Dubai

Saudi Arabia's King Salman bin Abdulaziz told the United Nations General Assembly on Wednesday that his kingdom supports efforts to prevent Iran from obtaining nuclear weapons.

"Iran is a neighbouring country, and we hope that our initial talks with it will lead to concrete results to build confidence ... based on... respect of sovereignty and non-interference in internal affairs," King Salman said.

● Foreign pilgrims will have to visit a health centre if their health status has not been entered into Tawakkalna

● Both the Umrah visa and e-visa are valid for 2 weeks.

TDT | Manama

The Ministry of Justice, Islamic Affairs and Endowments has announced the procedure for Umrah (minor Hajj) and prayer permits in the Great Mosque of Makkah and visiting the Prophet's Mosque.

The procedures are as per the directives issued by the Saudi Arabia Ministry of Hajj and Um-rah. The ministry called on licensed Umrah operators and all citizens and residents to ensure registration on Muqem App and use Tawakkalna and Eatmarna apps to show their health status (vaccinated) ahead of receiving the Umrah permits.

Opening an account on Eatmarna is possible only after updating the visitor's immune health status on the Tawakkalna application.

Vaccination a must for Visa

"Only those who had taken two doses of coronavirus vaccine or completed 14 days after taking the first dose of the vaccine or recovered after infection are entitled to obtain an Umrah visa," the Saudi Ministry of Hajj and Umrah said.

Saudi Ministry had stated that they would only allow pilgrims who have been vaccinated against COVID-19 or have recovered from the infection. Umrah visas will only be issued to fully vaccinated individuals.

Saudi Health authorities have approved vaccines for all above 12 years of age.

Reports say, foreign pilgrims must be vaccinated fully against COVID-19 with Pfizer/BioNTech: Comirnaty, Oxford/AstraZeneca: Vaxzevria, Johnson & Johnson: Ad26.COV2.S or Moderna: mRNA-1273

Pilgrims vaccinated with Sinopharm: BBIBP-CoV and Sinovac: CoronaVac will also be allowed entry, provided they have taken a booster shot of either Pfizer, Moderna, AstraZeneca or Johnson & Johnson.

Saudi also requires pilgrims to be in excellent health conditions and adhere to protocols for ensuring the safety of pilgrims coming from abroad.

SR1,000 fine

Entering masjids without a permit will attract a fine of SR1,000.

Authorities also will not allow unauthorised vehicles in the central region around Makkah.

Worshippers are also required to arrive on time to avoid losing their time slots.

The instructions coincide with the safe Umrah season for 1443 AH for Gulf Cooperation Council (GCC) citizens.

The Hajj is compulsory for all able-bodied Muslims with financial means during the Hajj season. On the other hand, Umrah is voluntary and allowed at any time of the year, outside the Hajj season. However, both the major and minor journeys revolve around the Kaabah located at the centre of the Masjid al-Haram.

10 million pilgrims

According to the Saudi Ministry of Hajj and Umrah, 10 million pilgrims have successfully performed Umrah since Oct. 4, 2020, following the launch of its "safe Umrah" procedures and the gradual return of pilgrims to the Two Holy Mosques.

The ministry also revealed issuing more than 12,000 visas since the Kingdom began to welcome pilgrims from other countries on Aug. 10 this year.

Officials aim to reach a capacity of 3.5 million pilgrims, visitors and worshippers a month.

Abdulfattah Mashat, the deputy minister of Hajj and Umrah, said the capacity is 70,000 pilgrims a day currently.

International visitors should register their vaccination status on an online platform 72 hours before travelling to the Kingdom.

US House backs bill to provide $1 billion for Israel Iron Dome

● The measure passed by 420 to 9

● Some of the most liberal House Democrats had objected to the provision

● Earlier removal led Republicans to label Democrats as anti-Israel

Reuters | Washington

The US House of Representatives voted overwhelmingly yesterday for legislation to provide $1 billion to Israel to replenish its "Iron Dome" missile-defence system, just two days after the funding was removed from a broader spending bill.

The measure passed by 420 to 9, with two members voting present.

Some of the most liberal House Democrats had objected

Israel's Iron Dome anti-missile system intercepts a rocket launched from the Gaza Strip towards Israel, as seen from Ashkelon to the provision and said they would vote against the broad spending bill if it was included. That threatened the bill's passage, with Democrats only narrowly controlling the House, because Republicans have opposed the plan to fund the federal government through Dec. 3 and raise the nation's borrowing limit.

