Bahrain tightens noose around Daesh

Slaps sanctions on terrorism group leaders in Yemen

Manama

Bahraini authorities yesterday imposed fresh sanctions against individuals and entities that support terrorism and violence in Yemen.

The latest round of action targets individuals and entities identified as leaders, funders and aiders of Daesh and Al Qaeda in Yemen.

The sanction, according to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, covers their "assets inside Bahrain and a ban on local citizens and residents dealing with them."

The move forms part of the joint efforts of the Global Terrorist Financing Targeting

"This decision reflects the resolve of the TFTC member states to target terrorism financing networks and related activities," said the ministry adding that it is an indication of the keenness of Bahrain and member states to deepen their partnership with the United States of America.

The statement also said that the action was taken in accordance with the UN Security Council resolution 1371/2001.

Jobs @ risk of automation

Ethicist and technology expert Wendell Wallach speaks to DT News on the impact of automation and AI on jobs

zafran@dt.bh

Artificial Intelligence is going to decimate jobs in every sector, a top technology expert has warned, saying, "constantly updating skills is the only way to ensure a steady income."

Jobs in almost every sector will be affected by Artificial Intelligence (AI), and jobs requiring more human to human interactions will be the most resilient, according to ethicist and technology expert Wendell Wallach.

"People whose jobs that are repetitive and mechanical are the most at the risk of being automated," Wallach said while sharing his concerns about the effects of technology on the workforce in the coming years and decades with

DT News.

Almost any job, he said, that does not require a human to human interaction will be affected. "Obviously we have replaced the manufacturing jobs that were repetitive."

When asked about the nature of the most secure job in the industry, he pointed out that "people who have a vast variety of tasks in their job or those have most human to human interaction" will survive.

"People who have high IT skills will also be secure," he told DT News.

According to Wallach, even creative areas may get automated, albeit more gradually.

"We already have programmes that can imitate a style but not necessarily come up with a new style," he said adding: "There are actual programmes that could write like a music artist."

He, however, said such programmes are not capable of producing a new style.

Automation will "see more progress in the coming decades," Wallach said. "This trend has already started to happen but we will see this more in the next 20 to 30 to 40 years. So develop your people skills and study closely about what jobs are going to exist in the future."

Stressing on the need to be involved in lifelong education, Wallach warns not to run behind "jobs that have flourished in the past".

He asks not to get confused in the process. "Just because you are on a career path does not mean you are necessarily developing the skills that you need. People who will do better will be those who will enrich their skills rather than just stay in a speciality."

"If you are in a job which is mechanical then get out of it quickly because it will be automated," he said.

After reaping huge success in its first edition, the Rotary Club of Sulmaniya has launched its 'Green House Project', for kids with special needs, for the second year running at Hawarat A'ali Agricultural Development Centre.

Commenting on the project which started last year, R. Hassan Mansoor, Community Service Director of the Rotary Club of Sulmaniya year 2017-2018 said, "From planting seeds to selling the produce, all the process involved were handled by the kids with special needs."

"This project is not a just charitable project but also vocational one, where we provide the kids with a new learning experience."

"The proceeds will go to these societies," he said.

The Project, launched with the participation of Al Rahma Center for Youth Care and Bahrain Association for Parents and Friends of the Disabled, aims at involving kids with special needs in the entire agricultural process

International Peace Institute launches Water Diplomacy

IPI President Terje Rod-Larsen and Shaban Abdelhamid Osman, CEO of 1958 PMM signing the MoU in the presence of Nejib Frijj, Director IPI MENA

Manama

The International Peace Institute announced launching a 'Water Diplomacy' programme in collaboration with 1958 project management and marketing.

The move aims at identifying preventive diplomacy tools to water-related differences in the MENA region that are sustainable.

A memorandum of understanding (MoU) to this end was signed by Terje Rod-Larsen, President of the International Peace Institute (IPI) and Shaban Abdelhamid

Osman, President & CEO of 1958 Project Management & Marketing S.P.C (1958 PMM) on October 17, 2017.

During the signing ceremony held at IPI's Middle East and North Africa office (IPI MENA) in Bahrain, both parties stressed that water diplomacy is proving instrumental "now more than ever" in order to prevent fast-escalating water-related divides from developing into threats to peace.

IPI and 1958 PMM will seek to identify ways different actors can address water resources and scarcity within and among countries of the region, and find frameworks to allow sustainable peace-based solutions by embedding them in a comprehensive and collaborative strategy that links solving water-related differences to broader cooperation in the region.

IPI and 1958 PMM will jointly identify and rely on regional and international expertise through studies, convening, and outreach, including with multilateral institutions and other relevant organisations.

Airlines get ready for new US security rules

Washington/Taipei

New security measures including stricter passenger screening take effect on Thursday on all U.S.-bound flights to comply with government requirements designed to avoid an in-cabin ban on laptops, airlines said.

