MOVIE REVIEW

1917: unblinking vision of the hell of war

Sam Mendes turns a family story from the Great War into a terrifyingly immersive movie experience

● The film turns a nightmare war into a theme park showcase

● Tense one-take WWI epic a breathless anthem for doomed youth

1917 is a 2019 epic war film directed, co-written and produced by Sam Mendes. The film stars George MacKay, Dean-Charles Chapman, Mark Strong, Andrew Scott, Richard Madden, Claire Duburcq, Colin Firth and Benedict Cumberbatch.

It is based in part on an account told to Mendes by his paternal grandfather, Alfred Mendes, and chronicles the story of two young British soldiers during World War I who were given a mission to deliver a message. This warms of an ambush during a skirmish soon after the German retreat to the Hindenburg Line during Operation Alberich in 1917.

The project was officially

George MacKay, centre, in '1917'

announced in June 2018, with MacKay and Chapman signing on in October and the rest of the cast the following March. Filming took place from April to June 2019 in England and Scotland, with cinematographer Roger Deakins using long takes to have the entire film appear as one continuous shot.

1917 premiered in the UK on 4 December 2019 and was the-atrically released in the United States on 25 December by Universal Pictures and in the United Kingdom on 10 January 2020, by eOne.

The film was praised by critics

Mendes's first world war drama, filmed to appear as one continuous take, plunges the viewer into the trenches alongside two young British soldiers to breathless effect for Mendes's direction and for its performances, cinematography, musical score, sound effects and realism. Among its various accolades, the film received 10 nominations at the 92nd Academy Awards, including Best Picture, Best Director and Best Original Screenplay. At the 77th Golden Globe Awards the film won for Best Motion Picture – Drama and Best Director and at the 73rd British Academy Film Awards it received nine nominations.

On review aggregation website Rotten Tomatoes, the film holds an approval rating of 90% based on 319 reviews, with an average rating of 8.42/10. The site's critical consensus reads: "Hard-hitting, immersive and an impressive technical achievement, 1917 captures the trench warfare of World War I with raw, startling immediacy." Metacritic assigned the film a weighted average score of 79 out of 100, based on 55 critics, indicating "generally favourable reviews".

Audiences polled by CinemaScore gave the film an average grade of "A–" on an A+ to F scale and PostTrak reported it received an average 4.5 out of 5, with 69% of people saying they would definitely recommend it.

George MacKay's performance received high praise, with several critics naming it among the best of 2019, including Kate Erbland of IndieWire and Sheri Linden of The Hollywood Reporter.
