Turkey says it is "meaningless" to restore NATO dialogue with Sweden, Finland

Mevlut Cavusoglu
 Reuters | Ankara

Turkish Foreign Minister Mevlut Cavusoglu said yesterday it was "meaningless" to hold a trilateral meeting with Sweden and Finland to discuss their NATO bids after protests this month in Stockholm.

Speaking at a news conference, Cavusoglu also said there is no offer to evaluate Sweden's and Finland's NATO membership separately. Swedish Prime Minister Ulf Kristersson has said his country wanted to restore NATO dialogue with Turkey after Ankara indefinitely postponed trilateral talks with Sweden and Finland over their membership.

TDT | Manama

HRH Prince Salman bin Hamad Al Khalifa, the Crown Prince and Prime Minister, inaugurated the King Hamad American Mission Hospital in A'ali yesterday, hailing the new $66 million facility as an "extension of the long-standing Bahrain-US partnership."

The opening, HRH said, also highlights the 120-year-long legacy of the American Mission Hospital, one of the first hospitals in the region, that opened in the Kingdom on the 26th of January 1903.

AMH is now serving the Kingdom from five locations, which include satellite clinics in Saar, Amwaj and Riffa.

HRH inaugurated the state-of-the-art health facility on behalf of His Majesty King Hamad bin Isa Al Khalifa.

"Such development projects which enhance the Kingdom's economic competitiveness and benefit citizens and residents," His Royal Highness said, enjoy His Majesty's unwavering support.

In this regard, HRH stressed that "investing in sustainable healthcare services continues to be a top priority for Kingdom.

AMH's efforts in broadening accessibility and advancing medical care, HRH said, have contributed to improving the efficiency of Bahrain's healthcare sector and the Kingdom's development goals.

The Crown Prince and Prime Minister further reminded the importance of maintaining "quality and efficiency" in realizing development plans that benefit citizens.

Bahrain's strategic partnerships with the private sector, HRH stressed, are instrumental in advancing the Kingdom's national development and expediting the implementation of the Economic Recovery Plan and greatly improving the quality of services.

The newly established King Hamad American Mission Hospital contains 125 beds, a ward for women and children, and another for various surgical medical specialties. It also has operating rooms, intensive care units, a dialysis unit consisting of 20 beds, and a laboratory and radiology centre with the latest technology and medical devices.

Israeli troops kill nine in Jenin clash with Palestinian gunmen, medics say

Reuters | Jenin, West Bank

Israeli commandos killed nine Palestinians, including an elderly woman, and wounded 12 others during clashes with gunmen yesterday in a flashpoint town in the occupied West Bank, witnesses and medics said.

The Israeli military said it sent special forces into Jenin to detain members of the Islamic Jihad armed group suspected of having carried out and planning "multiple major attacks", shooting several of them after they opened fire.

The death toll - the highest in Jenin in years - drew a warning from Islamic Jihad that its truce with Israel, called after a brief exchange of fire across the Gaza Strip border last year, could be in danger.

There were no Israeli casualties. At least one Palestinian was detained during the raid, the military statement said.

Jenin is an area of the northern West Bank where Israel has intensified raids over the past year after local men carried out street attacks in its cities.

The Palestinian health ministry described the nine fatalities in Jenin as an elderly woman and eight men. There were no further details immediately available on their identities. According to the ministry, at least 29 Palestinians, including gunmen and civilians, have been killed by Israeli forces in the West Bank since Jan. 1.

Iran sentences pregnant woman to death for burning Khomeini's portrait

TDT | Manama

Iran has sentenced a pregnant woman in her early 20s to death for allegedly setting fire to a portrait of Iranian supreme leader Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, amid protests sparked by the death of 22-year-old Mahsa Amini while in the custody of morality police.

The United Nations Human Rights Council has called for urgent action to save her.

nian-Kurdish woman, is being held in Urmia Central Prison, reported IranWire.

Iranian police arrested Shahla Abdi in mid-October during mass protests triggered by the death of Mahsa Amini on Sept. 16.

The report, quoting a female inmate in Urmia Central, said

Abdi had been there with them for nearly a month and was moved to Tabriz Prison three weeks ago.

IranWire suggests she could be in a detention centre run by Iran's Ministry of Intelligence.

"When I saw this woman, she looked very young but weak and abused, and I realised that she was four months pregnant," the inmate told IranWire.

Abdi, reportedly, was in solitary confinement in Urmia Central Prison.

Earlier this month, Iran hanged two men, one of them a karate champion with several national titles, in its attempts to stamp out demonstrations, which have slowed considerably, since it began carrying out executions within weeks of arrests.