Airlines contacted said the new measures could include short security interviews with passengers at check-in or the boarding gate, sparking concerns over flight delays and extended processing time.

They will affect 325,000 airline passengers on about 2,000 commercial flights arriving daily in the United States, on 180 airlines from 280 airports in 105 countries.

The United States announced the new rules in June to end its restrictions on carry-on electronic devices on planes coming from 10 airports in eight countries in the Middle East and North Africa in response to unspecified security threats.

Alexandre de Juniac, CEO of the International Air Transport Association, said the industry understood security threats to aviation were made regularly.

"What we have seen is very strange," he told reporters in Taipei. "Unilateral measures announced without any prior consultation... That is something that is very concerning and disturbing." (AP)

Tillerson in India to highlight US strategy

Indian Foreign Minister Sushma Swaraj, right, accompanies U.S. Secretary of State Rex Tillerson to the foreign ministry office

New Delhi

Combating terrorism and India's role in war-torn Afghanistan dominated talks between U.S. Secretary of State Rex Tillerson and his Indian counterpart Wednesday as Tillerson highlighted the Trump administration's new strategy for South Asia.

Indian Foreign Minister Sushma Swaraj said that India had agreed to hold talks on Afghanistan with Washington and Kabul.

Tillerson, who arrived in New Delhi after stops in Kabul and Islamabad, said he conveyed to Pakistan's leaders "certain expectations" that the Trump administration had about controlling terror groups that operate from its soil. He added that too many terror groups had found a safe place in Pakistan to launch attacks against others.

Tillerson held talks Tuesday with Pakistani Prime Minister Shahid Khaqan Abbasi, Foreign Minister Khwaja Mohammad Asif and the heads of the army and intelligence services.

Swaraj was also questioned about India's relationship with North Korea, where India has an embassy and with which it does a small amount of trade. The United States is working to isolate North Korea over its nuclear weapons programme.

Swaraj said she discussed the matter with Tillerson and assured him that India's trade with North Korea had dwindled so much that it was "minuscule."

“Shareholder activism is a trend that is here to stay and no region is completely immune to it,” Dr. Nabil El-Hage, a corporate governance expert and former professor at Harvard Business School, informed the participants of the 7th Corporate Governance (CG) workshop organised by the Waqf Fund.

24 chairpersons, CEOs and board members of Waqf Fund member institutions attended the session.

Dr. El-Hage presented five cases including a hostile takeover attempt, attacks on large and well-known companies and the issue of fiduciary duty owed to clients by underwriters. These included diverse industry segments such as railroad, technology, fast moving consumer goods (FMCG) sector, real estate investment trusts (REITs) and an online toy selling company.

The Waqf Fund, which hosted the workshop, has been serving the Islamic finance industry in Bahrain since 2006. It offers several programmes targeted to Islamic finance practitioners, Shari'ah resources and other stakeholders. The Waqf Fund has 22 member institutions including the Central Bank of Bahrain.

Actress Gal Gadot, who has carved out a niche for herself in Hollywood since the release of "Wonder Woman", says she earlier thought about ending her acting career and going back to her home country, Israel.

"Before I got 'Wonder Woman', I was thinking about never coming back to Los Angeles, (I thought I'd) stay in Israel, work as an actress here and there, go back to university and do something else," Gadot told Glamour magazine, reports dailymail.co.uk.

Describing the nitty-gritty of the acting business, she added: "Because there had been so many no. You go to the audition and you have a callback, then another callback and then a camera set-up, and people are telling you your life will change if you get this part. And then you don't get it. # I love the theme of unity in ‘Geostorm’

Los Angeles
Actor Gerard Butler says he loves the “theme of unity” in his forthcoming film “Geostorm”.
 “I’ve often portrayed characters in action movies who possess a warrior spirit and who are very physical. With ‘Geostorm’, it was fun to play a cerebral character - a scientist, and bring a little geekiness to him. Jake (his character Jake Lawson) is also a little bit awkward, not so great with other people, single-minded, stubborn, and a little arrogant,” Butler said in a statement.
 “Part of Jake’s story is how he learns to deal with the other scientists on the space station, and, especially, connect with his brother. Jake must learn to get over himself and, with his brother, fight to save the planet from these geostorms,” he added. (IANS)

‘Captain Fantastic’ actor Charlie Shotwell bags ‘Eli’

‘Captain Fantastic’ actor Charlie Shotwell has been roped in to play the title role in the physiological horror drama ‘Eli’. The Ciaran Foy-directed movie narrates the story of a secluded clinic where a boy (Shotwell) with a rare disease is being treated.
 As the story moves forward, one finds that the clinic has turned into a haunted prison - with no way out. The film’s script has been lifted from the 2015 Black List, penned by David Chirchirillo and revised by Ian Goldberg and Richard Naing.
 Last week, it was announced ‘Eli’ is slated for a January 4, 2019 release. (TOI)

