Over-50 government employees

Annual leave extension for senior staff set for debate

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

A plan to give government staff aged 50 and above shorter days and longer annual leave will be debated by the Shura Council on Sunday, after its Legislative and Legal Affairs Committee recommended refusing the draft changes in principle.

The draft law, based on a proposal from Parliament, would amend the Civil Service Law issued under Decree-Law No.

48 of 2010.

It would cut daily working hours in steps linked to age and add extra annual leave.

Proposal

Under the proposal, employees who have reached 50 would work one hour less a day and receive 35 working days of annual leave a year.

For those aged 55, the working day would be cut by two hours and annual leave would rise to 40 working days.

For those aged 60, the daily

Dalal Al Zayed, Head of Shura Council's Legislative and Legal Affairs Committee

cut would be three hours, with annual leave rising to 45 working days.

The committee said the changes do not sit with the way Bahrain's civil service rules are built, and raised concerns about equal treatment between employees, the day-to-day running of public services, and the cost to the state.

Report

In its report, the committee pointed to constitutional language that treats public employment as a national service, with duties linked to timekeeping, accuracy and trust.

It also cited the Civil Service Law's approach of setting the main rules in the law, while leaving attendance times, leaving times and leave detail to the executive rules and the decisions and instructions that follow them.

A key objection is that the draft law would split employees by age even where they hold the same grade and do the same job.

Buyer wins court ruling over BD55,500 property deal

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

A buyer who says he paid BD55,500 in full for two residential flats has secured a High Civil Court ruling ordering the transfer of title after a property investment firm declined to notarise the sale contracts, leaving the units at risk of being swept into enforcement steps against the company.

The court ruled the two contracts valid and enforceable, and ordered the Survey and Land Registration Bureau to register the transactions, issue separate title deeds in the buyer’s name for each flat, and hand them over to him.

The firm was ordered to pay court costs and a contribution towards legal fees.

Lawyer Sanad Bucheeri said his client brought urgent proceedings against the company and the Survey and Land Registration Bureau after the firm failed to complete the paperwork needed to document the contracts and transfer ownership, despite repeated requests and full payment.

The buyer said he later discovered enforcement files against the company that included requests to place notes against its properties.

From Bahrain to Global Stages: Manasa’s Journey of Dreams and Resilience

TDT | MANAMA:

For the past decade, Manasa Bangalore Ramakrishnaiah has called Bahrain home, but her aspirations have always reached far beyond borders.

Hailing from Bangalore, India, Manasa has spent the last year proving that motherhood and a career are not finish lines, but platforms for growth.

In a whirlwind 2025, she competed in three major international pageants, securing prestigious titles and inspiring women across the region.

Supported by her husband Avik, son Avin, and parents Ramakrishnaiah and Suma, Manasa’s achievements include being the 1st Runner-Up for Mrs. India Worldwide 2025 Bahrain, winning the Passion Driven Excellence Award, and earning the titles of Mrs. India Astral and Mrs. India Earth International.

Her most recent crowning achievement was being named the Mrs. Earth International Fire Winner.

The Daily Tribune sat down with the diva to discuss her journey, her secrets to success, and her plans for the future.

Q: You manage a full-time job, a home, and motherhood, yet you still found time to win international pageants. How do you manage it all, and what is your secret for other women?

Manasa: This is the question I am asked most often, and my response is simple: time is always with us to either do something or do nothing. Time management is the ultimate secret to achieving your goals. If your passion requires work beyond a standard 12-hour day, then you have to make that time apart from your regular career or routine. It is about prioritizing what truly matters to you and making those hours count.

Manasa Bangalore Ramakrishnaiah makes India and Bahrain proud

Q: Competing in three major international pageants in a single year is a massive feat. What was the hardest part about competing globally, and how did this experience change you?

Manasa: Exploring and challenging myself led me to aim for international dreams while grabbing opportunities to show my ability to compete among talented participants across the globe. The hardest part is the mental battle; when you start comparing yourself with other contestants, you can feel less skilled. At that point, you must hold on strongly and tell yourself that you are good in your own ways. Each experience made me more confident and stronger as my sincere efforts were validated and acknowledged.

Q: You won awards for talent, creativity, and interview skills. Which one are you most proud of, and how did you stand out?

Manasa: I am so proud to be acknowledged in my interests by the judge panel. The most rewarding moment was winning the best in the Interview round while competing against different countries. This round was purely on individual skill and verbal strength, which I believe is a very important quality for any individual to have in their life.