At least 517 protesters have been killed in Iran, and more than 19,200 people arrested since the wave of Amini protests first swept the country in mid-September.

other guests. Dr Al Zayani congratulated the Indian ambassador, the Indian community and the Government of India, expressing pride in the close historical ties bonding the two friendly nations. The ministry also stressed

Bahrain's desire to further develop these ties as per the directives of HM King and HRH Prince Salman and benefit from pioneering Indian experience in economic development and technological progress.

The ties bonding Bahrain and India, Dr Al Zayani said, have their basis in mutual respect and effective communication.

The minister also hailed the continuous cooperation between Bahrain and India in various economic and development fields.

The minister also expressed his appreciation of the honourable stands of the Indian Government, supporting vital issues in the Middle East and continuous support for efforts to promote international peace and security, promote values of tolerance, co-existence and human fraternity.

Three captive dolphins swim free to wild after being confined to a resort pool

Zahra Ayaz
TDT | Manama

Three dolphins rescued by authorities from a resort in the Kingdom safely, swam to the wild, sometimes jumping over choppy waves, giving an incredibly emotional experience to officials who worked to secure their freedom.

The dolphins, two females and a young male, caught illegally and sold for entertainment purposes, were rescued by Coast Guard Officials from the resort following a court order.

The animals were in a tiny pool of the resort, confined for the amusement of tourists who would pay to swim and play with them.

As per a judicial ruling, also the first such instance in Kingdom, authorities carted the dolphins to the open sea and released them back to their natural habitat after nursing them back to health.

The Execution Prosecution head Mohammed Al Musallam said the dolphins gained their freedom thanks to joint efforts between the concerned state agencies and the International Fund for Animal Welfare (IFAW).

Incidents leading to the extraordinary rescue started with the Coast Guard officials monitoring the handover of a dolphin to the resort.

However, during another on-site visit, officials found that the facility had three dolphins instead of one.

This incident led Coast Guard officials to approach the Supreme Council for Environment (SCE) in Bahrain, which confirmed detecting no dolphins at the facility six months back during their visit.

The Council also confirmed granting no permits to the facility to import dolphins in the past six months.

The findings led the Public

Prosecution to arrest the suspects and seize the vehicles used for transporting the animals inland and the boat used for capturing them.

"The fishing boat was anchored on the beach behind the resort and had no functional identification device," Coast Guard officials said.

Announcing the order, Al Musallam said the Kingdom pays the utmost attention to the environment and wildlife, backed by advanced environmental and wildlife legislation and laws.

Dolphins are mammals known for their friendliness. There are over 40 species of dolphins, the most common being the Bottlenose dolphin. Dolphins have very large brains- their brain-to-body size ratio is second only to our own! They also exhibit sophisticated forms of communication, tool use, cooperative feeding methods, culture and social learning, and play.

Oil up 1% as US data, China boosts demand optimism

● The OPEC+ ministerial panel meeting on Feb. 1 is likely to endorse the oil producer group's current output levels

Reuters | New York

Oil prices rose more than 1% yesterday on expectations that global demand will strengthen as top oil importer China reopens its economy and on positive US economic data.

Brent futures rose $1.18, or 1.4%, to $87.30 a barrel by 11:42 a.m. EST (1642 GMT), while US West Texas Intermediate (WTI) crude rose $1.12, or 1.4%, to $81.27.

Earlier in the session, WTI was on track for its highest close since Nov. 16. Currently, however, both Brent and WTI were on track for their highest closing levels since Jan. 23.

"WTI is deriving some support from liquidation of NYMEX (New York Mercantile Exchange) crack spreads as products begin to shift focus" from bullish supply disruptions in December to weaker demand, analysts at energy consulting firm Ritterbusch and Associates said in a note.

The Imperial Strathcona Refinery which produces petrochemicals is seen near Edmonton, Alberta, Canada

US crack spreads - measures of refining profit margins - rose earlier this week to their highest since August for gasoline and October for the 3:2:1 (three barrels of crude makes two of gasoline and one of distillates).

The US economy grew faster than expected in the fourth quarter as consumers maintained a solid pace of spending, but momentum had slowed significantly by the end of the year, with higher interest rates eroding demand.

Meanwhile, US crude inventories edged up by 533,000 barrels to 448.5 million barrels in the week ending Jan. 20, the Energy Information Administration

(EIA) said.

That was short of forecasts for a 1 million barrel rise, though the EIA says crude stocks are at their highest since June 2021.

"China's reopening is supporting demand prospects," said UBS analyst Giovanni Staunovo.

"Also, market participants are closely tracking the upcoming OPEC+ JMMC meeting and the EU embargo on refined products."