Damon speaks on allegations against Weinstein

The string of actresses accusing Harvey Weinstein of sexual abuse has made Matt Damon wonder what he could have done to stop the movie mogul in the past.
 While speaking on a show, Damon shared that he has been racking his brain wondering if he could have stopped Weinstein from doing such disgraced conduct. The 47-year-old actor noted, “I’ve been reading these stories because I am racking my brain. Did I see something? Could I have known something? Is there something I could’ve done?”
 Adding, “I don’t know what I would’ve done.” Damon’s history with the shamed Hollywood producer goes back decades, as it was Weinstein who put the actor’s 1997 drama ‘Good Will Hunting’ into motion. (TOI)

Bulked up, ripped and in no mood to crack wise, Vince Vaughn has undergone one of those actorly transformations that often signals a quest for gold statues. But he's after something much more endearing: He wants to become the new Charles Bronson. 'Brawl in Cell Block 99' is the kind of vicious, no-nonsense prison drama that dads dream about when the TV is finally theirs to command. Deliberately paced and styled (every bone crunch is lovingly amplified), the movie builds to a brisk boil: stoic Bradley (Vaughn), who often lets his shaved, tattooed dome do the talking, is a recently laid-off mechanic. Returning to the criminal world where he made his name, he's involved in a drug deal gone bad. Bradley nods goodbye to his heavily pregnant wife and settles into a medium-security facility staffed by benign guards for a seven-year stint.

Indie writer-director S. Craig Zahler has no interest in your typical shiv fights for dominance; he sends his plot on a near-surreal trajectory when Bradley learns that his wife has been kidnapped by a drug lord who requires him to up his bad behaviour so he will be transferred to a scarier prison to take out a squealer. 'Brawl' then becomes a nightmare in scenes of skull-splattering violence that are truly sickening (and wonderful). Don't look for a deeper meaning. Just soak up the grindhouse. (timeout)

Your star today

(Mar 21st - Apr 20th)

A long-awaited romantic encounter may be cancelled or prove less rewarding than you'd hoped. Doubts about the future of this relationship could come up. This isn't the day to make any final decisions about serious matters like this. Wait a few days until you feel a little more confident and then make up your mind.

(Apr 21st - May 21st)

A visitor to your home might bring unreliable information. Don't take at face value whatever this person says. As far as romance is concerned, your passions are high and your need for intimacy about the same. It's unlikely that you'll have any truly romantic encounters today, at least satisfying ones.

(May 22nd - Jun 21st)

A passionate letter or phone call could come from a close friend or romantic partner. The person may be confused and rather emotionally tormented. Be kind! If you've been thinking about doing some writing, this is the day. Your imagination is flying high. Let the words flow and don't get too caught up with grammar.

(June 22nd - July 23rd)

You could have an artistic talent that you haven't yet tapped. Today events might occur that cause you to want to try. This is a good time, as your inspiration is high. Don't judge yourself too harshly if your efforts don't quite fit your expectations. Cut yourself some slack. More experience is needed before you can really fit your vision to your skill.

(July 24th - Aug 23rd)

Family members may want to make changes in your home, such as remodelling, redecorating, or refurbishing, but there could be disagreements about the changes needed. Everyone will have a different idea. This isn't a good day to make such plans. It's unlikely that any agreement will be reached now. Put off the planning until another time.

(Aug 24th - Sep 23rd)

Miscommunication with a romantic partner could have you either writing or reading love poetry or a story of some kind. It's more important that you clear up the misunderstanding with the special person in your life. Cheer up. Don't let your insecurity get the better of you. All isn't as bad as it seems. The end of the day could bring a passionate reconciliation.

(Sep 24th - Oct 23rd)

A close friend or group with which you're associated could have money troubles. You might be asked to help, but be careful. It's doubtful that the person or organization will be able to pay you back. A goal that you've been working toward could get stalled, but this isn't the day to try to jump-start it. You may lack information. Take a day off and then fix it.

(Oct 24th - Nov 22nd)

You like people but sometimes you can be very critical. Today you may have a hard time integrating yourself into a group. The group dynamic may not appeal to you. All you want to do is break away. Try to overcome that feeling and observe your resistance. Try to find your place in the group and play along without faking it.

(Nov 23rd - Dec 21st)

Confusion about metaphysical or spiritual matters could have you seeking clarity through research. Talking with friends could prove beneficial, but it's important to remember that they could be as perplexed as you. Interesting discussions and technology will make a difference. A friend may prove untrustworthy, so be careful about the people you share confidences with now.

