Dr Al Dhaen described the committee's creation as a new step for women in Bahrain's media, pointing to HRH Princess Sabeeka's steady support for women's progress.

Expat engineer awarded BD9,000 in labour dispute

TDT | Manama

An expat engineer has been awarded more than BD9,000 after the Labour High Court ruled a construction firm failed to pay what he was owed when his nine-year stint came to an end.

The ruling covers unpaid wages for his final month, money in lieu of untaken leave, an end-of-service payment, return ticket costs, and a certificate of employment. The court also ordered interest to be paid, along with legal costs.

The engineer, represented by lawyer Ahmed Mayouf, joined the company in 2015 on a monthly wage of BD1,200.

His contract ended in 2024. When the company refused to pay him, he took legal action.

He asked the court for his last month's wages, a penalty for the delay, his end-of-service dues, payment for unused leave, a return ticket, and a formal certificate confirming the end of employment.

The company claimed his salary had been BD950 and insisted everything had already been settled. But the court found that the employment contract and work permit showed a total wage of BD1,200.

Court orders Muharraq car dealer off disputed land

TDT | Manama

A car dealer from Muharraq must clear out of two plots he has held without permission for years, the High Commercial Appeals Court has ruled.

The higher court overturned an earlier decision by judges who had thrown out the eviction claim, deciding the case was too involved to treat urgently because the dealer's business address appeared officially listed at the disputed sites.

Yet the appeals judges disagreed. They said the landowner clearly held title deeds and had secured permits to build on the plots.

The dealer attended court but showed no paperwork proving his right to be there, leaving the judges to rule that his continued presence was simply unlawful.

Teen who abused kitten sent to juvenile rehab

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

A shocking video circulating online, showing a teenager hurling a kitten against the walls of a Muharraq apartment block, set off a police response, according to Mahmood Faraj, head of the Bahrain Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Muharraq Police acted straight away after receiving the complaint.

They tracked down a possible suspect, but after speaking to him and his parents, ruled him out.

New footage came in on Wednesday from a neighbour, who had recorded the boy attempting to harm another cat.

He caught the scene on his home security cameras and shared the clip with investigators.

When the neighbour stepped outside to confront the boy, he ran.

Parents

By yesterday morning, police had found him and called him in with his parents.

The teenager, of Asian background, was referred to the Family and Child Prosecution, where he was questioned and shown the videos.

Prosecutors also asked the Child Protection Centre at the Ministry of Social Development to assess his background.

The centre's report concluded he exhibited aggressive outbursts, behavioural issues, and needed guidance and closer oversight.

The Judicial Committee for Childhood later ruled that he be placed in juvenile rehabilitation for seven days.

In a further decision, he was put under judicial probation for three months, with instructions to attend a behavioural training programme.

BD13,597 payout for former partner over unpaid profits

TDI | Manama

A commercial company has been ordered to pay BD13,597 to a former business partner following a civil court ruling over unpaid profits and an unpaid board allowance.

The High Civil Court found that the claimant, once a partner alongside the second and third defendants, had not received his share of company profits from 2019 through 2023.

Financial records, signed off and accepted in court, showed the firm had made money during those years.

Monthly allowance

Lawyer Sarah Fouad Atiq,

acting on behalf of the claimant, told the court that a monthly allowance had also been agreed upon by the board for each partner.

Her client, she argued, had been left out of those payments. Expert financial reports presented during the hearings confirmed the company had turned a profit. The court also noted that money had been moved to another firm, which, in its view, disrupted the proper distribution of earnings.

On that basis, the court ruled that the claimant was owed BD13,597. The company was also ordered to cover court charges, legal fees, and the cost of expert reports.

11th Annual Pitru Bali ceremony successful

Participants in the sacred offering and rituals

TDI | Manama

In a deeply spiritual and emotionally significant gathering, the Mata Amritanandamayi Seva Samiti – Bahrain Chapter successfully organized the 11th consecutive annual Pitru Bali (Vavu Bali) ceremony yesterday, at 4:00 AM at the BMC Auditorium, Bahrain.

This sacred ritual, rooted in ancient Hindu tradition, is performed as an offering to one's ancestors – seeking their blessings, expressing gratitude, and praying for their spiritual liberation.

The early morning ceremony saw a large and heartfelt turnout, with devotees coming together in solemn unity to perform the last rites of their forefathers with deep devotion and reverence.

