Eva Mendes

Eva Mendes: Motherhood is a job

Los Angeles

Actress Eva Mendes says motherhood is like a “job”, because she has to use the same skills as a chauffeur, chef, and personal assistant.

The 45-year-old actress has Esmeralda, five, and Amada, three, with her husband Ryan Gosling, and has joked that her kids are “not grateful” for all the work she does, which sees her use the skills of various other occupations, including a chauffeur and a chef, reports femalefirst.co.uk.

“Nobody told me it was really going to be a job, and a job I would need an incredible amount of skill for. (I’m) a chauffeur, a cook, a personal assistant to an abusive boss. They’re not grateful. Any other profession you would need to pass a test, but the only test I had to pass was a pregnancy test. That doesn’t seem fair,” Mendes said during an appearance on “The Kelly Clarkson Show”.

Although she has so much to do for her children every day, the “Hitch” star says the hardest part of parenting is needing to carry snacks with her wherever she goes.

She added: “The hardest part (of parenting) hands down is the amount of snacks I have to carry with me all day long, and the variety. They like something different so you need to keep it fresh, especially on long car rides. Those are the worst. Even going to the market, I need to take food in the car to go (there).”

Jim Carrey, Ginger Gonzaga call it quits

Los Angeles

Actor Jim Carrey and his “Kidding” co-star Ginger Gonzaga have reportedly split after dating for a few months.

“They broke up months ago,” a source told people.com.

Carrey and Gonzaga played love interests on “Kidding”. A representative for the actor had confirmed to people.com in January the two were dating.

Carrey, 57, and Gonzaga, 35, made their red carpet debut together at the Showtime Golden Globe Nominees Celebration in January.

Carrey had even gushed about the actress at the Golden Globes earlier this year. The actor called Gonzaga “incredible, unbelievable, a wicked talent and amazing person”.

Lady Gaga almost had ‘entire body’ X-rayed after stage fall

Las Vegas

Pop star Lady Gaga says she has almost had her entire body X-rayed after Thursday night’s fall off the stage.

On Friday, the singer shared a shot of her hand under the X-ray machine on Instagram, and informed fans that she has undergone thorough examination by the doctors after she and a fan took a tumble off the stage during her Las Vegas residency show, Enigma, reports etonline.com.

Going by fan videos of the show, after Gaga hit the floor the fan seemed to crash atop her even as the audience screamed.

Gaga managed to get back on the stage and continue her gig. Later, however, she chose to be better safe than sorry and went for a complete medical check.

“When they have to X-Ray almost your entire body... Just Dance. Gonna be ok,” Gaga captioned the photo in which she is flashing the “OK” sign.

In an earlier social media post, Gaga shared a snapshot in an ice bath, as part of her recovery process.

Kelly Clarkson sings duet with Cyndi Lauper

Los Angeles

Singer Kelly Clarkson performed “True colors” as a duet with “Girls just want to have fun” hitmaker Cyndi Lauper. It was like a “dream come true” for former “American Idol” winner Clarkson.

The singers performed the iconic song together during an episode of Clarkson’s talk show “The Kelly Clarkson Show”, reports people.com.

During the episode, Clarkson welcomed Lauper as one of her guests. The two also decided to perform duet of Lauper’s iconic song “True colors”.

“You start us off, I’m so excited!” Clarkson said ahead of the duet, with her hands cupped around her mouth in joy.

During the performance, the duo traded verses - Lauper taking the first, while Clarkson took the second - before they joined together and harmonised during the choruses. Lauper also played the dulcimer throughout the acoustic duet.

After the stars finished singing, Clarkson happily said: “Life made! I’m not kidding, that was a dream come true for me. Thank you!”

During their conversation, Lauper revealed that she loved Clarkson’s song “Stronger (What doesn’t kill you)”.

Victoria Beckham is Eva Longoria’s go-to person for parenting tips

Los Angeles

Actress Eva Longoria says her friend and designer Victoria Beckham is her go-to person for parenting advice.

The “Desperate Housewives” actress has been friends with the former Spice Girl for many years. Eva, 44, welcomed her first child - son Santiago - last year, and since then, she has turned to mother-of-four Victoria many times for parenting advice.

“Victoria is the first person I turn to. She has kids that have been through all the stages. She gets it, she does the juggle. She’s there whenever I need advice. Eva told The Sun Online.

“We have play dates and the best thing is that Harper is a great babysitter. She adores my little Santi.”

Victoria has sons Brooklyn, 20, Romeo, 17, and Cruz, 14, as well as daughter Harper, eight, with husband David.

Big B: Ailments and medical conditions a confidential individual right

Mumbai

Amitabh Bachchan, who was discharged from hospital on Friday night, took to his blog to express displeasure about the media’s rampantly speculative reporting over his ailment these past few days. He said that medical conditions were the confidential right of an individual, and hence should not be commercialised.

Big B’s blog entry was in reaction to what he said was unsubstantiated reporting by a large section of the media about his health condition, ever since he was admitted to Mumbai’s Nanavati hospital earlier this week.”

Do NOT break the CODE of professional documentation.. ailments and medical conditions are a confidential individual right..its exploitation, and its attempted commerce are a social illegality..respect and give required understanding to this..all is not in the world of sale.

“This world this universe of today the most recorded and vision documented era shall ever be remembered by the cataloging of all that transpires within and without .. the act is lauded and given applause..but.. “..in the presence of such a vast record among the billions..about which shall be filed for posterity as the truth.. as that of fact..it shall never be known, for there shall be a billion versions opinions and thoughts for debate..
