Royal Champion clinches 2025 Bahrain International Trophy

TDT | Manama

Royal Champion powered to victory in the 2025 Bahrain International Trophy (Group 2) yesterday at the Rashid Equestrian and Horseracing Club in Sakhir, sweeping past rivals in the closing stages to secure the biggest share of the race's US$1 million purse.

The Karl Burke-trained runner, partnered by James Doyle, lived up to his 15-8 favouritism with a well-timed surge over the 2,000-metre trip.

The five-year-old travelled smoothly throughout the mile-and-a-quarter feature, sitting handy before unleashing a decisive final burst — a performance that has prompted his trainer to consider stepping him up in distance next season.

"James gave him a great ride," Burke said. "We wanted him switched off and in a rhythm.

I told James he would take a hundred metres to really hit top gear. A furlong and a half out I thought we might be beaten, but he had it under control. He stays well and he's tough."

Galen, from Joseph O'Brien's yard and ridden by Dylan Browne McMonagle, made the running and fought on gamely but had to settle for second, while Charlie Appleby's Military Order, under William Buick, kept on for third.

Pride Of Arras finished fourth, with Lion's Pride completing the top five. Calif, Bright Picture and Persica followed home.

Royal Champion earned US$600,000 for the win, with US$200,000 awarded to Galen and US$100,000 to Military Order. The Bahrain International Trophy continues to strengthen its reputation as a leading international contest, drawing elite runners from major European stables.

50,000

Strong AI workforce by 2030

Tamkeen, govt bodies and universities unite to build the region's next AI hub

● Integrates AI across modelling, services and long-term economic planning

● AI policies and digital economy strategies to anchor growth

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

Artificial intelligence is the future — and Bahrain isn't waiting.

The kingdom is gearing up to build a 50,000-strong AI-skilled workforce by 2030.

Leading the charge is the Labour Fund Tamkeen, steering a government-backed mission outlined by the Economic Development Board.

In support, the Information and eGovernment Authority has already rolled out the National Artificial Intelligence Policy and an AI ethics guide — tools now serving as a reference point for neighbours across the Gulf Cooperation Council.

Bahrain's Economic Recovery Plan also leans heavily on AI, aiming to weave it into production lines and services to boost output and create high-quality jobs.

To drive this shift, the kingdom is advancing a three-pronged strategy: the Digital Economy Strategy, the Financial Services Development Strategy and the Industrial Sector Strategy.

The Ministry of Finance and National Economy says it is already using AI-driven economic modelling to track performance and forecast growth.

On the talent front, the Artificial Intelligence Academy at Bahrain Polytechnic is preparing citizens for digital innovation, while youth are exposed to AI through the Khalid bin Hamad Innovation Competition and Hackfest events.

Artificial intelligence forms a core pillar of the National Digital Economy Strategy, itself anchored within the wider Telecommunications, Information Technology and Digital Economy Strategy. AI is also embedded throughout the enabling frameworks of Bahrain Economic Vision 2050.

The Ministry of Cabinet Affairs notes that the Government Programme 2023–2026 carries a full pillar on state performance and digital transformation, with 48 national initiatives designed to spark innovation, build digital skills and prepare infrastructure and legislation for a fully digital economy.

According to the ministry, the Digital Economy Strategy approved in 2023 rests on three pillars: an inventive and borderless digital economy; a flexible, responsive digital government; and a globally connected digital hub. Strong collaboration between the public and private sectors is seen as essential to delivering these goals.

For its part, the Nasser Centre for Science and Technology says a dedicated national AI strategy would be a pivotal step towards boosting competitiveness and achieving Bahrain Economic Vision 2030. It added that AI promises major advances across industry, finance, education and health.

US and several Arab states urge 'swift adoption' of UN Gaza resolution

United Nations, United States

The United States and several Arab and Muslim-majority nations including Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Turkey called yesterday for the UN Security Council to quickly adopt a US resolution endorsing Donald Trump's peace plan for Gaza.

"The United States, Qatar, Egypt, the United Arab Emirates, the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, Indonesia, Pakistan, Jordan, and Türkiye express our joint support for the Security Council Resolution currently under consideration," the countries said in a joint statement, adding they were seeking the measure's "swift adoption."

Modi celebrates as party set for big win in state vote

AFP | New Delhi, India

Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi yesterday hailed a "resounding" victory for his party and its allies in a key local election in the state of Bihar.

The election commission said partial results and projections suggested a solid majority for Modi's Hindu nationalist Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) and its allies in the state assembly. Modi called the win a "victory of good governance".

MPs to revisit BD100,000 contract-review bill

Mohammed Darwish
TD | Manama

MPs will on Tuesday reconsider a draft law that would require all government contracts valued at more than 100,000 dinars to undergo review by the Legislation and Legal Opinion Commission, after the Shura Council voted to reject the proposal in principle.

Parliament is set to examine the Shura Council's stance on amendments to Article 2 of Law No. 60 of 2006, which governs the reorganisation of the Commission.

Parliament's Legislative and Legal Affairs Committee has urged MPs to uphold their earlier decision to endorse the draft in principle and to maintain the chamber's adopted wording.

The proposal would oblige the Commission to issue legal opinions on contracts concluded by ministries, state bodies and entities covered by the Law on the Regulation of Government Tenders, Bids, Purchases and Sales. No contract worth more than 100,000 dinars could be signed without prior legal review.

According to the committee report, the draft contains two articles in addition to the preamble. The first would amend item (9) of Article 2 of Law No. 60 of 2006, extending the Commission's mandate to include higher-value contracts with the aim of tightening oversight of public spending. The second is executive in nature, instructing the Prime Minister and ministers to implement the law the day after its publication in the Official Gazette. The committee considers the measure consistent with the Fiscal Balance Programme, which calls for administrative acts and contracts to be subject to legal scrutiny. The Council of Representatives has already agreed in principle.

The Shura Council, however, has opted not to support the proposal. In a memorandum attached to the bill, the government also requested reconsideration, arguing that the amendment departs from established legislative policy governing investment and could hinder opportunities for state-owned companies.

The government contends that expanding mandatory review would affect procurement processes and slow procedures, causing delays in activities and services—particularly for contracts requiring swift action.

After reviewing the Shura Council's position and the government's concerns, the Legislative and Legal Affairs Committee has unanimously recommended that MPs reaffirm their earlier approval of the draft in principle.