Grace and sanctity

The rituals were led by the esteemed Moothedath Kesavan Namboothiri, whose presence, precision in Vedic chanting, and spiritual discipline added grace and sanctity to the entire occasion.

Participants performed the sacred 'pindam' offerings and other rites with tearful eyes and open hearts, in an atmosphere of calm, purity, and prayer.

This annual observance, now in its 11th year, has become one of the most spiritually important events in the Bahrain Indian community, offering those far from their homeland a chance to reconnect with tradition, culture, and ancestry.

The event was meticulously coordinated under the leadership of Sudheer Thiruni-lath, Bahrain Coordinator of Mata Amritanandamayi Seva Samiti, with wholehearted support from General Secretary Satheesh Kumar, Patron Krishnakumar, and Executive Committee members Dr. Manoj Kumar, Aneesh Chandran, Santhosh Menon, Manoj UK Vinayan, Santhosh, Shaji, Pushpa, Hari Mohan, Suresh Kottur, who ensured that all arrangements – from ritual materials to participant comfort – were handled with dedication and care.

Sacred space

Speaking after the ceremony, Sudheer Thirunilath said: "For the past 11 years, this ceremony has provided a sacred space for families to honor their ancestors, no matter how far they are from home. It's not just a ritual; it is an emotional bond with our roots, our identity, and our culture. We are grateful for the growing participation and blessings that have kept this tradition alive in Bahrain."

The Mata Amritanandamayi Seva Samiti Bahrain expresses its heartfelt gratitude to all the devotees, volunteers, and well-wishers who contributed to the success of this spiritual gathering.

Court annuls marriage after online lies, child stays with mother

Mohammed Darwish
TDI | Manama

False claims of child abduction and abuse posted online have led the High Civil Court of Appeal to annul a church marriage between an American man and his Malaysian wife.

The couple's three-year-old daughter will remain in her mother's care.

The ruling, overturned a lower court's decision that had dismissed the husband's divorce petition.

The appeal court found the marriage had broken down beyond repair and ordered it dissolved.

It rejected the father's request for custody on the grounds that the child's welfare would be better served by staying with her mother.

Criminal complaint

The husband had filed a criminal complaint after the wife created a social media page accusing him of being wanted by police in connection with child abduction, molestation, domestic violence, drug offences, and prostitution.

The case ended with a BD50 fine issued against her in January by the Public Prosecution for defamation, insult, and misuse of communication tools.

The couple were married in a church ceremony in June 2021.

Civil procedures

Their daughter was born later that year in November. Under Bahrain's civil procedures for non-Muslims, the court applied American family law.

The applicable provision allows divorce where marriage has become unbearable due to sustained conflict or personal differences that rule out any chance of reconciliation.

The husband submitted documents including the marriage certificate, extracts from US law, the birth certificate of the child, and material related to the criminal case.

He also produced a colleague who testified that the husband had shared with him audio recordings and messages indicating marital troubles, though he had not witnessed any physical abuse.

Damage

The court accepted that the public allegations and the criminal complaint had caused lasting damage to the marriage.

It ordered the marriage annulled and directed that a formal divorce certificate be issued.

Taqi Hussain, lawyer

However, it ruled against the husband's custody claim.

The judges found the child's best interests lay with the mother, citing US legal provisions which place the welfare of the child above all else in custody cases.

Defence witnesses stated the mother had continued to care for the child while the father had travelled abroad.

Proof

One of her lawyers, Taqi Hussain, submitted proof of her conversion to Islam and contested the father's version of events.

Both parties were represented by legal counsel throughout.

The court ordered the mother to cover the legal costs for both tiers of litigation, including BD50 in lawyer's fees and BD10 for the execution of the ruling.

The White House pulled out all the stops Wednesday to promote claims that Barack Obama headed a “treasonous conspiracy” against Donald Trump, seeking to redirect public attention from uproar over its handling of the Jeffrey Epstein affair. Trump’s intelligence chief Tulsi Gabbard told a White House press briefing there had been a “years-long coup” by Obama. The extraordinary narrative essentially rehashed Trump’s longstanding argument that investigations into Russia’s multi-layered attempts to disrupt the 2016 election, where he beat Hillary Clinton, were a “hoax” against him.