The removal led Republicans to label Democrats as anti-Israel, despite a long tradition in the US Congress of strong support from both parties for the Jewish state, to which Washington sends billions of dollars in aid every year.

Israel responded quickly. "Thanks to all members of the US House of Representatives, Democratic and Republican alike, for their sweeping support for Israel and the commitment to its security. Those who try to challenge this support got a resounding response today," Israeli Prime Minister Naftali Bennett said in a statement.

Some liberal Democrats voiced concerns recently about US-Israel policy, citing human rights concerns like Palestinian civilian casualties as Israel responded to Hamas rocket attacks in May. Israel said most of the 4,350 rockets fired from Gaza during the conflict were blown out of the sky by Iron Dome interceptors.

"We should also be talking about the Palestinian need for protection against Israeli attack," Democratic Representative Rashida Tlaib, an opponent of the funding, said during debate.

The bill, which was introduced in the House on Wednesday, provides $1 billion to replace missile interceptors used during the May conflict.

There was no immediate word on timing of a vote in the Senate.

Most Gulf bourses rise as oil prices gain on tight supply

● Saudi markets are closed for a public holiday

Reuters

Most stock markets in the Gulf rose yesterday as oil prices gained on growing fuel demand and a bigger-than-expected draw in U.S. crude inventories, although the Abu Dhabi index bucked the trend to trade lower.

The oil market was also supported by a return of appetite for risk assets as concerns eased over a potential default by property developer China Evergrande and its possible fallout on the world's second-largest economy.

Dubai's main share index added 0.2%, extending gains from the previous session, with blue-chip developer Emaar Properties rising 0.7% while DAMAC Properties advanced 2.4%.

The founder of DAMAC Properties is relaunching a partial offer to take the firm private after the securities regulator of the United Arab Emirates granted approval, according to a statement on Thursday.

The offer came amid years of downturn in Dubai's property market, exacerbated by the economic fallout from the pandemic. The United Arab Emirates' Securities and Commodities Authority has signed an agreement with the Dubai World Trade Centre Authority (DWTCA) aimed at supporting the trading of crypto assets in DWTCA's free zone, state news agency reported on Wednesday.

In Abu Dhabi, the index eased 0.1% following a 0.7% drop in the country's largest lender First Abu Dhabi Bank.

Global investors have been on tenterhooks in recent weeks as debt payment obligations of China Evergrande, labouring under a $305 billion mountain of debt, triggered fears its malaise could pose systemic risks to the world's second-largest economy.

Elsewhere, the Qatari index gained 0.4%, with petrochemical maker Industries Qatar rising over 1%.

Huawei Rotating Chairman reaffirms continuous innovation

TDT | Manama

Huawei's annual flagship event for the global ICT industry – HUAWEI CONNECT 2021 – kicked off yesterday. Huawei Rotating Chairman Eric Xu opened the event with a keynote speech titled "Innovating Non-stop for Faster Digitalization".

This year's event, themed "Dive into Digital", explores how digital technology can better integrate with business scenarios and industry know-how to address critical business challenges, and how stakeholders can work together more effectively to foster an open industry ecosystem and drive shared success.

In his keynote, Xu spoke about how helping industries go digital is a critical aspect of Huawei's mission to bring digital to every person, home and organization for a fully connected, intelligent world. He said, "Digital development relies on digital technology. For digital technology to stay relevant, we must continue to innovate and create value. Cloud, AI, and networks are three critical digital technologies."

At the event, Xu launched the industry's first distributed, cloud-native service called UCS – a ubiquitous cloud-native service available on HUAWEI CLOUD. With UCS, Huawei plans to provide enterprises with a consistent experience while using cloud-native applications that are not constrained by geographical, cross-cloud, or traffic limitations, thereby accelerating digital transformation in all industries.

HUAWEI CLOUD also announced two new regions, and ten new services including MacroVerse aPaaS, OptVerse AI Solver, HUAWEI CLOUD Stack 8.1, Pangu drug molecule model, and SparkRTC. It was also revealed that the first virtual human, Yunsheng, is set to join HUAWEI CLOUD.

