Stage set for new Russia, Ukraine talks

AFP | Kyiv

Russia and Ukraine will hold new peace talks in Turkey tomorrow as a follow-up to two rounds in Istanbul that made little progress on ending their war, President Volodymyr Zelensky announced.

While US President Donald Trump has increased the pressure by giving Russia 50 days to agree on a deal or face sanctions, Zelensky spoke only hours after the Kremlin had downplayed hopes for a breakthrough.

His announcement of a fresh round of negotiations also came in the wake of a fresh Russian barrage on the Ukrainian capital Kyiv, which sparked several fires and damaged an underground air-raid shelter where civilians had taken refuge.

HM King highlights Bahrain-US strategic ties

HM the King receives US Ambassador, H.E. Steven C. Bondy
TDT | Manama

His Majesty King Hamad bin Isa Al Khalifa underscored Bahrain's pride in its longstanding historical ties and strong strategic partnership with the United States, which span decades of cooperation and coordination in pursuit of shared goals and mutual interests.

HM the King was speaking as he received His Excellency Steven C. Bondy, Ambassador of the US to the Kingdom of Bahrain, at Al Safriya Palace.

HM the King reviewed the strong bilateral relations between Bahrain and the US and the advanced levels of cooperation achieved across various sectors.

The discussion also highlighted the outcomes of the successful visit of His Royal Highness Prince Salman bin Hamad Al Khalifa, the Crown Prince and Prime Minister, to the United States.

HM King Hamad also commended the efforts of the Ambassador Bondy in strengthening Bahrain-US relations.

Peace and security

His Majesty also commended the role of the US administration on the international stage and its active efforts in promoting

On his part, Ambassador Bondy expressed his gratitude to His Majesty for this honour, commending his leadership and unwavering support in enhancing the distinguished Bahrain-US partnership and relations.

1,260 killed in Syria violence

AFP | Damascus

Sectarian violence in southern Syria killed more than 1,260 people before the implementation of a recent ceasefire, a war monitor said yesterday, offering an updated toll as it continued to document deaths that took place prior to the truce.

The dead from the violence in Sweida province included 505 Druze fighters and 298 Druze civilians, 194 of whom were reportedly "summarily executed by defence and interior ministry personnel".

Building Permits Surge

Reforms drive 4,299 permits in H1

● 4,299 permits issued

● Built-up area up 57.9%

● Digital reforms attract investors

Mahir Haneef
TDT | Manama

Bahrain has recorded a sharp rise in building activity, issuing 4,299 permits during the first half of 2025 - an increase of 31.5% compared to the same period last year - according to His Excellency Wael bin Nasser Al Mubarak, Minister of Municipalities Affairs and Agriculture.

H.E. the minister said the licensed construction area also surged by 57.9% to approximately 1.743 million square metres, reflecting Bahrain's investor-friendly climate and streamlined government procedures.

Benayat boosts growth

The growth was driven by continued upgrades to the national building permit platform Benayat, which has become a central tool for supporting investment, especially in real estate and urban development.

H.E. Al Mubarak said the system's expansion now includes permits for renovations, fencing, subdivision, plot merging, change of land use, land reclamation (both land-based and marine), and new building modifications. He credited the platform for improving transparency and speeding up approvals while aligning services with Bahrain's

According to the minister, this digital transformation ensures faster approvals, more efficient urban planning, and better coordination between government bodies, ultimately enhancing investor experience and service quality.

The Ministry of Municipalities Affairs and Agriculture continues to enhance Benayat in coordination with the Information & eGovernment Authority, under the oversight of the Ministerial Committee for Development Projects and Infrastructure.

H.E. Al Mubarak noted that these efforts are part of a broader strategy to increase efficiency, attract investment, and support sustainable urban expansion across the Kingdom.

Achuthanandan Touched Bahrain Lives

- Kerala veteran dies at 101

- Backed expat welfare rights

Pradeep Puravankara
TDT | Manama

V.S. Achuthanandan, the towering Communist leader and former Chief Minister of Kerala, passed away aged 101, prompting a wave of remembrance across the Indian diaspora in Bahrain.

Though best known for his relentless fight against corruption and advocacy for the underprivileged, Achuthanandan also carved a place in the hearts of Malayalis abroad, particularly through his 2015 visit to Bahrain.

V.S. Achuthanandan receives a warm welcome from the Indian community during his visit to Bahrain

In 2015, at age 90, he travelled to Bahrain to attend the silver jubilee celebrations of the Sree Narayana Cultural Society. No longer in office but still commanding immense respect, Achuthanandan used the visit to engage closely with various Malayali organisations in the Kingdom.

The meetings were not symbolic. He listened carefully to the struggles of working-class expatriates, acknowledged their contributions to Kerala’s economy, and encouraged community unity.

During his political career,

Achuthanandan consistently raised issues faced by expatriates, including legal protections, social benefits, and migration support. His engagement with Bahrain’s diaspora reflected the same grassroots sensibility that marked his governance in Kerala.

Community members who met him during the visit recall his warmth, humility, and genuine concern for their lives abroad, qualities that earned him lasting admiration far beyond India’s shores.

In Kerala, Achuthanandan leaves behind a formidable political legacy built on discipline and integrity. In Bahrain, he is remembered for something more personal, taking the time, even in retirement, to connect with a community thousands of miles from home.

For Bahrain’s Malayalis, that gesture still speaks volumes.

Passenger Dies Mid-Flight

Abdul Salam
Pradeep Puravankara
TDT | Manama

A 65-year-old man from Kerala died yesterday after suffering a medical emergency on board a Kuwait-bound flight that was diverted to Bahrain.

Flight Interrupted

The passenger, Abdul Salam, a businessman based in Kuwait, was travelling on Air India Express flight IX 493 from Kannur to Kuwait when he began experiencing severe chest pain mid-air. The crew promptly alerted authorities, and the flight was diverted to Bahrain International Airport for urgent medical assistance.

Upon landing, he was immediately transferred to King Hamad University Hospital.

Despite efforts by medical personnel, Abdul Salam was pronounced dead shortly after arrival. A relative travelling with him also disembarked in Bahrain and remained by his side through the ordeal. Salam was a native of Nileschwaram in Kerala's Kasaragod district.

Community Mourns

News of his passing has resonated within Bahrain's Malayali expatriate community, many of whom routinely travel the same Gulf routes for work or family reunions. Community members are reportedly assisting with repatriation arrangements.

Funeral and repatriation details are being coordinated by relatives with the support of volunteers.

Bahrain Salutes Egypt

aims to channel youth creativity in support of national development goals.

Creative call

Open to citizens aged 15 to 35, the contest invites participants to visually interpret Bahrain's sustainable tourism landscape. Submissions may include depictions of historical landmarks, environmental events, recreational or sporting activities, and traditional cuisine, reflecting the cultural, social, and environmental elements of sustainable tourism.

Shortlisted finalists will receive expert training to enhance both their visual storytelling techniques and their understanding of sustainability, before applying their skills to field-based creative assignments across the country.

Training and recognition

The initiative is designed to nurture technical and artistic growth while encouraging youth to engage more deeply with national priorities. According to the organisers, the programme will also align participants with professional production standards.

The competition will conclude with a ceremony during the final week of Youth City 2030, featuring an exhibition of finalists' work and an awards presentation. A panel of experts in youth development, tourism, and visual arts will judge the entries.

National showcase

Winners will receive prizes, gain access to the Nikon Youth Program, and have their work featured on national platforms, positioning their contributions as part of Bahrain's broader sustainable development narrative.

Tourism Promotes Coexistence

Bahrain's tourism authorities are deepening ties with civil society to strengthen the Kingdom's image as a model of peaceful coexistence, as part of a broader national narrative on tolerance and diversity.

H.E. Fatima bint Jaffer Al Sairafi with 'Taa'ayosh' chairman and board members

This came as Her Excellency Fatima bint Jaffer Al Sairafi, Minister of Tourism, received the chairman and board members of 'Taa'ayosh' - the Bahrain Association for Tolerance and Coexistence of Religions. H.E. the minister described the Kingdom, under the leadership of His Majesty King Hamad bin Isa Al Khalifa and the guidance of His Royal Highness Prince Salman bin Hamad Al Khalifa, the Crown Prince and Prime Minister, as a unique example of coexistence rooted in cultural heritage and collective national identity.

H.E. added that these values have helped Bahrain become a global destination for major events across sports, culture, economy, fintech, and innovation.

The meeting with 'Taa'ayosh' chairman Yousif Buzaboon and fellow board members included a presentation on the organisation's history, mission, and evolving role. The association shared details of its work with expatriate communities, its presence at national and religious events, and its cooperation with both official and grassroots bodies to promote peaceful coexistence.

H.E. the minister praised these efforts, describing them as reflective of Bahrain's character and essential to amplifying the country's image on the global stage.

