Voters turnout highest on record in the Kingdom since 2002

Remarkable achievement

HM King hails election success

TDI | Manama

His Majesty King Hamad bin Isa Al Khalifa yesterday congratulated the people of Bahrain for turning out in large numbers for the Parliamentary and Municipal Elections 2022.

"We congratulate ourselves and our loyal people on this great achievement for dear Kingdom," HM the King said.

The massive turnout, HM King said, represents a landmark which will remain in the history of Bahrain for future generations.

"This achievement shows the keenness of Bahrainis to perform their national responsibilities with their free and independent will and interest in building their and their country's future through constitutional institutions."

The efforts of Higher Elections Committees, subcommittees, election workers, all concerned authorities, and volunteers are praiseworthy, said HM King. HM further said the people of Bahrain made the right choice in promoting the reform project, which has its basis in coexistence, pluralism and diversity.

"This approach will remain a way of life and work for the Kingdom of Bahrain and its people", said HM.

8 pm sharp and immediately kick-started preparation to count votes.

Over 500 candidates battled yesterday for 40 parliamentary and 30 municipal seats, including 94 women, more than double the 2018 figure.

Voters, including those who

Security was tight, with cops and other volunteers posted at every nook and corner to assist people at the polling stations.

Another unique aspect of this year's election, however, was the presence of the beneficiaries of alternative penalties, assisting police officers. Assisting cops yesterday were over 100 beneficiaries.

Yet another notable aspect was the record turnout of women voters.

"We have seen an unprecedented number of women coming to this polling station since the start this morning," said Hamad Al Ghallaf, the supervising judge at the Oqba bin Nafea Primary Boys' School in Riffa.

Shura Council Chairman Ali bin Saleh Al Saleh hailed the massive turnout in the elections as a reflection of citizens' awareness and keenness to exercise their political rights.

Finance and National Economy Minister Shaikh Salman bin Khalifa Al Khalifa said the people of Bahrain performed their national duty to achieve more comprehensive development.

His Majesty King's Representative for Humanitarian Works and Youth Affairs, His Highness Shaikh Nasser bin Hamad Al Khalifa, cast his vote at the BIC polling station.

The broad participation, HH said, indicates the people's awareness of their role in the elections to elect the best representative.

His Highness Shaikh Khalid bin Hamad Al Khalifa, First Deputy Chairman of the Supreme Council for Youth and Sports, Chairman of the General Sports Authority and President of the Bahrain Olympic Committee, also cast his ballot at the BIC polling station.

In a statement, he praised the wide participation, especially the outstanding youth presence - both as candidates and voters in the elections.

Minor flaws

The National Institution of Human Rights (NIHR) said they detected some minor observations which did not affect the elections and corrected them. The recommendations will be published later and available to all soon.

New success story

Expressing pride in the tremendous success of the electoral process, Dr Abdullatif bin Rashid Al Zayani, Minister of Foreign Affairs, called the outcome a shining sign of the sustainability of the comprehensive democratic and development process of His Majesty King Hamad bin Isa Al Khalifa.