Xu added that HUAWEI CLOUD, the company's cloud service that was launched just four years ago, has already brought together more than 2.3 million developers, 14,000 consulting partners, and 6,000 technology partners, and also made more than 4,500 services available in the HUAWEI CLOUD Marketplace. It has become an important platform for Internet companies, enterprises, and governments alike to take their organizations digital. As of September 2021, HUAWEI CLOUD and partners operate 61 Availability Zones (AZs) in 27 geographic regions worldwide, covering more than 170 countries and regions.

Zhang Ping'an, CEO of HUAWEI CLOUD and President of Huawei Consumer Cloud Service, commented: "The key to successful digital transformation is to think cloud native and act cloud native. HUAWEI CLOUD joins our customers and partners to dive into digital and explore the potential of Everything as a Service – Infrastructure as a Service for global accessibility, Technology as a Service for flexible innovation, and Expertise as a Service for shared excellence."

Huawei's full-stack, all-scenario AI portfolio released back in 2018 is also progressing as expected. Its MindSpore framework has become the mainstream AI computing framework in China. Meanwhile, the Atlas 900 cluster, as well as the cloud services based on it, currently serve more than 300 enterprises, supporting the training of many models, which include the HUAWEI CLOUD Pangu large models. HUAWEI CLOUD ModelArts has made AI application development incredibly simple with its full-pipeline, scenario-based services. The end goal of ModelArts is to enable each and every engineer to independently develop their own AI applications. Huawei hosts HUAWEI CONNECT 2021 online from September 23 to October 31. The theme of this year's event is Dive into Digital.

Nespresso's Ispirazione Italiana adds two new limited-edition coffees

TDT | Manama

Two new limited-edition coffees have been added to Nespresso's Ispirazione Italiana collection for the Original system, inspired by the craftsmanship of Italian master roasters and the flavours they so deftly construct.

Coffee roasting styles have varied over the years, just as new aesthetic groups have emerged and grown. Despite the country's rich coffee tradition, Italy's speciality coffee market is thriving. With Ispirazione Novecento and Ispirazione Millennio, Nespresso has captured the flavours and fragrances of both the traditional and modern, each one a true masterpiece of Italian roasting history.

Take a trip back in time with

Ispirazione Novecento

Newly released Limited Edition the classic Italian espressos of the 1940s inspired Ispirazione Novecento. It's a dark, smokey cup that recalls the country's early stand-up coffee shops, when roasting was slower and often wood-fired, and blends were influenced by the beans available in wartime Europe. Ispirazione Novecento is a Brazilian espresso that is enhanced with heirloom Arabicas and West African Robustas to provide a deep, dark crema with raw spicy, nutty brown characteristics.

Step into the modern with Ispirazione Millennio

Meanwhile, Nespresso's Limited Edition Ispirazione Millennio derives its aromatic cues from emerging artisanal roasting trends that are sweeping the country, as well as expanding consumer preferences for brighter, fruitier flavours. Lighter and shorter roasted Brazilian and Colombian Arabicas were mixed with beans from the Indian subcontinent to obtain this fresh, modern flavour. With spicy aromas, good acidity, and a hint of fruit, the result is a well-rounded and pleasantly robust coffee.

Ukrainian lawmakers pass law on oligarchs after assassination attempt

Ukraine's parliament passed a law to order "oligarchs" to register and stay out of politics, a day after an attempt to kill a top aide to President Volodymyr Zelenskiy, which officials said could have been a response to the reform. The law provides a definition for an oligarch, while giving the authorities the power to designate individuals who meet the criteria. Oligarchs would be forbidden from financing political parties or taking part in privatisations. Top officials, including the president, prime minister and head of the central bank, would be required to declare dealings they had with them.

Over 30 dead during Guinea-Bissau health worker strike, union says

More than 30 people have died because a health workers' strike in Guinea-Bissau has paralysed the healthcare system, a spokesperson for the nurses' union said. The boycott over working conditions, pay and other issues was launched on Monday in the small West African nation where chronically under-equipped hospitals and clinics have long angered workers and endangered patients.

Four Tunisian parties say president has lost his legitimacy

Reuters | Tunis

Four Tunisian parties said yesterday that President Kais Saied has lost his legitimacy and called for an end to what they called a coup after he took control of legislative and executive powers.

Saied said on Wednesday he would rule by decree and ignore parts of the constitution as he prepared to change the political system.

Attayar, Al Jouhmouri, Akef and Ettakatol parties said in a joint statement that Saied's move enshrined an absolute power monopoly.