China has been easing stringent COVID-19 restrictions this month, with Beijing reopening its borders for the first time in three years.

"(Commodity) markets are set to tighten significantly should the reopening in China - the world's largest driver of commodity demand - be orderly, and ... we anticipate conditions to be ripe for commodity investor inflows," MUFG analyst Ehsan Khoman said.

The OPEC+ ministerial panel meeting on Feb. 1 is likely to endorse the oil producer group's current output levels, OPEC+ sources said.

Global economic growth is forecast to barely move above 2% this year, a Reuters poll of economists showed, suggesting that a further downgrade is possible. That was at odds with widespread opt

India's Adani Group says evaluating action against Hindenburg Research

Reuters | Bengaluru

Adani Group said yesterday it is evaluating "remedial and punitive action" under US and Indian laws against short-seller Hindenburg Research, which in a report accused the conglomerate of improper use of offshore tax havens.

Shares in seven listed group companies of Adani lost $10.73 billion in market capitalisation in India on Wednesday after Hindenburg released the report, which also said it held short positions in the conglomerate through its US-traded bonds and non-Indian-traded derivative instruments. Adani's US bonds also fell.

In a statement to Indian exchanges, Adani Group head of legal, Jatin Jalundhwala, called the report by the US research group "maliciously mischievous, (and) unresearched".

"We are evaluating the relevant provisions under US and Indian laws for remedial and punitive action against Hindenburg Research," the statement said.

The logo of the Adani Group is seen on the facade of one of its buildings on the outskirts of Ahmedabad, India

The report has "adversely affected the Adani Group, our shareholders and investors. The volatility in Indian stock markets created by the report is of great concern," it added.

Hindenburg did not respond immediately to a request for comment outside regular US business hours. Founded by Nathan Anderson in 2017, Hindenburg says it looks for "man-made disasters" in companies, such as accounting irregularities and mismanagement.

The Jan. 24 report questioned how the Adani Group, which is led by Gautam Adani, the world's third richest person according to Forbes, has used offshore entities in offshore tax havens such as Mauritius and the Caribbean Islands. It also said key listed Adani companies had "substantial debt" which has put the entire group on a "precarious financial footing".

Adani on Wednesday called the report baseless.

The report coincided with Adani's upcoming $2.5 billion secondary share sale on Friday. The anchor portion of the issue saw participation from Maybank Securities and Abu Dhabi Investment Authority among others on Wednesday.

Qatar in talks to join TotalEnergies' $27 bn Iraqi energy project

Reuters | Dubai/London

Qatar is in talks to acquire a stake from French company TotalEnergies' (TEF.PA) $27 billion cluster of energy projects in Iraq, three sources told Reuters, as Baghdad hopes to stem efforts by Western energy companies to exit the country.

A major investment by a Gulf state would mark an important win for Iraqi Prime Minister Mohammed al-Sudani, who took office last October following more than a year of political turmoil, and would also be considered a step towards countering Iranian influence.

QatarEnergy is looking to acquire a stake of around 30% in the project, one source said. Energy companies rarely own 100% of projects and prefer partnerships to reduce risk.

After a flurry of deals after the U.S. invasion over a decade ago, international oil companies have been trying to leave Iraq due to poor returns from revenue sharing agreements.

When TotalEnergies and Baghdad in 2021 signed an agreement to build four giant solar, gas, power and water projects in southern Iraq over 25 years, hopes for an exodus reversal were high. Exxon Mobil (XOM.N), Shell (SHEL.L) and BP (BP.L) have all sought to scale back their operations in Iraq in recent years. But the project, aimed at boosting economy and reducing its dependency on Iranian gas, is yet to take off.

But in recent years, it has also become a day of national protest, with some Australians calling it "Invasion Day" and saying it was the start of a cultural genocide by European colonisers.

Reuters | Cairo

Egyptologists have uncovered a Pharaonic tomb near the capital Cairo containing what may be the oldest and "most complete" mummy yet to be discovered in the country, the excavation team leader said on Thursday.

The 4,300-year-old mummy was found at the bottom of a 15-metre shaft in a recently uncovered group of fifth and sixth dynasty tombs near the Step Pyramid at Saqqara, Zahi Hawass, director of the team, told reporters.

The mummy, of a man named Hekashepes, was in a limestone sarcophagus that had been sealed in mortar.

"This mummy may be the oldest and most complete mummy found in Egypt to date," Hawass, one of Egypt's former ministers of antiquities, said in a statement.

