Victoria Beckham reveals secret to signature smoky eye

Celebretainment | Los Angeles

Victoria Beckham has shared the beauty secret to her signature smoky eye.

The former Spice Girl - who launched her eponymous brand 'Victoria Beckham Beauty' back in 2019 - has revealed the step by step process of her iconic make-up look.

The fashion icon - who often sports smoky makeup on the eyes - described it as "soft, smoky, eye-opening, and a bit undone".

She added: "I love a lot of blended liner under my lashes, the clean, yet undone smoky eye."

Victoria - whose eyes have "always been part" of her classic look - noted how she has always been keen to "learn as much" as possible, and she's enjoyed helping other people with their makeup.

She told Grazia: "My eyes have always been part of my signature look. I learned a lot about techniques and what works for my eyes while in the make-up chair."

"I've always loved beauty, so over the years I've tried to learn as much as I can. I love playing make-up artist."

Earlier this year, the former Spice Girls singer took to Instagram and shared a simple makeup tutorial to her millions of followers.

The demo was accompanied by captions on how to achieve the signature look.

Post read: "My signature @victoriabeckhambeauty smoky eye in two simple steps

"1. Trace a thick line along the upper lashes and a finer line along the lower lash line (this is Ash, which I love for something a little different but I usually go for Cocoa for everyday)."

"2. Blend out with the sponge tip into the desired shape. Add more colour to the lash line if needed."

Kelly Clarkson was scared her nanny would quit during COVID-19 remote learning.

Kelly Clarkson was scared her nanny would quit during COVID-19 remote learning.

The 'Since U Been Gone' hitmaker learnt how hard it is to educate kids during the pandemic as she was tasked with homeschooling her seven-year-old daughter River and her six-year-old son Remington - her kids with her ex Brandon Blackstock, 45 - with only her nanny for help with lessons during the beginning of the spread of the virus.

The 40-year-old pop star told PEOPLE magazine: "I was like, 'Dear God, I hope my nanny doesn't quit.'"

Kelly wished that "we never have to do" remote learning again because her extroverted kids did not want to be cooped up with no company their own age.

It was very hard, like [them] learning how to read. I've always held teachers in the highest of regard, but people that didn't really think about it before got a real eye-opening experience at how hard teachers work. I'd hear people in the industry in interviews be like, 'Oh my God, I'm trying to wrangle these two or three kids.' But imagine having 26 to 30, because that's what a teacher has

She said: "I hope we never have to do it again, because my kids are very creative, outgoing and social, and did not want to be at home with an adult."

'The Kelly Clarkson Show' host found it "an eye-opening experience" despite "always" respecting teachers and how they do "a crazy hard job".

Kit Harington lands role in Mary's Monster

Celebretainment | Los Angeles

Kit Harington is set to star in 'Mary's Monster'.

The 'Game of Thrones' actor has been cast alongside Clara Rugaard in the film about the life and times of the 'Frankenstein' author Mary Shelley.

The period movie will deal with Mary's mental torment as she tries to write her iconic horror novel. Clara will portray the author while Kit will be 'the monster'.

An official synopsis for the movie reads: "Mary is seduced by her own inner monster catapulting her into a dangerous, destructive psychological romance. Realising the monster is inextricably linked to her own mental state, her only route to salvation is in bringing him to life."

The film is on sale at the Cannes market and production is set to begin in the UK in August. Ferdia Walsh-Peelo will also star in the movie with additional casting underway.

Farren Blackburn is to direct the movie from a script by Deborah Baxtrom and Stephen Hallett. Fulwell 73's Leo Perlman and Heather Greenwood will produce with Richard Kondal and Patrick Fischer serving as executive producers for the company.

Harington said: "Mary's Monster" is a brilliantly original and fascinating script and I'm relishing the idea of depicting the unique part of 'The Monster'. An embodiment of Mary Shelley's psyche. I'm excited by Farren's vision and passion for the project."

Kendall Jenner had 'toxic' relationships

Celebretainment | Los Angeles

Kendall Jenner has been in "enough toxic relationships".

The 26-year-old model - who is dating basketball player Devin Booker and has previously been romantically linked to the likes of Harry Styles, Nick Jonas, A$AP Rocky, Blake Griffin and Ben Simmons - explained she

"shut off" after getting into a huge fight with Scott Disick about his lack of invitation to her birthday celebrations and family Thanksgiving arrangements because she didn't want to be part of anything negative because of her past.

On this week's episode of 'The Kardashians', Kendall called her half-sisters, Khloe and Kourt-ney Kardashian and told them she'd been in a "huge fight" with the Poosh founder's former partner.

After meeting with the pair, Kendall said: "He's talking through me the whole time and I'm like, 'I don't do that.' I've been in enough toxic relationships and I can't stand it anymore, so I just shut off..."

"I walked out mid-conversation and he's still talking."

In a confessional, Kendall claimed Scott - who has three children with Kourtney - had been "victimising" himself.