Saied has held nearly total power since July 25 when he sacked the prime minister, suspended parliament and assumed executive authority citing a national emergency.

Yesterday's opposition statement increased the pressure on him. Although the four parties are not the most powerful, they hold influence in the streets, especially Attayar, which was close to Saied before his intervention.

"We consider the president has lost his legitimacy by violating the constitution... and he will be responsible for all the possible repercussions of this dangerous step," the four parties said in the statement.

Anour Ben Kadour, a senior official in the powerful UGTT labour union, said: "Tunisia is heading towards absolute, individual rule."

The new measures announced on Wednesday go far beyond the steps he took in July, writing into the official gazette rules that transform Tunisia's political system to give the president almost unlimited power

UGTT, which has about one million members and is a major force in Tunisian politics, has started a meeting to formulate a position on Saied's actions and is expected to issue a statement yesterday.

While many Tunisians have backed Saied and see his actions as necessary to oust a corrupt and unpopular political elite after years of economic stagnation, his critics from across the spectrum say he is inexperienced and uncompromising.

The leader of Tunisia's powerful Islamist Ennahda party, Rached Ghannouchi, said on Wednesday that Saied's declarations meant cancelling the constitution. The party - the biggest in parliament - would not accept that, he said.

Saied's moves have undermined the democratic gains of Tunisia's 2011 revolution that ended autocratic rule, despite his pledges to uphold the freedoms won a decade ago.

Sri Lanka shaman dies of COVID-19 after touting 'blessed' water cure

AFP | Colombo

A high-profile shaman who tried to end Sri Lanka's COVID-19 outbreak with "blessed" water has died of the virus, his family said yesterday.

Eliyantha White, 48, who treated sports stars and top politicians including the country's prime minister, claimed in November he could end the pandemic in Sri Lanka and neighboring India by pouring pots of his "blessed" water into rivers.

Health minister Pavithra Wanniarachchi endorsed the water treatment, but was infected two months later and ended up in a hospital intensive care unit.

She was later demoted, and lost her portfolio, but remains in the cabinet.

White attracted international attention in 2010 when legendary Indian cricketer Sachin Tendulkar publicly thanked him for treating a knee injury, saying it helped him hit the first-ever one-day international double century against South Africa. In a 2010 interview, White claimed he had "special powers" since the age of 12.

He has since treated other Indian cricket stars, including Gautam Gambhir and Ashish Nehra.

White's family said he had refused the Covid-19 vaccine.

His body was cremated at Colombo's main cemetery yesterday in line with quarantine regulations.

Prime Minister Mahinda Rajapaksa, who was among politicians to have consulted White, said on Twitter: "His legacy will continue to live through all the lives, he touched and healed of various ailments."

But mainstream doctors described White as a fraud and Ayurveda physicians rejected his claims - even though the shaman said he used methods from the 3,000-year-old Indian medical tradition.

Sri Lanka's total coronavirus deaths exceeded 12,000 with more than half a million people infected so far.

Doctors say the real toll is at least twice as high and authorities have resorted to mass cremations to clear bodies piling up at hospitals and morgues.

Daniel Foote excoriates Washington in letter addressed to Antony Blinken

Reuters | Washington

The US special envoy to Haiti dramatically resigned yesterday in a letter that excoriated the Biden administration for deporting hundreds of migrants to the crisis-engulfed Caribbean nation from a camp on the US-Mexican border in recent days.

Daniel Foote, a career diplomat named to his post in July, said conditions in Haiti were so bad that US officials were confined to secure compounds. He said the "collapsed state" was unable to support the infusion of returning migrants.

"I will not be associated with the United States' inhumane, counterproductive decision to deport thousands of Haitian refugees and illegal immigrants," Foote said in a letter addressed to Secretary of State Antony Blinken that circulated publicly yesterday.

The United States has returned 1,401 migrants from the camp to Haiti and taken another 3,206 people into custody, the Department of Homeland Security said on Wednesday.

Filippo Grandi, the head of the U.N refugee agency, warned that this week the US expulsions to Haiti might violate international law.

Footo submitted his resignation to Blinken on Wednesday, a State Department spokesperson said, adding that Washington was committed to the long-term well being of Haiti, as well as offering immediate help to returning migrants.

The resignation follows growing pressure on the administration of US President Joe Biden from the United Nations and his fellow Democrats over the treatment of Haitians in a sprawling impromptu migrant camp in Texas near the Mexican border.