Private sector retirees get a pension-powered lifeline

New amendment lets retirees tap pension advances more frequently

● Private sector retirees can now take a new commutation loan every two years, without clearing previous pension advances

● The amendment aligns private sector rules with those for government and military retirees

● The Legislation and Legal Opinion Commission warns of added pressure on pension funds

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

Picture for representation only

Private sector retirees can now apply for a new commutation loan every two years — a scheme that lets them take part of their future pension as an advance lump sum and repay it through monthly pension deductions — without needing to clear previous loans first. A parliamentary proposal enabling this change has been approved by the Government.

The amendment updates the second paragraph of Article 144 of the Social Insurance Law issued under Decree-Law 24 of 1976. Under the new rule, the two-year waiting period will be counted from the date of the last commutation, rather than from the final instalment of the previous loan. This brings private sector retirees in line with government employees covered by Law 13 of 1975 and those under the Military Pensions Law issued by Decree-Law 11 of 1976.

His Royal Highness Prince Salman bin Hamad Al Khalifa, the Prime Minister, sent the draft amendment to the Council of Representatives in a letter issued under Articles 81 and 92(a) of the Constitution.

The bill aims to support social justice, improve living standards and encourage longer careers in the private sector.

The Cabinet forwarded the proposal to the Legislation and Legal Opinion Commission, which prepared the legal wording without altering its substance. The Commission stressed that social insurance exists to secure income in retirement, disability or illness and to help families maintain their living standards.

It also warned that the change will increase financial obligations on the Pension and Social Insurance fund, as more frequent commutations will place additional pressure on its resources. It called for actuarial studies and for feedback from the bodies managing the schemes.

In finalising the draft, the Commission removed references to unrelated laws and limited the amendment strictly to the paragraph being revised, making only minor wording adjustments without affecting the intent.

The amendment will take effect the day after it is published in the Official Gazette.

Bill seeks to give seniors a 50% cut on state fees

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

Lawmakers are proposing an Elderly Service Card for senior citizens, giving holders a minimum 50 per cent reduction on all state fees, including charges for official paperwork, municipal services, health services and other government-paid services.

The draft amendment to the elderly rights law is now before Parliament's Services Committee.

The proposal targets Article 9 of Law 58 of 2009 on the rights of the elderly. Under the updated wording, the responsible ministry — working with the committee for elderly affairs — would issue the Elderly Service Card to Bahraini senior citizens.

Mohammed Al Maarafi, MP

The plan also allows card holders to benefit from discounted essentials offered voluntarily by private-sector companies. These reductions would cover medicines, food, household items and transport from participating firms.

Proposal sponsor Mohammed Al Maarafi said the change would replace the current arrangement, where discounts are limited to specific fees set by Cabinet decision. A single card with clear, fixed benefits, he argued, would give senior citizens a dependable package of support. The explanatory memorandum adds that the proposal draws on international models used in other countries to extend broad benefits to older residents.

Handicrafts set for major boost under new proposal

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

Traditional handicrafts and Bahrain's wider heritage will go before MPs on Tuesday as Parliament debates a proposal to support and develop craft industries and protect the kingdom's national identity.

The proposal, submitted by MPs Mohammed Janahi, Dr Hesham Al Ashiri, Lulwa Al Rumaihi, Mohammed Al Olaiwi and Jalila Alawi, calls for government backing to preserve traditional crafts, promote their products, attract investment and ensure that long-standing skills are passed on rather than lost. Parliament's Services Committee has urged approval, stressing the need to use modern tools to enhance traditional crafts while keeping their original character intact.

Janahi said handicrafts form an economic sector capable of creating jobs for Bahrainis, opening doors to micro and small enterprises and expanding income sources. He added that support for crafts strengthens pride in heritage, particularly among young people.

The Bahrain Authority for Culture and Antiquities (BACA) told MPs it already treats traditional crafts and older trades as central to safeguarding national authenticity. Its Handicrafts Directorate and Museums and Antiquities Directorate work together to preserve crafts in their original settings. A key project is the National Register of Craftsmen, which documents craftspeople, their specialisations, experience and production capacity. In 2023, BACA recorded 243 craftspeople, though ongoing fieldwork is likely to reveal higher numbers.

BACA also promotes crafts through the 'Made in Bahrain' brand and shops, which offer over 380 products from the Jasra Handicrafts Centre and around 800 items from 49 external suppliers. Total sales in 2023 reached BD40,671. The Authority is developing an online platform to expand market reach.

Craft houses in Bani Jamra and Al Qala support weaving and basket-making, while extensive training programmes at Jasra and other centres help preserve skills. BACA also facilitates local and international participation at exhibitions and works with pottery workshops in A'ali to safeguard the craft's future.

BACA said the parliamentary proposal aligns with its existing efforts and pledged to continue expanding support within available resources.

MPs to debate wider powers over endangered species lists

TDT | Manama

MPs will on Tuesday debate a proposal to let the Supreme Council for the Environment (SCE) update all protected-species annexes under Bahrain's wildlife trade law. The amendment to Law 5 of 2021 would allow the SCE to revise Annexes I, II and III without requiring a full legislative process, which is currently needed for the highest-risk species listed in Annexes I and II.

The SCE said global CITES lists are updated every three years, but Bahrain must now pass a separate law each time Annexes I or II change, slowing national compliance and risking misalignment with international rules. In extreme cases, delays could even affect Bahrain's trade links.

The Bahrain Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals backed the move, saying faster updates would strengthen protection for the most threatened species. Parliament's Public Utilities and Environment Committee has recommended approval with minor textual adjustments.

Double disability jobs quota

Draft law seeks to raise disability hiring rate to 4%

● Government warns the change could strain budgets and leave posts unfilled due to limited qualified candidates.

● Supporters argue a higher quota would boost inclusion and expand job opportunities for persons with disabilities

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

A draft law to raise Bahrain's jobs quota for persons with disabilities from 2 to 4 per cent in workplaces with 50 or more employees will go before Parliament on Tuesday, after the Services Committee endorsed it despite government objections.

The amendment would also require the Labour Minister, in coordination with the Social Development Minister and the Civil Service Bureau, to specify government roles in which qualified fied candidates with disabilities would have priority.

The government asked MPs to reconsider the bill, arguing that its goals are already being met through existing legislation and the National Strategy for Persons with Disabilities (2023–2027). It warned that fixing a 4 per cent quota could leave posts unfilled due to a shortage of qualified candidates, add pressure on the State budget and disrupt the Fiscal Balance Programme and Economic Recovery Plan.

The Labour Ministry supported this view, noting there are 325 registered jobseekers with disabilities and 214 employed in the private sector. It said the required ministerial decision has not been issued because the current law treats it as optional and because assigning specific posts across government is impractical; it prefers a case-by-case approach.