Q: What is your message to girls and women who feel they are “too busy” or that it’s “too late” to chase their dreams?

Manasa: The mind is the only organ which can make you feel busy or old. It is our mind that must be instructed to say that you are free and you are young enough to do anything at any stage of life. Women are a non-stop mechanism with the strength to multitask and fulfill dreams alongside a regular routine. So, never stop dreaming and fulfilling those aspirations.

Q: After a successful 2025, what are your big plans for 2026?

Manasa: Inspiration comes when you start experiencing it yourself. For me, it is not about fame but a goal to fulfill with hard work resulting in self-growth. 2025 was a big deal, registering back-to-back competitions and living with challenges every minute. In 2026, I want to reach out to as many people as possible as a motivational speaker. I want to say to everyone: “When I can do it, then everyone can definitely do it.” We can give excuses for not doing things, but once you start, you tend to do more.

The Public Prosecution has ordered the detention of the owner of a private institute pending investigation after he was accused of issuing forged academic certificates and operating an unlicensed educational institution.

The Head of the Cyber-crime Prosecution said the case began after the Ministry of Education reported the discovery of fake academic certificates issued to employees of several educational institutions.

Investigations revealed that the institute did not have a license to carry out educational activities or issue academic qualifications.

The prosecution ordered the arrest of the institute’s owner, an Asian national who was managing the facility, and carried out an inspection of the premises in coordination with officers from the General Directorate for Anti-Corruption, Economic and Electronic Security, as well as the Ministry of Industry and Commerce.

Shura debate on stricter rules for external auditors

Fines of up to BD100,000, licence limits and compulsory retraining could be added to the penalties available against external auditors under amendments due before the Shura Council on Sunday, as Bahrain moves to update the rules that govern the profession.

It will debate a report by its Financial and Economic Affairs Committee recommending approval, in principle, of changes to Decree-Law No. 15 of 2021 on external auditors, issued alongside Decree No. 76 of 2025.

The Shura Council’s Legislative and Legal Affairs Committee has said the draft is sound in constitutional and legal terms, and lower chamber has already issued a decision on the bill.

The Ministry of Industry and Commerce said the amendments rest on Article 87 of the Constitution, arguing the case meets the test of urgent necessity because delays in updating audit oversight could affect Bahrain’s international obligations.

It linked the bill to work aimed at strengthening corporate governance transparency and efforts against money laundering and terrorist financing, saying the changes seek to lift audit quality and improve how financial reporting is governed, in line with global best practice.

His Excellency General Shaikh Rashid bin Abdullah Al Khalifa, Minister of Interior, received Abdullah Ali Al Yahya, Minister of Foreign Affairs of the State of Kuwait, and the accompanying delegation, on the occasion of the convening of the Bahraini-Kuwaiti Joint Supreme Committee. BCCI recognises Sectoral Committees' contributions to private sector

Created a supportive business environment

● Praised the national competencies and expertise within the committees

Manama

Chairman of the Bahrain Chamber, Sameer Nass, expressed his appreciation to His Royal Highness Prince Salman bin Hamad Al Khalifa, the Crown Prince and Prime Minister, for his continued support of economic development and the strengthening of partnership with the private sector. He also commended the support of the Government of the Kingdom of Bahrain, along with the cooperation of the Ministry of Industry and Commerce and relevant authorities, which contributed to creating a supportive business environment and enabled the sectoral committees to perform their roles efficiently. This came during a ceremony recognizing the efforts of the ten sectoral committees on the occasion of concluding their work for the 30th administrative cycle (2022–2026) and the achievements realized during this period.

Nass affirmed that the 30th cycle marked a pivotal milestone for the Chamber amid global economic challenges, highlighting how the sectoral committees turned obstacles into opportunities that strengthened the business environment and private sector competitiveness. He credited this success to the support of the Board of Directors, institutional integration, and teamwork, which reinforced the Chamber's role as a strategic partner in economic development.

He praised the national competencies and expertise within the committees, noting their role in developing initiatives and economic proposals that drive growth and sustainability. These committees act as the Chamber's advisory and specialized arm, addressing sectoral challenges and opportunities in line with its strategic vision and Bahrain's development priorities.

Nass added that the Chamber restructured the committees according to international best practices, reducing their number from 28 to 10 to unify efforts and enhance efficiency. This allowed them to better monitor challenges and propose practical solutions, including key economic issues such as commercial fees.