Biden's handling of what Republicans portray as a crisis at the border - including record numbers of migrant detentions this year - has led to growing disillusionment from advocates who hoped for an end to deterrent measures brought in by his predecessor Donald Trump.

Footo's decision to leave was interpreted and welcomed by rights groups as a stern criticism of the administration's immigration strategy.

"A big bold move. And a big deal," said William O'Neill, a lawyer specializing in humanitarian, human rights and refugee law. "He will be missed."

Wade McMullen, an attorney with the Robert F. Kennedy Human Rights organization, said several hundred people, mostly pregnant women and parents with children, had been released in Del Rio, Texas, over the past several days.

Images of US border guards on horseback using long reins to whip at Black migrants at the weekend caused outrage within the White House and from rights groups.

On the Mexican side of the river early yesterday, close to 20 police patrol cars lined the bank, overlooking the area where hundreds of Haitian migrants in recent days have crossed back and forth.

Migrants said they were awoken at 6 a.m. by the cars driving through the camp that has sprung up alongside the river, and fearful of being detained, some migrants chose to take their things and cross back to the US side again.

Snubbed Australia to be 'patient' in fixing France ties

AFP | Washington

Australia's leader said he is being given the cold shoulder by French President Emmanuel Macron after the controversial scrapping of a submarine deal, but vowed to be "patient" in repairing frayed relations.

Speaking in Washington late Wednesday, Prime Minister Scott Morrison said he had tried to reach the French leader but the call had "not yet" happened.

"But we'll be patient. We understand their disappointment," Morrison said.

It is a week since Australia without warning tore up a long-standing Aus$90 billion (USD$66bn) deal to buy a dozen French submarines.

Australia simultaneously announced plans to acquire at least eight US or British nuclear-powered vessels after months of secret talks, sparking fury in Paris.

France in retaliation cancelled a cocktail party to mark US-French ties, recalled its ambassadors to Washington and Canberra and accused both countries of backstabbing and lies.

en and Macron have moved to patch up their differences in a 30-minute phone call, which the White House described on Wednesday as "friendly", there has been no such effort made with Morrison.

France plans to return its ambassador to Washington next week, but there is no announcement yet on the return of the French ambassador to Canberra.

"Australia decided not to proceed with a very significant defence contract. And understandably, we know that France is disappointed about that," Morrison said.

"I think those issues will take further time to work through than the ones that were being dealt with between the United States and France."

UN head says world must change food priorities to save planet

AFP | New York

United Nations chief Antonio Guterres urged nations to revamp their food priorities yesterday, saying the world needed food systems that safeguard the environment.

"The war on our planet must end and food systems can help us build that peace," the Secretary-General told a UN summit in New York.

Guterres said food systems "can and must play a leading role" in meeting the UN's sustainable development goals by 2030.

The goals include ending poverty, protecting ecosystems and ensuring sustainable consumption and production patterns that limit waste.

Guterres told delegates of the food systems summit, taking place on the sidelines of the high-level meeting of the UN General Assembly, that the world needed "nature-based solutions."

He noted that food systems currently generate one-third of all greenhouse gas emissions.

"It is possible to feed a growing global population while also safeguarding our environment," he said.

United Nations Secretary-General Antonio Guterres speaks at a High-level meeting during the 76th Session of the UN General Assembly

"It takes sustainable consumption and production methods and nature-based solutions. It takes the smart, sustainable management of natural resources -- from farms to fisheries," Guterres added.

The United States heeded Guterres's call, announcing it would invest more than $10 billion over several years to promote a transformation of food systems.

The world's top diplomat said the international community was "waging a war against nature -- and reaping the bitter harvest."

He cited "ruined crops, dwindling incomes and failing food systems."

Guterres added that the world needs to "ramp up" emergency food and nutrition systems in areas affected by conflict or climate emergencies and invest in early-warning famine prevention systems.

"It is possible to feed a growing global population while also safeguarding our environment. It takes sustainable consumption and production methods and nature-based solutions. It takes the smart, sustainable management of natural resources -- from farms to fisheries"

ANTONIO GUTERRES

Guterres noted that three billion people cannot afford a healthy diet. He added that two billion are overweight or obese, with 462 million underweight.

He reminded delegates that nearly one-third of all food that is produced is lost or wasted and said changing food systems can drive the post-pandemic global recovery.