North Korea’s Kim urges troops to prepare ‘for real war’

North Korean leader Kim Jong Un (C) observing a firing contest among artillery sub-units of large combined units of the Korean People’s Army

AFP | Seoul

North Korean leader Kim Jong Un has urged his military to be ready “for real war” as he observed a firing contest of artillery units, Pyongyang state media said yesterday.

Kim’s remarks follow the North’s deployment of troops and weapons to help Russia during its more than three-year long offensive in Ukraine.

Video footage aired by state-run Korea Central Television yesterday showed soldiers from artillery units firing shells towards the sea.

Kim is seen looking through binoculars at an observation post, flanked by two military officials, but the location for Wednesday’s contest was not disclosed.

He urged the soldiers to be ready “for real war” at “any-time” and be capable of “destroying the enemy in every battle”, the Korean Central News Agency reported in an English dispatch.

South Korean and Western intelligence agencies have reported Pyongyang sent more than 10,000 soldiers to Russia’s Kursk region last year, along with artillery shells, missiles and long-range rocket systems.

Around 600 North Korean soldiers have been killed and thousands more wounded fighting for Russia, Seoul has said.

Kim offered Moscow his full support for its war in Ukraine during recent talks with Russian Foreign Minister Sergei Lavrov, state media reported previously.

The two heavily sanctioned nations signed a military deal last year, including a mutual defence clause, during a rare visit by Russian President Vladimir Putin to Pyongyang.

Prime Minister Keir Starmer praised Britain’s “unique bonds” with India as he and his Indian counterpart Narendra Modi formally signed a recently announced UK-India trade deal during talks yesterday.

Starmer hailed the agreement as a “landmark moment” for both countries as he hosted India’s leader at his Chequers country estate, northwest of London.

“This is not the extent or the limit of our collaboration with India,” added the British premier, whose year-old government is struggling to fire up an economy weakened by years of stagnant growth and high inflation.

“We have unique bonds of history, of family and of culture and we want to strengthen our relationship further, so that it is even more ambitious, modern and focused on the long term,” he said.

Starmer and Modi announced in May they had struck a free trade agreement that the British government says will eventually add £4.8 billion ($6.5 billion) a year to the UK economy.

The UK and India hope the accord will boost trade between the two countries by £25.5 billion, as well as bolstering the British economy and wages.

Modi, standing alongside Starmer during a media appearance, described the deal as a “blueprint for our shared prosperity”.

Britain and India are the sixth and fifth largest global economies respectively, with a trade relationship worth around £41 billion and investment supporting more than 600,000 jobs across both countries.

The accord slashes tariffs on imports of UK goods into India, including whisky, cosmetics and medical devices.

In return, the United Kingdom will cut tariffs on clothes, footwear and food products including frozen prawns from India.

Starmer and Modi were also likely to discuss last month’s Air India disaster in which 241 people died when a London-bound flight crashed after taking off from Ahmedabad in western India.

Some 169 Indian passengers and 52 British nationals were killed in the June 12 crash, one of the deadliest plane disasters in terms of the number of British fatalities.

Starmer and Modi have met twice recently, at the G7 summit in Canada last month and at the G20 meeting in Brazil last year.

Modi was also due to see King Charles III during his brief stay in Britain, his fourth visit since becoming India’s leader in 2014.

Plane crash in Russia’s far east kills nearly 50 people

AFP | Moscow

A passenger plane carrying nearly 50 people crashed in a remote area of Russia’s far eastern Amur region yesterday, killing all on board, authorities said.

The plane, a Soviet-made twin-propeller Antonov-24, went down in remote, thickly forested terrain, leaving a column of smoke pouring from the crash site and no signs of survivors, according to state media and videos published by investigators.

The Angara Airlines flight was headed to the town of Tynda from the city of Blagoveshchensk when it disappeared from radar at around 1:00 pm local time (0400 GMT).

A rescue helicopter later spotted the burning fuselage of the plane on a forested mountain slope about 15 kilometres (nine miles) south of Tynda’s airport.

Videos published by Russian investigators showed smoke rising from the crash site and what appeared to be fragments of the

A search and rescue team arrived only hours after the crash at the remote, hard-to-reach site and found no evidence of survivors, according to the state news agency TASS. Investigators did not say what caused the crash.

Weather conditions at the time of the incident were poor, Angara Airlines CEO Sergei Salamanov told Russia’s REN TV channel.

