing explicit or morally unacceptable material online.

CAPTAIN MAHMOOD AL MAHMOOD

George Bernard Shaw famously said, "Youth is wasted on the young" which implies young people don't fully appreciate or utilize the opportunities and vitality of their youth. As we emerge from the thought-provoking and energetic celebrations of Arab Youth Day on July 5, I want to say that Bahrain's leadership certainly does not subscribe to this idea. Consider these significant indicators:

There is a designated Bahraini Youth Day on March 25 every year.

Such is His Majesty King Hamad's keen interest in youth, that he has instituted the much-prized King Hamad Award for Youth Empowerment. The award, which is given under the umbrella of the United Nations, recognizes the efforts of youth around the world to be active and productive citizens contributing to the well-being of their communities and the environment. It also acknowledges organizations that work to improve the environment and infrastructure for youth to make an impact, across all U.N. member states.

Since 1999, the Crown Princes International Scholarship Programme instituted by Crown Prince & PM, HRH Prince Salman bin Hamad Al Khalifa, has given the brightest and best young minds in Bahrain the opportunity to study at some of the finest educational institutions in the world, thus building a corps of talented, trained and highly educated youth to serve the Kingdom and the world.

Bahraini youth icon, HH Shaikh Nasser bin Hamad Al Khalifa, His Majesty the King's Representative for Humanitarian Work and Youth Affairs, leads many initiatives and projects that have created many opportunities for young people, strengthening their roles in innovation, leadership, and humanitarian work, and allowing them to actively contribute to both current progress and future growth.

We have an active and dedicated Minister for Youth Affairs, H.E. Rawan bint Najib Tawfiqi, whose Ministry works closely with different arms of government to place the aspirations of our youth front and centre of our development.

The successful launch of the "Al Munther" satellite, led by Bahraini youth, highlights their ambition and determination.

The launch and implementation of "The Hope Network" earlier this year, which is a platform for decision-makers in youth empowerment and a commitment to further developing global youth collaboration.

Now, with so many opportunities and initiatives, our Bahraini youth must take their rightful place on the world stage as movers and shakers of the global community. I urge our young people to think global, dream big and put their hearts and souls into making their world and their future meaningful and bright, thus bringing pride to Bahrain.

Engine fuel switches cut off before Air India crash

Cockpit recording captures pilots' confusion over engine cutoff in final moments

- Fuel switches moved to "cutoff" before crash
- Pilots disputed who moved the switches
- Plane lost altitude quickly after switch

AFP | New Delhi

Fuel control switches to the engines of an Air India flight that crashed shortly after takeoff, killing 260 people, were moved from the "run" to the "cutoff" position moments before impact, a preliminary investigation report said yesterday.

The report, issued by India's Aircraft Accident Investigation Bureau (AAIB), did not offer any conclusions or apportion blame for the June 12 disaster, but indicated that one pilot asked the other why he cut off fuel, and the second pilot responded that he had not.

The Boeing 787-8 Dreamliner was headed from Ahmedabad in western India to London when it crashed, killing all but one of the 242 people on board as well as 19 people on the ground.

In its 15-page report, the investigation bureau said that once the aircraft achieved its top recorded speed, "the Engine 1 and Engine 2 fuel cutoff switches transitioned from RUN to CUTOFF position one after another with a time gap of 01 sec".

"In the cockpit voice recording, one of the pilots is heard asking the other why did he cutoff. The other pilot responded that he did not do so," it said.

The aircraft quickly began to lose altitude.

The switches then returned to the "RUN" position and the engines appeared to be gathering power, but "one of the pilots transmitted 'MAYDAY MAYDAY MAYDAY'", the report said.

Air traffic controllers asked the pilots what was wrong, but then saw the plane crashing and called emergency personnel to the scene.

Investigation ongoing

Civil aviation minister Ram Mohan Naidu Kinjarapu told reporters that investigators probed in a "mature, transparent" way.