Guterres called on governments and businesses to work together to increase access to healthy diets, lamenting that nutritious food is "often too costly or inaccessible."

Royal Navy makes Daniel Craig honorary commander

AFP | London

James Bond actor Daniel Craig has been made an honorary commander in the Royal Navy, matching the rank of the fictional superspy he plays on screen, the service announced on Thursday.

The honour comes as Craig, 53, makes his final outing as Bond in "No Time To Die", set for its world premiere in London next Tuesday, after months of coronavirus delays.

Britain's highest-ranking naval officer, First Sea Lord Admiral Tony Radakin, said he was "delighted" to give the honour to the actor, who has played 007 since 2006.

Craig said he was "truly privileged and honoured" to join the oldest service in the British armed forces, and that he would use the role to support personnel and their families.

"Daniel Craig is well known for being Commander Bond for the last 15 years, a naval officer who keeps Britain safe through missions across the globe," he added.

"That's what the real Royal Navy does every day, using technology and skill the same way as Bond himself."

Craig said he was "truly privileged and honoured" to join the oldest service in the British armed forces, and that he would use the role to support personnel and their families.

Before receiving the award, he met Lieutenant Commander Frances Bond, who works at the Royal Navy's headquarters in Portsmouth, on England's south coast.

"I've had my fair share of light-hearted banter from colleagues over being a real-life Bond but I never imagined I would actually one day get to meet the actor who played him," the commander said.

The Royal Navy and the Ministry of Defence worked with the makers of "No Time To Die", and the Type 45 destroyer HMS Dragon features in the film's trailer.

The Royal Air Force was also involved, with RAF Brize Norton in Oxfordshire, southern England, masquerading as a NATO airbase in the film.

The singer was on 'CBS This Morning' with Gayle King ahead of announcing the 2017 Grammy nominees when she started "vibrating" and felt she was "dying", reports femalefirst.co.uk

Trainor said: "I was announcing the nominees, and I was vibrating. I felt like I was going to pass out on live television. I was like, 'What's happening? I must be dying.'"

"As soon as they said 'Cut', I went offstage and was [gasping for air] in front of everyone."

Meghan - who welcomed her first child, son Riley, into the world in February - has praised TV presenter Gayle for helping her in the scary situation.

We look forward to another 5 years that will implement what was built in the first 5 years. Thank you to the BRAVE nation for their love and support. Together let's continue the take over and introduce a new age of MMA."

In five years of operations,

BRAVE CF president initiates a new national MMA project in Poland

TD | Manama

Mohammed Shahid, the president of BRAVE Combat Federation, has finally arrived in Konin, Poland as the global outfit gears up for its maiden event in the country --BRAVE CF 54-- on Saturday, September 25th.

To celebrate its fifth anniversary in the mixed martial arts industry, the Bahrain-based promotion has prepared a stacked fight card headlined by a grudge match between BRAVE CF Lightweight World Champion Amin "Fierceness" Ayoub of France and challenger Ahmed "The Butcher" Amir of Egypt.

Aside from the main event, the show also features three of the country's up-and-coming stars who will be getting a fair share of the international limelight.

Marcin "Bomba" Bandel, Wawrzyniec Bartnik and Ewelina Wozniak will be donning the national colors of crimson red and immaculate white at the historic BRAVE CF 54.

Meanwhile, Irish stand-out Blaine O'Driscoll is set to square off with Muhammad "The Punisher" Mokaev in the co-feature attraction.

As the countdown begins,

Mohammed Shahid

"BRAVE CF has always been known as a national project with the focus to provide sports values to a nation. It's clearly seen with the government relation BRAVE CF has with the host nations

Shahid can't help but look back at the things that his company has accomplished in Europe in the span of nine months.

"BRAVE CF has always been known as a national project with the focus to provide sports values to a nation. It's clearly seen with the government relation BRAVE CF has with the host nations," he stated.

"But at the same time the events are also a unique networking opportunity where international government officials, global business tycoons and celebrities around the world come together."

Though it looks like BRAVE CF has attained a significant stride across the continent in 2021, it seems to be the tip of the iceberg.

Most recently, BRAVE CF announced that it will be holding a card in Russia towards the back end of this year, aiming to return to where the company has started this year.

Further details about the organization's return to Russia will be announced in the coming weeks.