High-quality recommendations

Vice Chairman of the Bahrain Chamber, Khalid Najibi stated that the sectoral committees have consolidated their role as an advisory body supporting economic decision-making through insights and recommendations that reflect sector realities and anticipate future trends. He noted that the annual sectoral committees conference represents a continuation of the Chamber's efforts to provide government entities with high-quality recommendations that promote market stability, growth, and sustainability. He also expressed his appreciation to the chairpersons and members of the committees for their voluntary efforts and strong sense of national responsibility, which positively reflected on performance and outcomes during this cycle.

Second Vice Chairman of the Bahrain Chamber, Mohammed AlKooheji, emphasized that the sectoral committees serve as an effective link between private sector aspirations and government programs through well-considered recommendations that support development. He stressed the importance of strengthening public-private partnerships to transform these recommendations into implementable policies and initiatives, enhancing their tangible impact. He also commended the dedication of committee members, whose voluntary contributions were reflected in the quality of results achieved during the 30th cycle.

Strategic investment

Meanwhile, Vice Treasurer and Head of the Steering Committee of the Bahrain Chamber, Waleed Kanoo, noted that the committees have achieved tangible results since launching their action plans in July 2022. These efforts included submitting numerous recommendations to government entities and holding coordination meetings with relevant stakeholders, contributing to addressing challenges faced by small traders and small and medium-sized enterprises.

Kanoo concluded that empowering the sectoral committees represents a strategic investment in the future of the national economy, as it enhances sector competitiveness and productivity. He expressed his aspiration to continue this approach in the coming phase to expand achievements and maximize developmental impact, supporting sustainable economic growth in the Kingdom of Bahrain through partnership and integration among all stakeholders.

US touts 'New Gaza' filled with luxury real estate

● Within 10 years, the territory's GDP would be $10 billion

● Kushner promised a Mediterranean utopia rising from the scarred Gaza landscape

● Kushner said the National Committee for the Administration of Gaza (NCAG) had enlisted help from Israeli real estate developer Yakir Gabay

AFP | Davos, Switzerland

US officials yesterday presented their vision for a "New Gaza" that would turn the shattered tered Palestinian territory into a glitzy resort of skyscrapers by the sea, saying the transformation could emerge in three years.

The war in Gaza, sparked by Hamas's October 2023 attack on Israel, left much of the Palestinian territory damaged or destroyed and forced most of its residents to flee their homes.

"We're going to be very successful in Gaza. It's going to be a great thing to watch," President Donald Trump said while presenting his controversial "Board of Peace" conflict-resolution body in Davos.

"I'm a real estate person at heart... and I said, look at this location on the sea. Look at this beautiful piece of property. What it could be for so many people," he said at the World Economic Forum.

His son-in-law Jared Kushner, who has no official title but is one of Trump's envoys for the Gaza ceasefire, said his "master plan" aimed for "catastrophic success".

With a slide showing dozens of shiny terraced apartment towers overlooking a tree-lined promenade, he promised a Mediterranean utopia rising from the scarred Gaza landscape.

"In the Middle East they build cities like this, you know for two or three million people, they build this in three years," Kushner said.

"And so stuff like this is very doable if we make it happen."

He touted investments of at least $25 billion to rebuild destroyed infrastructure and public services.

Within 10 years, the territory's GDP would be $10 billion, and households would enjoy average income of $13,000 a year thanks to "100-percent full employment and opportunity for everybody there", he said.

"It could be a hope. It could be a destination, have a lot of industry and really be a place that the people there can thrive."

'Amazing' opportunities

Kushner said the so-called National Committee for the Administration of Gaza (NCAG) had enlisted help from Israeli real estate developer Yakir Gabay.

"He's volunteered to do this not for profit, really because of his heart he wants to do this," Kushner said.

"So the next 100 days, we're going to continue to just be heads down and focused on making sure this is implemented."

Trump had earlier in the conflict floated his vision of turning Gaza into a "Riviera of the Middle East", sparking outrage around the world.

Notably absent from Kushner's presentation was Egypt's President Abdel Fattah al-Sisi, whose country had spearheaded in 2025 a reconstruction plan for Gaza supported by Arab nations and welcomed by the European Union.

According to a brief statement from his office, Sisi flew home at dawn on Thursday, hours after he and Trump exchanged praise in a tete-a-tete, with the US president calling him "a great leader, a great guy".