To mark the occasion, the delegation presented the minister with a copy of the association's latest bilingual publication, In the Hospitality of the King of Peace, recently released in Arabic and English.

Labour Crackdown Intensifies

Mahir Haneef
TDT | Manama

Bahrain has intensified its nationwide crackdown on illegal workers and businesses, with the Labour Market Regulatory Authority (LMRA) confirming 1,132 inspection campaigns and visits conducted between July 13th and 19th.

The week-long operation led to the detention of 12 irregular workers and the deportation of 89 others, according to an LMRA statement.

The LMRA said that 1,117 inspection visits targeted commercial outlets across all governorates, while 15 joint campaigns were conducted in coordination with several ministries and security authorities.

Among these were one campaign in the Capital Governorate, six in Muharraq, four in the Northern Governorate, and four in the Southern Governorate.

Participating agencies included the Ministry of Interior, represented by the Nationality, Passports and Residence Affairs (NPRA), the Coast Guard Headquarters, the General Directorate of Civil Defense, and various municipal and economic departments. These included the Ministry of Industry and Commerce, the Ministry of Health, the Ministry of Municipalities Affairs and Agriculture, and the Social Insurance Organisation.

The coordinated inspections uncovered multiple violations related to Bahrain's Labour Market Regulatory and Residency Laws, prompting legal action in each case.

The LMRA reaffirmed that such campaigns are part of an ongoing strategy to maintain labour market stability and competitiveness, while protecting Bahrain's economic and social security.

Chinese Embassy Celebrates 98th Anniversary of the People's Liberation Army in Bahrain

TDT | Manama

The 98th anniversary of the founding of the Chinese People's Liberation Army (PLA) was celebrated at the Crowne Plaza Hotel in Bahrain last night.

The event was hosted by H.E. Mr. Ni Ruchi, Ambassador of the People's Republic of China to the Kingdom of Bahrain, and Colonel Wang Tao, Defense Attaché of the Chinese Embassy in Bahrain.

Strong ties

In his welcome speech, Colonel Wang Tao, highlighted the strong ties between China and Bahrain, including the recent visit of His Majesty King Hamad bin Isa Al Khalifa to China and the discussions held between the two countries' leaders.

Colonel Wang Tao spoke about China's commitment to peace and global cooperation. He said, "China has been a builder of world peace, a contributor to global development, and a defender of the international order."

He also noted that China is the largest contributor of troops to UN peacekeeping missions among the permanent members of the UN Security Council and the second largest financial contributor.

Maqsha dump cleared of 107 loads, chemical waste still on site

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

Over a hundred truck-loads of waste have been cleared from an illegal dump in Maqsha and hauled to the official landfill in Askar, following concerns over the effect on public health and the daily lives of those living nearby.

The clean-up began on 10 July under the supervision of the Northern Municipality and in coordination with the area's municipal council.

Inspection

Council chairman Dr Sayed Shuber Ebrahim Al Wadaei said the work followed an inspection on 30 June that found the site posed risks to residents.

By 21 July, 107 shipments had been moved.

Dr Al Wadaei said this came after repeated requests from residents and community figures who had been seeking assurance that proper steps were being taken.

Operation

On 16 July, Dr Al Wadaei visited the area to meet the municipal inspector responsible for the operation.

He reported that a large volume of rubbish had already been removed, along with various makeshift structures and fences which, he said, could have been misused.

Chemical containers still on site have not yet been dealt with.

Specialist

Dr Al Wadaei explained that their removal requires specialist handling in line with Law No. 7 of 2022 on the Environment.

A week-long environmental awareness event hosted by the Southern Municipality has drawn enthusiastic crowds of families and children, blending education with creativity through the interactive initiative “Little Municipalities Village.”

Held from July 12th to 18th at Oasis Mall in Riffa, the event concluded with a ceremony honouring contributors, volunteers, and partners who helped bring the programme to life.

Community spirit in action

Engineer Isa Abdulrahman Al-Buainain, Director General of the Southern Municipality, and Abdullah Ibrahim Abdul Latif, Chairman of the Southern Municipal Council, led the appreciation ceremony, recognising youth volunteers, Bahraini artists, and private and government sector participants.

Al-Buainain described the initiative as a resounding success that resonated with children and parents alike. He said the event was part of the municipality's wider strategy to enhance public environmental awareness, correct negative behaviours, and highlight the importance of cleanliness in achieving sustainability.

The event featured multiple educational zones designed specifically for young participants. These included workshops on painting glass, recycling plastic containers, creating cardboard models, and interactive storytelling sessions with environmental themes.

Much-loved characters such as “Saeed” and “Droopy,” a water bottle mascot made from recycled materials, helped convey key messages about environmental conservation in playful, accessible ways.

Children also took part in face-painting, watched short films on the municipality's services, and attended mini-lectures that reinforced the importance of sustainability at home and in the community.

Creative collaboration

The event saw strong participation from Bahraini artists Khalil Al Rumaithi, Al Bas-sam Ali, and Mohammed Saqr, who engaged children through live performances, games, and prize giveaways.

Al-Buainain thanked all the partners involved, including Dar Al Manar Parents' Care Center, which hosted a recycling station for children, and the Nabdat Hayat volunteer team, which delivered interactive eco-workshops.

Students from Gulf University played a key role in helping deliver sessions, while the Ministry of Interior's Community Police lent support to the coordination and safety of the programme.

Aseeri, who began his journey at Alba in 2005, steps into the leadership post with two decades of project and engineering experience under his belt. He has played key roles in several of the smelter's largest capacity enhancement efforts, including the Line 6 expansion and the Line 4 Anode Enlargement Project.

Continuity from within

His promotion reflects Alba's broader localisation strategy, especially its focus on placing national talent in high-impact positions that shape the company's future infrastructure.

"This appointment is not just a reflection of Alba's strategic focus on Bahrainisation but also a recognition of Ali's proven track record," said Alba CEO Ali Al Baqali. "His technical acumen and strategic outlook will play a key role in steering the engineering design and implementation of key projects across Alba."

Homegrown expertise

In addition to his technical credentials, Aseeri holds a Master's in Mechanical Engineering from the Technical University of Liberec in the Czech Republic and an MBA from the Arabian Gulf University. He is also certified as a Project Management Professional (PMP) by the Project Management Institute.

Markets caught between earnings optimism and tariff fears

AFP | London, United Kingdom

Stock markets largely rose yesterday, as traders focused on upbeat US corporate news, but President Donald Trump's August 1 deadline for ramped-up tariffs still weighed on European indices.

New York extended its positive trajectory from the previous week, which had also pulled Asia higher.

In Europe, London and Frankfurt rose, but Paris sank.

"As we start a new week, the focus is once again on tariffs and earnings reports," said Kathleen Brooks, research director at trading group XTB.

Investors in US equities have been encouraged by forecast-beating results from major corporations, against only a modest uptick in inflation that suggested Trump's tariffs impact was not yet a worry.

But analysts warned the picture could change if Trump made good on his threat to slap higher tariffs on major US trading partners the European Union, Canada and Mexico.

Brooks and others stressed "the clock is ticking" towards August 1, when a bruising US-EU trade war could be unleashed.

Brussels has readied reprisals against a range of US imports -- including on Boeing planes and bourbon -- should no breakthrough come in its negotiations with Washington.

Trump has threatened 30-percent tariffs on EU goods, which would rise further if Brussels retaliated.

"The upcoming US tariff deadline, which is due to kick in a week this Friday, continues to cast a long shadow, particularly across the EU," said David Morrison, senior market analyst at Trade Nation.

US Commerce Secretary Howard Lutnick told CBS News over the weekend he was "confident" a trade deal would be reached with the EU.

But Jochen Stanzl, chief market analyst at CMC Markets, said that any agreement would likely be "only a framework deal... requiring further negotiations on the details".

"Realistically, there is a high probability that uncertainty will persist beyond August 1," he said.

That uncertainty will be part of the the European Central Bank's calculus as it meets this week. Expectations are for it to hold eurozone interest rates steady, pausing a long cycle of easing.

Asia's equities advance was led by Hong Kong and came after strong earnings from Taiwanese chip giant TSMC and news that US titan Nvidia will be allowed to export key semi-conductors to China.

The yen strengthened against the dollar after Japanese Prime Minister Shigeru Ishiba vowed to stay on even after his ruling coalition lost its majority in the upper house in elections on Sunday.

Ishiba, too, is struggling to reach a trade deal with Trump, who has threatened tariffs of 25% on goods from Japan.

In company news, Jeep maker Stellantis said it suffered a massive, 2.3-billion-euro ($2.7-billion) net loss in the first half of this year, on the back of slumping North America sales and partly from "the early effects of US tariffs".

It shares, which have lost more than a third of their value since the start of the year, dipped early on Monday before reversing course and ending up.