“The commander made the decision to carry out the flight,” he was quoted as saying.

Tynda, home to around 30,000 people, lies in an area of thick taiga forest about 200 kilometres (125 miles) from the Chinese border.

Gaza truce talks stall again

Israel recalls Gaza negotiators after Hamas responds to ceasefire plan

● Hamas seeks guarantees for permanent truce

● Israel insists on dismantling Hamas capabilities

● Aid distribution disputes continue

AFP | Jerusalem

Israel said yesterday it had recalled its negotiators from Gaza ceasefire talks with Hamas, as international pressure mounted for a breakthrough to end nearly two years of devastating war.

Mediators have been shuttling between Israeli and Hamas delegations in Qatar for more than two weeks, but the indirect talks have so far failed to yield an elusive truce.

International concern is growing over the plight of the more than two million Palestinians in the Gaza Strip, where the fighting has triggered a dire humanitarian crisis and warnings that “mass starvation” was spreading.

The office of Israel’s Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu said that after Hamas had submitted its response to mediators on the latest ceasefire proposal, the Israeli negotiators were being brought back for consultations.

“We appreciate the efforts of mediators Qatar and Egypt and the efforts of (US special) envoy (Steve) Witkoff to bring about a breakthrough,” said a statement from Netanyahu’s office.

Palestinians make their way in the Mawasi area of Rafah after receiving humanitarian aid from an aid distribution point in the southern Gaza Strip

A Palestinian source familiar with the talks told AFP earlier that Hamas’s response included proposed amendments to clauses on the entry of aid, maps of areas from which the Israeli army should withdraw, and guarantees on securing a permanent end to the war.

The White House said on Wednesday that US envoy Witkoff was meeting “key leaders” from the region to discuss the ceasefire proposal.

Witkoff was reportedly on the Italian island of Sardinia yesterday, Israeli media said.

Key demands

Gaza’s civil defence agency said Israeli forces had killed at least 40 people since dawn yesterday, including six waiting for aid.

In Khan Yunis, in the south, Umm al-Abd Nassar urged Hamas to secure a truce after her son was killed in an air strike on a camp for the displaced.

“They need to do something. Enough with this destruction and people dying,” she told AFP.

Israel’s military said Hamas targeted a food distribution site in the south of the territory on Wednesday.

The group, though, claimed they had shelled “an enemy command and control site”.

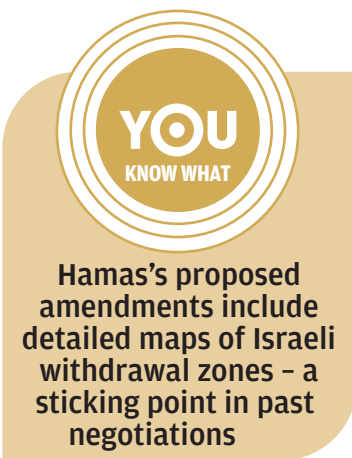

Through 21 months of fighting, both sides have clung to long-held positions, preventing two short-lived truces from being converted into a lasting ceasefire.

The talks in Doha began on July 6 to try to reach an agreement on a truce that would also see the release of Israeli hostages.

Of the 251 hostages taken during Hamas’s October 2023 attack on Israel that triggered the war, 49 are still being held in Gaza, including 27 the Israeli military says are dead.

But the talks have dragged on without a breakthrough, with each side blaming the other for refusing to budge on their key demands.

For Israel, dismantling Hamas’s military and governing capabilities is non-negotiable, while Hamas demands firm guarantees on a lasting truce, a full withdrawal of Israeli troops and the free flow of aid into Gaza.

‘Blockade’

Israel has rejected accusations that it is responsible for Gaza’s deepening hunger crisis, which the World Health Organization has called “man-made” and France blamed on an Israeli “blockade”.

Instead, it accuses Hamas of preventing supplies from being distributed and looting aid for themselves or to sell at inflated prices as well as shooting at people seeking handouts.

International news organisations urged Israel yesterday to allow journalists in and out of Gaza, with concern that a lack of food is putting their lives at risk.

Israel maintains that it is allowing aid into the Palestinian territory but that international relief agencies were failing to pick it up for distribution.