The Social Development Ministry reported 14,800 persons with disabilities in 2024 and outlined its vocational rehabilitation programmes, which feed qualified graduates into the labour market in coordination with the Labour Ministry. It also contracts 12 private centres for additional training services.

The Civil Service Bureau said recruitment in government entities is governed by existing Civil Service law, which already requires a 2 per cent quota and grants priority to candidates with disabilities. It has designed 72 suitable job titles and currently employs 282 persons with disabilities across government.

The Bahrain Chamber of Commerce and Industry urged caution, warning that doubling the quota without strong data could harm some sectors. The General Federation of Bahrain Trade Unions backed the proposal, calling for tougher penalties for non-compliance and arguing that a higher quota would support social and economic inclusion.

UK Ambassador

Yousif bin Abdulhussein Khalaf, Minister of Legal Affairs and Acting Minister of Labour, received Alastair Long, UK Ambassador. The meeting highlighted the strong and enduring partnership between Bahrain and the United Kingdom, with both sides expressing their commitment to deepening cooperation. They discussed opportunities to broaden bilateral work, particularly in labour affairs and other shared priorities, and to enhance the exchange of expertise in support of mutual interests.

BD3m fraud: Businessman gets 10 years, ordered to repay victims

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

A businessman has been sentenced to 10 years in prison and fined BD100,000 for running an unlicensed BD3 million investment scheme and misappropriating clients' funds, the First High Criminal Court has ruled.

The court ordered all proceeds confiscated and instructed him to repay the victims, along with BD6,000 and BD1,000 in provisional compensation to two civil claimants.

Prosecutors said the defendant received funds from three victims between 2020 and 2023 after falsely claiming he would invest and manage their money despite having no licence from the Central Bank of Bahrain or any authorised body.

Instead, he kept the funds and high-value movables for personal use.

The first victim transferred BD1.67m in cash, bank payments, cars, jet skis, equipment and luxury items for supposed real estate ventures and business projects, none of which were registered in his name. A second victim transferred one million Saudi riyals for a Manama project involving jet skis and padel courts; he later recovered the amount minus SAR50,000, with no profits provided.

The third victim gave the defendant BD45,000 and was promised a job, profit shares, a luxury car and a BD100,000 cheque, all of which were withdrawn or never delivered. The defendant also took two special vehicle number plates.

Housing backlog hits 756 in South, some dating back 23 years

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

Pending housing applications in the Second Constituency of the Southern Governorate have reached 756, with some cases dating back to 2002, MP Dr Maryam Al Dhaen has been told.

In its response, the Housing Ministry said the constituency had 688 requests for housing units, 25 for residential plots and 43 for ownership apartments, all filed between 2002 and 2025. There are no pending applications predating 2000. Since the start of the current legislative term, 232 housing services have been granted to residents of the constituency.

Dr Al Dhaen had sought a full breakdown of applications from 2000 to 2025, clarification on older unresolved files, and details of current and upcoming projects—including nearby schemes—that will serve her constituency.

Dr Al Dhaen had sought a full breakdown of applications from 2000 to 2025, clarification on older unresolved files, and details of current and upcoming projects—including nearby schemes—that will serve her constituency.

The ministry linked its plans to the Government Programme 2023–2026, saying it is broadening housing options and expanding cooperation with private developers to speed up service delivery. It highlighted ed financing initiatives such as Tas'heel and Tas'heel+, which have processed thousands of requests since 2022, and the Tumooch scheme, which offers eligible beneficiaries an additional subsidised loan of BD20,000 a decade after purchasing an apartment to help them upgrade to a larger home.

The ministry also cited partnerships under the Government Land Development Rights Programme, including the Suhail project in Al Louzi—meeting 132 applications—and Hai Al Naseem in Madinat Salman, expected to cover 131 more, as well as the Al Wadi project in Buhair, now under off-plan reservation.

In Madinat Salman, new apartment buildings containing 1,362 ownership flats have been opened, with a second phase adding 432 units under way, alongside three contracted projects offering 138 additional units. In Madinat Khalifa, tendering is being prepared for a major development of more than 3,000 housing units, and a separate project is already under way to provide 372 homes for the Southern Governorate.

The ministry added that work continues in Al Hidd Housing City, Madinat Salman, Khalifa

City and Sitra Housing City under the 2025–2026 budget. In Sitra, 1,077 units have been delivered, a second phase of 531 units is nearing completion, and a third phase of 1,269 units is being built, with handovers scheduled for this year and next. Residential plots have also been allocated following the completion of infrastructure works.

19th Annual GPCA Forum to take place in Bahrain for the first time this December

The forum will be held from 8-11 December 2025 at Exhibition World Bahrain

Manama

The Gulf Petrochemicals and Chemicals Association (GPCA), the voice of the chemical industry in the Arabian Gulf, is delighted to announce that the 19th Annual GPCA Forum will be held for the first time at Exhibition World Bahrain from 8-11 December 2025, under the patronage of the Ministry of Oil and Environment, Bahrain. Hosted by the Gulf Petrochemical Industries Company (GPIC), under the theme “Catalyzing Competitiveness through Strategic Partnerships”, this year’s forum underscores the industry’s imperative to embrace collaboration, innovation, and sustainability in the face of global challenges. As the global chemical sector navigates an increasingly complex landscape shaped by the energy transition, digital disruption, and geopolitical uncertainty, strategic partnerships and technological innovation will be key to defining competitive advantage in the decade ahead. AI-driven innovation and circularity strategies will play a central role in improving operational efficiency and sustainability, while high-impact collaborations will help unlock scale and accelerate transformation. The Annual GPCA Forum will convene global chemical CEOs, policymakers, technology providers, and young professionals from the region for a rich program of ministerial sessions, keynote presentations, fireside chats, and leadership dialogues. Abdulrahman Al-Fageeh, CEO, SABIC and Chairman, GPCA, will deliver the Welcome remarks and open the forum on 8 December, while H.E. Dr. Mohamed bin Mubarak Bin Daina, Minister of Oil and Environment, Bahrain, will present a Ministerial address as the host of this year’s event. Prof. Jim Al-Khalili CBE FRS, Distinguished Professor Emeritus in Physics, University of Surrey, UK, will deliver a Keynote address on 8 December entitled “Pathfinders of Innovation”. On 9 December, Shaikh Nawaf S. Al-Sabah, Deputy Chairman and CEO, Kuwait Petroleum Corporation (KPC), will participate in a Fireside chat about the future of energy and petrochemicals. He will be followed on stage by Simon Williams, Chief Economist, HSBC, who will address the state of the global economy and the tariffs conundrum. Peter R. Huntsman, President and CEO, Huntsman Corporation, will discuss the power of partnerships in a Fireside chat, followed by a CEOs Plenary on the role of high impact partnerships featuring Dr. Markus Kamieth, CEO, BASF, and Peter Vanacker, CEO, LyondellBasell. Other esteemed speakers at the forum this year include:

- Steve Prusak, President and CEO, Chevron Phillips Chemical Company
- Dr. Hans Bohnen, CEO, Röhm GmbH
- Dr. Stefan Doboczky, CEO, Borealis AG
- Jean-Marc Natal, Head of the Commodities Unit, International Monetary Fund (IMF)
- Eduardo Meneses, CEO, Air Products
- Alope Lohia, Founder and Group CEO, Indorama Ventures
- Ignacio ‘Nacho’ Torras, President and CEO, Tricon Energy
- Stephan Schnabel, Chairman of the Executive Board, HELM AG
- Dr. Udo Lange, CEO, Stolt-Nielsen

The forum will also feature the 2nd GPCA Startup Nexus, a platform dedicated to advancing the regional start-up ecosystem, alongside the 3rd GPCA Solutions Xchange and the GPCA Sustainability Pavilion, which will showcase the region’s sustainability initiatives and circular solutions. Building on the success of previous editions, the 4th GPCA Youth Forum will unite young professionals and students with industry leaders to exchange insights and shape the future of the chemical and petrochemical sector. As in previous years, one of the most anticipated moments of the forum will be the presentation of the 7th GPCA Legacy Award “Al Rowad”, taking place on 8 December. The award will honor an exceptional pioneer whose vision and leadership laid the foundations for the chemical industry in the Arabian Gulf, celebrating their enduring impact and contribution to the sector’s growth and global reputation. Dr. Abdulwahab Al-

Sadoun, Secretary General, GPCA, commented: “In this new era of global rebalancing, emerging trade flows and strategic partnerships present new opportunities to reinvent the GCC chemical industry’s competitiveness and pursue new avenues for growth. The Annual GPCA Forum is the ideal platform to ignite collaboration, while driving innovation, advancing sustainability, and building industry resilience. We invite the global and regional chemical industry community to join us this December in Bahrain for four days full of networking, knowledge sharing, and collaboration to shape the future together.”

Iran likely seized oil tanker off UAE: security firms

Dubai, United Arab Emirates

Iran likely seized an oil tanker that suddenly changed course towards the country’s waters Friday, two security companies said, stoking concern that Tehran has resumed maritime captures after a lull. The ship, which had left Ajman in the United Arab Emirates destined for Singapore, was heading for Iranian waters. Ellie Shafik of Vanguard Tech told AFP the Talara had been intercepted by Iran’s Revolutionary Guards (IRGC) and detained. “It’s unclear why,” she said. “Iran will likely frame this as a judicially ordered, law-based action, masking what may just be a strategic seizure.” Iran has so far not commented on the incident. The US Navy said it was “actively monitoring the situation”. “Commercial vessels are entitled to largely unimpeded rights of navigation and commerce on the high seas,” said the US 5th Fleet, which patrols the region. The Marshall Islands-flagged vessel was heading south through the Strait of Hormuz when it was approached by three small boats, maritime security company Ambrey said, adding it had made a “sudden course deviation”. Maritime Security company Neptune P2P Group said the vessel had been seized by “suspected Iranian forces”. “The incident appears to be the latest in a series of illegal ship seizures transiting the Strait of Hormuz and Gulf of Oman in recent years, but it is the first since the seizure of the commercial ship MSC ARIES in April 2024,” it said in a note. “The Islamic Revolutionary Guard Corps Navy are usually responsible for such incidents and has been known to use such activity to apply political pressure in the region,” it added. The British Royal Navy-run UKMTO, meanwhile, said the incident was “believed to be state activity”.

Epstein’s emails reveal network of powerful contacts

AFP | Washington, United States

The latest batch from convicted sex offender Jeffrey Epstein’s emails illustrates the extraordinary scope of his contacts with powerful people, ranging from a top Trump adviser to Britain’s ex-prince Andrew. The US House of Representatives is expected to vote next week on trying to force release of evidence gathered on Epstein by law enforcement over the years -- including the identities of the men suspected of participating in his alleged sex trafficking ring. However, a slew of emails released this week has already opened new windows on the extent of Epstein’s network. These include multiple references to President Donald Trump, who is angrily calling the push for more transparency a “hoax” -- while simultaneously demanding a probe of Epstein’s links to others, including former president Bill Clinton. Documents already released by Democrats in Congress include email exchanges running from 2009 to 2019, when Epstein died in detention while awaiting trial on sex trafficking charges.

His death was ruled a suicide. These are just three of the prominent men -- and one woman -- found in the email threads. Andrew, fallen prince One exchange in the typo-strewn emails confirms that contact between Epstein and Andrew, who was stripped of his royal title in October, did not definitively end in late 2010, as his brother King Charles has stated. As late as March 4, 2011, Epstein wrote to Andrew with several questions addressed to long-time associate Ghislaine Maxwell, who was convicted of sex trafficking after Epstein’s death.

Epstein’s death. “Please make sure that every statement or legal letter states clearly that I am NOT involved and that I knew and know NOTHING about any of these allegations. I can’t take any more of this my end,” Andrew wrote. Two days later Epstein wrote back: “you ok? these stories are complete and utter fantasy.” Bannon, former Trump adviser Epstein had a long email correspondence in 2018 with Steve Bannon, an adviser to Trump in his first term and a chief ideologue of the hard-right Make America Great Again movement. That July, Epstein suggested he help Bannon spread his far-right ideas in Europe. Epstein: “It’s doable, but time consuming, there are many leaders of countries we can organize for you to have one on ones.” “Agree 100% How do I do that???” Bannon asked. “We can talk about at your convenience,” Epstein said. Former treasury secretary Summers “How is life among the lucrative and louche?” asked Larry Summers, who served as treasury secretary under Barack Obama, in an email to Epstein on October 27, 2017, during Trump’s first term. “When we meet I will endeavor to mesmerize you with stories of D.C. so wild !!!” Epstein replied. Epstein asked what people attending a conference with Summers think of Trump. “Hard to tell. General view Donald is a clown, increasingly dangerous on foreign policy,” Summers said. Epstein in December 2018: “trump - borderline insane.” Former Obama adviser Ruemmler Epstein also traded emails with Kathryn Ruemmler, a lawyer who served as an adviser to Obama until 2014. Their exchange began that year and ran until 2019. “I am about to go on stage. The first part of my presentation is about Trump,” Ruemmler wrote in May 2016. “Con man, says it all,” Epstein replied. In August 2018 he wrote to her: “I know how dirty donald is. my guess is that non lawyers ny biz people have no idea.” That December Epstein wrote: “you might want to tell your dem friends that treating trump like a mafia don, ignores the fact that he has great dangerous power.”