Ali Shaath, Gaza's recently appointed administrator under Trump's "Board of Peace", has said the Egyptian plan was the "foundation" of his committee's reconstruction project.

A top UN official warned this month that Gazans were living in "inhuman" conditions even as the US-backed truce entered its second phase.

Entire neighbourhoods, hospitals and schools have been heavily damaged or destroyed, forcing hundreds of thousands of people to live in makeshift shelters.

Kushner said 85% of Gaza's economic output had been aid for a long time.

"That's not sustainable. It doesn't give these people dignity. It doesn't give them hope," he said.

"We'll announce a lot of the contributions that will be made in a couple of weeks in Washington," he said.

"There'll be amazing investment opportunities."

As of 2023, the population of the Gaza Strip was estimated at about 2.23 million people—a figure commonly cited by demographic sources like Britannica and UN-linked estimates

Families have criticised the slow pace of the recovery operation, with more than 50 giving DNA samples in the hope of finding their missing relatives. "We will hand over the bodies to the family, once DNA samples are matched," health official Summaiya Syed told journalists on Wednesday. Faraz Ali, whose father and 26-year-old brother were inside the mall, told AFP he wants "the bodies to be recovered and handed over to their rightful families".

Japan suspends restart of world's biggest nuclear plant

◆ The restart of the world's largest nuclear power plant was suspended in Japan yesterday, with the operator saying it does not know when the problem would be solved. The Kashiwazaki-Kariwa plant in Niigata province had been closed since the 2011 Fukushima disaster, but operations to relaunch it had begun on Wednesday after it received the final green light from the nuclear regulator. However, its operator the Tokyo Electric Power Company (TEPCO) said Thursday that "an alarm from the monitoring system... sounded during the reactor startup procedures", causing it to suspend operations. "We don't expect this to be solved within a day or two. There is no telling at the moment how long it will take," site superintendent Takeyuki Inagaki told a news conference. "We will for now fully focus on trying to identify the cause of what happened," he said.

So if both sides want to solve this, we're going to get it solved," Witkoff said at a Ukrainian event on the sidelines of the World Economic Forum in Davos. Asked by AFP for details about the remaining issue, Witkoff declined to comment, saying he would talk after his trip. President Donald Trump's envoy will travel to the Russian capital later on Thursday with the US leader's son-in-law Jared Kushner. Witkoff said the pair would not stay in the Russian capital overnight and would fly straight to Abu Dhabi, where talks would continue in "military to military" working groups. Trump unveils Board of Peace, 'New Gaza' plans at Davos

US President Donald Trump unveiled his new Board of Peace at Davos yesterday, casting himself again as a global peacemaker despite widespread scepticism over a plan that aims to rewrite the global order.

Trump officials also unveiled ambitious plans for a "New Gaza" during the ceremony at the World Economic Forum, with the US leader describing the devastated Palestinian territory as "great real estate."

The board was created after Trump expressed frustration at failing to win the Nobel Peace Prize and ramped up his accusations that the United Nations had failed to resolve a host of international conflicts.

"Well this is exciting," Trump said as he was joined on stage by leaders and officials from 19 countries to sign the Board of Peace's founding charter in the Swiss ski resort.

"This board has the chance to be one of the most consequential bodies ever created," he said.

The Board of Peace, of which Trump is the chairman, was initially designed to oversee the Gaza truce and the reconstruction of the strip after the war between Hamas and Israel.

But its purpose has since morphed into resolving all sorts of international conflicts, sparking concerns that the US president wants to create a rival to the UN.

However, countries have been asked to pay $1 billion for permanent membership of the board.

And the invitation for Russia's Vladimir Putin, whose country invaded Ukraine in 2022, has sparked controversy.

Gaza 'master plan'

Key US allies including France and Britain have expressed doubts, with London saying Thursday it would not attend the ceremony.

Trump however told the gathering of the global elite in the Swiss mountain resorts that the organisation would work "in conjunction" with the United Nations.

A large part of the ceremony was devoted to talking about its plans for shattered Gaza.

Gaza's newly appointed administrator said in a video message that the Rafah border crossing between Egypt and the Gaza Strip will reopen in both directions next week.

Then Trump's son-in-law Jared Kushner, like the president a former property developer, showed slides of what he billed a "master plan" for its reconstruction.