COGAT, the Israeli defence ministry body overseeing civil affairs in the Palestinian territories, said yesterday that around 70 food trucks had been unloaded at aid crossings the previous day.

Thailand, Cambodia clash with jets and rockets in deadly border row

AFP | Phnom Dong Rak

Thailand and Cambodia fought their bloodiest military clashes in more than a decade yesterday, with at least 12 people killed as the two sides battled with tanks, artillery and ground forces over a disputed border zone.

The fighting marks a dramatic escalation in a long-running spat between the two neighbours -- both popular destinations for millions of foreign tourists -- over an area known as the Emerald Triangle, where the borders of both countries and Laos meet.

The decades-old squabble flared into bloody clashes more than 15 years ago and again in May, when a Cambodian soldier was killed in a firefight.

In yesterday’s clashes, Cambodia fired rockets and artillery shells into Thailand and the Thai military scrambled F-16 jets to carry out air strikes.

The Thai public health ministry said one soldier and at least 11 civilians were killed, most of them in a rocket strike near a petrol station in Sisaket province.

Saudi Arabia signs major investment deals to help rebuild Syria

AFP | Damascus

Saudi Arabia yesterday signed major investment and partnership deals with Syria, valued at $6.4 billion, to help rebuild the war-ravaged country’s infrastructure, telecommunications and other major sectors.

Saudi Arabia has been a major backer of the new Syrian government, which seized power after an Islamist-led offensive toppled longtime Syrian ruler Bashar al-Assad in December.

Speaking at the Syrian-Saudi Investment Forum in the Damascus presidential palace, Saudi Investment Minister Khalid Al-Falih announced “the signing of 47 agreements and memoranda of understanding... with a total value of nearly 24 billion Saudi riyals (around $6.4 billion)”.

With interim President Ahmed al-Sharaa and other officials in attendance, Syrian economy minister Mohammed al-Shaar called the forum “a historic milestone in the history of relations between our two brotherly countries”.

Falih said that 11 billion riyals (around $2.9 billion) would be spent on the infrastructure sector and would see the construction of three new cement factories.

Saudi telecommunications companies will invest four billion riyals (around $1.07 billion) “with the aim of developing infrastructure and enhancing cyber-security capabilities”, he added.

Other sectors including agriculture and finance are also expected to benefit from major agreements.

Syria’s 14-year civil war devastated much of the country’s infrastructure and its new leaders are hoping to receive international support for reconstruction efforts, which the UN estimates could cost more than $400 billion.

Tom Cruise ‘has been a mentor for Ana de Armas’

Ana de Armas and Tom Cruise on a boat in Spain

Bang Showbiz | Los Angeles

Tom Cruise has been an “incredible mentor” to Ana de Armas.

The 63-year-old actor and Ana, 37, have a “special work relationship” and the actress has “prepped” all summer for their first project together - a supernatural ocean thriller called Deeper.

A source told People: “Tom is crazy hardworking and she’s very excited to work with him. She calls it an opportunity of a lifetime.”

Tom and Ana have been romantically linked to each other over recent months. However, an insider has insisted that their relationship is “not romantic” and that they are simply friends and work partners.

The source shared: “Tom is an incredible mentor to Ana. She has nothing but amazing things to say about him.”

Tom is still one of Hollywood’s most bankable stars, and he’s never lost his passion for filmmaking.

The actor recently admitted that he’s fulfilling a “life-long dream” by working in the movie business.

He told Extra: “It’s such a privilege to do what I do.

“It’s been a life-long dream of mine to be able to do this and to make movies ... I truly, I love it. That is my, I don’t know, it’s not what I do, it’s who I am.

“It is my honour to entertain.”

Tom is willing to put his body on the line in order to make the best movies possible.

The actor - who has suffered various injuries during his career, including a broken ankle while shooting 2018’s Mission: Impossible - Fallout - explained: “I fly aerobatic airplanes, I fly jets, I fly helicopters, and this took all of our ability and all of our skill to be able find the camera angles to tell this story.”

Tom needed to be in tip-top physical shape to shoot the Mission: Impossible movies, and he felt particularly proud of the action scenes in Mission: Impossible – The Final Reckoning.

Benedict Cumberbatch slams ‘grossly wasteful’ film industry

Bang Showbiz | Los Angeles

Benedict Cumberbatch has branded the film industry “grossly wasteful”.