Blue Origin launches NASA Mars mission and nails booster landing

Blue Origin's New Glenn rocket lifts off for its second mission, the NG-2, from Space Launch Complex 36 at the Space Force Station in Cape Canaveral, Florida

AFP | London

Jeff Bezos's Blue Origin successfully launched its New Glenn rocket on Thursday with NASA twin spacecraft destined for Mars aboard, and in a breakthrough nailed the landing of its booster.

The launch was stalled for days over weather both on Earth and in space, but it was worth the wait: in the rocket's second-ever flight, Blue Origin managed to recover the booster for reuse.

Ecstatic cheers rang out at the launch site in Florida's Cape Canaveral as the booster gracefully stuck its landing on a floating platform. Prior to Thursday, only Elon Musk's SpaceX had managed to accomplish such a maneuver with an orbital-class rocket.

Blue Origin's accomplishment comes amid intensified rivalry between the two billionaire-owned private space companies, as the US space agency NASA recently opened up bids for its planned Moon mission.

"Damn that was exciting!" said Jared Isaacman -- a Musk ally who President Donald Trump recently nominated again to head NASA -- on X, congratulating Blue Origin.

A handful of figures at SpaceX also had praise for their rivals, including Musk himself: "Congratulations @JeffBezos and the @BlueOrigin team!" he said on X.

The launch was repeatedly delayed, on Sunday over weather on Earth, and on Wednesday over weather in space.

The second postponement was over "highly elevated solar activity" that NASA was worried could impact or damage its spacecraft.

And multiple glitches meant delays yet again on Thursday -- hold-ups Blue Origin did not explain. But at 3:55 pm (2055 GMT), New Glenn finally blasted off.

Beijing, Tokyo summon ambassadors in wake of Japan PM's Taiwan remark

● Beijing rebukes Tokyo over Taiwan

● Japan protests envoy's violent remark

● Japan cites long-standing 1972 policy

AFP | Washington

China has summoned Japan's ambassador for a rebuke over the hawkish premier's comments about Taiwan, Beijing said yesterday, as Tokyo insisted its position on the island was unchanged.

But as the diplomatic spat escalated, Japan's foreign ministry said it summoned Beijing's ambassador yesterday after a Chinese consul called to "cut off" Japanese Prime Minister Sanae Takaichi's neck in a now-removed online post.

Last week, Takaichi told parliament that armed attacks on Taiwan -- which China claims as part of its territory -- could warrant sending troops to the island under "collective self-defence".

If an emergency in Taiwan entails "battleships and the use of force, then that could constitute a situation threatening the survival (of Japan), any way you slice it", she said.

China's Vice Foreign Minister Sun Weidong summoned on Thursday the Japanese ambassador, Kenji Kanasugi, according to a statement published on Beijing's foreign ministry website.

It said Sun made "serious demarches over Japanese Prime member of security stands guard at the Japanese embassy in Beijing Minister Sanae Takaichi's erroneous remarks regarding China".

"If anyone dares to interfere with China's unification cause in any form, China will surely strike back hard," the statement said.

Hours later, Tokyo said it summoned Beijing's ambassador, Wu Jianghao, "and strongly protested against the extremely inappropriate statements" made by Beijing's consul general in Osaka, Xue Jian.

The foreign ministry urged Wu to ensure "the Chinese side takes appropriate measures", it added.

Xue had threatened in a social media post to "cut off that dirty neck without a second of hesitation".

The diplomatic spat escalated sharply when Japan summoned China's ambassador after a Chinese consul threatened online to "cut off" Prime Minister Takaichi's neck

He did not name Takaichi but quoted a news article about her remarks.

Japanese Foreign Minister Toshimitsu Motegi said on Thursday that the now-deleted post was "highly inappropriate".

"We strongly urge the Chinese side to continue taking appropriate measures to ensure that this does not affect the broad direction of Japan-China relations," added Motegi, who was in Canada for a G7 meeting.

Japan's Chief Cabinet Secretary Minoru Kihara said that his government's position on Taiwan remains unchanged and "is consistent with the 1972 Japan-China Joint Communiqué".

UN rights council orders probe of atrocities in Sudan's El-Fasher

AFP | London

The UN Human Rights Council yesterday ordered investigators to probe alleged atrocities in Sudan's El-Fasher and to seek to identify perpetrators so they can be brought to justice.

The United Nations' top rights body adopted a resolution ordering the UN's independent fact-finding mission on Sudan to urgently investigate violations in El-Fasher.

The text also called on the investigative team to "identify, where possible" suspected perpetrators in a bid to ensure they are "held accountable".

The decision came at the end of a special session called to address the situation in El-Fasher, amid mounting warnings of crimes against humanity and the risk of genocide.

"Bloodstains on the ground in El-Fasher have been photographed from space," UN rights chief Volker Turk warned as he opened yesterday's session.

"The stain on the record of the international community is less visible but no less damaging."

Since breaking out in April 2023, the war between Sudan's army and the paramilitary Rapid Support Forces has killed tens of thousands of people, displaced nearly 12 million more and trig-

Sudanese people who fled El-Fasher prepare a meal at a camp for the displaced in the northern town of Al-Dabba gered one of the world's worst humanitarian crises.

The violence has escalated dramatically in recent weeks, with the RSF seizing control of the key town of El-Fasher in Sudan's western Darfur region after an 18-month siege and reports of atrocities multiplying.

'Coordinated campaign against civilians'

British ambassador Kumar Iyer, whose country requested the special session along Germany, Ireland, the Netherlands and Norway, insisted that "the scale and severity of the crisis in Sudan can no longer be met with silence".

"The violence in El-Fasher bears the hallmarks of a coordinated campaign against civilians by the Rapid Support Forces," he said, pointing to "credible reports of actively targeted killings, systematic, sexual violence, and the deliberate use of starvation".

Before yesterday's resolution was adopted, he urged countries to greenlight the text: "without it, accountability will remain out of reach and the cycle of impunity will continue."

The text was adopted by consensus, although several countries, including Sudan, disassociated themselves from the paragraphs broadening the scope of the fact-finding mission's investigation.