Among other tombs found was one belonging to Khnumdjedef, an inspector of officials, a supervisor of nobles

The Saqqara site is part of a sprawling necropolis at Egypt's ancient capital of Memphis that includes the famed Giza Pyramids as well as smaller pyramids at Abu Sir, Dahshur and Abu Ruwaysh. The ruins of Memphis were designated a UNESCO World Heritage site in the 1970s and a priest during the reign of Unas, last pharaoh of the fifth dynasty. It was decorated with scenes of daily life.

Another tomb belonged to Meri, "keeper of the secrets and assistant to the great leader of the palace".

Numerous statues were found among the tombs, including one representing a man and his wife and several servants, the statement said.

Deadly Russian missiles hit Ukraine power facilities

Russian forces fired dozens of missiles at Ukraine yesterday in a blistering wave of strikes targeting energy infrastructure a day after Germany and the United States pledged modern tanks for Kyiv.

The latest wave of attacks came as the Kremlin said Moscow perceived the tank deliveries "as direct involvement in the conflict" and Ukraine conceded it was facing mounting pressure from Russian troops on the eastern front line.

Leopard tanks pledged by Berlin will arrive in "late March, early April", German Defence Minister Boris Pistorius said.

Training of Ukrainian troops on German Marder infantry fighting vehicles will start in the next few days, he added, and "a little later" for the Ukrainian soldiers who will be trained on the Leopard.

Russian missiles killed one person and wounded two more in the capital, Kyiv mayor Vitali Klitschko said on social media.

US Republicans probe art sales by Biden's son

AFP | Washington

The matter of who buys artwork produced by Joe Biden's son, a former lawyer with a troubled past, is taking center stage on Capitol Hill -- where Republicans have vowed to use their new House majority to aggressively investigate the president's family.

The chairman of the powerful House Oversight Committee on Wednesday demanded a New York art gallery produce a list of who has bought artwork made by Hunter Biden.

"Your arrangement with Hunter Biden raises serious ethics concerns and calls into question whether the Biden family is again selling access and influence," Republican James Comer of Kentucky said in his letter.

Comer requested the gallery's owner, Georges Berges, testify before his committee next month.

Spanish authorities said they were investigating what they called a possible "terrorist" incident after a machete-wielding man attacked several people at two churches in the southern port city of Algeciras, killing at least one person.

The man attacked clergymen at two different churches - San Isidro and Nuestra Senora de La Palma, around 300 metres (1,000 feet) apart - just after 8pm on Wednesday evening in downtown Algeciras, a spokesperson for the city said. A source at Madrid's High Court said the incident was being investigated as terrorism.

Police said the attacker had been arrested, and a police source shared footage showing two officers escorting a man in a hooded

Eight people are dead, including six Chinese nationals, after a ship sank in waters off the coast of Japan, a Chinese diplomat said yesterday.

The Jin Tian, carrying crew from China and Myanmar, sent a distress signal on Tuesday evening from a position around 110 kilometres (68 miles) west of the remote and uninhabited Danjo Islands in far southwestern Japan.

The ship's captain used a satellite phone to tell the South Korean coast guard that he and the crew would abandon the sinking ship in the early hours of Wednesday morning, the

India marks Republic Day with Egyptian president as guest

India showcases military might in Republic Day parade

AP | New Delhi

Tens of thousands of people endured a winter chill and mist yesterday as they gathered to watch a parade in the Indian capital showcasing the country's defense capability and cultural heritage on a newly revamped ceremonial boulevard. Egyptian President Abdel Fattah El-Sissi looked on as an official guest at India's Republic Day event, which marked the anniversary of the adoption of the country's constitution on Jan. 26, 1950, nearly three years after it won independence from British colonial rule.

A 144-member band and marching contingent from the Egyptian Armed Forces also joined battalions of the Indian military and police in the parade.

El-Sissi, in a blue suit and matching tie, was flanked by Indian President Droupadi Murmu and Prime Minister Narendra Modi, who wore a saffron-and-yellow-coloured turban.

children and folk dancers in colourful dresses performed cultural and fusion dances down the boulevard amid big cheers from the crowd.

Howitzer guns, tanks, supersonic cruise missiles, anti-tank missiles and armoured personnel carriers were displayed at the parade, with hundreds of men from police and military battalions marching along. Stunt performers on motorbikes also joined from the presidential palace.

Other participants included a camel-mounted regiment with its moustachioed riders led by a shiny brass band with tubas.

The 90-minute parade ended with a flypast featuring 75 air force fighters, including Rafale jets, transport planes and helicopters.

Rajpath Avenue, built by India's former British rulers, was redeveloped as part of India's 75th-anniversary celebrations of independence the past two years. It is lined on both sides by huge lawns, canals and rows of trees, and has been renamed "Kartavya-path" (Boulevard of Duty).