The slides included maps of new settlements in the Gaza Strip and artist renderings of gleaming seafront hotels and apartments under the caption "New Gaza".

"It could be a hope. It could be a destination," Kushner said.

Trump however told Hamas to disarm under the next phase of the Gaza ceasefire accord or it would be the "end of them". He added that he was ready to "talk" with regional foe Iran.

'Not so popular'

Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu, who faces an International Criminal Court arrest warrant over the war in Gaza, had said he would join but was not at the ceremony.

The representatives of the 19 countries on stage with Trump included two close populist allies, Hungary's Viktor Orban and Argentina's Javier Milei, and officials from a host of Middle Eastern monarchies.

Trump joked that they were "in most cases very popular leaders, some cases not so popular".

"That's the way it goes in life," he said.

Trump said he expected around 50 countries to join but the full extent of its membership remains unclear.

Egypt said President Abdel Fattah al-Sisi had accepted Trump's invitation to join but he was not on stage.

Trump meanwhile said Putin had agreed to join, though the Russian leader said he was still studying the invite.

Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky, who met Trump at Davos on Thursday, has also been invited but has said that he could not envisage working alongside arch-foe Putin.

Trump said yesterday he was hopeful of a deal soon to end Russia's invasion of Ukraine -- which he admits he thought would be the easiest conflict to resolve but has proved the hardest.

Donald Trump was the first United States president to take office without having previously held elected public office or served in the military.

US, Denmark to renegotiate 1951 Greenland defence pact: source

AFP | Davos, Switzerland

The United States and Denmark will renegotiate a 1951 defence pact on Greenland, a source familiar with talks between President Donald Trump and NATO chief Mark Rutte told AFP Thursday.

The source said that European allies would also step up Arctic security, but insisted that placing American bases on Greenland under US sovereignty had not been discussed.

"The 1951 agreement will get renegotiated," the source said.

The defence agreement, updated in 2004, already gives Washington freedom to ramp up its troop deployments, provided it informs the authorities in Denmark and Greenland in advance.

The US currently has one base on Greenland -- the Pituffik Space Base on the northwest of the island that constitutes a crucial link in the US missile defence system.

Trump on Wednesday announced a framework deal after talks with Rutte at the World Economic Forum in Davos, but the details of the purported agreement remained vague.

Rutte said on Thursday one "work stream" to emerge from the meeting was "that we ensure that the Chinese and the Russians will not gain access to the Greenland economy" or militarily.

Iran Guards chief says 'finger on trigger'

Warns US against 'miscalculations'

Media representatives walking past the parked buses that were burnt at a depot during recent public protests, in Tehran

● Trump has repeatedly left open the option of new military action

● Iranian authorities on Wednesday said 3,117 people were killed

● Rights groups say the heavy toll was caused by security forces firing directly on protesters

● Cctual number of those killed could be far higher and even extend to over 20,000

AFP | Paris, France

The commander of Iran's Revolutionary Guards yesterday warned Israel and the US against "miscalculations" in the wake of mass protests, saying the force had its "finger on the trigger".

US President Donald Trump has repeatedly left open the option of new military action against the Islamic republic after Washington backed and joined Israel's 12-day war in June.

A fortnight of protests starting in late December shook the clerical leadership under supreme leader Ayatollah Ali Khamenei, but the movement has petered out in the face of a crackdown that activists say has left thousands dead.

Guards commander General Mohammad Pakpour warned Israel and the United States "to avoid any miscalculations, by learning from historical experiences and what they learned in the 12-day imposed war, so that they do not face a more painful and regrettable fate".

"The Islamic Revolutionary Guard Corps and dear Iran have their finger on the trigger, more prepared than ever, ready to carry out the orders and measures of the supreme commander-in-chief -- a leader dearer than their own lives," he said, referring to Khamenei.

His comments came in a written statement quoted by state television marking the national day in Iran to celebrate the Guards, a force whose mission is to protect the 1979 Islamic revolution from internal and external threats.

Pakpour took over as Guards commander last year after his predecessor Hossein Salami was one of several key military figures killed in an Israeli strike during the 12-day war, losses which revealed Israel's deep intelligence penetration of the Islamic republic.

Giving their first official toll from the protests, Iranian authorities on Wednesday said 3,117 people were killed.

The statement from the Islamic republic's foundation for martyrs and veterans sought to draw a distinction between

"martyrs", who it said were members of security forces and innocent bystanders, and what it described as "rioters" backed by the US.