'Heinous' Russian attack on Ukraine capital kills six

Drone and missile strikes pound Ukrainian capital, causing heavy civilian casualties

● Drone hit market, killing two

● Azerbaijan embassy compound damaged

● Officials reported 30 wounded

AFP | Kyiv

Russia struck residential parts of Ukraine's capital Kyiv yesterday, Ukraine said, killing six people in a single apartment block in attacks President Volodymyr Zelensky denounced as "heinous" and aimed at civilians.

Kyiv also said a Russian drone attack on a market in southern Ukraine hours later killed two more people.

It was one of the largest attacks on Kyiv since Russia launched its full-scale invasion of Ukraine in 2022, hitting buildings in most of the capital's districts.

The attack also damaged Azerbaijan's embassy.

Baku said an Iskander-type missile had destroyed part of its compound and summoned Moscow's envoy.

In the east of the city, where rescue workers were clearing debris, AFP reporters saw multi-storey buildings with dozens of windows and balconies blown out, their facades charred.

"My hair caught fire and I started putting it out," said local resident Maria Kalchenko, outside one of the buildings.

She turned to look for her dog before a wall near her collapsed.

"The doors were blown out, flames everywhere, the fire spreading, the neighbours screaming," she told AFP.

Zelensky said the attack was specifically aimed to cause "terror".

"This was a deliberately calculated attack aimed at causing maximum harm to people and civilian infrastructure," he added.

A hospital, shops and offices were also damaged, and around 30 people were wounded, officials said.

'Contempt for humanity'

Moscow has fired record missile and drone barrages at Ukraine in recent months, hitting energy and rail infrastructure.

It has also targeted residential areas, knocking out power for tens of thousands across the country as temperatures plunge.

Germany said yesterday's attack showed a "contempt for humanity" from Moscow.

"It is very evident and clear that (Russian President Vladimir) Putin aims to make winter as unbearable as possible for Ukraine, to destroy morale and break the resistance of the Ukrainian people," German Defence Minister Boris Pistorius said.

Overnight, AFP journalists saw Ukraine using tracer bullets and missile defence systems, and incandescent debris falling over large areas above the capital.

The explosions lit up the night sky in flashes of bright orange.

India's Modi celebrates as party set for big win in state vote

Supporters of the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) holding a photograph of India's Prime Minister Narendra Modi celebrate vote counting results of the party's victory in the Bihar assembly elections

AFP | Patna

Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi yesterday hailed a "resounding" victory for his party and its allies in a key local election in the state of Bihar.

The eastern state of 130 million people was widely seen as a bellwether and a test of Modi's ability to translate New Delhi's booming economy into gains for its citizens.

Counting is still ongoing and the final tally may not be out until Saturday, but the election commission said partial results and projections suggested a solid majority for Modi's Hindu nationalist Bharatiya Janata Party

(BJP) and its allies in the state assembly.

Modi called the win a "victory of good governance".

"This resounding public mandate will empower us to serve the people and work with new resolve for Bihar," he said in a post on social media.

Together with smaller allies, BJP are on course to securing at least three quarters of the state legislature's 243 seats, according to figures from the election commission.

The election outcome can boost Modi and his party ahead of other key regional polls next year, analysts say.

US announces new military operation in Latin America

A Venezuelan navy patrol boat escorts Panamanian flagged crude oil tanker Yoselin near the El Palito refinery in Puerto Cabello, Venezuela

AFP | London

US Defense Secretary Pete Hegseth announced Thursday a military operation to "remove narco-terrorists," amid growing concerns that a US naval build-up in Latin American waters could presage land strikes and a wider conflict.

"Today, I'm announcing Operation SOUTHERN SPEAR," Hegseth posted on X. "This mission defends our Homeland, removes narco-terrorists from our Hemisphere, and secures our Homeland from the drugs that are killing our people."

The post gave no details of what the operation would entail or how it might differ from military actions already being undertaken.

President Donald Trump's administration is conducting a military campaign in the Caribbean and eastern Pacific, deploying naval and air forces for what it calls an anti-drugs offensive.

US forces have carried out strikes on about 20 vessels in international waters in the region since early September, killing at least 76 people, according to US figures.

Asked for clarification on the precise nature of Operation Southern Spear, a Pentagon spokesperson simply referred inquiries back to Hegseth's post on X.

CBS News on Wednesday cited multiple sources as saying senior military officials had presented Trump with updated options for potential operations in Venezuela, including strikes on land.

Venezuela announced Tuesday what it called a major, nationwide military deployment to counter the growing US naval presence off its coast -- including a newly arrived US aircraft carrier strike group in the region.

Kim Kardashian

Kim Kardashian studied ‘nine hours a day’ for bar exam

Bang Showbiz | Los Angeles

Kim Kardashian studied for “nine hours a day” for three months because she needed to pass the bar exam on her “first try”. The 45-year-old reality TV star has been working towards becoming a lawyer but it was recently revealed she failed her final test and will now have to retake it if she wants to qualify - but Kim admitted she worked extra hard ahead of the exam because she wouldn’t have time to try again if she failed. Speaking in an episode of her show The Kardashians, which was filmed before she received her bar exam result, she explained: “It’s just the craziest, most emotional roller-coaster. “I really do need to pass on the first try because I don’t have another few months I can give up. I studied nine hours a day, every day. I am feeling a little bit overwhelmed.” Kim added that she threw herself into her studies after wrapping work on her new TV drama All’s Fair and spent three months revising for the exam. She said: “I’m really excited to just have All’s Fair wrapped and behind me so that I can just dive right into studying and make that my No. 1 focus. “I am feeling a little bit exhausted. My bar exam is just three months away.” However, her hard work didn’t pay off and Kim now faces the prospect of resitting the test. In an Instagram post shared after getting her result, Kim wrote:

“Well ... I’m not a lawyer yet, I just play a very well-dressed one on TV. “Six years into this law journey, and I’m still all in until I pass the bar. No shortcuts, no giving up just more studying and even more determination. “Thank you to everyone who has supported and encouraged me along the way so far. “Falling short isn’t failure - it’s fuel. I was so close to passing the exam and that only motivates me even more. Let’s Go!!!!!!” Kim previously enrolled in a four-year apprenticeship with a San Francisco law firm in 2018 and took the baby bar exam three times before passing it in 2021. She also reportedly passed the Multistate Professional Responsibility Exam (MPRE) in March. Kim is said to have shared the results of her exam one day before the results were made public as she wanted to be honest with her fans.