(Dec 22nd- Jan 20th)

A new sort of bond may form with someone you consider a friend. Perhaps you discover a mutual interest or suddenly see your friend in a new light. This can be beautiful, but before you make any commitment, make an effort to get to know the person a little better. Your image of him or her might be clouded by idealism. You might not see the person objectively.

(Jan 21st - Feb 19th)

Something important to you is changing. You're beginning to doubt whether there's a future in it or not. It may be a career or a romantic relationship. Confusion may dominate your thoughts today. You aren't comfortable with an uncertain future. You need to give this a lot of thought before deciding. Hang in there.

(Feb 20th - Mar 20th)

Vague physical discomfort could have you feeling out of sorts. Most likely you aren't really ill. You're tired and stressed, but you can make it through the day. Disillusionment with someone you've admired could also be on your mind. You could be seeking someone else for a role model. You'll feel better tomorrow!

Texas father changes story

Washington

The US father of an adopted toddler found dead after being reported missing has changed his story to say he watched his daughter die after choking on milk.

Wesley Mathews initially told officers his daughter Sherin had disappeared after he made her stand outside their home in Dallas, Texas, at 3am as a punishment.

The three-year-old's body was found on Sunday in a tunnel about half a mile from her home, in the Suburb of Richardson, following a massive police search operation. Her cause of death is yet to be released.

Mathews was initially charged with endangering a child's life shortly after he reported her missing on October 7.

However on Monday Mathews voluntarily attended the Richardson Police Station with his lawyer and changed his statement, according to a police warrant.

The 37-year-old said he had been trying to get Sherin to drink milk in their garage in the early hours of the morning, and that she had initially refused before then starting to drink with Mathews physically assisting her.

The warrant said: "The three-year-old began to choke. She was coughing and her breathing slowed. Eventually, Wesley Mathews felt no pulse on the child and believed she had died."

"Wesley Mathews then admitted to removing the body from the home."

Mathews charge has now been changed to causing felony injury to a child, which carries a maximum of life in prison.

Sherin was adopted from an Indian orphanage by Mathews and his wife last year. The couple said as she was severely malnourished when they took the toddler in they put her on a special diet to help her gain weight, which involved feeding her during the night.

After she was reported missing, Mathews initially told police that he had made Sherin stand by a tree in an alleyway outside their home at 3am as a punishment for refusing to drink her milk.

He said he discovered she had disappeared when he went to check on her 15 minutes later but did not report her missing until after sunrise. The father also told officers he knew that coyotes had been seen in the alley where Sherin was left. (The Telegraph)

Einstein happiness note sold for $1.6m

Jerusalem

While the importance of Albert Einstein's theory of happiness may be relative, it fetched US$1.3 million at a Jerusalem auction on Tuesday.

The Nobel-winning scientist's musings, on a handwritten note, may not be as famous as his groundbreaking theory of relativity, but they still shed light on one of the great modern minds.

Winner's Auctions and Exhibitions said Einstein was travelling in Japan in 1922 when he was told he would

The note on happiness written by Albert Einstein, in 1922 be awarded the Nobel Prize in physics. In Tokyo, Einstein scribbled the note in German to a bellboy after he did not have cash to give him a tip.

"A calm and modest life brings more happiness than the pursuit of success combined with constant restlessness," it reads.

Gal Wiener, CEO of the auction house, said Einstein told the bellboy that because of his fame, the handwritten note "will probably be worth more than a regular tip."

Wiener said bidding began at US$2,000 and quickly escalated, with the bidding war lasting around 25 minutes. (AP)

Ex-US President George HW Bush groped actress

Washington

Former US President George HW Bush has issued an apology to an actress who accused him of groping her from his wheelchair while attending a screening, according to reports.

Heather Lind, 34, said the incident occurred four years ago at an event to promote the TV series "Turn: Washington's Spies," according to Daily Mail, which saved a screenshot of a lengthy Instagram post she wrote and later deleted.

It is the latest in an outpouring of sexual harassment allegations against powerful male figures in entertainment, fashion and finance that followed the downfall of movie mogul Harvey Weinstein, who stands accused of assaulting and raping actresses.

Lind added she decided to share her story after seeing Bush Sr, 93, appear onstage at a benefit concert to raise money for victims of the hurricane-ravaged southern United States and Caribbean. (AFP)

Honolulu bans texting while crossing the road

Washington

Honolulu in Hawaii has become the first city in the world to ban people from looking at their phones or other digital devices while crossing roads.

The law, passed in July in an attempt to reduce injuries and deaths that occur while people are distracted, came into force yesterday.

First offenders will face fines of up to $15-$35 (£11-£26) while repeat offenders face fines of up to $99.

Urgent calls to the emergency services are exempt from the ban.

The Distracted Walking Law states that "no pedestrian shall cross a street or highway while viewing a mobile electronic device".