Oil prices receded on worries of declining global trade.

But US Treasury Secretary Scott Bessent suggested the next round of US-China talks could include Chinese purchases of Russian and Iranian oil, which might pressure supply.

Trump has already warned he will impose tariffs on countries buying Russian oil if Moscow did not end its war on Ukraine, and Bessent said: "I would urge our European allies, who have talked a big game, to follow us if we implement these secondary tariffs."

Eutelsat strikes global satellite internet deal with UK govt

● Broadband connectivity for British embassies and other government operations worldwide

AFP | Paris, France

Eutelsat said yesterday that it had signed a deal to provide broadband connectivity for British embassies and other government operations worldwide, after London invested in the French satellite operator.

France has also upped its investment as European governments seek a homegrown alternative to Starlink satellites operated by dominant US-based player SpaceX, owned by Elon Musk.

"Eutelsat OneWeb's LEO (low Earth orbit) constellation will provide high-speed, low latency connectivity for British Embassies, High Commissions, and Consulates as well as broader UK government activities globally," the company said in a statement.

Beyond diplomacy, Eutelsat's technology would support "policing, resilience, defence and other essential operations", it added.

British firm NSSLGlobal will manage the satellite provision for the UK's foreign ministry (FCDO), which can be extended to other government departments, Eutelsat said.

Britain earlier this month said it would pump 163 million euros ($192 million) into Eutelsat.

Under a capital increase announced in June, the French state will hold 29% of Eutelsat by the end of 2025, up from 13% previously, with London's share steady at 10.9% following its increased investment.

European capitals' concerns about "technological sovereignty" have extended to space, fanned notably by Musk's public statements about the influence his control of Starlink gives him over events such as the war in Ukraine.

Fawri+ volume drives reform

● Daily limit up to BD 3,000

● CBB drives fintech upgrade

● Rising transaction volumes speed change

Mahir Haneef
TDT | Manama

Bahrain has tripled the daily transfer limit on Fawri+ to BD 3,000 following a directive from the Central Bank of Bahrain, BENEFIT announced today.

Transfers through Fawri+ previously capped at BD 1,000 can now go up to BD 3,000 per day, available 24 hours a day throughout the year. The increase is intended to match consumer and small business demand for rapid and higher-value digital transfers.

In 2024 Fawri+ processed nearly 420 million transactions worth BD 9 billion, a 26 percent increase over the previous year. This uptake underscores the platform's growing significance in Bahrain's digital finance ecosystem.

Fintech leadership

The change positions Bahrain as a regional leader in real-time payment infrastructure. Other GCC nations are also increasing instant-transfer thresholds as part of regional fintech development.

A higher limit is expected to reduce reliance on cash, support small enterprises, and improve transaction convenience. BENEFIT and the Central Bank of Bahrain will monitor usage and may consider further adjustments.

Fawri+ saw nearly 420 million transactions worth BD 9 billion in 2024, increasing by 26 percent from the previous year.

US Treasury chief says needs to 'examine' Fed's performance

AFP | Washington, United States

US Treasury Secretary Scott Bessent said yesterday that the institution of the Federal Reserve -- and whether it has been successful -- must be examined, as President Donald Trump escalates pressure on the independent central bank. While Jerome Powell's term as Fed chief ends in May 2026, Trump has recently zoomed in on the Fed's $2.5 billion renovation project as a possible avenue for his ousting.

The fresh attacks came after months of criticism aimed at Powell as the central bank held interest rates steady this year, holding off cuts while policymakers monitored the effects of Trump's tariffs.

This has drawn ire from the president, who repeatedly insisted the Fed was too late in slashing rates.

Asked if he would offer his opinion on firing Powell, Bessent told CNBC on Monday: "I think that what we need to do is examine the entire Federal Reserve institution and whether ing they have been successful."

He added that he would be speaking late Monday about regulation, which the Fed also has a role in, one day before the official opening of a conference hosted by the Fed.

But Bessent did not comment on a Wall Street Journal report over the weekend that he had privately set out his case to Trump for why the president should not try to fire Powell.

The Journal reported that Bessent's reasons focused on issues including effects on the economy and markets, alongside the likely political and legal obstacles Trump would encounter.

Bessent told CNBC there has been "very little, if any, inflation" from Trump's wide-ranging tariffs so far, and suggested that central bankers appear unable "to break out of a certain mindset."

Since returning to the presidency in January, Trump has imposed a 10% levy on goods from nearly all trading partners, with higher rates separately on imports of steel, aluminum and autos.

While the effects on consumer inflation have been muted so far, given that Trump has backed off or postponed the harshest among his proposed measures, economists expect that data over the summer months will give a better idea of the tariffs' impact.

Microsoft looks to boost AI performance in European languages

AFP | Paris, France

US tech behemoth Microsoft is investing millions of dollars to funnel more European-language data into AI development, company president Brad Smith told AFP Monday.

With today's leading AI models mostly trained on material in English, "the survival of these languages and the health of these cultures is quite literally at stake" without a course correction, Smith said in an interview.

AI models are "less capable when it is in a language that has insufficient data," he added -- which could push more users to switch to English even when it is not their native language.

Microsoft will from September set up research units in the eastern French city Strasbourg to "help expand the availability of multilingual data for AI development" in at least 10 of the European Union's 24 languages, including Estonian and Greek.

The work will include digitising books and recording hundreds of hours of audio.

"This isn't about creating data for Microsoft to own. It is about creating data for the public to be able to use," Smith said, adding that the information would be shared on an open-source basis.

The US-based company has in recent months striven to position itself as especially compatible with a gathering political push for European technological sovereignty.

Leaders in the bloc have grown increasingly nervous at their dependency on US tech firms and infrastructure since Donald Trump's reelection to the White House.

ECB expected to hold rates as Trump tariff uncertainty lingers

● The 26 members of the ECB's governing council will meet just over a week before an August 1 deadline

● Trump has threatened to triple a basic tariff on imports from the EU to 30%

AFP | Frankfurt, Germany

The European Central Bank is set to hold interest rates for the first time in almost a year when policymakers meet this week, despite concerns over the potential impact of higher US tariffs on the eurozone economy.

The 26 members of the ECB's governing council will meet just over a week before an August 1 deadline set by US President Donald Trump for the imposition of his government's punitive tariffs.

Trump has threatened to tri-

U.S. President Donald Trump holds up the "GENIUS Act" alongside applauding lawmakers after signing the bill into law during a ceremony in the East Room of the White House ple a basic tariff on imports from the EU to 30% if Brussels does not cut a deal by the end of the month, casting uncertainty over the future of transatlantic trade.

But the ECB was expected to hold tight on rates instead of preempting the outcome of negotiations, pausing a series of cuts that goes back to September.

The central bank has reduced its benchmark rate a total of eight times since June last year and at each of its last seven meetings, bringing it down to two percent.

The rapid reduction in rates has come as eurozone inflation has fallen back towards the ECB's two-percent target from the double-digit highs seen in

In June, eurozone inflation sat exactly on the ECB's target and was forecast by officials at the central bank to even out at two percent for the year.

'More clarity'

The ECB would "almost certainly leave interest rates unchanged" at the conclusion of its monetary policy meeting on Thursday, analysts from Italian bank UniCredit said in a note.

"The central bank will now want to have more clarity on the trade outlook before it considers adjusting its policy further," they said.

Despite the murky outlook, the ECB was in a "good place" to deal with what comes next, executive board member Isabel Schnabel told financial news service Econostream Media this month.

And with the euro area economy showing some signs of life despite Trump's threats on tariffs, "the bar for another rate cut is very high", she said.

Euro area factory output has grown four months in a row and the bloc's manufacturing PMI -- a survey-based measure of manufacturer's overall health -- rose in June to its highest level since August 2022.

The improving picture painted by recent indicators could, however, be shattered were Trump to follow through with additional tariffs on top of steep existing levies on auto manufacturers, steel and aluminium.

Euro strength

The sabre-rattling from the Oval Office over trade -- and Trump's repeated attacks on the US Federal Reserve's independence -- have otherwise had the impact of weakening the dollar against the euro.

Were the euro to rise much further it would make matters "much more complicated", ECB Vice President Luis de Guindos told Bloomberg TV this month.

A stronger single currency brought with it the risk of undershooting the ECB's inflation target by making imports cheaper and cooling the economy, while making European exports more expensive.

Already, the ECB's forecasts published last month predict inflation to fall to 1.6 percent in 2026, before recovering to two percent the following year.

A strong euro meant rate cuts later in the year were a matter of "when and by how much and not if", ING bank analyst Carsten Brzeski said.

The question would get "more attention" at forthcoming ECB gatherings, Brzeski said, but the uncertainty over US tariffs argued in favour a "wait-and-see approach".