Of its toll of 3,117, it said 2,427 people were martyrs.

However, rights groups say the heavy toll was caused by security forces firing directly on protesters and that the actual number of those killed could be far higher and even extend to over 20,000.

Speaking at the World Economic Forum in Davos, Israeli President Isaac Herzog said "the future for the Iranian people can only be in a regime change", adding that "the Ayatollah regime is in quite a fragile situation".

YouTuber IShowSpeed hits 50 million subscribers in Nigeria on Africa tour

AFP | Lagos, Nigeria

US YouTuber IshowSpeed visited Nigeria's cultural and economic capital Lagos as part of his African tour on Wednesday, where he celebrated his 21st birthday by hitting 50 million subscribers.

The YouTube and Twitch star's tour kicked off on December 29, travelling through some 15 countries across Africa and drawing crowds at every stop.

Rolling Stone magazine named him the Most Influential Creator of 2025 while Forbes estimates his net worth at $20 million.

IshowSpeed began his Lagos visit at the bustling Balogun Market in the Lagos Island district, where crowds heckled him and asked for money.

"What are they saying? It's

US YouTuber and online streamer Darren Jason Watkins Jr, better known as IShowSpeed (C) broadcasts to his followers during an event at the Admiralty Mall in Lagos like they're speaking English, but a different kind of English," the influencer, surrounded by bodyguards, remarked as he quickly left the market.

At Freedom Park, located on the site of a former prison, he jumped at the spicy kick of his first bite of jollof rice before heading to the Nike Art Gallery -- a must-see for every celebrity and high-ranking political figure who comes to Lagos.

"IShowSpeed is showcasing the culture, relationships, cultural differences and food," Stephen Oluwafisayomi, a 24-year-old YouTuber known as Stevosky, told AFP at Freedom Park.

"He wants Americans to see Africa as a place they can also come to," he added.

At around 6:00 pm (1700 GMT) IshowSpeed, who was celebrating his birthday, stopped his security convoy at the side of the road to watch his YouTube channel hit 50 million subscribers and proceeded to shove his face into a cake for the occasion.

American University of Bahrain Launches Doctor of Business Administration Programme

Manama

The American University of Bahrain hosted a special event to announce the launch of its Doctor of Business Administration (DBA) program, attended by a distinguished group of senior executives, company leaders, professionals, and individuals seeking to pursue advanced studies in business administration.

The event formed part of the University's broader initiative to introduce the program, outline its academic structure and objectives, and engage experienced professionals interested in advancing their leadership and strategic capabilities through doctoral-level study.

The event commenced with an address by Prof. Hanan Naser, Associate Provost at AUBH, who welcomed attendees and highlighted the significance of the program within the University's academic portfolio. The address emphasized that the DBA program aligns with AUBH's strategic direction to deliver high-quality academic offerings that respond to the aspirations of professionals and the evolving demands of the labor market, while reinforcing the University's role in developing leaders capable of creating sustainable impact in the fields of business and management.

"The DBA program represents a strategic addition to the University's postgraduate offerings and reflects our focus on providing advanced academic pathways tailored to senior professionals and decision-makers. Designed in line with global business developments, the program equips graduates with the insight and capability required to address complex organizational challenges across local, regional, and international environments." Said Prof. Hanan Naser.

Furthermore, Dr. Fatema Alaali, Dean of the College of Business and Management, delivered a presentation outlining the structure of the DBA program. The presentation highlighted that the program is designed for experienced professionals and is grounded in applied research that addresses real-world business challenges. This approach enables participants to develop leadership and strategic expertise, enhance analytical capabilities, and create meaningful impact within their organizations and wider communities, while preparing thought leaders capable of delivering measurable outcomes in professional environments.

The event featured an interactive panel discussion followed by a structured Q&A session, providing attendees with the opportunity to engage in academic dialogue with faculty members and representatives from the admissions and registration teams, exchange perspectives, and foster professional connections.

Kites of Hope and Knowledge: BIS Celebrates Basant Panchami

Manama

Bhavans- Bahrain Indian School (BIS) marked the auspicious festival of Basant Panchami, a celebration symbolizing education, knowledge, wisdom, and new beginnings, with vibrant enthusiasm and cultural pride. Observed under the inspiring theme "Dream Big, Fly High," the event beautifully blended tradition with creativity, reflecting the institution's commitment to holistic education. Basant Panchami, heralds the arrival of spring and inspires learners to pursue excellence with curiosity and confidence. The highlight of the celebration was kite flying, symbolizing freedom of thought, ambition, and the limitless potential of young minds. As colorful kites soared high in the sky, they mirrored the aspirations of students encouraged to dream boldly and reach beyond boundaries.