The National Safety Council in the US added "distracted walking" to a list of injury risks in 2015, the same year a study in the Journal of Safety Studies found that hundreds of American pedestrians a year were injured while engrossed in their phones. (BBC)

Google Earth discovers ancient stone gates in Saudi Arabia

Riyadh

Scientists have discovered about 400 previously undocumented stone structures known as 'Gates' in Saudi Arabia with the help of Google Earth imagery.

While Saudi Arabia is largely thought of as barren mountains and desert, it was also home to an immense number of archaeological sites that were yet to be identified, recorded and mapped, said David Kennedy, researcher at University of Western Australia.

"You can not see them in any intelligible way at the ground level but once you get up a few hundred feet, or with a satellite even higher, they stand out beautifully," Kennedy said.

The structures look like flat field gates from top in the images obtained from Google Earth.

An aerial view of mysterious "gates" in Saudi Arabia.

"I refer to them as Gates because when you view them from above they look like a simple field gate lying flat, two upright posts on the sides, connected by one or more long bars," he said.

They do not look like structures where people would have lived nor do they look like animal traps or for disposing of dead bodies. It is a mystery as to what their purpose would have been, researchers said.

Since 1997, Kennedy has flown in helicopters over

Saudi Arabia's neighbour Jordan, photographing tens of thousands of stone-built structures scattered over its lava field or 'harrat'.

Shapes range from giant circles of stone that may be 400 metres across to kites that may have been used as animal traps, pendants used as funerary monuments, and many more.

Not much is known about the people who built the edifices, but they are thought to have constructed them

2,000 to 9,000 years ago, researchers said.

They are believed to be the ancestors of the modern-day Beduin in the region who describe them collectively as 'The Works of Old Men', they added. (PTI)

India beat NZ, level series 1-1

Pune, India

India produced a clinical performance under pressure to beat New Zealand by six wickets in a must-win game and level three-match series 1-1 yesterday.

Paceman Bhuvneshwar Kumar (3/45) led an inspired Indian bowling effort to restrict New Zealand to a modest 230 for nine. Later, Shikhar Dhawan (68 off 84 balls) and Dinesh Karthik (64 not out off 92) struck timely half-centuries, enabling the hosts to complete the chase in 46 overs.

The series decider will be played in Kanpur on October 29.

There was a slight doubt whether the second ODI here will go ahead as planned after pitch curator Pandurang Salgaonkar was suspended for allegedly agreeing to tampering with the pitch in a TV sting operation.

However, the game began on time after ICC match referee Chris Broad inspected the pitch.

India, who had to bounce back following their shock loss in the series opener, proved their mettle with an all-round effort.

The chase was comfortable for India despite losing Rohit

Dhawan plays a shot

Sharma cheaply for the second time in the series.

Dhawan was back to his best and played shots all around the ground en route to his 22 ODI fifty. His sublime innings comprised five fours and couple of sixes including the one he hit over midwicket.

The southpaw shared a 57-run stand with Virat Kohli (29) before adding 66 runs with Karthik, who too played a valuable knock.

Karthik, playing at number four after coming in at five in the previous game, grabbed the opportunity with a ninth ODI fifty.

After Dhawan's departure, Karthik and Hardik Pandya (30) forged a 59-run stand to secure the game for their team.

Earlier, Kumar produced a fine swing bowling display while his pace colleague Jasprit Bumrah (2/38) and young leg-spinner Yuzvendra Chahal (2/36) picked up two wickets apiece as Indian bowlers came out determined after being asked to bowl.

Left-arm spinner Axar Patel (1/54) too justified the team management's decision to play him in place of Kuldeep Yadav, by removing the well settled Tom Latham (38).

The Indian bowlers had New Zealand under their mercy from the onset, picking up wickets at regular intervals to reduce the visitors to 58 for four inside 16 overs.

The hosts did not allow the New Zealand batsmen to settle down at the Maharashtra Cricket Association stadium. (PTI)

Hamilton set to finish the job in Mexico

Mexico

Lewis Hamilton is a racing certainty to become Britain's first four times Formula One world champion and any lingering smidgen of a doubt should be swept away at a coronation in Mexico City on Sunday.

The Mercedes driver, 1/500 odds on title favourite with British bookmakers who know a safe bet when they see one, has a 66 point advantage over Ferrari's Sebastian Vettel with three races remaining worth a grand total of 75.

Hamilton is also well clear in terms of the number of wins, the first decider in case of a points tie, with nine to Vettel's four.

Put simply, Vettel has to score 17 points more than Hamilton at the Autodromo Hermanos Rodriguez to keep his championship hopes on life support as far as the next race in Brazil.

Regardless of where the German ends up, Hamilton need only finish fifth to get the party started.

And if the Ferrari driver retires during the race, Hamilton will be world champion before he has even seen the chequered flag.