Trump had upped the threatened level of tariffs on EU exports to the United States since the ECB's last meeting but where they would land after August 1 was uncertain.

With the EU locked in talks with Washington to avoid higher tariffs, the necessary "clarity is unlikely to emerge by next Thursday", UniCredit analysts said.

A pause was likely before another cut later in the year, perhaps already in September, the first meeting after the summer, they said.

Bahrain's private sector tapped as driver of $17bn US deal execution

Yaqoob Al Awadhi calls for bold execution

● $17bn in signed deals

● Sectors include energy, tech

● Firms urged to lead delivery

Yaqoob Al Awadhi

Bahraini businessman Yaqoob Al Awadhi has called on the Kingdom's private sector to take the lead in delivering the $17 billion worth of agreements signed during the recent visit of His Royal Highness Prince Salman bin Hamad Al Khalifa, Crown Prince and Prime Minister, to the United States.

The agreements, covering aviation, technology, industry, investment, and peaceful nuclear energy, were hailed as a landmark outcome of the high-level visit. But Al Awadhi said their long-term value now hinges on how effectively Bahrain's private institutions execute them.

Strategic driver

"These agreements reflect the deep mutual trust between Bahrain and the United States and demonstrate a shared ambition to build enduring strategic partnerships between our private sectors," he said.

"Such substantial investments represent far more than capital inflows," Al Awadhi noted. "They create new prospects for the transfer of knowledge and expertise, the development of high-quality job opportunities for Bahraini citizens, and the enhancement of innovation in critical sectors that align with Bahrain's vision for a diversified economy."

Delivery readiness

Al Awadhi described the visit as a catalytic moment for Bahrain's business community. "Bahraini private sector institutions remain fully prepared to initiate strategic partnerships, explore new opportunities, and contribute meaningfully to the Kingdom's national economic objectives," he said.

He added that the private sector has consistently played a central role in shaping Bahrain's economic and investment landscape and is well-positioned to compete internationally.

Collaborative execution

Al Awadhi also pledged close collaboration between the private sector and government entities to ensure the successful rollout of the agreements signed in Washington.

"This high-level visit has paved the way for major projects and clearly demonstrated the ability of Bahraini companies to attract investments of significant scale," he said. "The private sector will continue to work side by side with public stakeholders to drive sustainable development across the Kingdom."

Iceland engulfed by volcanic cloud

Reykjavik, Iceland

Iceland experts yesterday blamed a lack of wind for a volcanic cloud that has lingered over much of the island since an eruption last week.

Two craters of a volcano on the Reykjanes peninsula spewed out the sulphur-packed cloud on Wednesday.

The thick haze has left the capital Reykjavik and the southwest of the country in a pollution red alert, the highest level in Iceland's monitoring system.

Hylnur Arnason of the Icelandic Energy and Environment Agency said that volcanic eruptions normally cause air pollution, mainly from the sulphur dioxide that is emitted. The gas becomes sulfate in the atmosphere, creating a volcanic fog.

"It's completely misty in large parts of the country," said Arnason.

"Usually in Iceland we have lots of wind, which would carry the pollution away, but right now we don't," the expert added. "Now it's kind of just sitting over the whole country."

Arnason said the gas was not toxic but could be an "irritant".

UK sanctions 135 oil tankers in Russia's shadow fleet

AFP | London, United Kingdom

Britain yesterday slapped sanctions on 135 oil tankers in Russia's shadow fleet, in a bid to disrupt the flow of money helping Moscow fund the war in Ukraine.

A shipping services company and an oil trading firm were also sanctioned as part of the crackdown on a fleet "responsible for illicitly carrying $24 billion worth of cargo since the start of 2024," the foreign ministry said in a statement.

Security analysts say the fleet of ageing vessels is used by Russia to circumvent international sanctions that ban it from selling oil.

Hundreds of vessels have now been sanctioned by the European Union and the UK since Russian President Vladimir Putin ordered the invasion of Ukraine in February 2022.

"New sanctions will further dismantle Putin's shadow fleet and drain Russia's war chest of its critical oil revenues," foreign minister David Lammy said Monday.

The action came just days after "the UK and EU lowered the crude oil price cap further disrupting the flow of oil money into Putin's war chest," the ministry statement added.

The UK government also sanctioned the company Intershipping Services LLC, accused of "registering shadow fleet vessels under the banner of the Gabonese flag" and Litasco Middle East DMCC, linked to Russian oil company Lukoil, "for its ongoing role in moving large volumes of Russian oil on shadow fleet vessels".

"As Putin continues to stall and delay on serious peace talks, we will not stand idly by," Lammy said.

"We will continue to use the full might of our sanctions regime to ratchet up economic pressure at every turn."

Britain earlier Monday called for a 50-day drive to arm Ukraine after US Donald Trump gave Moscow 50 days to strike a peace deal with Kyiv.

Trump also pledged to supply Kyiv with new military aid, sponsored by NATO allies, as its cities suffer ever-increasing Russian aerial attacks.

Club Med taps ex-Carrefour executive as new CEO

Stephane Maquaire
Paris, France

Club Med, the Chinese-owned French travel operator, said yesterday it has named a former executive in the Carrefour supermarket group to replace its head and chairman Henri Giscard d'Estaing, who was fired last week.

Stephane Maquaire, 51, who until this month led Carrefour's operations in Brazil, will take up his position as CEO and chairman "with immediate effect", the company said in a statement.

Giscard d'Estaing -- the 68-year-old son of former French president Valery Giscard d'Estaing -- ran Club Med for the past 22 years, repositioning the brand as an upmarket, family-oriented operator of resorts.

On July 16, Giscard d'Estaing announced that Club Med's Chinese owners, the conglomerate Fosun, had without warning replaced him as chairman.

Romania to buy Israeli air defence systems for over 2 bn euros

AFP | Bucharest, Romania

Romania announced yesterday it has signed a deal with an Israeli company to buy six anti-aircraft systems, as the NATO member and Ukraine neighbour looks to boost its defence posture.

Since Russia invaded Ukraine in 2022, Romania has gained in strategic importance and exposure to defence risks, with Russian drone fragments regularly falling on its soil.

Under a framework agreement signed with Israeli defence company Rafael Advanced Defense Systems last week, Romania is set to purchase six integrated Shorad-Vshorad anti-aircraft systems for more than two billion euros ($2.3 billion).

Israel's Iron Dome air defence system is one of Rafael's best-known products.

According to the deal, three further contracts will need to be signed under the framework agreement, which runs for seven years.

The procurement deal, which was rubber-stamped by Romania's parliament in 2020, "aims to equip the army with advanced weapon systems designed to protect against air threats, including drones and cruise missiles", the eastern European country's defence ministry said in a statement.

In a recent interview on public television, Defence Minister Ionut Mosteanu likened the anti-aircraft systems to "the Iron Dome... when the Iranians attack", saying "that's Shorad-Vshorad and it protects Tel Aviv".

In 2024, Romania signed a deal with the United States to purchase 32 F-35 fighter jets for an estimated $6.5 billion.

The Black Sea nation has been striving for years to bolster its defence forces and replace its ageing Soviet-era equipment.

News in brief

yesterday called for a 50-day drive to arm Ukraine to take advantage of a recent ultimatum put to Russia by US President Donald Trump. Earlier this month, Trump gave Russian President Vladimir Putin 50 days to strike a peace deal with Kyiv in the three-year war or face sanctions. UK Defence Secretary John Healey told a meeting of the Ukraine Defence Contact Group (UDCG) that Kyiv's backers stand at a moment of "maximum opportunity". "As members of this UDCG, we need to step up, in turn, a 50-day drive to arm Ukraine on the battlefield and to help push Putin to the negotiating table," Healey told the virtual meeting of 52 nations. Trump also pledged to supply Kyiv with new military aid, sponsored by NATO allies, as its cities suffer ever-increasing Russian aerial attacks since Moscow's 2022 invasion of Ukraine. Healey, chairing the meeting alongside German Defence Minister Boris Pistorius, said the UK "backs this policy". "We will play our full part in its success," he added.

◆ Tehran yesterday accused Britain, France and Germany of failing to respect the 2015 Iran nuclear deal, after they threatened to reimpose sanctions over its atomic programme. The 2015 deal, reached between Iran and the UN Security Council's permanent members -- Britain, China, France, Russia and the United States -- plus Germany imposed curbs on Iran's nuclear programme in exchange for sanctions relief. But it unravelled when the United States in 2018, during Donald Trump's first term as president, unilaterally withdrew from the accord and reimposed sweeping sanctions. The Europeans had pledged continued support for the deal, but the mechanism intended to offset US sanctions never materialised effectively and many Western firms were forced to exit Iran, which has since faced a deepening economic crisis.