"This is a preliminary report. We want the final report to come in, so let us wait for it," he said.

The back of Air India flight 171 is pictured at the site after it crashed in a residential area near the airport in Ahmedabad

Earlier this week, specialist website The Air Current, citing multiple sources familiar with the probe, reported it had "narrowed its focus to the movement of the engine fuel switches", while noting that full analysis will "take months -- if not longer".

It added that "the focus of the investigators could change during that time".

The Indian agency's report said the US Federal Aviation Administration had issued an information bulletin in 2018 about "the potential disengagement of the fuel control switch locking feature".

Though the concern was not considered an "unsafe condition" that would warrant a more serious directive, Air India told investigators it did not carry out suggested inspections as they were "advisory and not mandatory".

Air India was compliant with all airworthiness directives and alert service bulletins on the aircraft, the report said.

The investigations bureau said there were "no recommended actions to B787-8 and/or GE GENx-1B engine operators and manufacturers", suggesting no technical issues with the engines (GE) or the aircraft (Boeing).

The bureau said the investigation was ongoing, and that additional evidence and information had been "sought from the stakeholders".

'Working closely'

Boeing said in a statement it would "continue to support the investigation and our customer", adding "our thoughts remain" with those affected by the disaster.

Air India said it was "working closely with stakeholders, including regulators."

"We continue to fully cooperate with the AAIB and other authorities as their investigation progresses," it said in a statement on X.

The UN's International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO) stipulates that states heading an investigation must submit a preliminary report within 30 days of an accident.

US and British air accident investigators have taken part in the probe.

Suresh Mistry, who lost his daughter Kinal in the crash, told AFP his family was still coming to terms with the loss.

"How is possible that there is an internal issue with the flight and nobody knew? Even cars these days indicate when there is a problem. How does it not happen on flights?" he said.

Imtiyaz Ali, whose brother was killed along with his wife and two children, said the preliminary report took "nothing forward" for him.

"And (it) is not even close to a closure," he said. "It feels like we are at the same spot, where we were a month ago when the crash happened."

The plane was carrying 230 passengers -- 169 Indians, 53 British, seven Portuguese and a Canadian -- and 12 crew.

Dozens of people on the ground were injured.

One passenger miraculously survived, a British citizen who was seen walking out of the wreckage of the crash, and who has since been discharged from hospital.

Health officials in the Indian state of Gujarat initially said at least 279 people were killed, but forensic scientists reduced the figure after multiple scattered and badly burnt remains were identified.

Pope Leo's Illinois childhood home to become tourist site

AFP | London

Pope Leo XIV's childhood home has been sold to the village where he grew up, which intends to make it a historical site, local media reported Friday.

The modest brick home in the Chicago suburb of Dolton, population 21,000, was sold by its current owner for $375,000, WGN television said.

It said the owner had bought the house for $66,000 last year -- prior to Pope Leo's election as the first American pontiff -- and done extensive renovations.

The Dolton village board of trustees voted earlier this month to purchase the three-bedroom house and turn it into an attraction open to the public.

According to WBEZ Chicago radio, the parents of Pope Leo -- born Robert Prevost -- bought the house in 1949 and sold it in 1996.

Gaza ceasefire talks stall

Hamas refuses Israel's proposal to keep troops in Gaza, delaying potential 60-day truce

● Hamas rejects Israeli troop redeployment

● Israel seeks control of 40% of Gaza

● 20+ killed in Saturday strikes

AFP | Gaza

Indirect talks between Hamas and Israel for a ceasefire in Gaza are being held up by Israel's proposals to keep troops in the territory, two Palestinian sources with knowledge of the discussions said yesterday.

Delegations from both sides began discussions in Qatar last Sunday to try to agree on a temporary halt to the 21-month conflict sparked by Hamas's deadly October 2023 attack on Israel.