The high-altitude circuit could well favour Ferrari more than Mercedes, but Hamilton won from pole position last year and arrives this time with a haul of five victories from the last six races. The pressure, what little there is remaining, is all on Vettel. It will take the biggest comeback the sport has ever seen to deny Hamilton now, even if Mercedes continue to urge caution.

"I can imagine every scenario," team boss Toto Wolff told reporters in Texas on Sunday night when asked if he could envisage Hamilton not winning. (Reuters)

Woodburn signs long-term deal with Liverpool

London

Liverpool's youngest goalscorer Ben Woodburn has signed a new long-term deal with the Premier League club.

At 17 years and 45 days, Woodburn surpassed Michael Owen's record when he netted in the EFL Cup quarter-final victory over Leeds last season.

The 18-year-old Wales international has played 10 games for the club, scoring once.

"This is the club I want to stay at and be here as long as possible," said Woodburn.

"When I was told, all I wanted to do was sign the contract. It feels good. Now I just want to carry on and hopefully show the manager what I can do.

"I think there is loads of room for improvement. I've just got to keep working and trying in training every day and hopefully I will improve."

The Reds did not specify when Woodburn's new deal will expire. He scored on his senior Wales debut against Austria in September. (BBC)

WTA Finals Singapore

Garcia triumphs over Svitolina

Singapore

Caroline Garcia extended her stay in Singapore after battling past Elina Svitolina in three sets to stay alive in the Red Group at the BNP Paribas WTA Finals Singapore presented by SC Global.

In a rematch of their China Open epic from a few weeks ago - which saw Garcia save match point to beat Svitolina en route to the biggest title of her career - the Frenchwoman pulled off the stunner once again, winning 6-7(7), 6-3, 7-5 after a two hour and 45 minute battle.

"This was an incredible battle, the last match I had against Svitolina was already very long, and this one was the same," Garcia told Andrew Krasny in her on-court interview. "It was a battle on every single point, and I'm just happy to be through."

her aggressive, all-court game early on and did well to get ahead an early break in the first set, but the Frenchwoman couldn't close out Svitolina when she had the chance. Svitolina worked her way back in it and pounced as Garcia began to rack up the unforced errors, recovering the break to level the score. The same pattern emerged in the tiebreak, where Garcia quickly got ahead 4-0 but allowed Svitolina back in it. The Ukrainian fought off two set points to steal away the opening set.

Svitolina got ahead to a quick break in the second set, but Garcia came roaring back after an emotional changeover trailing 2-1. She stepped into her shots and raised her level again, reeling off four games in a row to earn a double break and marching ahead to take the second set.

The tug-of-war match continued in the deciding set; Svitolina got ahead a break twice, and both times Garcia broke straight back to stay in touching distance.

Garcia's second break back came while trailing 5-3 with Svitolina closing in on the finish line, but the Frenchwoman stayed calm and kept pounding away at Svitolina's defences. She rattled off four games in a row to claim the victory after a rollercoaster two hour and 45 minute battle. (wtatennis)

Wozniacki storms past Simona Halep

Singapore

Caroline Wozniacki continued her sizzling form at the BNP Paribas WTA Finals Singapore presented by SC Global yesterday, rolling past Simona Halep in Red Group action, 6-0, 6-2.

The former World No.1 and 2010 W T A Finals runner-up has dropped just four games in two matches so far in Singapore, and now sits atop the Red Group with one match against Caroline Garcia remaining in round-robin play.

With the victory, Wozniacki has recorded three wins against World No.1 players in 2017 - having defeated Garbiñe Muguruza en route to winning the Toray Pan Pacific Open in Tokyo, and Karolina Pliskova at the Rogers Cup in Toronto.

"I don't think it's ever easy when you play a World No.1," Wozniacki said after the match. "I thought I played really well out there. I felt comfortable and played aggressive when I needed to and ran the balls down when I needed to. I was happy with that."

Playing for the second time in 2017, Wozniacki did not have to fight back from a deficit at the Singapore Indoor Stadium - which she did in a 5-7, 6-4, 6-1 quarterfinal victory at the Aegon International in Eastbourne.

In 14 games, Halep totalled 17 unforced errors, unable to find her range against the top-notch defence which was on display from the other end.

Wozniacki broke Halep five times in eight opportunities, hitting three aces and nine winners, and saved the lone break point she faced - which would've gotten Halep back on serve in the fifth game of the second set. (wtatennis)

I was racially abused at Arsenal-Norwich match

London

Boxer Anthony Ogogo says he was racially abused by a fan after watching Norwich City in their Carabao Cup tie against Arsenal at Emirates Stadium.

The Canaries supporter, 28, believes he was targeted by a fellow Norwich fan who thought he was backing Arsenal in their 2-1 win on Tuesday.

Ogogo, from Lowestoft, said: "I was shocked. There's no place for that in football or anywhere for that matter."