◆ Japanese Prime Minister Shigeru Ishiba clung yesterday even after an election debacle left his coalition without a majority in the upper house, as painful new US tariffs loom. In Sunday's election Ishiba's Liberal Democratic Party (LDP), which has governed almost continuously since 1955, and its partner Komeito fell a projected three seats short of retaining a majority in the upper house. Voters angry at inflation turned to other parties, notably the "Japanese first" Sanseito, which made strong gains with its "anti-globalist" drive echoing the agenda of populist parties elsewhere. "I even think (the LDP) should have lost more," 25-year-old Kazuyo Nanasawa, who voted for a small ultra-conservative party, told AFP, adding that Ishiba should quit. The debacle comes only months after Ishiba's coalition was forced into a minority government in the more powerful lower house, in the LDP's worst result in 15 years.

'Comrade VS', Kerala's grand old Communist leader, dies at 101

TDT | agencies

Former Kerala Chief Minister and the icon of Communist movement VS Achuthanandan died yesterday, after a long hospitalisation. The 101-year-old was admitted to a private hospital in Thiruvananthapuram on June 23 after he suffered a cardiac arrest at home. He had been on ventilator support in the intensive care unit since.

Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan and CPM state secretary MV Govindan have rushed to the hospital to meet the family. A steady stream of political leaders are already making a beeline for the hospital to pay their respects.

A lifelong fighter for the rights of disadvantaged sections and a towering presence in state politics, Achuthanandan had withdrawn from public life after he suffered a minor stroke in 2019.

In January 2021, he had quit as the Chairman of the Administrative Reforms Committee and had been staying alternately with his son or daughter in Thiruvananthapuram since.

A founder leader of CPM after the split in undivided party in 1964, Achuthanandan's populist stance and uncompromising image winning him admiration across party lines.

He had been the Leader of the Opposition from 2001 to 2006, when he had spearheaded the attack on the UDF government led by AK Antony. In 2006, he led the CPM-led Left Democratic Front to victory and served as Chief Minister till 2011.

In 2011, he crafted the LDF campaign and leading from the front, came close to securing a second term, but the Oommen Chandy-led UDF had managed a narrow victory, securing 72 of the 140 seats in the state Assembly. The veteran leader in no stranger to controversies - his frequent clashes with rival Pinarayi Vijayan often generating headlines.

He had ascribed his removal from the party politburo to his open comments against Mr Vijayan and months later, on his 90th birthday, made a series of stronger remarks.

A Bangladeshi training fighter jet crashed into a school in the capital Dhaka yesterday, killing at least 19 people and injuring dozens more in the country's deadliest aviation accident in decades.

An AFP photographer at the scene saw fire and rescue officials taking away the injured students on stretchers, while military personnel helped clear the wreckage.

A military statement said 19 people were killed, including the pilot, and 20 others were critically wounded.

At least 51 people, mostly students, were undergoing treatment at Dhaka's National Burn and Plastic Surgery Institute, its director Mohammad Nasir Uddin told AFP.

The Chinese-made F-7 BJI aircraft crashed moments after students were let out of class at 1:00 pm (0700 GMT) at the Milestone School and College.

A witness said he heard a huge blast that felt like an earthquake.

"We have two playgrounds, one for the senior students and one for the juniors," said Shafiur Rahman Shafi, 18, who is enrolled at the school.

"We were on the playground for the seniors. There were two fighter planes... Suddenly one of the two planes crashed here (in the junior playground)," he told AFP.

'We frantically searched'

Grieving parents and relatives of the victims thronged the National Burn and Plastic Surgery Institute.

Tofazzal Hossain, 30, broke down in tears on learning that his young cousin had been killed.

"We frantically searched for my cousin in different hospitals," Hossain told AFP.

"He was an eighth grader at the school. Finally, we found his body."

Yunus expressed "deep grief and sorrow" over the incident in a post on X.

"The loss suffered by the Air Force, the students, parents, teachers, and staff of Milestone School and College, as well as others affected by this accident, is irreparable," he said.

"This is a moment of profound pain for the nation."

The crash was the worst aviation accident in the country in several decades.

The deadliest ever disaster happened in 1984 when a plane flying from Chattogram to Dhaka crashed, killing all 49 on board.

Last month, a commercial aircraft crashed in neighbouring India, killing 260 people.

The Chinese-made F-7 BGI (not BJI) aircraft is an advanced variant of the Chengdu F-7, which itself is a Chinese version of the Soviet MiG-21—but with a major twist.

Despite its roots in a 1950s-era design, the F-7 BGI features a modern glass cockpit, hands-on throttle-and-stick (HOTAS) controls, and multi-function displays (MFDs)—technology typically found in much newer 4th-generation fighters. This makes it one of the most modernised versions of the MiG-21 still flying.

War in Gaza ‘must end now’, urge UK, 24 allies

Civilians’ suffering had “reached new depths”

Palestinians rush a casualty of an Israeli strike on an apartment at the Nuseirat refugee camp, into Al-Awda hospital in the central Gaza Strip

● Branded Israeli-supported relief effort in Gaza as “dangerous”

● UN agencies were replaced as the main distributor of aid in the territory

AFP | London, United Kingdom

Britain and 24 Western allies, including Australia, Canada, France and Italy, declared yesterday that the war in Gaza “must end now”, arguing that civilians’ suffering had “reached new depths”.

“We urge the parties and the international community to unite in a common effort to bring this terrible conflict to an end, through an immediate, unconditional and permanent ceasefire,” the grouping added in a joint statement.

“Further bloodshed serves no purpose. We reaffirm our complete support to the efforts of the US, Qatar and Egypt to achieve this.”

The signatories -- which also included Japan, several EU countries, Switzerland and New Zealand -- added they were “prepared to take further action to support an immediate ceasefire”.

The wide-ranging statement branded the controversial Israeli-supported relief effort in Gaza as “dangerous” and said it deprives Gazans of “human dignity”.

“We condemn the drip feeding of aid and the inhumane killing of civilians, including children, seeking to meet their most basic needs of water and food,” the statement said.

“The Israeli government’s denial of essential humanitarian assistance to the civilian population is unacceptable,” it added, urging Israel to “comply with its obligations under international humanitarian law”.

The statement called for the Israeli government “to immediately lift restrictions on the flow of aid and to urgently enable the UN and humanitarian NGOs to do their life saving work safely and effectively”.

The UN said last week that it had recorded 875 people who had been killed in Gaza while trying to get food via the US- and Israel-backed Gaza Humanitarian Foundation (GHF).

It has replaced UN agencies as the main distributor of aid in the territory.

The 25-nation statement also condemned the continued detention of hostages in Gaza by Hamas militants, demanding “their immediate and unconditional release” and noting a negotiated ceasefire “offers the best hope of bringing them home”.

Meanwhile, the signatories said they “strongly oppose any steps towards territorial or demographic change in the Occupied Palestinian Territories” and said an Israeli plan to shift Palestinians into a so-called “humanitarian city” was unacceptable.

“Permanent forced displacement is a violation of international humanitarian law,” they warned. The statement was also signed by EU Commissioner for Equality, Preparedness and Crisis Management Hadja Lahbib.

UNRWA says some Gaza staff starving as malnutrition soars

Gaza City, Palestinian Territories

The UN agency for Palestinian refugees said yesterday that it was “receiving desperate messages of starvation” from its Gaza staff, as the Palestinian territory experiences surging levels of hunger.

Gaza’s population of more than two million people are facing severe shortages of food and other essentials, with doctors, the civil defence agency and medical charity Doctors Without Borders (MSF) reporting a spike in malnutrition cases in recent days.

In a post on X, UNRWA said that shortages in the Palestinian territory had caused food prices to increase by 40 times, while the aid stockpiled in its warehouses outside Gaza could feed “the entire population for over three months.”

After talks to extend a six-week ceasefire broke down, Israel imposed a full blockade on Gaza on March 2, allowing nothing in until trucks were again permitted at a trickle in late May. The civil defence agency on Sunday reported at least three infant deaths from “severe hunger and malnutrition” in the past week.

Eighteen reportedly died of starvation within 24 hours between Saturday and Sunday, the ministry said.

“Infants under one year of age suffer from a lack of milk, which leads to a significant decrease in their weight and a decrease in their immunity that makes them vulnerable to diseases,” said Mohammed Abu Salmiya, the director of Gaza’s Al-Shifa Hospital.

US passenger jet has close call with B-52 bomber

Representative picture

Washington, United States

A passenger jet performed an “aggressive maneuver” to avoid a mid-air collision with a US military bomber over the state of North Dakota, according to recorded audio of the commercial pilot.

Delta Flight 3788, operated by SkyWest, took off from Minneapolis and was approaching the city of Minot when the pilot rapidly rerouted after seeing another aircraft nearing from the right.

“I don’t know how fast they were going, but they were a lot faster than us, I felt it was the safest thing to do to turn behind it,” the pilot told passengers.