Verstappen laughs off Hami's pressure comments

Lewis Hamilton says he has empathy for title rival Max Verstappen

● Briton suggests title rival is under pressure

● Verstappen responds with sarcasm

Reuters | London

Max Verstappen hit back with sarcasm yesterday after seven times Formula One world champion Lewis Hamilton suggested his young Red Bull rival was feeling the pressure of a first title tilt.

"I'm so nervous I can barely sleep," the Dutch 23-year-old told reporters at the Russian Grand Prix when Hamilton's comments were put to him.

"It's so horrible to fight for a title. I really hate it," he added.

Verstappen said those who knew him could testify how relaxed he was.

"I'm very chilled. It's the best feeling ever to have a great car where you go into every weekend and you can fight for a win... those comments just show you that he really doesn't know me," he said of his Mercedes rival.

"Which is fine. I also don't need to know him, how he is fully. I just focus on myself and I really enjoy it out there in front and hopefully we can do that for a very long time."

Verstappen is five points clear of Hamilton after 14 of 22 rounds but has a three-place grid penalty for Sochi after they

collided in the previous race at Monza.

Their clashes have become the story of the season as Verstappen and Red Bull seek to end seven years of Mercedes domination and dethrone the most successful driver of all time.

Hamilton had earlier told reporters that he knew from experience what Verstappen was going through.

"Obviously he won't admit to it and I'm not going to make an assumption," the Briton added when asked whether he felt the pressure was starting to catch up with Verstappen.

"I'm just saying that I remember what it was like when I had my first one and it definitely mounted up. It was difficult, it was intense, I was going through a lot of different emotions and I didn't always handle it the best."

"That's to be expected ... there's a lot of self-expectation and pressure because the desire to win is huge. I empathise and understand that."

Hamilton won his first championship in 2008 as a 23-year-old with McLaren, in what was his second season. Verstappen is now a veteran of 133 races and in his seventh campaign.

No Lingering Effects

Hamilton said there were no lingering effects from Monza, where Verstappen's car ended up on top of the Mercedes with a rear wheel hitting the Briton's helmet.

He said he had done yoga and acupuncture and his physiotherapist Angela Cullen had flown with him to America, where he attended the Met Gala fashion show in New York.

Verstappen is five points clear of Hamilton after 14 of 22 rounds but has a three-place grid penalty for Sochi after they collided in the previous race at Monza

The 36-year-old batted aside reported comments from Red Bull consultant Helmut Marko questioning how much pain he had really felt.

"I don't really listen to what these individuals talk about. It's natural when a car lands on your head that you're going to have some sort of discomfort," he said.

"I didn't say I was dying. Just aware that in a millisecond anything can happen. I did feel grateful to come out of it not badly injured and move on."

Hamilton said he was putting no energy into worrying about more collisions.

"I think what's important is that we just continue to race hard and fair and I have no doubts that we will both be professional and learn from the past," he said.

Sola not intimidated by more experienced opponent on his second pro fight

TD | Manama

The former #1 ranked amateur fighter in the world and IMMAF European champion Axel Sola might be heading to his second professional fight but he's showing the confidence of a long-time veteran. Ahead of his fight against Wawrzyniec Bartnik at BRAVE CF 54, the Frenchman seemed unfazed by the fact that his opponent is going to his 8th pro bout.

"I believe in my coach. He told me it was time for me to fight this kind of opponent, so I just listened and I did. I trust him and I trust my skills. He knows me, he knows how

"I believe in my coach. He told me it was time for me to fight this kind of opponent, so I just listened and I did. I trust him and I trust my skills. He knows me, he knows how I fight. If he says I'm ready, it means I'm ready"

XAXEL SOLA

I fight. If he says I'm ready, it means I'm ready", he said.

"I think he (Bartnik) is very tough, he is hard to finish", he continued. "He can take shots on the head and he will keep moving forward. He is looking for close-range fighting. I just have to do my game to stay technical and I don't see how he can beat me".

Speaking about his own abilities, Sola said that he believes that being a more well-rounded fighter will give him the edge.

"I am a more complete fighter, so I will be able to switch things up to get the points or to get the finish or the victory and I don't think he is able to switch things up like I can", he finished.

Axel Sola vs Wawrzyniec Bartnik takes place at BRAVE CF 54, on September 25, in Konin, Poland. The event will be headlined by the Lightweight title bout between the champion Amin Ayoub and the challenger Ahmed Amir.