"In this day and age it's disgusting. He said 'Go back to your own country'."

Middleweight Ogogo, who won bronze as an amateur at the 2012 London Olympics, played for Norwich City's youth team as a schoolboy before switching to boxing.

The London-based boxer watched Tuesday's game

"I went to the front of the stand and was clapping and singing in time with the Norwich fans below me. Then my friend said it looked as if an older guy with the Norwich supporters was trying to get my attention as if he knew me."

"I bent down to listen and quickly realised he didn't know me. He probably thought I was an Arsenal fan and he was shouting and swearing at me, saying pretty nasty stuff. I was flabbergasted. "The player who scored our goal Josh Murphy is mixed-race and some of our great players have been black. This man must have cheered them on in his time. (BBC)

This is my last season: Buffon

London

Italy and Juventus goalkeeper Gianluigi Buffon will retire at the end of the season unless his club win the Champions League.

The 39-year-old hopes to play in next summer's World Cup and would extend his career for the Club World Cup if Juventus won Europe's elite trophy.

The Serie A side have been beaten in the Champions League final twice in the past three years.

"This is my last season and I'm pretty sure of the choices I make," he said.

"One or two more years wouldn't add or take away from what I've already achieved."

"The only way would be to win the Champions League. At that point, to try to win the Club World Cup, maybe (Wojciech) Szczesny could play one game and me another."

"But I think with a goalkeeper like him behind it is normal that next year I'll stand aside," he told Sky Italia.

Buffon, who began his career at Parma before joining

Bravo heroics help Man City beat Wolves

Sergio Agüero (R) celebrates with Claudio Bravo after the Manchester City goalkeeper saved two penalties in the shootout (Picture courtesy: theguardian)

Manchester

Claudio Bravo was the hero as stuttering Manchester City needed penalties to see off hard-working Wolves and make the Carabao Cup quarterfinals.

Pep Guardiola's Premier League leaders hosted Nuno Espirito Santo's Championship table-toppers in a match that promised much but failed to deliver goals over 120 minutes.

Often-maligned Bravo saved City's blushes on several occasions during the match and proved the spot-kick hero, denying Alfred N'Diaye and Conor Coady as the hosts won the penalty shootout 4-1 after the game ended 0-0.

Displaced between the sticks by summer signing Ederson Moraes, this was just the Chilean's third appearance of the season and came as both sides made nine changes apiece.

Bravo produced several fine stops to deny Wolves when they ventured forwards, while Sergio Aguero tried and failed to become City's all-time top scorer.

The Argentina international did manage to find the net and secure progress with a cheeky Panenka at the end of a shootout, but it was the saves of N'Diaye and Coady's efforts that were key.

Few could have foreseen the match going so long given the way Aguero started it.

Wolves goalkeeper Will Norris denied him early on, then saw the City striker badly drag wide and volley over.

The tempo soon slowed as Wolves sat deep in a bid to stay resolute and spring counter-attacks.

Raheem Sterling prodded wide as set pieces offered the visitors another route to goal, with Ryan Bennett's header from a free-kick forcing Bravo into action.

Aguero was proving a nuisance at the other end and Yaya Toure wasted a free kick, only for Wolves to threaten a shock first-half opener.

Bright Enobakhare all too easily shrugged off Eliaquim Mangala and went straight for the City goal, only to be denied one-on-one by Bravo.

Rain fell as Aguero flashed across the face of goal at the start of the second half as the hosts continued to be frustrated. City's intricate build-up was not creating clear-cut chances - something that should have been punished when Helder Costa was slipped through, only for Bravo to stand his ground and pat away.

Norris atoned for a hashed clearance straight at Aguero and Enobakhare wasted another glorious chance, getting away with a barge on Mangala only to dawdle in front of goal.

City dominated the remainder of regulation time as Sterling directed wide, while Aguero had penalty appeals rejected and Danny Batth denied Ilkay Gundogan at the end of a marauding run.

City's pressure left gaps that Enobakhare threatened to expose at the death. (espn.in)

U-17 FIFA World Cup

England outclass Brazil to enter final

Kolkata, India

Talismanic striker Rhian Brewster fired his second hat-trick on the trot as England marched to their maiden Under-17 FIFA World Cup final with a clinical 3-1 win over Brazil at the Vivekananda Yuva Bharati Krirangan yesterday.

The Englishmen would now take on the victors of the other semi final between Spain and Mali in Saturday's summit clash at the same venue.

Brewster struck a brace in the first half (10th and 39th minutes) before finding the net again in the 77th minute in the thrilling and fast semi-final, that saw an attendance of nearly 64,000 spectators. The Liverpool player had also scored a hat-trick in England's 4-1 win over the United States in the quarter-final, and now leads the scorers' list with seven goals.