“Sorry about the aggressive maneuver. It caught me by surprise, this is not normal at all.”

SkyWest was investigating the Friday incident. The flight was cleared for approach by the tower “but performed a go-around when another aircraft became visible in their flight path,” the carrier said in a statement reported by US media.

The US Air Force did not provide specifics about the near miss but confirmed in a statement reported by the Washington Post that a B-52 bomber was performing a flyover at the North Dakota State Fair, which occurred in Minot.

The northern city, about 50 miles (80 kilometers) from the Canada border, is home to a commercial airport and a US Air Force base.

In the video, posted to Instagram and verified by Storyful, the SkyWest pilot told passengers that “nobody told us” about the other plane.

He said the Minot tower, which does not use radar -- a common situation in smaller, more remote airfields in the United States -- offered guidance that could have put the passenger jet in jeopardy.

“He said ‘Turn right.’ I said there’s an airplane over there. And he says ‘Turn left,’” the pilot said according to the video.

Russia publishes rare footage of largest drone factory

Workers assemble drones at a production facility in Russia’s Tatarstan region.

AFP | Moscow, Russia

Russia has showcased what it calls the biggest drone factory in the world, broadcasting rare footage from inside a plant assembling the deadly attack drones it fires at Ukraine on a daily basis.

Moscow has launched record numbers of drones at Ukrainian cities in recent weeks, escalating aerial attacks as it ignores calls from US President Donald Trump to halt its offensives.

The video, published Sunday by Zvezda, a TV channel owned by the Russian defence ministry, showed workers with their faces blurred assembling jet-black triangle-shaped attack drones.

“This is the world’s largest factory producing unmanned combat aerial vehicles, and the most secretive one,” said Timur Shagivaleev, plant director who has been sanctioned by the United States.

The plant is near the town of Yelabuga in the central Russian region of Tatarstan, located in what was initially planned to be a special economic zone to boost science and business in the region.

More than 1,000 kilometres (620 miles) from the Ukrainian border, it has now become a target for Kyiv’s own long-range attacks.

Fears of escalation after Israel hits Huthi-held Yemen port

Huthi-controlled areas of Yemen have come under repeated Israeli strikes

● Huthis recently resumed deadly attacks in the Red Sea and Gulf of Aden

● A Gulf official said there were "serious concerns in Riyadh

● Israeli escalation could "plunge the region into utter chaos"

AFP | Hodeida, Yemen

Israel pounded Yemen's Huthi-held port of Hodeida with air strikes yesterday for the second time in a month, stoking fears of escalation as it warned Yemen could face the same fate as Iran.

Huthi-controlled areas of Yemen have come under repeated Israeli strikes since the Iran-backed rebels began launching missile and drone attacks on Israel, declaring they act in solidarity with Palestinians over the Gaza war.

In its latest raids, Defence Minister Israel Katz said Israel struck "targets of the Huthi terror regime at the port of Hodeida" and aimed to prevent any

Yemenis brandish their rifles and chant slogans during a rally in solidarity with Palestinians and in condemnation of Israel and the US, in the Huthi-run capital Sanaa attempt to restore infrastructure previously hit.

The renewed strikes on Yemen are part of a year-long Israeli bombing campaign against the Huthis, but the latest threats have raised fears of a wider conflict in the poverty-stricken Arabian Peninsula country.

"Yemen's fate will be the same as Tehran's," Katz said.

His warning was a reference to the wave of surprise strikes Israel launched on Iran on June 13, targeting key military and nuclear facilities.

During the 12-day war, the United States carried out its own attacks on Iran's nuclear programme on June 22, striking facilities at Fordo, Isfahan and Natanz.

A Gulf official told AFP there were "serious concerns in Riyadh... that the Israeli strikes on the Huthis could turn into a large, sustained campaign to oust the movement's leaders".

Any Israeli escalation could "plunge the region into utter chaos", said the official, requesting anonymity because he cannot brief the media.

'Heavy equipment'

The Huthis' Al-Masirah television reported "a series of Israeli air strikes on the Hodeida port".

A Huthi security official, requesting anonymity to discuss sensitive matters, told AFP that "the bombing destroyed the port's dock, which had been rebuilt following previous strikes."

On July 7, Israeli strikes hit Hodeida and two nearby locations on the coast, with targets including the Galaxy Leader cargo ship, captured in November 2023, which the Israelis said had been outfitted with a radar system to track shipping in the Red Sea.

A Yemeni port employee in Hodeida said the strikes targeted "heavy equipment brought in for construction and repair work after Israeli airstrikes on July 7... and areas around the port and fishing boats".

An Israeli military statement said that the targets included "engineering vehicles... fuel containers, naval vessels used for military activities" against Israel and "additional terror infrastructure used by the Huthi terrorist regime".

It said the port had been used to transfer weapons from Iran, which were then used by the Huthi rebels against Israel.

The statement added that Israel had identified efforts by the Iran-backed rebels to "re-establish terrorist infrastructure at the port".

The Huthis recently resumed deadly attacks in the Red Sea and Gulf of Aden, targeting ships they accuse of having links to Israel.

The Huthis have reverse-engineered and indigenously produced long-range ballistic missiles and armed drones, such as the Qasef-2K drone, which they have used in attacks across the Arabian Peninsula—even reaching targets in Saudi Arabia and the UAE, hundreds of kilometres away. This has made them a rare example of a non-state actor with strategic strike capabilities.

Alaska Airlines resumes flights after 'IT outage'

Washington, United States

Alaska Airlines said yesterday it had resumed operations after hours earlier requesting its fleet be grounded because of an "IT outage."

The airline apologized for the disruption, and urged travelers to check their flight status before heading to the airport -- adding it "will take some time to get our overall operations back to normal".

The airline earlier told AFP it "experienced an IT outage that's impacting our operations" and that it had "requested a temporary, system-wide ground stop for Alaska and Horizon Air flights until the issue is resolved."

Before the grounding was lifted, the US Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) status page showed all destinations affected by the halt of Alaska's mainline aircraft.

"We apologize for the inconvenience," Alaska Airlines said in a statement.

"As we reposition our aircraft and crews, there will most likely be residual impacts to our flights."

India court acquits 12 in deadly 2006 train blasts case

AFP | Mumbai, India

An Indian court acquitted on Monday 12 men previously convicted for a series of bomb blasts that ripped through packed commuter trains in Mumbai in 2006 that killed 187 people.

The men were convicted in 2015 of murder, conspiracy, and waging war against the country over the attacks during the evening rush hour of July 11, 2006 that also injured more than 800 people.

Five were sentenced to death, while the other seven were given life imprisonment.

But, 10 years later, the Bombay High Court set aside a lower court's verdict and acquitted the 12 men.

Justices Anil Kilor and Shyam Chandak said in their judgement, the prosecution had "utterly failed to establish the offence beyond the reasonable doubt against the accused on each count". The men were ordered to be released from jail "if they are not required to be detained in any other case".

The prosecution can appeal against the order in the Supreme Court.

A total of seven blasts ripped through the trains after the bombs, packed into pressure cookers, were placed in bags and hidden under newspapers and umbrellas.

Prosecutors said the devices were assembled in Mumbai and deliberately placed in first-class coaches to target the city's wealthy Gujarati community.

They said the bombings were intended as revenge for the riots in the western state of Gujarat in 2002, which left some 2,000 people dead, most of them Muslims.

Prosecutors accused Pakistan-based militant group Lashkar-e-Taiba of being behind the attacks, although a little-known outfit called the Lashkar-e-Qahhar later claimed responsibility.

Pakistan denied the allegations.

Taliban must release sick, elderly British couple: UN experts

Geneva, Switzerland

UN experts warned Monday that an elderly British couple detained for months by the Taliban authority in Afghanistan could die without access to medical treatment and demanded their immediate release.

Peter Reynolds, 80 and his wife Barbie, 75, have been "arbitrarily detained in Afghanistan without charges" since February, the five independent United Nations experts said.

The two, who married in Kabul in 1970 and have lived continuously in Afghanistan for nearly two decades, "have been held for over five months, including in a maximum-security facility for several months and later in underground cells, without sunlight", the experts said.

"Their physical and mental health is deteriorating rapidly," they said, warning that "without access to adequate medical care, they are at risk of irreparable harm or even death".

US envoy says Hezbollah disarmament up to Lebanon

Beirut, Lebanon

Visiting US envoy Tom Barrack said Monday that disarming Hezbollah was a domestic issue, as Washington presses the new authorities for action after the group was weakened by war with Israel.

"The Hezbollah disarmament... is something that is so internal," Barrack told a press conference in Beirut after meeting Prime Minister Nawaf Salam, adding that if it didn't happen it would be "disappointing".