For the first time the parade was held in the revamped colonial-era boulevard that hosts India's most important government buildings, following years of renovations at the direction of Prime Minister Narendra Modi's nationalist government

Workers who helped refurbish the boulevard, their families and maintenance workers were seated in front of the main dais during the parade as part of this year's theme: "Participation of the Common People."

Onions now cost more than meat products in the Philippines

Julia Cassano
TDT | Manama

Although onions are a staple in Philippine cuisines and dishes, many have cut back on the use of the vegetable as the cost of onions continues to soar.

Onions are a staple vegetable in many Philippine households and are often used with garlic as a base of many traditional dishes; however, the skyrocketing prices has led families to rationing the vegetable or using cheaper options of vegetables in their cooking.

Red and white onions were selling for as much as 600 Philippine pesos (4.1 BD) to 700 Philippine pesos (4.8 BD), sources report.

National Public Radio (NPR) reports that locals would usually purchase around two to three kilos of onions a day; however, as the cost of onions skyrocket, many are rationing and only using half an onion.

Jane Marie, a Philippine national, told The Daily Tribune: "I have noticed prices rising up to 700 pesos per kilo in Manila, which is an absurd amount to pay for onions in the Philippines and many are now frustrated as they cannot afford to purchase onions.

"From my personal experience, this is not a normal situation, and I am noticing many people resorting to using green scallions or different kinds of vegetables in their cooking to save money. However, using scallions or other kinds of vegetables to replace onions does not give the same flavour to our traditional dishes."

Sources are now reporting that onions have become three times as expensive as chicken and 25 percent to 50 percent more expensive than pork or beef.

The Daily Tribune went out to speak to the Philippine population in Bahrain regarding the soaring prices of onions and they told us: "Most of our family members live in the Philippines, and it is already difficult for them to survive on their current salaries and cost of living.

"Our families have said that the increase of prices could have resulted from the weather and seasons, as well as hoarding during the Christmas season which is when the prices started to rise. Many of our families have asked us to bring or send onions to them as they simply cannot afford to pay the cost."

The Bureau of Customs claims to have intercepted smuggling syndicates that have attempted to import large amounts of onions through cargo shipments that were labelled as clothing items or home products.

Why has the Philippines experienced a shortage of onions?

Business World reported that the onion shortage has been blamed on the failure of the Department of Agriculture to properly control supply and demand for the commodity, which has resulted in a delay in turning to imports.

The Philippine Chamber of Agriculture and Food, Inc. claimed they have failed to import the vegetable which is why there is a shortage currently. Additionally, it is usual during the festive seasons that demand increases for various products; however, this should be planned and anticipated for.

Business World reports that the shortage is estimated at about 40,000 to 50,000 metric tons, and that imports should have been placed in July and August to meet the current demand. However, the products were not imported, and this results in supply being low whilst now, the demand is high.

Now, The Philippine Chamber of Agriculture and Food are expecting farmers to plant more onions because of prices, which means they can expect a large harvest by April, whilst the government must prepare for more cold storage.

Jeremy Renner was trying to save nephew when he was almost killed by snowplow

Celebretainment | Los Angeles

Jeremy Renner was trying to shield his nephew from injury when he was almost killed by his faulty snowplow.

The 52-year-old 'Wind River' actor - who recently returned home from hospital after he was crushed on New Year's Day in Lake Tahoe by his 14,000-lb Pistenbully snowcat - was using the vehicle to pull his grown nephew's truck from the snow when he was yanked under the machine, leaving him with more than 30 shattered bones.

A sheriff's office incident report filed on Friday (20.01.23), and revealed on Tuesday after a public information request, said about the near-fatal accident: "The Pistenbully snow groomer began sliding causing Renner to exit the vehicle without setting the emergency brake."

"Although the Pistenbully had some mechanical issues, it is believed based on our mechanical inspection that the parking brake would keep the Pistenbully from moving forward."

"When Renner attempted to stop or divert the Pistenbully to avoid injury to (his nephew), he was pulled under the vehicle by the track and run over."

Kylie Jenner faces backlash for controversial lion head dress

Fox | Los Angeles

Kylie Jenner was nearly engulfed by the massive lion head on her Schiaparelli Haute Couture gown at Paris Fashion Week.

The reality-star and makeup mogul wore a striking black velvet cinched gown with an embroidered lion head attached to her neckline.

According to the designer's Instagram page, the animal head was created from "hand sculpted foam, wool and silk faux fur, and hand painted to look as life-like as possible, celebrating the glory of the natural world." They emphasized "NO ANIMALS WERE HARMED IN MAKING THIS LOOK."

The striking design garnered backlash on social media, with users claiming the animal heads might promote trophy hunting.