Three-time champions Brazil's only goal came from Wesley (21st) and they would now take on the losing semi-finalists in a clash for the third place hours before the final.

The game, which was moved from Guwahati to Kolkata due to soggy ground conditions at the Indira Gandhi Athletic stadium following heavy rain, rose to dizzying heights, with both teams playing picture-perfect passes and displaying great ball control.

The constant attacks and counter-attacks saw the ball travelling fast at both ends, with the bulk of the spectators rooting for Brazil.

But England's superb midfield organisation and lethal attack force outclassed Brazil. The hardworking Philip Foden was the pivot in the English moves with his nippy runs and sublime distribution creating constant havoc in the Brazilian defensive third.

England went into the lead as early as the 10th minute somewhat against the run of play. Morgan Gibbs White won the ball from Brazilian right-back Wesley and fed Callum Hudson-Odoi, who in turn set up Brewster. The latter scored on the rebound after his first attempt was blocked by rival custodian Brazao. (IANS)

Ruiz sends Spain to finals

Mumbai, India

A 3-1 win over Mali lined up a re-run of the UEFA European U-17 Championship climax, as Spain triumphed to book a date with England in the FIFA U-17 World Cup final.

Two goals from Abel Ruiz, and another courtesy of Ferran Torres, in Navi Mumbai yesterday were enough to prevent the African champions from reaching back-to-back finals.

Spain started brightly but were kept honest by a counter-attacking Mali, who saw Lassana N'Diaye clip the outside of the post inside the first ten minutes. However, the European champions were given an opening they did not spurn, as captain Ruiz converted from the penalty spot after Cesar Gelabert was felled.

Mali were not cowed, pressing Spain and playing on the front foot, though this ultimately brought about La Rojita's second. Gelabert again was the instigator, feeding Ruiz with a superb pass to see the No9 slot round the Mali goalkeeper from 20 yards out.

Mali were far from beaten, though, playing with energy and positivity. They came desperately close to halving the deficit when Check Oumar Doucoure rattled the crossbar, but a slick move at the other end saw Ruiz and Sergio Gomez combine before Ferran finished off the move.

Hope glimmered for Mali when N'Diaye slotted home smartly with 15 minutes to go, but Spain held firm to reach the tournament finale. (fifa)

United see off Swansea City

Plasmari, Swansea

Manchester United bounced back from their Huddersfield horror show with a comfortable Carabao Cup victory at Swansea.

Jesse Lingard's first United brace secured a routine 2-0 win as the competition holders made safe progress into the quarterfinals.

It was just what United needed after the shock of their first Premier League defeat of the season at Huddersfield on Saturday.

But Swansea, just as they had been in losing 4-0 to United at the Liberty Stadium in August, were accommodating hosts and provided little contradiction to the belief that a long season lies ahead of them.

United boss Jose Mourinho said after victory over Burton in the previous round that they would be better off without this competition on their itinerary, suggesting they would be fresher for Europe.

Mourinho made seven changes for this tie, with only Lingard, Chris Smalling, Ander Herrera and Anthony Martial remaining from the side shocked on Saturday.

Victor Lindelof had come off the bench there and was culpable for both Huddersfield goals, but the £31 million summer signing was given a vote of confidence as he took his place alongside Smalling and teenager Axel Tuanzebe in a three-man defence.

But Lindelof looked bereft of confidence and was embarrassed on more than one occasion by Oli McBurnie, a 21-year-old stand-in who would have been on loan at Barnsley this season but for an administrative error on transfer deadline day.

United started on the front foot with Smalling heading wide from Marcus Rashford's corner and Lingard forcing Swansea goalkeeper Kristoffer Nordfeldt to tip over his 25-yard effort.

Lingard enjoyed better fortune after 21 minutes when Angel Rangel lost possession on the halfway line and Herrera fizzed a ball forward.

Rashford's delicious touch laid the ball into the path of Lingard and he slotted the ball low past Nordfeldt with a minimum of fuss.

Swansea had threatened little until that point, but some shaky United defending soon offered them encouragement.

Wayne Routledge failed to get his shot away after Lindelof hesitated and Daley Blind was almost left red-faced when his clearing header struck McBurnie and fell a yard wide of the post.

Swansea's frustrations grew when Martin Olsson, the only recognised left-back at the club, limped off with a suspected hamstring pull.

But they were spared falling further behind when Scott McTominay lifted his shot over from the edge of the box.

United doubled their lead after 59 minutes from a move as fluent as the one which had produced the first goal.

Tuanzebe strode out of defence purposefully and spread a pass to Matteo Darmian on the right flank.

Darmian's cross found Lingard between two Swansea defenders and his powerful header from just inside the box gave Nordfeldt no chance.

United should have had a third when Nordfeldt could only palm down McTominay's header and Tuanzebe blazed over from close range. (espn.in)