Lebanese leaders who took office in the aftermath of more than a year of hostilities including two months of open war between Israel and Hezbollah have vowed a state monopoly on bearing arms, while demanding Israel comply with a November ceasefire.

Barrack said the November cessation of hostilities between Israel and Hezbollah "didn't work".

"America is not here to compel Israel to do anything. We're here to use our influence to bring calm minds together to come to a conclusion," he added.

Last month, Barrack asked Lebanese leaders to formally commit to disarming Hezbollah.

Sarah Jessica Parker doesn't watch And Just Like That...

Bang Showbiz | Los Angeles

Sarah Jessica Parker refuses to watch And Just Like That...

The 60-year-old actress reprised the role of Carrie Bradshaw to star in the Sex and The City sequel series - but Sarah doesn't enjoy watching herself on-screen. During an appearance on Watch What Happens Live With Andy Cohen, Sarah Jessica Parker explained: "I don't not watch it because I'm being cavalier about my relationship [to the project]. I don't watch it because I don't love watching my work [and] myself."

Despite this, Sarah insisted that she cares enormously about the TV show.

The actress explained: "It doesn't touch on how I feel about the experience or how much I care. In fact, it's because I care that I can't watch it."

Earlier this year, Sarah stressed that she feels proud to play Carrie.

The actress has played the iconic character in Sex and The City and the show's revival series, And Just Like That... - and Sarah admits that she's always relished the experience of playing Carrie.

During an appearance on the Call Her Daddy podcast, the actress shared: "First of all, the way she was speaking, like her choice of language, I'd never seen or heard a woman talk like that."

Sarah then explained that she respects Carrie's "curiosity about sex and sexual politics".

The actress - who stars in And Just Like That... alongside the likes of Kristin Davis and Cynthia Nixon - added: "Which is not like me - I don't talk about that at all even with friends. I'll talk about it globally, but I don't sit and share intimate details of my life that way."

Sarah thinks of Carrie as being a "little survivor".

The actress - who is married to Hollywood star Matthew Broderick - explained: "I admired that she was scrappy."

The Jonas Brothers' music 'has aged very well'

Bang Showbiz | Los Angeles

Nick Jonas thinks The Jonas Brothers' music has "aged very well".

The chart-topping pop group - which includes Nick and his brothers, Kevin and Joe Jonas - are currently preparing for their 20th anniversary tour, and Nick loves that the band have evolved with their fans.

Speaking to People, he explained: "It's aged very well. It's one of those things where we've looked out and seen the fan base really evolve and change and there's sort of a generational aspect to it now when you think about it."

"The people that were our age back when we were teens touring and making music are our age now and they've grown up and they're bringing their kids to the shows, but their parents that brought them when they were in their youth still want to come."

Nick, 32, loves seeing how different groups of fans connect to particular songs.

The singer - who is married to movie star Priyanka Nick Jonas

Chopra - said: "It's great to look out there and see such a really interesting mix and to see that the songs they respond to are a reflection of that."

The Jonas Brothers announced plans for their JONAS20: Living the Dream Tour earlier this year.

The brothers - who have also enjoyed success as solo artists - admitted at the time that they "can't wait" to hit the road in August and perform in front of their loyal fans.

They said in a statement at the time: "We're beyond excited to hit the road and celebrate 20 years of music."

You star Anna Camp reveals Emmy Awards frustration after nominations snub

Bang Showbiz | Los Angeles

Aнна Camp is frustrated after being snubbed for the 2025 Prime-time Emmy Awards.

The 42-year-old actress played identical twins Raegan and Madeline Lockwood in the fifth and final season of You on Netflix, despite giving one of the best performances of her life, wasn't included in the nominations on Tuesday.

After the nominees were announced, she shared a photo on Instagram of her You character reading her phone looking confused.

She captioned the picture on Instagram: "Me reading about the nominations this morning knowing I gave one of the best performances of my life while also trying to be happy for everyone and while also remembering I vowed to stop drinking during the week."

She then took to her Story and shared two comments offering words of support.

The first read: "You were [fire]... snubs are for scrubs. I'll down one [drink] for you."

And another wrote: "I would get sfaced if I wasn't nominated for this performance."

Anna added over the screenshot: "I love my followers."

Meanwhile, her girlfriend Jade Whipplekey praised her partner's performance on the show.

She wrote: "BLOWN AWAY. not many people ever get the chance to play twins and NO ONE has Anna Camp

Jennifer Love Hewitt admits to experiencing 'a loss of innocence'

Bang Showbiz | Los Angeles

Jennifer Love Hewitt has experienced a "loss of innocence" since filming I Know What You Did Last Summer in the mid-90s.

The 46-year-old actress has reprised the role of Julie James for the new I Know What You Did Last Summer movie, and Jennifer admits that she can still relate to the teenage version of herself, even though she's experienced so much in her life.

Asked if she still feels connected to the 18-year-old version of herself, Jennifer told The Hollywood Reporter: "Yeah, I do. Very much so."

"It's interesting that you ask that. I've definitely had a loss of inno-

I've definitely had a loss of innocence and trauma in my life. Some of my friends don't [feel this way], but I still feel uniquely connected to my youth and who I was then. I carry her with me, and that's an important thing to do as you get older.

cence and trauma in my life. Some of my friends don't [feel this way], but I still feel uniquely connected to my youth and who I was then. I carry her with me, and that's an important thing to do as you get older.

"When you lose that, you lose something very drastic. So I still feel very connected to that part of my life, for sure."

Jennifer has also confessed to being "a tad bit more paranoid" since reprising the role of Julie for the new horror movie.

The Hollywood actress - who stars in the new film alongside the likes of Madelyn Cline, Chase Sui Wonders and Jonah Hauer-King - shared: "When we were filming the first movie, I was already terrified of horror movies, and I was very aware of the fact that I was actually filming in a real fishing village in Southport, North Carolina."

Venus Williams returns to court after 16-month hiatus

● 45-year-old returns at DC Open

● Faces Peyton Stearns in opener

● Williams returning after surgery and health scare

AFP | Washington

Venus Williams will make her return from a 16-month layoff at this week's DC Open, the seven-time Grand Slam singles champion saying Sunday she is not sure of anything beyond that.

The 45-year-old American overcame a serious health scare last year and after enjoying a visit to Wimbledon decided to accept a wildcard into the US capital tournament, the first hardcourt tuneup for the US Open.

"I think I know what I want to do, but I don't always want to talk about it," Williams said. "I'm just here for now. And who knows? Maybe there is more. I hold my cards close, but at the moment, I'm focused just on this."

Allegri vows to restore AC Milan, bets on Modric

● Allegri returns for second Milan spell

● Replaces sacked Conceicao after 8th-place finish

● Modric signed to add experience

AFP | Milan

Massimiliano Allegri vowed Monday to rekindle AC Milan's former glory as he returned as manager to the faltering Italian giants for a second spell.

The Rossoneri had turned to serial winner Allegri after the club slumped to its worst league finish in a decade -- leading to Sergio Conceicao's axing after five miserable months in charge.

"The goal for this season is to return to the Champions League as a club like AC Milan has to play in Europe," Allegri told reporters in Singapore, where his team will face Arsenal on Wednesday in a pre-season friendly.

"This is the sole objective for me from the get-go. These are the games the team lives for. We're not going to look back, but we are looking forward to the future now," added the 57-year-old Italian.

campaign in eighth place -- missing out on European qualification -- and fell short in the Coppa Italia final against Bologna.

In the aftermath, Allegri was brought in to replace Conceicao at the helm at the club, which he previously managed from 2010 to 2014.

Allegri won the Scudetto in his first season in charge of Milan -- the club's first since 2004 -- before enjoying a dominant spell at Juventus, where world. Stearns won her only WTA title last year on clay at Rabat.

The older sister of 23-time Grand Slam singles champion Serena Williams has not played since a first-round loss at Miami last year.

"My personal goal is to have fun I think right now and enjoy the moment, not put too much pressure on myself," Venus Williams said.

"I don't know if I define success at this moment in any sort of way other than believing in myself and sticking to my process. That's not easy to do, especially after a layoff. So those are my goals."

Venus Williams, the 2000 Sydney Olympic singles champion, has won five Wimbledon singles titles and two US Open crowns.

The most recent of her 49 WTA titles came in 2019 at the Taiwan Open. That was the last year she played a full tour schedule.

"I definitely feel I'll play well," Williams said. "I'm still the same player. I'm a big hitter. I hit big. This is my brand."

"So it's about hitting big and actually putting it in. So this will be my effort. Put it in the court. That's my main goal."

Venus Williams

he clinched five straight Serie A titles.

"It has been more than a decade since I first took charge of Milan. The situation is obviously different now. A lot has changed, not just in Milan but in the world of football," he said.

"But the overall goal remains the same, and that is to get this club back to where it belongs, and that is the Champions League," said Allegri.