Jennifer Aniston

Jennifer Aniston opens up about ‘very special’ Jim Curtis

Bang Showbiz | Los Angeles

Jennifer Aniston’s boyfriend Jim Curtis is “very special” and “very normal”. The former Friends star, 56, has been linked to the life coach and hypnotherapist since in July and they made their romance Instagram official earlier this month when the actress shared a picture of the couple embracing to mark Jim’s 50th birthday - and now she has opened up about their relationship and described her new man’s best qualities. She told ELLE magazine: “Hypnotism is one of the many things that he does. He’s quite extraordinary, and helps many, many people. “He’s very special, very normal, and very kind, and wants to help people heal, move through their trauma and stagnation into clarity. It’s a beautiful thing to commit your life to.” Jennifer - who was previously married to actor Brad Pitt actor and was in a relationship with Justin Theroux from 2015 until 2018 - first sparked romance rumours with Jim when the pair vacationed together in Mallorca, Spain, over the Fourth of July weekend this summer. After Jennifer made their relationship Instagram official, Jim reciprocated by adding more pictures of the pair together and alongside the snaps posted on Instagram, he wrote: “If this is a dream I don’t want to wake up.” Jim has since shared his secret to starting a successful relationship. He shared a clip to his Instagram account on Saturday (08.11.25), in which he gave tips for falling in love. He’s asked: “Hey, Jim. How do I stop falling in love with the idea of someone?” Jim then replied: “I like this question mostly because the subconscious mind doesn’t know the difference between reality and fantasy. “So the more you that fantasise about the future that does not currently exist, the more you make it real. This is what manifestation is. “However, in a relationship, if you’re fantasising about what marriage with kids and a house in the country looks like without paying attention to what’s happening in this present moment, then you’re falling in love with something that doesn’t exist, and you’re probably putting too much attachment on that person.

Cardi B gives birth to 4th child as she looks forward to ‘new chapter’

Bang Showbiz | Los Angeles

Cardi B has given birth to her fourth child. The 33-year-old rapper confirmed she has welcomed her first child with her NFL star boyfriend Stefon Diggs into the world, and she is looking forward to starting the “next chapter” of her life. She wrote on Instagram: “My life has always been a combination of different chapters and different seasons. My last chapter was the beginning of a new season. Starting over is never easy but it’s been so worth it! I brought new music and a new album to the world! A new baby into my world, and one more reason to be the best version of me, one more reason to love me more than anything else or anyone else so I can continue giving my babies the love and life they deserve. This next chapter is Me vs. Me! It’s me against all odds me against everything meant to get in my way. (sic)”

Paris Hilton hails ‘best friend’ Carter Reum

Bang Showbiz | Los Angeles

Paris Hilton has thanked Carter Reum for always “believing” in her. The 44-year-old star has taken to social media to celebrate her fourth wedding anniversary, describing Carter as her “best friend”. The blonde beauty - who has son Phoenix, two, and daughter London, two, with Carter - said on TikTok: “Four years ago today I married my best friend — my 11:11 wish come true and so much more [stars emojis] Every day with you feels like a fairytale [heart emoji] Thank you for always lifting me up, believing in me, being my #1 cheerleader, and filling our world with so much love [tears emoji]

“You’ve given me the most beautiful family and the kind of happiness I used to only wish for (sic)” Paris also celebrated the landmark on Instagram.

She wrote on the photo-sharing platform: “Four years down, a lifetime of memories to go [tears and hearts emojis] Happy Anniversary my love [kiss and stars emojis] (sic)”

Earlier this year, Paris praised Carter for filling their family home with “love, laughter, and fun”.

The TV star took to Instagram on Father’s Day to heap praise on her husband.

Paris - who has been married to Carter since 2021 - wrote on the photo-sharing platform at the time: “Happy Father’s Day to the Dada who fills our home with love, laughter, and fun. Watching you be a dad is the greatest gift — your kindness, patience, and playful heart make every day magical [star emojis] Phoenix, London, and I adore you beyond words “Forever grateful for our #CutesieCrew [tears and hearts emoji] (sic)”

Paris also paid tribute to her own dad on Father’s Day.

The socialite wrote: “Happy Father’s Day to my incredible dad @RickHilton7 [heart emoji] The most loyal, loving, and protective man [tears emoji]

“Thank you for always believing in me and letting me chase my dreams [heart and stars emoji] I’m so lucky to be your daughter. Love you forever [heart emoji] #Fa-

France qualify for World Cup as Portugal, Norway forced to wait

Les Bleus secure their place as Portugal loses and Cristiano Ronaldo is sent off

● France beat Ukraine 4-0 to qualify

● Portugal lose 2-0 to Republic of Ireland

● Norway and Italy's race goes to final day

AFP | Paris

France reached the 2026 World Cup with a 4-0 win over Ukraine on Thursday as the country marked the 10th anniversary of the 2015 Paris attacks, while Portugal were made to wait after losing 2-0 in Dublin as Cristiano Ronaldo saw red.

Norway must also be patient after Italy struck late in Moldova to prevent them from stamping their ticket to next year's tournament in North America.

France's victory came in an emotionally-charged Parc des Princes, which observed a minute's silence to mark the 10th anniversary of the attacks in and around Paris on Friday, November 13, 2015.

Most of the 130 people killed in the attacks lost their lives at the Bataclan concert hall in the capital, where they were attending a concert.

But one person died near the Stade de France in the northern Paris suburb of Saint-Denis, where multiple explosions took place as suicide bombers attempted to enter the ground during a friendly between Les Bleus and Germany.

Didier Deschamps was the coach then and remains in charge now, with the approaching World Cup to be his final tournament before stepping down.

“Given the context tonight, we are pleased to have put some smiles on faces by securing qualification,” said Deschamps.

"We have fulfilled our objective. I understand that it is seen as normal that France qualify but we still had to go out and do it, so we are very proud."

Second-half goals by Kylian Mbappe and Michael Olise, as well as a first international strike for Hugo Ekitike, gave Deschamps' side an unassailable six-point lead over both Iceland, who beat Azerbaijan 2-0, and Ukraine at the top of Group D.

While France can now look forward to the draw for the finals, which takes place in Washington, DC, on December 5, Ukraine and Iceland meet each other on Sunday in a shoot-out to decide who continues on into the play-offs next March.

Portugal would have secured top spot in Group F with a win against the Republic of Ireland.

But a Ronaldo red card for violent conduct when trailing 2-0 to a Troy Parrott brace meant Portugal remain on 10 points, three ahead of the Irish and two ahead of Hungary, who won 1-0 against Armenia.