Israel has meanwhile kept up its strikes on Gaza and the territory's civil defence agency said more than 20 people were killed yesterday, including in an air strike on an area sheltering the displaced.

"We all generally came here because we were told it was a safe area," Bassam Hamdan told AFP after the overnight attack in an area of Gaza City.

"While we were sleeping, there

A Palestinian man carries a bag of flour at a UN World Food Programme (WFP) warehouse on Al-Jalaa street in Gaza City was an explosion... where two boys, a girl and their mother were staying. We found them torn to pieces, their remains scattered," he added.

In southern Gaza, bodies covered in white plastic sheets were brought to the Nasser hospital in Khan Yunis while wounded in Rafah were taken for treatment by donkey cart, on stretchers or carried, AFP photographs showed.

If an agreement for a 60-day ceasefire were reached, both Hamas and Israel have said 10 hostages taken in 2023 who remain alive in captivity would be released.

Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu said he was prepared then to enter talks for a more permanent end to hostilities.

But one Palestinian source, speaking anonymously due to the sensitivity of the talks, said Israel's refusal to accept Hamas's demand to withdraw all of its troops from Gaza was holding back progress.

A second source said mediators had asked both sides to post-

"The negotiations in Doha are facing a setback and complex difficulties due to Israel's insistence, as of Friday, on presenting a map of withdrawal, which is actually a map of redeployment and repositioning of the Israeli army rather than a genuine withdrawal," the first source said.

They added that Israel was proposing to maintain military forces in more than 40 percent of the Palestinian territory, forcing hundreds of thousands of displaced Palestinians into a small area near the city of Rafah, on the border with Egypt.

Ukraine says hit by record barrage

Russia fires over 620 drones and missiles, killing six as Ukraine calls for new sanctions

● 319 Shahed drones intercepted

● Western Ukraine far from front hit

● Russia targets military-industrial sites

AFP | Kyiv

Russia fired more than 620 drones and long-range missiles overnight, killing at least six people in the latest wave of strikes, Ukraine said yesterday, calling for fresh sanctions on Moscow to halt its record barrages.

Moscow has stepped up aerial strikes over recent months and US-led ceasefire talks aimed at pausing the over three-year war have stalled.

"Twenty-six cruise missiles and 597 attack drones were launched, of which more than half were 'Shaheds'," Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky said, referring to Iranian-made drones.

The Ukrainian air force said it had downed 319 Shahed drones and 25 missiles, adding that one missile and about 20 drones hit "five locations".

Zelensky said the strikes had killed at least two people and Twelve people were wounded in Lviv, also in the west.

In the east, two people died in Dnipropetrovsk and three were wounded in Kharkiv, local authorities said.

Russia also "dropped two guided aerial bombs on the homes of civilians" in the northeastern Sumy region killing two, local prosecutor's office said.

"As a result of the enemy attack, a 65-year-old man and his wife were killed. Fourteen residential buildings were destroyed and damaged," it added.

The Russian defence ministry said it had targeted companies in Ukraine's military-industrial complex in Lviv, Kharkiv and Lutsik and a military aerodrome.

US special envoy Keith Kellogg is due on Monday to begin his latest visit to Ukraine as a Washington-led peace effort flounders.

US President Donald Trump also said he would make a "major statement... on Russia" on Monday.

On Friday, the Kremlin restated its opposition to a European peacekeeping force in Ukraine, after French President Emmanuel Macron said Kyiv's allies had a plan "ready to go... in the hours after a ceasefire".

Trump called Russian counterpart Vladimir Putin last week but said afterwards there had Moscow says its aim in Ukraine is to get rid of the "root causes" of the conflict and has demanded that Kyiv give up its NATO ambitions.

Bahrain's youngsters eye their next mission

Full-time celebrations were Bahrain are crowned Gulf champions

● Fresh off winning the Gulf Championship, Bahrain U16s shift focus to Arab title

TDT | Manama

Bahrain's U16 national basketball team has been drawn into a tough Group A at the 22nd Arab U16 Basketball Championship, set to take place in Cairo from August 10 to 17.