One user wrote on Instagram, "The only thing this is glorifying is the killing of these animals, even if this is fake. The lion, cheetah and the wolf seem like they are literally meant to look as if they were killed and used for clothing. How is this celebrating the glory of the natural world. Make it make sense."

Jenner shared her look on Instagram and thanked Schiaparelli designer and creative director Daniel Rose Berry. "BEAUTY AND THE BEAST, thank you @danielroseberry and @schiaparelli for such a special morning. wow i loved wearing this faux art creation constructed by hand using manmade materials. beautiful beautiful," Jenner wrote alongside a series of photos.

Vinicius effigy hung from bridge before Madrid derby

A dummy dressed in a Vinicius Junior shirt was hung from a bridge near Real Madrid's training ground ahead of the Copa del Rey quarter-final clash against Atletico Madrid yesterday.

"Madrid hates Real," read a banner draped on the bridge close to Valdebebas overnight Wednesday.

The Vinicius effigy was described as a "racist attack" and "serious threat" against the Brazilian forward by Spanish media.

Police sources told AFP they were investigating the incident, without offering further details.

The slogan is one which has been used by Atletico Madrid ultras in the past.

"Such acts are absolutely repugnant and inadmissible and shame society," said Atletico in a statement.

"Our condemnation of any

Atletico fans were filmed aiming racist chants at Vinicius in September before the Madrid derby at the Wanda Metropolitano in La Liga.

Arsenal reaping rewards of patience with Arteta - Guardiola

AFP | London

Manchester City manager Pep Guardiola believes Premier League leaders Arsenal are benefitting from the patience showed to Mikel Arteta in his early years in charge of the Gunners.

Arteta worked as Guardiola's assistant at City for three-and-a-half years before taking his first senior managerial role at the Emirates in 2019.

The Spaniard had immediate success in winning the 2020 FA Cup, but failed to break into the Premier League's top four in any of his first three seasons.

Now Arsenal are well on course to end a 19-year wait to win a league title as they lead City by five points and have a game in hand on Guardiola's men.

The two sides face off for the first of three meetings in the coming months in the FA Cup fourth round on Friday.

"I had the feeling. We knew it when he was here," said Guardiola on Arteta's coaching ability.

"The biggest compliment for Arsenal as well, is for backing him in the bad moments and trusting him, and keeping him and relying on him.

"At the end, you need time, you need investment and the results are there. It is a challenge for us to challenge them."

During Guardiola's reign in Manchester, City have dominated English football, winning four Premier League titles among nine major trophies.

But he has tried to light a fire under his players in recent weeks to revive the hunger that has brought so much success.

"A team with 50 points in one leg (half of the season) is the best. We have to prove how far away or how close we are," added Guardiola on Friday's cup clash.

"I encourage them to look themselves. When they are not happy for many reasons, the only way is to perform better.

"Think in the past is the past. What happened in the past is the past. We get the salary for what we will do in the future. Extend the contract, what we're going to do in the future. The past is done."

Soccer mom Azarenka ordered to take off PSG shirt at Australian Open

AFP | Melbourne

Self-described "obnoxious soccer mom" Victoria Azarenka was ordered to take off her Paris St Germain shirt at the Australian Open yesterday before bowing out of the Grand Slam with a straight sets defeat by Elena Rybakina in the semi-finals.

The 33-year-old Belarusian twice champion has worn shirts showing support for French soccer champions PSG at the tournament and as a gesture to her six-year-old son Leo, who is also a big fan of the Paris club.

After an exchange of words with the chair umpire at Rod Laver Arena, Azarenka took off the PSG shirt before warming up in her regular kit against Rybakina.

"They told me to take it off twice because I had a different shirt," the 22nd seed told reporters after losing to Rybakina.

Djokovic wary of semi-final underdog in quest for 22nd Slam title

Novak Djokovic targets 10th Australian Open final, Tommy Paul looks to flip the script

TD | Manama

Novak Djokovic has won all nine of his Australian Open semi-finals and is not ready to let Tommy Paul ruin his unblemished record today as he closes in on a 22nd Grand Slam crown.

The Serb, who won his first Slam at Melbourne Park in 2008, struggled physically in the early rounds this year with a hamstring injury.

But straight-sets thrashings of Alex de Minaur and Andrey Rublev for the loss of just 12 games ominously signalled that the favourite is back to his best for the semi-finals.

Should he beat the unseeded American Paul on Rod Laver Arena, he will face either third seed Stefanos Tsitsipas or Russian 18th seed Karen Khachanov as a final roadblock to a 10th Australian Open title on Sunday.