Portugal's final group match will be against Armenia in Porto on Sunday, while Hungary welcome Ireland in what will likely be a clash for second place.

Parrott headed the hosts into the lead on 17 minutes, before doubling up on the stroke of half-time.

Ireland then dug in deep to frustrate their fancied opponents, whose task effectively became insurmountable when 40-year-old Ronaldo swung an elbow into Dara O'Shea's back and was dismissed after a VAR review.

Ronaldo, the men's all-time top goalscorer in international football, could potentially miss the start of the World Cup if Portugal qualify, depending on the length of his ban.

"We didn't manage (to win), we're sad and disappointed with what we did here today," Portugal midfielder Bernardo Silva said.

Despite romping to an Erling Haaland-inspired 4-1 win over Estonia, Norway will also have to wait until the final matchday to wrap up their berth at the World Cup.

Forwards Alexander Sorloth and Haaland both netted doubles in the space of 12 second-half minutes earlier in Oslo, but the Norwegians had to wait on Italy's later match against Moldova before they could be certain of topping Group I.

The Moldovans looked to have done enough to send Stale Solbakken's side to the finals, until Gianluca Mancini struck on 88 minutes to send Italy on the way to a victory that kept their automatic qualification hopes alive.

Inter Milan forward Pio Esposito doubled Italy's lead in

The match was played on the eve of the 10th anniversary of the 2015 Paris attacks, where one person was killed near the Stade de France during a France-Germany friendly injury time to ensure Sunday's meeting between the Italians and Norway at the San Siro will be a blockbuster.

Three points separate the pair but Norway hold an imposing head-to-head record over Italy after cruising to a 3-0 win in their encounter in June.

"It wasn't easy... We also knew that Norway had won, so it was a bit of a strange atmosphere," Sandro Tonali told Sky Sport Italia.

Bumrah claims five as India seize advantage in first South Africa Test

Jasprit Bumrah claimed 5-27 as India bundled out South Africa for 159 on the first day in Kolkata

● India finish day on 37-1

● Play ended early due to bad light pace spearhead Jasprit Bumrah claimed a five-wicket haul as India bowled out South Africa for 159 on the opening day of the first cricket Test yesterday.

Electing to bat in Kolkata at the start of the two-match series, reigning world Test champions South Africa lost regular wickets and were bowled out off 55 overs.

In reply, India were 37-1 at stumps, trailing South Africa by 122 runs on a pitch that looked good for batting.

Left-arm quick Marco Jansen removed Yashasvi Jaiswal for 12 when the left-handed opener chopped a delivery on to his stumps.

With the red ball in use, even with the floodlights on, it grew so dark that play was halted early at the iconic Eden Gardens. KL Rahul was on 13 and left-handed Washington Sundar on six.

The visitors had suffered a setback even before a ball was bowled when their premier fast bowler Kagiso Rabada was ruled out with a rib injury.

"KG (Rabada) is a world class bowler, probably is one of the top two or three seam bowlers in the world, and we've seen what damage one of the other best seam bowlers in the world could do on that surface," South African batting coach Ashwell Prince said.

"So he'll definitely be missed on the surface, because I do think it is actually aiding the fast bowlers."

Rabada is under observation after he sustained the injury in the team's first training session on Tuesday and failed a fitness test on the morning of the opener.

Bumrah, who took his 16th five-wicket haul in Test cricket after, struck twice in the third over after tea.

Bumrah then produced a gem to send back Markram, caught behind for 31 on a rising ball that hit the glove and returning wicketkeeper Rishabh Pant completed a diving catch.

Kuldeep kept up the bowling charge and had skipper Temba Bavuma caught at leg slip for three.

Wiaan Mulder and Tony de Zorzi -- who both scored 24 -- took the team past 100 and into lunch before Kuldeep trapped Mulder lbw with the batsman attempting a reverse sweep off the left-arm wrist spinner.

Bumrah ended de Zorzi's defiance lbw and the batter, like Mulder, wasted a review. Both showed the ball hitting the stumps.

Wickets kept tumbling as Siraj picked two in the space of four balls, with Kyle Verreynne lbw for 16 and Jansen bowled for a duck.

Miller fastest in first Valencia MotoGP practice as Martin returns

Prima Pramac Yamaha MotoGP team's Australian MotoGP rider Jack Miller takes part in a practice session

AFP | Valencia

Jack Miller led the way in opening practice for the Valencia MotoGP yesterday as Aprilia's Jorge Martin got back on the bike after injury.

Cleared to return this week after a collarbone fracture at the Japanese Grand Prix in September, 2024 world champion Martin was slowest in 24th, 1.5 seconds behind Miller.

The Spaniard has endured an injury-hit season, preventing him from defending his title, which was claimed by Marc Marquez.

Alex Marquez wrapped up second in October and Marco Bezzecchi is poised to seal third place in Valencia, leading Francesco Bagnaia, fourth, by 35 points going into the final race of the season.

Last year the Valencia race was cancelled because of the deadly flooding which hit the region.

Sinner completes perfect ATP Finals group stage by seeing off Shelton

AFP | Turin

Jannik Sinner comfortably beat Ben Shelton 6-3, 7-6 (7/3) yesterday to complete a perfect group stage in his ATP Finals title defence.

Italian Sinner took one hour and 35 minutes to see off spirited Shelton who bowed out of his debut Finals in Turin without a win from his three matches in the Bjorn Borg Group.

Sinner will face Alex de Minaur in the first semi-final on Saturday afternoon, when he will be red-hot favourite to reach his third final in as many years at the season-ending tournament.

The 24-year-old hasn't dropped a set at the Finals since losing the 2023 final to Novak Djokovic and he hasn't even had to play his best tennis to rattle off wins against three of the best players on the planet.

Sinner started yesterday's match by immediately breaking Shelton's serve and from there kept up the pressure without ever giving Shelton, the world number five, any chance of victory.

Sinner is on course for yet

Italy's Jannik Sinner hits a return against USA's Ben Shelton

another final showdown against Carlos Alcaraz, who before yesterday's match was handed the award for securing the year-end top spot in the men's rankings.

Alcaraz, who made sure he would end 2025 top of the pile on Thursday night, has won four of his five meetings with Sinner this season, all have been in finals of top-level tournaments -- with two deciding Grand Slams.

Sinner came out on top at Wimbledon but was on the losing side of one of the greatest tennis matches when he threw away a two-set lead in the French Open final in June.

The semi-final line-up will be completed later yesterday when Alexander Zverev and Felix Auger-Aliassime battle for the chance to finish second behind Sinner and set up a last-four clash with Alcaraz.