The group includes host nation Egypt, as well as Algeria and Jordan—teams with strong showings in previous Arab and regional tournaments.

The young Bahrainis enter the championship on a high after recently capturing the Gulf U16 title in front of home fans. Their unbeaten run and strong performances throughout the tournament have raised hopes for a successful campaign in Cairo.

The team is training locally, aiming to carry their Gulf momentum into the Arab championship.

Group B of the tournament features Lebanon, Qatar, Tunisia, and Kuwait. The top teams from each group will progress to the next round.

Djokovic admits age catching up with him after Wimbledon defeat

AFP | London

Novak Djokovic said the reality of his age was hitting him “like never before” after he was crushed by world number one Jannik Sinner in the Wimbledon semi-finals on Friday.

The 38-year-old was aiming for a record 25th Grand Slam title and an eighth Wimbledon crown, which would have pulled him level with Roger Federer's record of eight men's titles.

He appeared limited in his movements against his 23-year-old opponent, who will face two-time defending champion Carlos Alcaraz in Sunday's final, and admitted afterwards that he had struggled.

Djokovic fell awkwardly late in his quarter-final victory over Flavio Cobolli, sustaining a leg injury.

“I wasn't really a pleasant feeling on the court,” he said.

Bahrain showcases global horse racing ambitions at Newmarket Festival

TDT | Manama

Bahrain reaffirmed its growing stature in the world of horse racing during the annual Kingdom of Bahrain Cup at the Newmarket July Festival in the United Kingdom, with senior officials highlighting the sport's role in driving international investment and partnerships.

His Highness Shaikh Isa bin Salman bin Hamad Al Khalifa, Minister of the Royal Court and Chairman of the High Authority of the Rashid Equestrian and Horse Racing Club, emphasized the promising potential of the horse racing sector for attracting significant investment and fostering new partnerships.

HH Shaikh Isa made these remarks while attending the annual Bahrain Trophy race during the July Festival at the Newmarket Racecourse in the United Kingdom.

His Highness asserted that horse racing serves as a vital platform for drawing quality investments and opening new horizons for various sectors.

He highlighted the sport's role in facilitating cooperation and business development through its competitive environment.

HH Shaikh Isa added that Bahrain is committed to strengthening its global standing in the sport, driven by the ambitious vision of King Hamad bin Isa

During the festival, the Rashid Equestrian and Horse Racing Club signed several agreements with international companies, securing over $1 million USD in investments for Bahrain-organized horse racing events.

These partnerships are intended to enhance the competitiveness of the races and support the club's development of the sport to meet international standards.

Sustainable Development Minister Noor bint Ali Al Khalifa and Bahrain's Ambassador to the UK, Shaikh Fawaz bin Mohammed Al Khalifa, presented trophies for the other Bahrain Trophy races.

Bahrain's REHC renews UK training partnership

The Rashid Equestrian and Horse Racing Club (REHC) has renewed its cooperation agreement with the British Racing School (BRS) to enhance the training and development of Bahraini jockeys.

REHC CEO Yusuf Osama Buheji signed the renewed agreement with BRS CEO Andrew Braithwaite during a recent visit to the UK.

Buheji emphasized the importance of these training programs in developing national equestrian talent, aligning with the directives of the Club's High Committee Chairman, HH Shaikh Isa bin Salman bin Hamad Al Khalifa.

The partnership utilizes BRS expertise to elevate the capabilities of the Bahrain Jockey Academy, ensuring jockeys are trained to the highest technical standards.

The renewed collaboration allows for the expansion of the training program in 2025, which follows positive results observed in the performance of emerging jockeys during the 2024 initiative.

The program, which includes intensive theoretical and practical sessions overseen by elite international trainers, aims to prepare participants for regional and international competitions.