Djokovic has extra motivation to go all the way and equal Rafael Nadal's 22nd Grand Slam crowns after missing last year's event when he was deported over his Covid vaccination stance. In his absence the Spanish great won.

"I always try to give my best, particularly in Grand Slams, because at this stage of my career those are the tournaments that count the most," said the 35-year-old.

Novak Djokovic in action during his quarter final match against Andrey Rublev

"But you could say that there is something extra this year. You could say because, yeah, the injury, what happened last year, I just wanted to really do well.

"So far I have a perfect score in Australian hard courts, in Adelaide (which he won) and here. I've been playing better and better. I couldn't ask for a better situation to be in at the moment."

With Djokovic on a 26-match win streak at the Australian Open -- equalling Andre Agassi's Open-era record at the first Grand Slam of the year -- the 35th-ranked Paul is a heavy underdog.

The 25-year-old is a surprise semi-finalist, making this far at a major for the first time on the 14th attempt.

"We never played a match against each other. Obviously he's pretty comfortable here in Australia," Paul said.

"It's going to be a challenging match, but I'm playing some of my best tennis, so it's a good time."

Djokovic said he had been monitoring the American and would not underestimate the challenge.

"He's been playing probably the tennis of his life," he said. "Very explosive, very dynamic player. I think he can hit all the spots with the serve. Very complete player.

"First semi-finals for him, so

"I'm feeling great with my tennis. I don't think I felt so good in a long time," the Greek said.

"I've said it -- I'm a different player (from the past), playing different. My mentality is different."

He has won all five previous encounters with Khachanov, most recently at the Rome Masters last year, and said he was eager to face the Russian again.

"It's a match that I'm looking forward to," he said. "I'm looking ahead for more, for better. Looking to create some magical experiences here in Australia."

The 26-year-old Russian also made the semi-finals at September's US Open.

He has now made the quarters or better at all four Grand Slams and will draw on the experience when he plays the Greek star.

"I think the first semi-finals, which I did in US Open, that gave me an extra boost and extra confidence to show where I really am, and what I can do when I'm at my best," he said.

"I think all those things together, they push me to where I am right now."

Returning Archer wants to rediscover 2019 Ashes, World Cup form

Reuters | London

Jofra Archer rates himself "about 80%" fit ahead of his long-awaited England return but the fast bowler is determined to get himself back in the kind of shape that saw him play a starring role in the 2019 Ashes and Cricket World Cup.

Archer spearheaded England's 50-overs World Cup success on home soil that year, bowling the super over that helped them lift the trophy, and took 22 wickets in the Ashes series against Australia.

Elbow and back injuries disrupted his career over the last two years and the 27-year-old only made his competitive return earlier this month in South Africa's Twenty20 league, impressing with eight wickets in five matches.

Archer is set to make his first England appearance since March 2021 in the three-match ODI series against South Africa, which starts in Bloemfontein today.

With an Ashes series and World Cup looming this year, he is keen to pick up where he left off.

"Hopefully it can be a repeat of 2019," Archer said. "We've got a 50-over World Cup again and an Ashes in the same year so more of the same, please.

"I need to spend the next two, three, four months fine-tuning the body and making myself a bit more resilient. Let me sort that out first and then I can look forward to holding the red ball in my hand again.

"I know whenever I'm fully fit, I don't think there's much that can stop me, it's just a matter of when that was going to be."

A fit and in-form Archer would be a major boost for England's World Cup title defence as well as their bid to win the Ashes for the first time since 2015.

"It is an exciting prospect to think about playing with the guys again, especially with the brand of cricket they are playing, which is very exciting," Archer added.

"I might have to do some extra bowling during the weeks when I'm in India (for the Indian Premier League). But that is absolutely fine because I want to play in the Ashes, so I'm going to have to do all the hard yards to tick those boxes."

English clubs surpass $2bln transfer spend for first time in 2022

Reuters | London

English soccer clubs spent over $2 billion on new signings in 2022 for the first time, FIFA's Global Transfer Report revealed yesterday, with the number of international transfers of male and female players reaching record numbers.

There were 20,209 international transfers in men's professional soccer in 2022, representing an increase of 11.6% compared to 2021 and even exceeding the levels of 2019 before the COVID-19 pandemic.

Of the 2,843 transfers that included fees, the top 100 were responsible for almost 50% of all money spent, with English clubs again topping the list. For the first time, their total outlay exceeded $2 billion, reaching a record high of almost $2.2 billion.

"The two-year negative trend in clubs' spending on transfer fees was turned around in 2022, with last year's total outlay reaching $6.5bn, an increase of 33.5% compared to 2021, yet still below the all-time high of 2019," Emilio Garcia Silvero, FIFA's Chief Legal and Compliance officer, said.