He said he will look to the recent signing of Luka Modric from Real Madrid to restore Milan's status among Europe's elite, where they are the seven-time European champions.

At 39, the 2018 Ballon d'Or winner still has plenty to offer, and Allegri will be counting on his wealth of experience and leadership to inspire the team.

Bahrain draws tough opener in Arab Basketball Championship

Qatar clash set for Friday night as full tournament schedule lands for 26th edition on home soil

- Championship follows round-robin format with seven national teams
- Tournament runs from July 25 to August 2, with two rest days
- Host Bahrain enters with momentum after strong showing in Taiwan

TDT | Manama

Bahrain will tip off its Arab Basketball Championship campaign with a match against Qatar at 8 PM this Friday at Khalifa Sports Hall in Isa Town.

The matchup headlines the opening day of the tournament, which also features Tunisia facing Algeria at 4 PM, followed by Kuwait against the UAE at 6 PM. Egypt will sit out the first day with a scheduled rest.

This 26th edition of the Arab Championship, hosted in Bahrain for the first time since the tournament began in 1974, will follow a single round-robin format.

Each of the seven participating teams plays the others once, with two points awarded for a win and one point for a loss. The team with the highest total points at the end of the competition will be crowned champion. Bahrain's remaining schedule is packed, with all their games set for 8 PM:

Rest days for all teams are scheduled for July 28 and July 31.

Tournament Director Mohammed Ahmed confirmed that preparations are complete, with Arab delegations arriving throughout the week. The organizing committee has finalized logistics, and expectations are high for a smooth and stand-out edition that reflects Bahrain's growing presence in the regional basketball scene.

The championship features top Arab basketball nations: Bahrain, Qatar, Kuwait, UAE, Egypt, Algeria, and Tunisia. The host team enters the 26th edi-

Reds return from Taiwan with heads held high

Just before the tournament draw was revealed, Bahrain's national team returned home from Taiwan after a successful run at the 44th William Jones Cup. The squad finished third overall, which is one of its best performances in recent memory, after posting a 6-2 record against elite competition. Bahrain's wins came over Japan U25, Chinese Taipei Development Team, Malaysia, Australia United, the UAE, and Qatar B. Their only losses were to host Chinese Taipei (93-50) and the Philippines (92-68). The campaign was a clear sign of the team's upward trajectory. With momentum, cohesion, and confidence all trending in the right direction, the performance in Taiwan couldn't have come at a better time.

Head coach Georgios Vovoras now shifts focus to the home tournament, where the challenge is clear: capitalize on the positive momentum, handle the pressure of hosting, and make a deep push for another title in front of their home fans.

Siraj expects Bumrah to feature for India in fourth Test

AFP | London

India's Mohammed Siraj expects fast bowler Jasprit Bumrah to feature in the vital fourth Test against England at Old Trafford this week.

Bumrah, the world's top-ranked Test bowler, is only slated to play three of the five matches against England as he battles a back injury.

He has already featured in India's defeats at Headingley and Lord's, leaving the tourists 2-1 down in the series.

With doubts over the availability of India seam bowler Akash Deep due to a groin injury, Siraj believes Bumrah will feature in Manchester on Wednesday rather than hold him back for next week's final Test at The Oval.

"So far, we only know that Jassi (Bumrah) will play," Siraj said Yesterday.

India must make at least one change as Nitish Kumar Reddy will miss the last two Tests because of a knee injury. India are also sweating on the fitness of wicketkeeper Rishabh Pant, who suffered a finger injury last week.

Siraj was last man out as India fell to an agonising 22-run defeat in the third Test at Lord's.

The pace bowler played Shoaib Bashir's delivery on to his stumps before slumping to his knees in frustration.

Siraj took heart from India's lower-order fight as he lasted 30 balls and Reddy and Bumrah more than 50, with Ravindra Jadeja contributing an unbeaten 61.

"It took a long time to get over. That match felt like we could've won. I'm very emotional," he said.

"We fought hard. Jadeja did great and even Bumrah batted 54 balls. Still, we lost. But I told myself, it's 2-1 now, not over yet. That gave me motivation to do better.

"At one point it looked like we'd lose by 80 runs but we took it deep and made it close, losing by just 22. That fight meant a lot."

Liverpool agree to sign Ekitike: reports

AFP | London

Liverpool have agreed to sign Eintracht Frankfurt striker Hugo Ekitike in a deal worth an initial £69 million ($92m), according to reports.

The Premier League champions switched their focus to Ekitike following Newcastle's refusal to sell Sweden striker Alexander Isak, who is valued at around £150 million by the Magpies.

Arteta coy on Gyokeres move

Arsenal boss tight-lipped on Swedish striker, insists transfer window still holds possibilities

● Arteta silent on Gyokeres talks

● £70m bid reportedly on the table

● Gyokeres scored 54 in 52 last season

AFP | London

Arsenal manager Mikel Arteta was reluctant to talk yesterday about transfer target Viktor Gyokeres, but said there was “a lot of time left in the window” to strengthen his squad.

“He’s not part of our group yet,” Arteta told reporters in Singapore of Sporting Lisbon’s Swedish striker ahead of pre-season friendlies against AC Milan and Newcastle United this week.

“And I don’t have anything concrete to offer to any player who is not part of the group yet,” he added.

English Premier League Arsenal have so far signed Kepa Arrizabalaga from Chelsea, Christian Norrgaard from Brentford, Martin Zubimendi from Real Sociedad and, most recently, Noni Madueke from Chelsea.

Arteta is still looking to beef up his attacking options, with Arsenal reportedly offering a deal worth £70 million ($94 million) for the prolific Gyokeres, who scored 54 goals in 52 games in Portugal last season.

“There’s still a lot of time in the transfer window, and we are still seeking the numbers,” said

Arteta

“We are short, and we have to improve the depth and quality of the squad.

“But for now, I’m focusing on the players we already have, and I’m very pleased with what I’ve seen so far.”

Arteta is acutely aware that Arsenal have not won the Premier League since 2004 and that his squad need to go one better after finishing second in each of the past three seasons.

“I don’t have to convince (the players) about winning the Premier League. I know how good they are, and we all want to take the next step,” said Arteta.

“Our job is to put ourselves in the best competitive position to achieve our goal. That’s our individual responsibility,” he added.

The North London side will play AC Milan in Singapore on Wednesday, followed by a clash with fellow Premier League side Newcastle on Sunday.

Arteta backs Arsenal’s handling of Partey departure

Arsenal boss Mikel Arteta yesterday defended the club’s handling of Thomas Partey’s departure after the Ghana international midfielder was arrested on suspicion of rape and sexual assault.

Arsenal did not offer the 32-year-old a new contract at the end of last season and days later he was charged by British police with five counts of rape and one count of sexual assault between 2021 and 2022.

Partey is due to appear before magistrates in London on August 5.

In a statement released on July 4, the day Partey was arrested, Arsenal said: “The player’s contract ended on June 30. Due to ongoing legal proceedings the club is unable to comment on the case.”

Arteta was asked during

Bahrain crowns chess champions as momentum builds for September classic

● Ayyad retains senior crown

● Youth shine in rapid format

● Classic finals scheduled in September

TDI | Manama

The Bahrain Chess Federation has wrapped up four rounds of competitive action under its 2025 national chess championship cycle, awarding titles to the Kingdom’s brightest minds and paving the way for the Bahrain Classic in September.

Conducted under FIDE regulations with certified arbiters, the events drew over 170 players across youth and senior levels. According to His Excellency Anmar Ahmadi, President of the Bahrain Chess Federation and head of the organising committee, the results reflect growing national momentum for the sport.

Junior brilliance

On July 16th, 25 young players gathered at Fraser Suites Seef Mall for the Under-12 Rapid Championship. Ali Abbas emerged undefeated with a perfect score of 7 points from 7 rounds. Ali Alqallaf and Joudi Mansoor followed in second and third place, respectively. Abdulazeez Alaamer was named Best U10 player, while Hadi Hasan took the U8 title.

The following day saw 28 participants in the U18 Junior Rapid Championship, also held at Fraser Suites. Mahmood Almusawi claimed the title with an unbeaten run and 6 points. Nooh Rajab, also on 6, placed second based on tiebreaks. Ali Haider came third with 5.5 points. Best U16 and U14 awards went to Hashim Ali and Faisal Buhasan.

Senior strength

At Khalifa Sports City, from July 16th to 18th, the Bahrain Rapid Chess Championship concluded with Hussain Ayyad defending his national title in commanding style. Scoring 10.5 points from 11 rounds, Ayyad outpaced Maher Ayyad (9.5) and Zeyad Janahi (9). Sixty-four players took part.

Ayyad extended his dominance at the Blitz Championship on July 18th, also at Khalifa Sports City, where he remained undefeated with 10 points. Maher Ayyad followed with 9, and
