tionous development plans to enhance the region's competitiveness are geared towards "better future" for all countries and peoples.

HRH Prince Salman, on behalf of His Majesty King Hamad bin Isa Al Khalifa, was speaking in the fifth edition of the Future Investment Initiative (FII) which kicked off in Riyadh yesterday.

The three-day event, which ends tomorrow, is held under the patronage of the Custodian of the Two Holy Mosques, King Salman bin Abdulaziz Al Saud. HRH Prince Salman was joined in the forum by His Royal Highness Prince Mohammed bin Salman bin Abdulaziz Al Saud, the Crown Prince, Deputy Prime Minister, and Minister of Defence of the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia.

With more than 250 expert speakers from the economic, business, education and corporate worlds, discussions at the platform dubbed the "Davos in the Desert" center on investments that aim to create the greatest benefits for humanity, as the global community charts a new course post-COVID-19 pandemic.

Advancing progress

HRH the Crown Prince and Prime Minister said that the development projects witnessed by the region in all fields will contribute to supporting the economy and advancing progress.

He stressed the importance of providing development initiatives with greater quality opportunities to attract investments, enhance their attractive elements, and support them with the latest innovative technologies.

HRH noted that investment in humanity - the theme of the event - is an essential foundation for successful economies. The coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic is a fine example of how the international community has bonded together to cushion its impact and promote global cooperation based on promoting humanitarian principles.

HRH Prince Salman was referring to the economic initiatives in the region led by Saudi Arabia, including the 5th Future Investment Initiative.

He stressed the importance of coordination at all levels to reach the desired pace of economic growth for various countries, which contributes to achieving economic recovery for all sectors, and enhancing financial stability.