Adding to the festive charm, students and staff donned yellow attire, a colour traditionally associated with prosperity, energy, and enlightenment. The vibrant hues created a visually captivating atmosphere while reinforcing the cultural significance of the occasion.

Speaking on the occasion, Principal Mr. Saji Jacob remarked, "Basant Panchami reminds us that education is not merely the acquisition of knowledge, but the awakening of imagination and purpose." Echoing this sentiment, the Directors of BIS, Mr. Himanshu Verma and Mrs. Ritu Verma, stated, "Through this celebration, we encourage our students to believe in their dreams and pursue them with confidence and integrity."

The celebration fostered a sense of unity, cultural appreciation, and joyful learning, leaving students inspired and energized. Through events such as these, BIS continues to nurture values, creativity, and global outlooks, preparing learners to soar high in both academics and life.

Bahrain run riot in Asian Championship

Fourth consecutive win in the tournament

● Second half belonged entirely to Bahrain

Bahrain kicked off their main round campaign at the 22nd Asian Men's Handball Championship in style, cruising to a 32-20 victory over the United Arab Emirates at the Sheikh Saad Al Abdullah Al Salim Al Sabah Hall in Kuwait City. The win marked the nationals' fourth consecutive win in the tournament, building on the confidence from their flawless preliminary rounds and last year's Islamic Solidarity Games gold. Their performance yesterday reflected the promise of the squad that claimed bronze on home soil at the 2024 Asian Championship. "We're far from done. We still have more in store for the remaining teams," Bahrain head coach Robert Hedin said, underlining the team's intent to push further this time around.

The first half was closely contested, with Bahrain holding a 12-10 advantage at the break. Both teams traded fast-paced goals, but the nationals' structured defence and measured attack kept them just ahead. UAE looked lively at times, yet Robert Hedin's men were always a step ahead, controlling the tempo and capitalising on every opening.

The second half belonged entirely to Bahrain, as the Emiratis looked woeful after the break, managing just ten goals. Jassim Khamis opened with a seven-metre strike, followed by a fast-break finish from Mohammed Habib Nasser. Skipper Hussain Al Sayyad then set up Habib for 19-13, while well-timed tactical fouls disrupted UAE's momentum. Khamis struck again t o make it 20-13, followed by Salman Alshowaikh's precise seven-metre goal between the legs of UAE goalkeeper Mohammed Altaher - a moment that perfectly captured Bahrain's attacking flair.

Bahrain continued to dominate through the final 15 minutes, with goals from Qassim Qambar, Khamis, Alshowaikh, Abdulla Abdulkarim, Jaffar Farsan, and Ali Alasheeri. Mohammed Habib

Nasser led the scoring with seven goals and earned man of the match honors for his outstanding display. Khamis also netted seven, while Salman Alshowaikh, Qambar, and skipper Hussain Al Sayyad added three apiece. For the UAE, Waleed Rashed was their key player with five goals.

Today presents a sterner test, as the nationals take on defending champions Qatar at 2 pm, before concluding the main round against Saudi Arabia on Sunday at 4 pm. Semi-final spots and qualification for the 30th IHF Men's Handball World Championship in Germany, scheduled for January 13-29 next year, are at stake, and all four top-ranked sides will secure their tickets to the worlds. The stage will then be set for the gold and bronze medal games, scheduled for January 29.

Yesterday's performance not only extends Bahrain's unbeaten run but also reinforces their reputation as a continental powerhouse. Since 2010, the team has consistently finished in the top four at the Asian Championships, showing that this squad is on track to go all the way.

Mercedes unveil 2026 F1 car for new 2026 rules

London, United Kingdom

Mercedes boss Toto Wolff said on Thursday that Formula One would undergo "significant change" in 2026 as the team unveiled their new car.

The British-based outfit dominated the sport from 2014 to 2021, winning eight constructors' titles and seven drivers' championships.

But they were overtaken by Red Bull and McLaren after the previous set of new rules was introduced in 2022.

Fresh chassis and engine regulations are being introduced this season in a major shake-up in the sport.