The Doctor Strange star is convinced Hollywood needs to improve standards when it comes to recycling, energy efficiency and waste - insisting simple measure such as banning single-use plastic bottles would be a big help.

During an appearance on Ruthie’s Table 4 podcast, he explained:

“It just slowly, slowly, you have to meet people where they are on these issues in filmmaking.

“It’s a grossly wasteful industry ... So let me think about set builds that aren’t recycled, think about transport, think about food, think about housing but also light and energy.

“The amount of wattage you need to sort of create daylight and consistent light in a studio environment. It’s a lot of energy.”

However, Cumberbatch admitted actors who try to address green issues in the movie industry often find themselves the subject of criticism.

He explained: “The first people to stick their head above the parapet to talk about anything to do with climate and excessive use of things, or hypocrisy, or systems that don’t work, get slammed if they’re actors, because they’re ferried about.”

Cumberbatch went on to insist he’s trying his best to instigate change in his role as a producer, saying: “It is a systemic thing. But as a producer, I’m really hot on that.

“I try to push the green initiative, the green handshake into every agreement I can ...

“Whether it’s just a gentlemanly discussion about: ‘Can we not have any single-use plastic? Really, I think we’re beyond.

“You don’t have to give the crew plastic bottles. If you’re in the middle of a desert and you can’t get glass bottles there, fair enough, but we’re in the 21st century.”

During the podcast, the actor also talked about his physical transformation to play superhero Doctor Strange in the 2016 movie of the same name revealing he had to work out and eat five meals a day to meet his calorie intake quota, and he found it “horrific”.

Jennifer Lopez is ‘done’ with marriage

Bang Showbiz | Los Angeles

Jennifer Lopez is “done” with marriage after splitting from fourth husband Ben Affleck last year.

The 55-year-old pop star/actress was married to Ojani Noa, Cris Judd and Marc Anthony before tying the knot with Affleck in 2022, but they split in 2024 after less than two years of marriage and Jennifer has now suggested she won’t be walking down the aisle ever again.

Video footage taken during her concert in Bilbao, Spain on Wednesday (16.07.25) and posted on X, showed Jennifer spotting an audience member holding up a sign which read: “J. Lo, marry me?” and she said: “I think I’m done with that. I’ve tried that a few times.”

Jennifer, 55, was engaged to Hollywood actor Affleck in the early 2000s, but the relationship ended shortly before they were due to get married.

They got back together in 2021 before tying the knot in two ceremonies in 2022 - one in Las Vegas and one in Georgia.

The divorce filing came exactly two years after the couple’s extravagant second bash on August 20, 2022. The paperwork listed the official date of their separation as April 26, 2024.

The singer later admitted it had been an “intense year” and she was looking forward to taking time off and spending the holidays with her family.

She told People magazine: “It was a pretty intense year for me and I’m most looking forward to spending time with my kids and my family coming out from the East Coast.

Bang Showbiz | Los Angeles

Selena Gomez has reflected on “the most beautiful year” of her life as she celebrated her 33rd birthday.

The singer/actress marked her big day on Tuesday and she has looked back on a whirlwind 12 months during which she got engaged to music producer Benny Blanco and started planning their wedding - insisting she’s grateful for the “incredible journey” that has brought her to this point and she’s “filled with excitement and hope” for the future.

In a post on Instagram, Selena wrote: “I can’t help but reflect on the incredible journey that has brought me here. This past year has truly been the most beautiful year of my life, and I owe so much of that to all of you.

“Thank you for your unwavering love and kindness. Whether you cheered me on from the sidelines, shared in my highs and lows, or simply offered a listening ear, you have made this year unforgettable. I am extremely humbled and insanely appreciative of all your love.”

She went on to add: “As I step into this new year, I’m filled with excitement and hope for what’s to come. I look forward to sharing more moments with all of you, creating new memories, and continuing this beautiful journey together. MADLY LOVE YOU ALL.”

However, he revealed the couple is hoping to take some time over the summer to start putting together plans for the wedding.

Speaking on Jake Shane’s Therapuss podcast, Benny said: “Honestly, I really want to take a little break. I’ve been working so much. I’ve realised I haven’t really had much time off in a while and I’m about to just, I just want to lay in bed and forget what day it is because we’ve been in bed just watching stuff.”