Sinner unfazed by French Open collapse as he prepares for Alcaraz rematch

Sinner and Alcaraz to face off in second straight Grand Slam final showdown

● Sinner defeats Djokovic in Wimbledon semi-final

● Alcaraz leads head-to-head 8-4

AFP | London

Jannik Sinner played down the impact of his painful defeat against Carlos Alcaraz in the French Open final as he prepares for a rematch at Wimbledon on Sunday.

The world number one crushed seven-time champion Novak Djokovic 6-3, 6-3, 6-4 in under two hours on Friday to set up a title showdown against the Spanish two-time defending champion.

Alcaraz had earlier dispatched US fifth seed Taylor Swift in four sets on Centre Court.

I think if it would be a lot in my head, I would not be in the situation to play a final again, I guess. I'm very happy to share once again the court with Carlos. It's going to be difficult, I know that

JANNIK SINNER

Just weeks ago at Roland Garros, Alcaraz came back from two sets down against Sinner, saving three match points to win a fifth Grand Slam.

But Italy's Sinner, 23, played down the lingering impact of that loss in the aftermath of Friday's semi-final win against Djokovic.

"I think if it would be a lot in my head, I would not be in the situation to play a final again, I

"I think it's something what you feel before the match and also during the match," he said. "I can give you answers after."

"But no, it's different. Different match. I'm looking forward to it."

Sinner, who has won three majors, said Alcaraz was the favourite to win a third straight title at the All England Club.

Alcaraz on top

The Spaniard has the edge, winning eight of their 12 matches, including the past five.

"He won here two times in a row," said Sinner. "He's again in the final. It's very tough to beat him on grass, but I like these challenges."

"I like to go head-to-head and trying to see what I can do and what I can reach."

Sinner, who has shared the past six Grand Slam titles with Alcaraz, said it was too soon to compare their dominance with the era of the "Big Three" -- Djokovic, Roger Federer and Rafael Nadal.

"You cannot compare what the big three did for 15-plus years. Six Grand Slams are one-and-a-half years. It's not that big yet."

"Of course, we find ourself, again, in this position. This is the second consecutive Grand Slam that we are in the final and playing each other, which is great from my side."

"I believe it's good for the sport. The more rivalries we have from now on, the better it is, because people want to see young players going against each other."

"I'm happy to be in that position, but let's see in the future. If we can make that happen for the next three, four years, then people can think about. Let's see."

Swiatek claims historic slam

Polish star demolishes Anisimova 6-0, 6-0 in fastest women's final since 1911

● Swiatek wins Wimbledon final

● Defeated Anisimova 6-0, 6-0

● Sixth career Grand Slam

AFP | London

Iga Swiatek demolished Amanda Anisimova 6-0, 6-0 in the most one-sided women's Wimbledon final for 114 years to seal her sixth Grand Slam.

The Polish eighth seed, who has now won all six major finals in which she has competed, was in charge from the first point and wrapped up victory in just 57 minutes.

It is the first time a woman has won a final at Wimbledon without dropping a game since 1911.

And Swiatek, 24, is just the second player in the Open era to win a major title without losing a game in the final after Steffi Graf beat Natalia Zvereva at the 1988 French Open.

Swiatek, who reached the final of the grass-court tournament at Bad Homburg two weeks ago, has looked increasingly strong while the top seeds tumbled at the All England Club.

She lost just one set in her run to the final.

But US 13th seed Anisimova was expected to prove a stern test after ousting world number one Aryna Sabalenka in the semi-finals.

Anisimova made a nervous start in hot conditions on Centre Court.

She was broken in the first game, soon slipping 2-0 behind and the signs looked ominous.

She appeared to have found her feet in her next service game but the tenacious Swiatek refused to give ground and recovered to move 3-0 ahead when Anisimova double-faulted.