Women's professional football continued to grow in 2022. The number of international transfers last year was almost double the figure of 2018.

In 2022, the number of clubs involved in international transfers went up from 410 in 2021 to 500 last year, a 22% increase," Silvero said.

"All of this reflects the impressive strides being taken as more and more female players

AFP | Melbourne

Australian Open organisers have issued a reminder to players and their entourages about their policy on "inappropriate flags" after a video emerged showing Novak Djokovic's father posing for pictures with fans holding Russian flags.

Four fans with "inappropriate flags and symbols" were questioned by Victoria Police following Wednesday's quarter-final between Djokovic and Russia's Andrey Rublev.

A video also posted on social media showed one supporter on the steps of Rod Laver Arena holding up a Russian flag with the image of President Vladimir Putin on it.

Late on Wednesday another video showed Djokovic's father Srdjan posing for pictures with fans holding Russian flags.

"Players and their teams have been briefed and reminded of the event policy regarding flags and symbols and to avoid any situation that has the potential to disrupt," Tennis Australia said in a statement yesterday.

Dani Pedrosa will make a wildcard MotoGP appearance at his home Spanish Grand Prix in Jerez in April, the KTM factory team said yesterday.

Pedrosa, 37, retired from the championship at the end of 2018 with 31 top class wins but still carries out testing duties for the Austrian manufacturer.

AFP | Melbourne

Aryna Sabalenka and Elena Rybakina will clash in what promises to be a bruising Australian Open final on Saturday after both won in straight sets in the last four.

Big-serving Wimbledon champion Rybakina defeated two-time Melbourne winner Victoria Azarenka 7-6 (7/4), 6-3 at a blustery and chilly Rod Laver Arena in Melbourne yesterday.

Powerful Belarusian Sabalenka then marched into the championship match with a 7-6 (7/1), 6-2 win over unseeded Magda Linette.

The 24-year-old Sabalenka will be contesting her first Grand Slam final.

The fifth seed has battled nerves in big matches previously and worked with a sports psychologist, but said after dismissing the Pole that both were a thing of the past.

"I realised that nobody (other) than me will help, you know?" she told reporters.

"On the pre-season I spoke to my psychologist, saying: 'I feel like I have to deal with that by myself because every time hoping that someone will fix my problem, it's not fixing my problem."

"I just have to take this responsibility and I just have to deal with that."

Whatever she is doing, it is working: Sabalenka has been in the form of her life since arriving in Australia.

She won the Adelaide International warm-up tournament and has now extended her unbeaten streak to 10 matches, not losing a single set in any of them.

And yet it was 30-year-old Linette, contesting her first major semi-final, who was out of the gate fastest, breaking to love in the opening game and holding for an early lead.

Sabalenka was being made to work hard and showed all her new-found patience to get back on terms with a break of her own, to love, for 2-2 and the set went to a tiebreak.

Sabalenka timed her moment perfectly to up the aggression, and the decibel level, racing to 4-0 with a scream.

An ace that barely clipped the line stretched it to 5-0 and she closed out comfortably after 51 minutes, having smacked 20 winners to just seven from Linette.

"I would say that I didn't start really well," admitted Sabalenka.

"And then on the tiebreak I kind of found my rhythm and just started trusting myself, started going for the shots. It was great tennis from me in the tiebreak."

Sabalenka showed no sign of letting up in the second set, breaking Linette and with a scream of "Come on!" holding for a 3-1 advantage.

A second break took her within sight of the finish line, which she raced across in 1hr 33min.

Missed opportunities

Reigning Wimbledon champion Rybakina, 23, said she hoped she had made her watching family proud after another impressive display.

many matches.

The 22nd seed Rybakina had already defeated reigning French and US Open champion Iga Swiatek in the fourth round and 2017 Roland Garros winner Jelena Ostapenko in the quarter-finals.

Rybakina said her semi-final triumph was even more special because she had her sister and parents all watching at Melbourne Park for the first time.

"I'm super happy that we can spend evenings together and they can watch me live," said Rybakina, whose parents were not there to see her win Wimbledon last year.

"For sure it's great for them. I didn't even talk with them yet. I'm sure they're happy. They don't see me often playing live, so I think this time, it's a big result already.

"No matter how I play in the final, I think they're very proud and happy."

Azarenka, 33, was left to rue missed opportunities as her dream of a third Australian Open crown dissolved.

"Right now especially it's kind of hard to digest," she said.

"I'm proud of myself how I fought and I tried.

"Tennis-wise I felt like I just wasn't there, especially in the important moments when I kept creating those opportunities for me. Just couldn't convert them."