Eyes on Arab crown

Fresh off a bronze medal in Taiwan, Bahrain's basketball stars return home hungry for the Arab Championship

Bahrain's national team presenting their bronze medals from Taiwan

● Bahrain opens the 26th Arab Basketball Championship against Qatar tonight

● Tournament features 7 teams from July 25 to August 2

Hussain Almaskati
TDT | Manama

This is Bahrain's first time hosting the Arab Basketball Championship since its inception in 1974

Bahrain's national basketball team is back on home soil tonight, carrying momentum and confidence into a tournament they're determined to win.

The nationals will open their campaign in the 26th Arab Basketball Championship with a primetime clash against Qatar at 8 PM inside Isa Town's Khalifa Sports Hall. The matchup headlines the tournament's opening day, which also features Tunisia vs Algeria at 4 PM and Kuwait vs UAE at 6 PM. Egypt will sit out the first round with a scheduled rest.

This year's edition, the first ever to be held in Bahrain, follows a single round-robin format. All seven teams — Bahrain, Qatar, Kuwait, UAE, Egypt, Algeria, and Tunisia — will face one another once. The team with the most points at the end will be crowned champion.

Momentum from Taiwan

Bahrain enters the tournament riding a wave of confidence after their bronze medal at the 44th William Jones Cup in Taiwan. This is a headline feat as it stands as the best-ever finish by an Arab team in the event's long history.

"It wasn't easy, but we showed we belong at that level," said forward Mohammed Hamoda, reflecting on the 6-2 campaign that included wins over teams from Japan, Australia, Chinese Taipei, and the UAE. "For us, that was more than a podium finish. It was preparation and a signal that we're moving in the right direction."

Bahrain's only two defeats came against host Chinese Taipei and reigning champions the Philippines, who ultimately retained their title.

Both games were played without several key starters, yet the team still managed to finish third, with Hamoda crediting the staff and players for pushing through tough conditions. "We gained so much from that experience," he added. "Now, the Arab Championship is here. We've won the Gulf Championship already but this, this is the one we want next. Step by step, we'll be ready."

Proud, But Not Satisfied

Guard Mohammed Bu Ali echoed that sentiment, calling the third-place finish in Taiwan both "historic and unfinished business."

"Our ambition was to take gold there," he said. "But the level of competition was world-class. We didn't have all our stars in the last two games, and that made a difference, but even so, third place was something no Arab team has done before."

Bu Ali sees the William Jones

Cup experience as fuel, saying, "Now we bring that same energy home. We want to honor our country, our fans, and our region. The Arab Championship, to me, means even more than the Gulf title we won. And we're not done yet."

He smiled, adding: "And we know the fans don't need an invitation. They'll be there. They always are."

Focused on the Finish

Ahmed Salman kept his message short but sharp.

"We're ready," he said. "We're playing at home, we know what's expected. The ambition, as always, is to finish with the cup." Bahrain's players sent a clear message that hosting alone won't satisfy them. They are here to win the championship.

Head coach Georgios Vovoras will now look to fine-tune a squad that has both depth and chemistry — two assets that were sharpened during the team's time in Taiwan. Tournament Director Mohammed Ahmed confirmed all logistics are complete and delegations have been arriving throughout the week.

With the court now shifting to Khalifa Sports Hall, Bahrain knows it has more than just home advantage — it has expectations, momentum, and a squad ready to deliver.

Bahrain's Schedule

(fixtures are all set for 8 PM tip-offs)

- Tonight vs Qatar

- July 26 vs UAE

- July 27 vs Tunisia

- July 29 vs Egypt

- August 1 vs Algeria

- August 2 vs Kuwait

All teams will rest on July 28 and July 31, with final standings determined by total points (2 for a win, 1 for a loss)

Barca's Ter Stegen faces three months out after back surgery
AFP | Barcelona

Barcelona goalkeeper Marc-Andre ter Stegen is set to undergo back surgery on a long-term problem and will miss three months as a result, the Germany international said yesterday.

The Spanish champions signed Espanyol goalkeeper Joan Garcia this summer, who is expected to become the team's first choice, with Wojciech Szczesny as backup.

Josserand's men eye 3rd final this year

Bahrain face Saudi, Qatar take on Oman in today's mouthwatering WAVA semi-finals

● Bahrain are yet to drop a set in this tournament

● Two Gulf derbies headline the day

After a much-needed rest day, the WAVA Men's Volleyball Championship roars back to life with both semi-finals set to take place tonight. Bahrain vs Saudi Arabia and Qatar vs Oman offer regional bragging rights and a direct shot at gold.