At 4-0 down Anisimova was facing a first-set wipe-out but she was powerless to halt the rampant Swiatek, who sealed the first set 6-0 in just 25 minutes.

The American won just six points on her serve in the first set and committed 14 unforced errors.

An increasingly desperate Anisimova could not stem the tide in the second set, double-faulting again in the third game to give her opponent game point and then netting a backhand.

Iga Swiatek's 6-0, 6-0 victory marks the first time a woman has won a Wimbledon final without dropping a game since 1911, and only the second time in the Open era for any Grand Slam final

The crowd got behind her but to no avail as Swiatek kept up her level, serving out to win and celebrating before con-soling her devastated opponent.

The distraught Anisimova left court briefly before returning for the trophy presentation.

Swiatek is Wimbledon's eighth consecutive first-time women's champion since Serena Williams won her seventh and final title at the All England Club in 2016.

England check India's progress despite Rahul century in third Test

AFP | London

KL Rahul made exactly 100 but England still slowed India's charge on the third day of the third Test at Lord's with two key wickets either side of lunch.

India were poised to bat through yesterday's morning session without losing a wicket.

But in the last over before lunch, Rishabh Pant was run out for a typically dynamic 74 by England captain Ben Stokes's direct hit as he tried to get Rahul, 98 not out at the interval, back on strike to complete his century before the break.

Rahul did get to a hundred, his second century in a Test at Lord's, but was out edging off-spinner Shoaib Bashir to slip off the next ball he faced.

India still reached tea on 316-

5, just 71 runs behind England's first-innings 387 featuring a century from star batsman Joe Root.

Ravindra Jadeja was 40 not out and Nitish Kumar Reddy unbeaten on 25.

Jadeja, however, was reprieved on 23 when Bashir was unable to hold a difficult, low return catch off a fierce drive.

There was a worrying moment for India when Reddy, on 24, was floored by an 88 mph bouncer from Stokes that reared off the pitch and seamed back into the grille of his helmet, defeating the batsman's attempted to sway out of the way.

But, following a concussion check, Reddy was passed fit to bat on.

India scored 103-1 off 22.3 overs in the morning session, but only managed 91-1 in 25.3 overs between lunch and tea as the match head towards a second-innings shoot-out.

On another hot and energy-sapping day at Lord's, India resumed on 145-3.

Milan wins baking Tour de France eighth stage in mass sprint

Lidl - Trek team's Italian rider Jonathan Milan wearing the best sprinter's green jersey sprints to the finish line

AFP | Laval

Jonathan Milan won stage eight of the Tour de France in a mass bunch sprint yesterday ahead of Wout van Aert and Kaden Groves.

On a day for pure sprinters and with no change at the top of the overall rankings, Lidl-Trek's Milan was the first Italian to win a stage on the Tour since Vincenzo Nibali in the Alps in 2019.

Pure sprinter Milan, 24, took over the top of the sprint points rankings and had been wearing the green tunic in place of Tadej Pogacar, who had earned the sprint and the overall leader's yellow jersey by winning stage seven.

Three-time former champion Pogacar retained the overall lead with Remco Evenepoel and Kevin Vauquelin rounding out the top three, with no change in the top ten as the peloton kept its powder dry.

The remaining 177 riders from the original 184 rolled through the Brittany countryside with the harvest ongoing a month early and colossal crowds on the roadside.

Under clear blue skies and 31 degrees Celsius (88 degrees Fahrenheit) heat there was little inspiration in the peloton to breakaway until late in the day.

French duo Mathieu Burgaudeau and Matteo Vercher attacked from 70km and the pair were only reeled in on the edge of finish town Laval after enthusiastic support on this Tour, which is based entirely on French soil but with no home winner yet.

Stage nine on Sunday heads south from Chinon to Chateauroux and is another flat affair with the focus on keeping hydrated in the heat and staying in the saddle.

But on France's national holiday on Monday there are eight classified climbs and many more besides in a stage loaded with opportunities.