Mercedes, with Briton George Russell and Italian Kimi Antonelli at the wheel, have been tipped to set the pace.

The team released digital images of their new W17 car on Thursday, describing the 2026 season as "the biggest technical shake-up in the sport's history".

The W17 is smaller, narrower, and lighter than its predecessor.

Pre-season testing starts next week behind closed doors at the Circuit de Barcelona-Catalunya, with further testing in Bahrain ahead of the Australian Grand Prix on March 8.

Bangladesh refuse to go to India for T20 World Cup

AFP | Dhaka, Bangladesh

Bangladesh will not travel to India to play in next month's T20 World Cup, its cricket board said yesterday, effectively ruling the country out of the tournament.

"Our only demand is to play the World Cup -- but not in India," Bangladesh Cricket Board (BCB) President Aminul Islam Bulbul told reporters.

The refusal came a day after cricket's governing body rejected Bangladesh's plea to play its games in Sri Lanka instead.

"There is no scope for changing our decision," said Asif Nazrul, an adviser for youth and sports issues in Bangladesh's interim government.

The T20 World Cup begins on February 7, with Bangladesh scheduled to play their four group matches in the Indian cities of Kolkata and Mumbai.

AFM brings two generations of Fittipaldi to Bahrain for GCC Single-Seater Test Programme

Manama

AFM operates as part of ASPIRE, an Advanced Technology Research Council company, which also runs A2RL, Abu Dhabi's Autonomous Racing League. Together, these initiatives reflect a shared focus on performance, innovation, and the advancement of motorsport and mobility technologies in the region.

AFM hosted a landmark test at Bahrain International Circuit (BIC), welcoming two-time Formula One World Champion Emerson Fittipaldi and his son Emmo Fittipaldi as part of its expanding single-seater testing programme in the Gulf region.

The test underlined AFM's role in delivering professional, structured single seater running across the GCC, utilising current Formula One venues to support driver development with meaningful track time outside of the competitive season.

Running on the Bahrain Grand Prix layout, the programme brought together two generations of elite driving talent on one of the world's most technically demanding circuits. For Emerson Fittipaldi, the test offered an opportunity to experience first-hand the evolution of single-seater performance and motorsport engineering.

Emmo Fittipaldi focused on preparation ahead of his 2026 campaign in Formula 2 with AIX Racing. AFM's Bahrain test also formed part of a wider programme supporting drivers competing across the international single-seater ladder. The team has been working closely with MP Motorsport and rising Italian talent Mattia Colnaghi, who is backed by the Red Bull Junior Team. The programme provides valuable preparation time on Formula One circuits that feature prominently on the global calendar, reinforcing the importance of structured testing in modern driver development.

BIC Chief Executive Shaikh Salman bin Isa Al Khalifa said: "We are pleased to host AFM's single seater testing programme and welcome drivers from across the international racing ladder to Bahrain. The circuit is designed to support high-level testing and development, and initiatives like this reinforce Bahrain's position as a key motorsport hub in the region."

Josh Roles, AFM Team Manager, said: "Our focus is on delivering high-quality single-seater testing at the most relevant circuits in the region. By operating across Bahrain, Abu Dhabi, Jeddah and Qatar, we're able to offer drivers valuable preparation on tracks that play a major role in modern motorsport. Combined with our team of highly experienced former Formula One engineers and mechanics, it creates a professional environment for genuine driver development."

Emerson Fittipaldi said: "Testing on a modern Formula One circuit like Bahrain really highlights how far the cars and the sport have developed. The performance, the systems, and the overall approach are very different, and it's fascinating to experience that evolution on track." Emmo Fittipaldi said: "This kind of out-of-season testing is extremely important. Being able to run at circuits like Bahrain with a professional team gives you a strong foundation going into the season, especially when these tracks are part of the championship calendar."

Mattia Colnaghi said: "Testing in Bahrain with AFM is a great opportunity. These are circuits you race on at the highest level, so being able to learn the layout, conditions and work closely with engineers outside of a race weekend in a well-structured environment is incredibly valuable for development."

AFM continues to strengthen the GCC's position as a premier destination for single-seater testing, combining world-class facilities with experienced personnel to support drivers at every stage of their careers.

The Bahrain International Circuit, opened in 2004 in Sakhir, was the first Formula One-grade circuit in the Middle East and has hosted the Bahrain Grand Prix almost every year since its debut.