The four teams arrived here on different currents, but they've all earned their place.

Red Tide in Full Flow

No team has looked more in control than Bahrain. The hosts have marched into the semi-finals without losing a single set – sweeping Jordan, Lebanon, and the UAE in pool play before dismantling Kuwait 3-0 (25-15, 25-22, 25-20) in the quarters. Their serving has been ruthless (a tournament-best 22 serve points heading into knockouts), and their depth shows in every rotation.

Bahrain's players in high spirits after the win

Bahrain's coach and French Olympian Arnaud Josserand has rotated shrewdly, with standout performances across the board – from Mohammed Yaqoob's attacking firepower to the calm control of setter Mahmood Alafyah and the rock-solid defense of Ali Ebrahim. Their recent trophy haul in the AVC Nations Cup (June) and the Arab Championship (November) tells its own story.

Against Saudi Arabia, they face their toughest test yet.

Saudi Arabia: Tested But Alive

The Green Falcons didn't breeze through their quarter-final like Bahrain, but they found a way, and that could matter more. Their 3-0 win over Jordan (26-24, 25-20, 28-26) was a game of thin margins. Mohammed Adel led with 15 points (12 attack, 2 aces, 1 block), but it was far from a cruise.

The stats were close across the board – 79-70 on total points, 20-25 on errors – and their inconsistencies kept the door open for Jordan late in each set. Assistant coach Hussain Marhoon spoke candidly afterward:

"Often when in the players' mentality they underestimate their opponent, they often drop in performance. They put themselves under pressure without intending to do so... if you don't give the opposition the respect they deserve, you will regret it. It's six men vs six men so anything can always happen."

Qatar: Serious from Start to Finish

Qatar's 3-0 quarter-final win over Lebanon (25-17, 25-16, 25-13) was a model of professionalism. They didn't just dominate on the scoreboard, they controlled every rhythm of the game. Abdulrahman Bakry top scored with 12 (10 attack, 1 ace, 1 block), but the balance and tactical discipline stood out even more.

Qatar led Lebanon across every stat: 75-46 total points, 6-2 in aces, 7-3 in blocks, 14-22 in errors. Coach Camilo Andres Soto admitted post-match that his squad treated the game with the gravity it deserved:

"It was not easy, because it's a quarter-final... anything can happen. So the best approach was to enter seriously from the beginning to the end, that's the key. It gives us an opportunity to rest players and also get rhythm."

He also noted how vital the match was for his younger players, including Abdulrahman and Waleed, to step up under pressure:

"They showed personality, and now we have a tough opponent up next in the semi-finals in Oman."

Oman: Quietly Lethal

Oman may have flown slightly under the radar, but they're here on merit. Their quarter-final against the UAE wasn't flashy, but it was complete: a 3-0 sweep (25-19, 25-18, 25-16), led by Mahmood Al Saadi's 24 points (22 attack, 2 blocks).

The numbers tell the tale: 75-53 in total points, 18-25 in errors, 12-7 in blocks, 2-1 in aces. UAE struggled to match Oman's pace or penetrate their block.

O'Connor climbs to Alpine stage 18 as Pogacar extends Tour lead

Australian Ben O'Connor won stage 18 of the Tour de France with a world class climb over three Alpine mountains yesterday as defending champion Tadej Pogacar extended his race lead on Jonas Vingegaard.

Starting with the day with a deficit of 4min 15sec, second-placed Vingegaard attacked a massive 71km out.

Pogacar tracked him and eventually dropped the Dane to gain another 11sec on the Team Visma rider who won the 2022 and 2023 Tour de France.

England make quick start after dismissing India in fourth Test

England's openers made a flying start to their first innings in the fourth Test against India yesterday, reaching 77-0 at tea after dismissing the tourists for 358, with captain Ben Stokes taking five wickets.

Zak Crawley played some trademark stylish drives to reach 33 not out, although he survived a confident lbw appeal on 26 from Mohammed Siraj after offering no stroke to the fast bowler.

Ben Duckett was unbeaten on 43, with the left-hander hit-expensive as England scored rapidly in the first 14 overs of their reply.
